(d) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—Section 2 of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration Marine Fisheries Program Authorization Act (Public Law 98–210; 97 Stat. 1409), as amended by section 302 of this Act, is further amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(e) Of the sums authorized under subsection (a) of this section, no more than $2,500,000 are authorized to be appropriated for each of the fiscal years 1992 and 1993 to enable the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration to establish the Chesapeake Bay Estuarine Resources Office under section 306 of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration Authorization Act of 1991. No more than 20 percent of the amount appropriated under the authorization in this subsection shall be used for administrative purposes.".

(e) CHESAPEAKE EXECUTIVE COUNCIL.—For purposes of this section, "Chesapeake Executive Council" means the representatives from the Commonwealth of Virginia, the State of Maryland, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the Environmental Protection Agency, the District of Columbia, and the Chesapeake Bay Commission, who are signatories to the Chesapeake Bay Agreement, and any future signatories to that Agreement.

SEC. 308. NATIONAL SHELLFISH INDICATOR PROGRAM.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT OF A RESEARCH PROGRAM.—The Secretary of Commerce, in cooperation with the Secretary of Health and Human Services and the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, shall establish and administer a 5-year national shellfish research program (hereafter in this section referred to as the "Program") for the purpose of improving existing classification systems for shellfish growing waters using the latest technological advancements in microbiology and epidemiological methods. Within 12 months after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Commerce, in cooperation with the advisory committee established under subsection (b) and the Consortium, shall develop a comprehensive 5-year plan for the Program which shall at a minimum provide for—

(1) an environmental assessment of commercial shellfish growing areas in the United States, including an evaluation of the relationships between indicators of fecal contamination and human enteric pathogens;

(2) the evaluation of such relationships with respect to potential health hazards associated with human consumption of shellfish;

(3) a comparison of the current microbiological methods used for evaluating indicator bacteria and human enteric pathogens in shellfish and shellfish growing waters with new technological methods designed for this purpose;

(4) the evaluation of current and projected systems for human sewage treatment in eliminating viruses and other human enteric pathogens which accumulate in shellfish;

(5) the design of epidemiological studies to relate microbiological data, sanitary survey data, and human shellfish consumption data to actual hazards to health associated with such consumption; and

(6) recommendations for revising Federal shellfish standards and improving the capabilities of Federal and State agencies to effectively manage shellfish and ensure the safety of shellfish intended for human consumption.

(b) ADVISORY COMMITTEE.—(1) For the purpose of providing oversight of the Program on a continuing basis, an advisory committee (hereafter in this section referred to as the "Committee") shall be established under a memorandum of understanding between the Interstate Shellfish Sanitation Conference and the National Marine Fisheries Service.

(2) The Committee shall—

(A) identify priorities for achieving the purpose of the Program;

(B) review and recommend approval or disapproval of Program work plans and plans of operation;

(C) review and comment on all subcontracts and grants to be awarded under the Program;

(D) receive and review progress reports from the Consortium and Program subcontractors and grantees; and

(E) provide such other advice on the Program as is appropriate.

(3) The Committee shall consist of at least ten members and shall include—

(A) three members representing agencies having authority under State law to regulate the shellfish industry, of whom one shall represent each of the Atlantic, Pacific, and Gulf of Mexico shellfish growing regions;

(B) three members representing persons engaged in the shellfish industry in the Atlantic, Pacific, and Gulf of Mexico shellfish growing regions (who shall be appointed from among at least six recommendations by the industry members of the Interstate Shellfish Sanitation Conference Executive Board), of whom one shall represent the shellfish industry in each region;

(C) three members, of whom one shall represent each of the following Federal agencies: the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, the Environmental Protection Agency, and the Food and Drug Administration; and

(4) The Chairman of the Committee shall be selected from among the Committee members described in paragraph (3)(A).

(5) The Committee shall establish and maintain a subcommittee of scientific experts to provide advice, assistance, and information relevant to research funded under the Program, except that no individual who is awarded, or whose application is being considered for, a grant or subcontract under the Program may serve on such subcommittee. The membership of the subcommittee shall, to the extent practicable, be regionally balanced with experts who have scientific knowledge concerning each of the Atlantic, Pacific, and Gulf of Mexico shellfish growing regions. Scientists from the National Academy of Sciences and appropriate Federal agencies (including the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, Food and Drug Administration, Centers for Disease Control, National Institutes of Health, Environmental Protection Agency, and National Science Foundation) shall be considered for membership on the subcommittee.

(6) Members of the Committee and its scientific subcommittee established under this subsection shall not be paid for serving on the Committee or subcommittee, but shall receive travel expenses as authorized by section 5703 of title 5, United States Code.

(c) CONTRACT WITH CONSORTIUM.—Within 30 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Commerce shall seek to enter into a cooperative agreement or contract with the Consortium under which the Consortium will—

(1) be the academic administrative organization and fiscal agent for the Program;

(2) award and administer such grants and subcontracts as are approved by the Committee under subsection (b);

(3) develop and implement a scientific peer review process for evaluating grant and subcontractor applications prior to review by the Committee;

(4) in cooperation with the Secretary of Commerce and the Committee, procure the services of a scientific project director;

(5) develop and submit budgets, progress reports, work plans, and plans of operation for the Program to the Secretary of Commerce and the Committee; and

(6) make available to the Committee such staff, information, and assistance as the Committee may reasonably require to carry out its activities.

(d) REPORTING REQUIREMENTS.—Within 3 months after the date of enactment of this Act and within each of the next three consecutive 3-month intervals, the Secretary of Commerce shall provide Congress with written assessments of Federal efforts to implement this section. In addition, the Secretary of Commerce shall submit an annual report to Congress on the Program, including a description of the research funded under the Program and the results of such research.

(e) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—(1) Of the sums authorized under section 4(a) of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration Marine Fisheries Program Authorization Act (Public Law 98–210; 97 Stat. 1409), there are authorized to be appropriated to the Secretary of Commerce $5,200,000 for each of the fiscal years 1993 through 1997 for carrying out the Program. Of the amounts appropriated pursuant to this authorization, not more than 5 percent of such appropriation may be used for administrative purposes by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration. The remaining 95 percent of such appropriation shall be used to meet the administrative and scientific objectives of the Program.

(2) The Interstate Shellfish Sanitation Conference shall not administer appropriations authorized under this section, but may be reimbursed from such appropriations for its expenses in arranging for travel, meetings, workshops, or conferences necessary to carry out the Program.

(f) DEFINITIONS.—As used in this section, the term—

(1) "Consortium" means the Louisiana Universities Marine Consortium; and

(2) "shellfish" means any species of oyster, clam, or mussel that is harvested for human consumption.

SEC. 309. COOPERATIVE INSTITUTE OF FISHERIES OCEANOGRAPHY.

The Secretary of Commerce shall acquire on a long-term basis from the Administrator of General Services space on Pivers Island in Beaufort, North Carolina, that is needed to implement the memorandum of understanding of March 2, 1989, between the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, Duke University, and the University of North Carolina establishing the Cooperative Institute of Fisheries Oceanography. This section shall not apply if the annual cost of leasing the required space exceeds $2,000,000.

SEC. 310. UNITED STATES GULF OF MEXICO AND SOUTH ATLANTIC SHRIMP FISHERY STUDY.

(a) STUDY.—(1) The Secretary of Commerce shall conduct a comprehensive economic study to provide baseline information to guide policy decisions on the future of the United States Gulf of Mexico and South Atlantic shrimp fishery. Funds shall only be expended under the terms of paragraph (2) of this section.

(2) The study shall—

(A) gather information as to the extent to which governmental and economic factors have affected or may affect the United States Gulf of Mexico and South Atlantic shrimp fishery;

(B) attempt to expand available historical data through survey contracts and cooperation with the industry; and

(C) incorporate the results of the studies on the United States Gulf of Mexico and South Atlantic shrimp fishery that are underway or completed on the date this section is effective.

(b) REPORT.—The Secretary of Commerce shall submit a report to Congress detailing the results of this study no later than October 1, 1993.

(c) AUTHORIZATION.—There is authorized to be appropriated to carry out the provisions of this section $1,000,000 for fiscal year 1993. None of the funds authorized under section 304(g) of the Magnuson Fishery Conservation and Management Act (16 U.S.C. 1854(g)) may be used to carry out the provisions of this section.

SEC. 311. REPORT ON SATELLITE CAPABILITIES FOR FISHERIES ENFORCEMENT.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Not later than six months after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Commerce, in consultation with the heads of other Federal agencies, shall prepare and submit to the Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation of the Senate, a report describing how current and planned satellite capabilities of the Federal Government can aid in the enforcement of Federal fisheries laws and international fisheries conservation programs.

(b) REPORT CONTENTS.—The report under subsection (a) shall include consideration of—

(1) active, transponder-based systems and passive, vessel signature-based technologies capable of localizing or identifying individual vessels without the use of vessel-carried transmitters;

(2) the resolution, coverage periods, and all-weather effectiveness of each technology and the real-time data delivery capacity of the various systems;

(3) a description of the technological requirements (including data processing and transfer procedures) and institutional requirements necessary to transfer satellite data to end users for management and enforcement purposes; and

(4) the status of foreign civil satellites and the feasibility of their application to international vessel location and monitoring.

SEC. 312. DEMONSTRATION PROJECT FOR SEAFOOD HANDLING TRAINING AND EDUCATION.

"(a) GRANTS.—The Secretary of Commerce may make annual grants to the City of San Francisco and the Port of San Francisco for each of the fiscal years 1992 and 1993 for a joint project at the San Francisco Wharf to demonstrate safe seafood handling and to conduct seafood education programs.

"(b) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—For grants under this section, there are authorized to be appropriate to the Secretary of Commerce—

(1) $250,000 for fiscal year 1992; and

(2) $350,000 for fiscal year 1993.

Such funds shall remain available until expended.

SEC. 313. BOWHEAD WHALE STUDY.

Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the Department of Commerce and the Department of the Interior are authorized to pay as appropriate, $48,464, plus interest since June 6, 1988, to reimburse any unpaid costs incurred in the research and preparation of a paper entitled "Quantification of Subsistence and Cultural Need for Bowhead Whales by Alaska Eskimos", which was presented by the United States to the 40th Annual Meeting of the International Whaling Commission.

SEC. 314. FISHERIES RESEARCH CENTER.

The Secretary of Commerce, through the Under Secretary of Commerce for Oceans and Atmosphere, is authorized to construct a building, on approximately 15 acres of land to be leased from the University of Southwest Louisiana for a 99-year term. This section shall not apply if the annual cost of leasing the required land exceeds one dollar. This authorization is subject to the availability of appropriations provided in advance for the purpose stated in this section.

SEC. 315. PASCAGOULA LABORATORY WAREHOUSE FACILITIES.

Due to the logistical crisis at the National Marine Fisheries Service Laboratory at Pascagoula, Mississippi, the Administrator of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration should give immediate consideration to upgrading dock and warehouse support facilities at such Laboratory in fiscal year 1993.

TITLE IV—ADMINISTRATION AND OTHER ACCOUNTS

SEC. 401. PROGRAM SUPPORT.

(a) EXECUTIVE DIRECTION AND ADMINISTRATIVE ACTIVITIES.—There are authorized to be appropriated to the Secretary of Commerce, to enable the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration to carry out executive direction and administrative activities (including management, administrative support, provision of retired pay of National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration commissioned officers, and policy development) under the Act entitled "An Act to clarify the status and benefits of commissioned officers of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, and for other purposes", approved December 31, 1970 (33 U.S.C. 857-1 et seq.), and any other law involving those activities, $68,460,000 for fiscal year 1992 and $75,750,000 for fiscal year 1993.

(b) MARINE SERVICES.—(1) There are authorized to be appropriated to the Secretary of Commerce, to enable the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration to carry out marine services activities (including ship operations, maintenance, and support) under the Act of 1947 and any other law involving those activities, $63,407,000 for fiscal year 1992 and $68,518,000 for fiscal year 1993.

(2) There are authorized to be appropriated to the Secretary of Commerce, to enable the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration to acquire a multibeam sonar mapper, $1,500,000 for fiscal year 1993.

(3) In addition to sums authorized in paragraphs (1) and (2), there are authorized to be appropriated to the Secretary of Commerce $1,040,000 for fiscal year 1993 for the reactivation and operation of the research vessel ALBATROSS IV.

(4)(A) Unless necessary for safety reasons, the Secretary of Commerce shall not deactivate the ALBATROSS IV (if active), until an equivalent replacement vessel is operational.

(B) The Secretary of Commerce shall notify the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation of the Senate and the Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries of the House of Representatives 60 days prior to the proposed deactivation of any other research vessel of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, if an equivalent replacement vessel will not become operational at the time of deactivation.

(5) The Secretary of Commerce shall consult with the Oceanographer of the Navy regarding appropriate cost effective and practical measures to all vessels of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration to be interoperable with vessels of the Department of the Navy, including with respect to operation, maintenance, and repair of those vessels.

(c) AIRCRAFT SERVICES.—There are authorized to be appropriated to the Secretary of Commerce, to enable the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration to carry out aircraft services activities (including aircraft operations, maintenance, and support) under the Act of 1990 and any other law involving those activities, $8,865,000 for fiscal year 1992 and $10,336,000 for fiscal year 1993.

SEC. 402. CONSTRUCTION.

There are authorized to be appropriated to the Secretary of Commerce, for acquisition, construction, maintenance, and operation of facilities of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration under any law involving those activities, $34,917,000 for fiscal year 1992 and $94,500,000 for fiscal year 1993.

SEC. 403. NOTICE OF REPROGRAMMING.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of Commerce shall provide notice to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation and Committee on Appropriations of the Senate and to the Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries, Committee on Science, Space, and Technology, and Committee on Appropriations of the House of Representatives, not less than 15 days before reprogramming funds available for a program, project, or activity of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration in an amount greater than the lesser of $250,000 or 5 percent of the total funding of such program, project, or activity if the reprogramming—

(1) augments an existing program, project, or activity;

(2) reduces by 5 percent or more (A) the funding for an existing program, project, or activity or (B) the numbers of personnel therefore as approved by Congress; or

(3) results from any general savings from a reduction in personnel which would result in a change in an existing program, project, or activity.

(b) NOTICE OF REORGANIZATION.—The Secretary of Commerce shall provide notice to the Committees on Merchant Marine and Fisheries, Science, Space, and Technology, and Appropriations of the House of Representatives, and the Committees on Commerce, Science, and Transportation and Appropriations of the Senate not later than 15 days before any major reorganization of any program, project, or activity of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

SEC. 404. FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE.

(a) PROCESSING OF APPLICATIONS.—Within 12 months after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Commerce shall develop and, after notice and opportunity for public comment, promulgate regulations or guidelines to ensure that a completed application for a grant, contract, or other financial assistance under a nondiscretionary assistance program shall be processed and approved or disapproved within 75 days after submission of the application to the responsible program office of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

(b) NOTIFICATION OF APPLICANT.—Not later than 14 days after the date on which the Secretary of Commerce receives an application for a contract, grant, or other financial assistance provided under a nondiscretionary assistance program administered by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, the Secretary shall indicate in writing to the applicant whether or not the application is complete and, if not complete, shall specify the additional material that the applicant must provide to complete the application.

(c) EXEMPTION.—In the case of a program for which the recipient of a grant, contract or other financial assistance is specified by statute to be, or has customarily been, a State or an interstate fishery commission, such financial assistance may be provided by the Secretary to that recipient on a sole-source basis, notwithstanding any other provision of law.

(d) DEFINITION.—In this section, the term "nondiscretionary assistance program" means any program for providing financial assistance—

(1) under which the amount of funding for, and the intended recipient of, the financial assistance is specified by Congress; or

(2) the recipients of which have customarily been a State or an interstate fishery commission.

SEC. 405. PRICE FREE ON CHARTS AND OTHER PRODUCTS OF NOAA.

Notwithstanding section 1307 of title 44, United States Code, the price of nautical charts or other nautical products produced or published by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration and sold after the date of the enactment of this Act shall not exceed the price of that type of chart or product on the date of enactment of this Act adjusted for inflation. This section shall not apply after September 30, 1994.

SEC. 406. COOPERATIVE AGREEMENTS.

The Secretary of Commerce, acting through the Under Secretary of Commerce for Oceans and Atmosphere, may enter into cooperative agreements and other financial agreements with any nonprofit organization to—

(1) aid and promote scientific and educational activities to foster public understanding of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration or its programs; and

(2) solicit private donations for the support of such activities.

SEC. 407. RECRUITMENT OF MINORITIES AND WOMEN FOR NOAA SCIENCE EDUCATION ACTIVITIES.

(a) FINDINGS.—The Congress finds the following:

(1) In this decade, more than two-thirds of the new entrants to the United States labor force will be minorities and women—groups which for the most part have been historically underrepresented in the sciences.

(2) The National Science Foundation estimates that by the year 2000, the United States will face a shortfall of more than 400,000 science and engineering personnel.

(3) Given the demographics of the United States workforce, the problem of underrepresented minorities and women in the sciences and engineering could seriously compromise the industrial and technological capability of the United States, as well as its ability to compete in international marketplaces.

(4) The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration has made important efforts to promote education programs in the sciences for students, teachers, and other citizens.

(b) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of the Congress that the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration should continue to expand its educational programs in the sciences, and in this effort, that the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration should develop and promote programs that reach out to and recruit minorities and women for education in the sciences.

TITLE V—NATIONAL MARINE MONITORING PROGRAM

SEC. 501. AMENDMENT.

The Marine Protection, Research, and Sanctuaries Act of 1972 is amended by adding at the end the following new title:

"TITLE V—NATIONAL COASTAL MONITORING ACT

"SEC. 501. PURPOSES.

"The purposes of this title are to—

"(1) establish a comprehensive national program for consistent monitoring of the Nation's coastal ecosystems;

"(2) establish long-term water quality assessment and monitoring programs for high priority coastal waters that will enhance the ability of Federal, State, and local authorities to develop and implement effective remedial programs for those waters;

"(3) establish a system for reviewing and evaluating the scientific, analytical, and technological means that are available for monitoring the environmental quality of coastal ecosystems;

"(4) establish methods for identifying uniform indicators of coastal ecosystem quality;

"(5) provide for periodic comprehensive reports to Congress concerning the quality of the Nation's coastal ecosystems;

"(6) establish a coastal environmental information program to distribute coastal monitoring information;

"(7) provide state programs authorized under the Coastal Zone Management Act of 1972 (16 U.S.C. 1451 et seq.) with information necessary to design land use plans and coastal zone regulations that will contribute to the protection of coastal ecosystems; and

"(8) provide certain water pollution control programs authorized under the Federal Water Pollution Control Act (33 U.S.C. 1251 et seq.) with information necessary to design and implement effective coastal water pollution controls.

"SEC. 502 DEFINITIONS.

"For the purposes of this title, the term—

"(1) 'Administrator' means the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency;

"(2) 'coastal ecosystem' means a system of interacting biological, chemical, and physical components throughout the water column, water surface, and benthic environment of coastal waters;

"(3) 'coastal water quality' means the physical, chemical and biological parameters that relate to the health and integrity of coastal ecosystems;

"(4) 'coastal water quality monitoring' means a continuing program of measurement, analysis, and synthesis to identify and quantify coastal water quality conditions and trends to provide a technical basis for decisionmaking;

"(5) 'coastal waters' means waters of the Great Lakes, including their connecting waters and those portions of rivers, streams, and other bodies of water having unimpaired connection with the open sea up to the head of tidal influence, including wetlands, intertidal areas, bays, harbors, and lagoons, including waters of the territorial sea of the United States and the contiguous zone"; and

"(6) 'Under Secretary' means Under Secretary of Commerce for Oceans and Atmosphere.

"SEC. 503. COMPREHENSIVE COASTAL WATER QUALITY MONITORING PROGRAM.

"(a) AUTHORITY: JOINT IMPLEMENTATION.—(1) The Administrator and the Under Secretary, in conjunction with other Federal, State, and local authorities, shall jointly develop and implement a program for the long-term collection, assimilation, and analysis of scientific data designed to measure the environmental quality of the Nation's coastal ecosystems pursuant to this section. Monitoring conducted pursuant to this section shall be coordinated with relevant monitoring programs conducted by the Administrator, Undersecretary, and other Federal, State, and local authorities.

"(2) Primary leadership for the monitoring program activities conducted by the Environmental Protection Agency pursuant to this section shall be located at the Environmental Research Laboratory in Narragansett, Rhode Island.

"(b) PROGRAM ELEMENTS.—The Comprehensive Coastal Water Quality Monitoring Program shall include, but not be limited to—

"(1) identification and analysis of the status of environmental quality in the Nation's coastal ecosystems, including but not limited to, assessment of—

"(A) ambient water quality, including contaminant levels in relation to criteria and standards issued pursuant to title III of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act (33 U.S.C. 1311 et seq.);

"(B) benthic environmental quality, including analysis of contaminant levels in sediments in relation to criteria and standards issued pursuant to title III of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act (33 U.S.C. 1311 et seq.); and

"(C) health and quality of living resources.

"(2) identification of sources of environmental degradation affecting the Nation's coastal ecosystems;

"(3) assessment of the impact of governmental programs and management strategies and measures designed to abate or prevent the environmental degradation of the Nation's coastal ecosystems;

"(4) assessment of the accumulation of floatables along coastal shorelines;

"(5) analysis of expected short-term and long-term trends in the environmental quality of the Nation's coastal ecosystems; and

"(6) the development and implementation of intensive coastal water quality monitoring programs in accordance with subsection (d).

"(c) MONITORING GUIDELINES AND PROTOCOLS.

"(1) GUIDELINES.—Not later than 18 months after the date of the enactment of this title, the Administrator and the Under Secretary shall jointly issue coastal water quality monitoring guidelines to assist in the development and implementation of coastal water quality monitoring programs. The guidelines shall—

"(A) provide an appropriate degree of uniformity among the coastal water quality monitoring methods and data while preserving the flexibility of monitoring programs to address specific needs;

"(B) establish scientifically valid monitoring methods that will—

"(i) provide simplified methods to survey and assess the water quality and ecological health of coastal waters;

"(ii) identify and quantify through more intensive efforts the severity of existing or anticipated problems in selected coastal waters;

"(iii) identify and quantify sources of pollution that cause or contribute to those problems, including point and nonpoint sources;

"(iv) evaluate over time the effectiveness of efforts to reduce or eliminate pollution from those sources;

"(C) provide for data compatibility to enable data to be efficiently stored and shared by various users; and

"(D) identify appropriate physical, chemical, and biological indicators of the health and quality of coastal ecosystems.

"(2) Technical protocols.—Guidelines issued under paragraph (1) shall include protocols for—

"(A) designing statistically valid coastal water quality monitoring networks and monitoring surveys, including assessment of the accumulation of floatables.

"(B) sampling and analysis, including appropriate physical and chemical parameters, living resource parameters, and sediment analysis techniques; and

"(C) quality control, quality assessment, and data consistency and management.

"(3) Periodic review.—The Administrator and the Under Secretary shall periodically review the guidelines and protocols issued under this subsection to evaluate their effectiveness, the degree to which they continue to answer program objectives and provide an appropriate degree of uniformity while taking local conditions into account, and any need to modify or supplement them with new guidelines and protocols, as needed.

"(4) Discharge permit data.—The Administrator or a State permitting authority shall ensure that compliance monitoring conducted pursuant to section 402(a)(2) of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act (33 U.S.C. 1342(a)(2)) for permits for discharges to coastal waters is consistent with the guidelines issued under this subsection. Any modifications of discharge permits necessary to implement this subsection shall be deemed to be minor modifications of such permit. Nothing in this subsection requires discharges to conduct monitoring other than compliance monitoring pursuant to permits under section 402(a)(2) of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act (33 U.S.C. 1342(a)(2)).

"(d) Intensive Coastal Water Quality Monitoring Programs.—

"(1) In general.—The Comprehensive Coastal Water Quality Monitoring Program established pursuant to this section shall include intensive coastal water quality monitoring programs developed under this subsection.

"(2) Designation of intensive monitoring areas.—Not later than 24 months after the date of enactment of this title and periodically thereafter, the Administrator and the Under Secretary shall, based on recommendations by the National Research Council, jointly designate coastal areas to be intensively monitored.

"(3) Identification of suitable coastal areas.—(A) The Administrator and the Under Secretary shall contract with the National Research Council to conduct a study to identify coastal areas suitable for the establishment of intensive coastal monitoring programs. In identifying these coastal areas, the National Research Council shall consider areas that—

"(i) are representative of coastal ecosystems throughout the United States;

"(ii) will provide information to assess the status and trends of coastal water quality nation-wide; and

"(iii) would benefit from intensive water quality monitoring because of local management needs.

"(B) In making recommendations under this paragraph, the National Research Council shall consult with Regional Research Boards established pursuant to title IV of this Act.

"(C) The National Research Council shall, within 18 months of the date of enactment of this title, submit a report to the Administrator and the Under Secretary listing areas suitable for intensive monitoring.

"(D) The Administrator and the Under Secretary, in conjunction with other Federal, State, and local authorities, shall develop and implement multi-year programs of intensive monitoring for Massachusetts and Cape Cod Bays, the Gulf of Maine, the Chesapeake Bay, the Hudson-Raritan Estuary, and each area jointly designated by the Administrator and the Under Secretary pursuant to paragraph (2).

"(4) Intensive coastal water quality monitoring programs.—Each intensive coastal water quality monitoring program developed pursuant to this subsection shall—

"(A) identify water quality conditions and problems and provide information to assist in improving coastal water quality;

"(B) clearly state the goals and objectives of the monitoring program and their relationship to the water quality objectives for coastal waters covered by the program;

"(C) identify the water quality and biological parameters of the monitoring program and their relationship to these goals and objectives;

"(D) describe the types of monitoring networks, surveys and other activities to be used to achieve these goals and objectives, using where appropriate the guidelines issued under subsection (c);

"(E) survey existing Federal, State, and local coastal monitoring activities and private compliance monitoring activities in or on the coastal waters covered by the program, describe the relationship of the program to those other monitoring activities, and integrate them, as appropriate, into the intensive monitoring program;

"(F) describe the data management and quality control components of the program;

"(G) specify the implementation requirements for the program, including—

"(i) the lead Federal, State, or regional authority that will administer the program;

"(ii) the public and private parties that will implement the program;

"(iii) a detailed schedule for program implementation;

"(iv) all Federal and State responsibilities for implementing the program; and

"(v) the changes in Federal, State, and local monitoring programs necessary to implement the program;

"(H) estimate the costs to Federal and State governments, and other participants, of implementing the monitoring program; and

"(I) describe the methods to assess periodically the success of the monitoring program in meeting its goals and objectives, and the manner in which the program may be modified from time-to-time.

"(5) Criteria for monitoring Massachusetts and Cape Cod Bays.—In addition to the criteria listed in paragraph (4), the intensive monitoring program for Massachusetts and Cape Cod Bays shall establish baseline data on environmental phenomena (such as quantity of bacteria and quality of indigenous species, and swimmability) and determine the ecological impacts resulting from major point source discharges.

"(6) Memorandum of understanding.—Prior to implementing any intensive coastal water quality monitoring program under this subsection, the Administrator and the Under Secretary shall enter into a Memorandum of Understanding to implement the intensive coastal water quality monitoring programs and may extend the Memorandum of Understanding to include other appropriate Federal agencies. The Memorandum of Understanding shall identify the monitoring and reporting responsibilities of each agency and shall encourage the coordination of monitoring activities.

"(7) Implementation.—(A) The Administrator, the Under Secretary, and the Governor of each State having waters subject to an intensive coastal water quality monitoring program developed pursuant to this subsection shall ensure compliance with that program.

"(B) The Administrator and the Under Secretary are authorized to enter into cooperative agreements to provide financial assistance to non-Federal agencies and institutions to support implementation of intensive monitoring programs under this subsection. Federal financial assistance may only be provided on the condition that not less than fifty percent of the costs of the monitoring to be conducted by a non-Federal agency or institution is provided from non-Federal funds.

"(e) Comprehensive implementation strategy.—

"(1) In general.—Within 1 year after the date of enactment of this title, the Administrator and the Under Secretary shall jointly submit to Congress a Comprehensive Implementation Strategy identifying the current and planned activities to implement the Comprehensive Coastal Monitoring Program pursuant to this section.

"(2) Consultation.—The Administrator and the Under Secretary shall consult with the National Academy of Sciences, the Director of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, the Director of the Minerals Management Service, the Commandant of the Coast Guard, the Secretary of the Navy, the Secretary of Agriculture, the heads of any other relevant Federal or regional agencies, and the Governors of coastal States in developing the Strategy.

"(3) Public comment.—Not less than 3 months before submitting the Strategy to Congress, the Administrator and the Under Secretary shall jointly publish a draft version of the Strategy in the Federal Register and shall solicit public comments regarding the Strategy.

"(4) Memorandum of understanding.—Within 1 year after submission of the Strategy under paragraph (1), the Administrator and the Under Secretary shall enter into a Memorandum of Understanding with appropriate Federal agencies necessary to effect the coordination of Federal coastal monitoring programs. The Memorandum of Understanding shall identify the monitoring and reporting responsibility of each agency and shall encourage the coordination of monitoring activities where possible.

"SEC. 504. REPORT TO CONGRESS.

"On September 30 of every other year beginning in 1993, the Administrator and the Under Secretary shall jointly submit to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation and the Committee on Environment and Public Works of the Senate and the Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries, and the Committee on Public Works and Transportation of the House of Representatives a report describing the condition of the Nation's coastal ecosystems, including the following:

"(1) an assessment of the status and health of the Nation's coastal ecosystems;

"(2) an evaluation of environmental trends in coastal ecosystems;

"(3) identification of sources of environmental degradation affecting coastal ecosystems;

"(4) an assessment of the extent to which floatables degrade coastal ecosystems, including trends in the accumulation of floatables and the threat posed by floatables to aquatic life;

"(5) an assessment of the impact of government programs designed to abate the degradation of coastal ecosystems;

"(6) an evaluation of the adequacy of monitoring programs and identification of any additional program elements which may be needed; and

"SEC. 505. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.

"(a) NOAA AUTHORIZATION.—For development and implementation of programs under this title, including financial assistance to non-Federal agencies and institutions to support implementation of intensive monitoring programs under section 503(d), there is authorized to be appropriated to the Under Secretary amounts not to exceed $5,000,000 for fiscal year 1993, $8,000,000 for fiscal year 1994, $10,000,000 for fiscal year 1995, and $12,000,000 for fiscal year 1996.

"(b) EPA AUTHORIZATION.—For development and implementation of programs under this title, including financial assistance to non-Federal agencies and institutions to support implementation of intensive monitoring programs under section 503(d), there is authorized to be appropriated to the Administrator amounts not to exceed $5,000,000 for fiscal year 1993, $8,000,000 for fiscal year 1994, and $10,000,000 for fiscal year 1995, and $12,000,000 for fiscal year 1996.".

TITLE VI—NOAA FLEET MODERNIZATION

SEC. 601. SHORT TITLE.

This title may be cited as the "NOAA Fleet Modernization Act".

SEC. 602. DEFINITIONS.

In this title, the term—

(1) "NOAA" means the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration within the Department of Commerce.

(2) "NOAA fleet" means the fleet of research vessels owned or operated by NOAA.

(3) "Plan" means the NOAA Fleet Replacement and Modernization Plan described in section 604.

(4) "Secretary" means the Secretary of Commerce.

(5) "UNOLS" means University-National Oceanographic Laboratory System.

SEC. 603. FLEET REPLACEMENT AND MODERNIZATION PROGRAM.

The Secretary is authorized to implement, subject to the requirements of this Act, a 15-year program to replace and modernize the NOAA fleet.

SEC. 604. FLEET REPLACEMENT AND MODERNIZATION PLAN.

(a) IN GENERAL.—To carry out the program authorized in section 603, the Secretary shall develop and submit to Congress a replacement and modernization Plan for the NOAA fleet covering the years authorized under section 610.

(b) TIMING.—The Plan required in subsection (a) shall be submitted to Congress within 30 days of the date of enactment of this Act, and updated on an annual basis.

(c) PLAN ELEMENTS.—The Plan required in subsection (a) shall include the following—

(1) the number of vessels proposed to be modernized or replaced, the schedule for their modernization or replacement, and anticipated funding requirements;

(2) the number of vessels proposed to be constructed, leased, or chartered;

(3) the number of vessels, or days at sea, that can be obtained by using the vessels of the UNOLS;

(4) the number of vessels that will be made available to NOAA by the Secretary of the Navy, or any other federal official, and the terms and conditions for their availability;

(5) the proposed acquisition of modern scientific instrumentation for the NOAA fleet, including acoustic systems, data transmission positioning and communication systems, physical, chemical, and meteorological oceanographic systems, and data acquisition and processing systems; and

(6) the appropriate role of the NOAA Corps in operating and maintaining the NOAA fleet.

(d) CONTRACTING LIMITATION.—The Secretary may not enter into any contract for the construction, lease, or service life extension of a vessel of the NOAA fleet before the date of the submission to Congress of the Plan required in subsection (a).

SEC. 605. DESIGN OF NOAA VESSELS.

(a) DESIGN REQUIREMENT.—Except for the vessel designs identified under subsection (b), the Secretary, working through the Office of the NOAA Corps Operations and the Systems Procurement Office, shall—

(1) prepare requirements for each class of vessel to be constructed or converted under the Plan; and

(2) contract competitively from non-governmental entities with expertise in shipbuilding for vessel design and construction based on the requirements for each class of vessel to be acquired.

(b) EXCEPTION.—The Secretary shall—

(1) report to Congress identifying any existing vessel design or design proposal that meets the requirements of the Plan within 30 days after the date of enactment of this Act and shall promptly advise the Congress of any modification of those designs; and

(2) submit to Congress as part of the annual update of the Plan required in section 604, any subsequent existing vessel design or design proposals that meet the requirements of the Plan.

SEC. 606. CONTRACT AUTHORITY.

(a) MULTIYEAR CONTRACTS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Subject to paragraphs (2) and (3), and notwithstanding section 1341 of title 31, United States Code and section 3732 of the Revised Statutes of the United States (41 U.S.C. 11), the Secretary may acquire vessels for the NOAA fleet by purchase, lease, lease-purchase, or otherwise, under one or more multiyear contracts.

(2) REQUIRED FINDINGS.—The Secretary may not enter into a contract pursuant to this subsection unless the Secretary finds with respect to that contract that—

(A) there is a reasonable expectation that throughout the contemplated contract period the Secretary will request from Congress funding for the contract at the level required to avoid contract termination; and

(B) the use of the contract will promote the best interests of the United States by encouraging competition and promoting economic efficiency in the operation of the NOAA fleet.

(3) REQUIRED CONTRACT PROVISIONS.—The Secretary may not enter into a contract pursuant to this subsection unless the contract includes—

(A) a provision under which the obligation of the United States to make payments under the contract for any fiscal year is subject to the availability of appropriations provided in advance for those payments;

(B) a provision that specifies the term of effectiveness of the contract; and

(C) appropriate provisions under which, in case of any termination of the contract before the end of the term specified pursuant to subparagraph (B), the United States shall only be liable for the lesser of—

(i) an amount specified in the contract for such a termination; or

(ii) amounts that—

(I) were appropriated before the date of the termination for the performance of the contract or for procurement of the type of acquisition covered by the contract; and

(II) are unobligated on the date of the termination.

(b) SERVICE CONTRACTS.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the Secretary may enter into multiyear contracts for oceanographic research, fisheries research, and mapping and charting services to assist the Secretary in fulfilling NOAA missions. The Secretary may only enter into these contracts if—

(1) the Secretary finds that it is in the public interest to do so;

(2) the contract is for not more than 7 years; and

(3)(A) the cost of the contract is less than the cost (including the cost of operation, maintenance, and personnel) to the NOAA of obtaining those services on NOAA vessels; or

(B) NOAA vessels are not available or cannot provide those services.

(c) BONDING AUTHORITY.—Notwithstanding any other law, the Secretary may not require a contractor for the construction, alteration, repair, or maintenance of a NOAA vessel to provide a bid bond, payment bond, performance bond, completion bond, or other surety instrument in an amount greater than 20 percent of the value of the base contract quantity (excluding options) unless the Secretary determines that requiring an instrument in that amount will not prevent a responsible bidder or offeror from competing for the award of the contract.

SEC. 607. RESTRICTION WITH RESPECT TO CERTAIN SHIPYARD SUBSIDIES.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of Commerce may not award a contract for the construction, repair (except emergency repairs), or alteration of any vessel of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration in a shipyard, if that vessel benefits or would benefit from significant subsidies for the construction, repair, or alteration of vessels in that shipyard.

(b) DEFINITION.—In this section, the term "significant subsidy" includes, but is not limited to, any of the following:

(1) Officially supported export credits.

(2) Direct official operating support to the commercial shipbuilding and repair industry, or to a related entity that favors the operation of shipbuilding and repair, including but not limited to—

(A) grants;

(B) loans and loan guarantees other than those available on the commercial market;

(C) forgiveness of debt;

(D) equity infusions on terms inconsistent with commercially reasonable investment practices; and

(E) preferential provision of goods and services.

(3) Direct official support for investment in the commercial shipbuilding and repair industry, or to a related entity that favors the operation of shipbuilding and repair, including but not limited to the kinds of support listed in paragraph (2) (A) through (E), and any restructuring support, except public support for social purposes directly and effectively linked to shipyard closures.

(4) Assistance in the form of grants, preferential loans, preferential tax treatment, or otherwise, that benefits or is directly related to shipbuilding and repair for purposes of research and development that is not equally open to domestic and foreign enterprise.

(5) Tax policies and practices that favor the shipbuilding and repair industry, directly or indirectly, such as tax credits, deductions, exemptions, and preferences, including accelerated depreciation, if such benefits are not generally available to persons or firms not engaged in shipbuilding or repair.

(6) Any official regulation or practice that authorizes or encourages persons or firms engaged in shipbuilding or repair to enter into anticompetitive arrangements.

(7) Any indirect support directly related, in law or in fact, to shipbuilding and repair at national yards, including any public assistance favoring shipowners with an indirect effect on shipbuilding or repair activities, and any assistance provided to supplies of significant inputs to shipbuilding, which results in benefits to domestic shipbuilders.

(8) Any export subsidy identified in the illustrative List of Export Subsidies in the Annex to the Agreement on Interpretation and Application of Articles VI, XVI, and XXIII of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade or any other export subsidy that may be prohibited as a result of the Uruguay Round of trade negotiations.

SEC. 608. USE OF VESSELS.

(a) VESSEL AGREEMENTS.—In implementing the NOAA fleet replacement and modernization program, the Secretary shall use excess capacity of UNOLS vessels where appropriate and may enter into memoranda of agreement with the operators of these vessels to carry out this requirement.

(b) REPORT TO CONGRESS.—Within one year after the date of enactment of this Act, the Comptroller General of the United States shall provide a report to Congress, in consultation with the Secretary, comparing the cost-efficiency, accounting, and operating practices of the vessels of NOAA, UNOLS, other Federal agencies, and the United States private sector in meeting the missions of NOAA.

SEC. 609. INTEROPERABILITY.

The Secretary shall consult with the Oceanographer of the Navy regarding appropriate measures that should be taken, on a reimbursable basis, to ensure that NOAA vessels are interoperable with vessels of the Department of the Navy, including with respect to operation, maintenance, and repair of those vessels.

SEC. 610. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—There are authorized to be appropriated to the Secretary for carrying out this title—

(1) $50,000,000 for fiscal year 1993;

(2) $100,000,000 for fiscal year 1994; and such sums as are necessary for each of the fiscal years 1995, 1996, and 1997.

(b) LIMITATION ON FLEET MODERNIZATION ACTIVITIES.—All National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration fleet modernization, shipbuilding, and conversion shall be conducted in accordance with this title.

TITLE VII—WEATHER SERVICE MODERNIZATION

SEC. 701. SHORT TITLE.

This title may be cited as the "Weather Service Modernization Act".

SEC. 702. DEFINITIONS.

For the purpose of this title, the term—

(1) "automate" means to replace employees with automated weather service equipment;

(2) "change operations at a field office" means transfer service responsibility, commission weather observation systems, decommission a National Weather Service radar, change staffing levels significantly, or move a field office to a new location inside the local commuting and service area;

(3) "Committee" means the Modernization Transition Committee established by section 707;

(4) "degradation of service" means any decrease in or failure to maintain the quality and type of weather services provided by the National Weather Service to the public in a service area, including but not limited to a reduction in existing weather radar coverage at an elevation of 10,000 feet;

(5) "field office" means any National Weather Service Office or National Weather Service Forecast Office;

(6) "Plan" means the National Implementation Plan required under section 703;

(7) "relocate" means to transfer from one location to another location that is outside the local commuting or service area;

(8) "Secretary" means the Secretary of Commerce;

(9) "service area" means the geographical area for which a field office provides services or conducts observations, including but not limited to local forecasts, severe weather warnings, aviation support, radar coverage, and ground weather observations; and

(10) "Strategic Plan" means the 10-year strategic plan for the comprehensive modernization of the National Weather Service, required under section 407 of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration Authorization Act, Fiscal Year 1989 (15 U.S.C. 313 note).

SEC. 703. NATIONAL IMPLEMENTATION PLAN.

(a) NATIONAL IMPLEMENTATION PLAN.—As part of the budget justification documents submitted to Congress in support of the annual budget request for the Department of Commerce, the Secretary shall include a National Implementation Plan for modernization of the National Weather Service for each fiscal year following fiscal year 1993 until such modernization is complete. The Plan shall set forth the actions, during the 2-year period beginning with the fiscal year for which the budget request is made, that will be necessary to accomplish the objectives described in the Strategic Plan, and shall include—

(1) detailed requirements for new technologies, facilities, staffing levels and positions, and funding, in accordance with the overall schedule for modernization;

(2) notification of any proposed action to change operations at a field office and the intended date of such operational change;

(3) identification of any field office that the Secretary intends to certify under section 706, including the intended date of such certification;

(4) special measures to test, evaluate, and demonstrate key elements of the modernized National Weather Service operations prior to national implementation, including a multistation operational demonstration which tests the performance of the modernization in an integrated manner for a sustained period;

(5) detailed plans and funding requirements for meteorological research to be accomplished under this title to assure that new techniques in forecasting will be developed to utilize the new technologies being implemented in the modernization; and

(6) training and education programs to ensure that employees gain the necessary expertise to utilize the new technologies and to minimize employee displacement as a consequence of modernization.

(b) TRANSMITTAL TO COMMITTEE.—The Secretary shall transmit a copy of each annual Plan to the Committee.

(c) CONSULTATION.—In developing the Plan, the Secretary shall consult, as appropriate, with the Committee and public entities responsible for providing or utilizing weather services.

SEC. 704. MODERNIZATION CRITERIA.

(a) NATIONAL RESEARCH COUNCIL REVIEW.—The Secretary shall contract with the National Research Council for a review of the scientific and technical modernization criteria by which the Secretary proposes to certify action to close, consolidate, automate, or relocate a field office under section 706. In conducting such review, the National Research Council shall prepare and submit to the Secretary, no later than 9 months after the date of enactment of this Act, a report which—

(1) assesses requirements and procedures for commissioning new weather observation systems, decommissioning an outdated National Weather Service radar, and evaluating staffing needs for field offices in an affected service area;

(2) assesses the statistical and analytical measures that should be made for a service area to form an adequate basis for determining that there will be no degradation of service; and

(3) includes such other recommendations as the National Research Council determines are appropriate to ensure public safety.

(b) CRITERIA.—No later than 12 months after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary, in consultation with the National Research Council and the Committee and after notice and opportunity for pubic comment, shall publish in the Federal Register modernization criteria (including all requirements and procedures), based on the report required under this section, for—

(1) commissioning new weather observation systems, decommissioning an outdated National Weather Service radar, and evaluating staffing needs for field offices in an affected service area; and

(2) certifying action to close, consolidate, automate, or relocate a field office under section 706.

SEC. 705. CHANGES IN FIELD OFFICE OPERATIONS.

(a) NOTIFICATION.—The Secretary shall not change operations at a field office pursuant to implementation of the Strategic Plan unless the Secretary has provided the notification required by section 703.

(b) WEATHER RADAR DECOMMISSIONING.—The Secretary shall not remove or permanently decommission any National Weather Service radar until the Secretary has prepared radar commissioning and decommissioning reports documenting that such action would be consistent with the modernization criteria established under section 704(b)(1). The commissioning report shall document that the radar system performs reliably, satisfactory maintenance support is in place, sufficient staff with adequate training are present to operate the system, technical coordination with weather service users has been completed, and the radar being commissioned satisfactorily supports field office operations. The decommissioning report shall document that the replacement radar has been commissioned, technical coordination with service users has been completed, and the radar being decommissioned is no longer needed to support field office operations.

(c) Surface Observing Systems Commissioning.—The Secretary may not commission an automated surface observing system located at an airport unless it is determined, in consultation with the Secretary of Transportation, that the weather services provided after commissioning will continue to be in full compliance with applicable flight aviation rules promulgated by the Federal Aviation Administration.

SEC. 706. RESTRUCTURING FIELD OFFICES.

Sec. 706. (a) Prohibition.—The Secretary shall not close, before January 1, 1996, any field office pursuant to implementation of the Strategic Plan.

(b) Certification.—The Secretary shall not close, consolidate, automate, or relocate any field office, unless the Secretary has certified that such action will not result in any degradation of service. Such certification shall include—

(1) a description of local weather characteristics and weather-related concerns which affect the weather services provided within the service area;

(2) a detailed comparison of the services provided within the service area and the services to be provided after such action;

(3) a description of any recent or expected modernization of National Weather Service operations which will enhance services in the service area;

(4) an identification of any area within any State which would not receive coverage (at an elevation of 10,000 feet) by the next generation weather radar network;

(5) evidence, based upon operational demonstration of modernized National Weather Service operations, which was considered in reaching the conclusion that no degradation in service will result from such action; and

(6) any report of the Committee submitted under section 707(c) that evaluates the proposed certification.

(c) Public Review.—Each certification decision shall be preceded by—

(1) publication in the Federal Register of a proposed certification; and

(2) a 60-day period after such publication during which the public may provide comments to the Secretary on the proposed certification.

(d) Final Decision.—If after consideration of the public comment received under subsection (c) the Secretary, in consultation with the Committee, decides to close, consolidate, automate, or relocate any such field office, the Secretary shall publish a final certification in the Federal Register and submit the certification to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation of the Senate and the Committee on Science, Space, and Technology of the House of Representatives.

(e) Special Circumstances.—The Secretary may not close or relocate any field office—

(1) which is located at an airport, unless the Secretary, in consultation with the Secretary of Transportation and the Committee, first conducts an air safety appraisal, determines that such action will not result in degradation of service that affects aircraft safety, and includes such determination in the certification required under subsection (b); or

(2) which is the only office in a State, unless the Secretary first evaluates the effect on weather services provided to in-State users, such as State agencies, civil defense officials, and local public safety offices, and includes in the certification required under subsection (b) the Secretary's determination that a comparable level of weather services provided to such in-State users will remain.

(f) Liaison Officer.—The Secretary may not close, consolidate, automate, or relocate a field office until arrangements have been made to maintain for a period of at least 2 years at least one person in the service area to act as a liaison officer who—

(1) provides timely information regarding the activities of the National Weather Service which may affect service to the community, including modernization and restructuring; and

(2) works with area weather service users, including persons associated with general aviation, civil defense, emergency preparedness, and the news media, with respect to the provision of timely weather warnings and forecasts.

SEC. 707. MODERNIZATION TRANSITION COMMITTEE.

(a) Establishment.—There is established a committee of 12 members to be known as the Modernization Transition Committee.

(b) Membership and Terms.—(1) The Committee shall consist of—

(A) five members representing agencies and departments of the United States which are responsible for providing or using weather services, including but not limited to the National Weather Service, the Department of Defense, the Federal Aviation Administration, and the Federal Emergency Management Agency; and

(B) seven members to be appointed by the Secretary from civil defense and public safety organizations, news media, any labor organization certified by the Federal Labor Relations Authority as an exclusive representative of weather service employees, meteorological experts, and private sector users of weather information such as pilots and farmers.

(2) The term of office of a member of the Committee shall be 3 years; except that, of the original membership, four shall serve a 5-year term, four shall serve a 4-year term, and four shall serve a 3-year term. No individual may serve for more than one additional 3-year term.

(3) The Secretary shall designate a chairman of the Committee from among its members.

(c) Duties.—(1) The Committee may review any proposed certification under section 706 for which the Secretary has provided a notice of intent to certify in the Plan, and should review such a proposed certification if there is a significant possibility of degradation of service within the affected service area. Upon the request of the Committee, the Secretary shall make available to the Committee the supporting documents developed by the Secretary in connection with the proposed certification. The Committee may prepare and submit to the Secretary, prior to publication of the proposed certification, a report which evaluates the proposed certification on the basis of the modernization criteria and with respect to the requirement that there be no degradation of service.

(2) The Committee shall advise the Congress and the Secretary on—

(A) the implementation of the Strategic Plan, annual development of the Plan, and establishment and implementation of modernization criteria; and

(B) matters of public safety and the provision of weather services which relate to the comprehensive modernization of the National Weather Service.

(d) Pay and Travel Expenses.—Members of the Committee who are not employees of the United States shall each be paid at a rate equal to the daily equivalent of the rate for GS-18 of the General Schedule under section 5332 of title 5, United States Code, for each day (including travel time) during which the member is engaged in the actual performance of duties vested in the Committee. Members shall receive travel expenses, including per diem in lieu of subsistence, as authorized by section 5703 of title 5, United States Code.

(e) Staff.—The Secretary shall make available to the Committee such staff, information, and assistance as it may reasonably require to carry out its activities.

(f) Termination.—The Committee shall terminate on December 31, 1999.

SEC. 708. WEATHER SERVICE REPORT.

(a) Report.—The Secretary shall prepare a report on the proposed modernization of the National Weather Service and transmit the report, not later than 6 months after the date of enactment of this Act, to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation of the Senate and the Committee on Science, Space, and Technology of the House of Representatives.

(b) Contents.—(1) The report required by subsection (a) shall identify the size of the geographic area of responsibility of each proposed Weather Forecast Office and shall include an explanation of the number and type of personnel required at each Weather Forecast Office. For each proposed Weather Forecast Office covering a geographic area greater than two times the average geographic area of responsibility of Weather Forecast Offices nationwide, the report shall detail the reasons for assigning those Weather Forecast Offices a geographic area which differs significantly from the national average.

(2) The report shall list the number of next generation weather radars that will be associated with each Weather Forecast Office nationwide under the proposed modernization plan. If some Weather Forecast Offices will be associated with more than one such radar, the report shall explain the deviation from the National Weather Service's stated policy of associating one such radar with one Weather Forecast Office, and shall analyze and compare any differences in the expected efficiency of those Weather Forecast Offices with Weather Forecast Offices that will be associated with only one such radar.

(c) Consultation.—In preparing portions of the report that address Weather Forecast Offices located in areas of the Nation that are uniquely dependent on general aviation as a means of transportation, the Secretary shall consult with local aviation groups. In the case of Alaska, such local groups shall include the Alaska Aviation Safety Foundation, the Alaska Airmen's Association, and the regional representatives of the Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association.

SEC. 709. REPEALS.

1989 (15 U.S.C. 313 note), is amended by repealing—

(1) subsections (b), (c), and (d) of section 407; and

(2) section 408.

TITLE VIII—NORTH PACIFIC ANADROMOUS STOCKS CONVENTION

SEC. 801. SHORT TITLE.

This title may be cited as the "North Pacific Anadromous Stocks Act or 1992".

SEC. 802. PURPOSE.

It is the purpose of this title to implement the Convention for the Conservation of Anadromous Stocks in the North Pacific Ocean, signed in Moscow, February 11, 1992.

SEC. 803. DEFINITIONS.

As used in this title, the term—

(1) "Anadromous stocks" means stocks of species listed in the Annex to the Convention that migrate into the Convention area.

(2) "Anadromous fish" means fish of the species listed in the Annex to the Convention that migrate into the Convention area.

(3) "Authorized officer" means a law enforcement official authorized to enforce this title under section 809(a).

(4) "Commission" means the North Pacific Anadromous Fish Commission provided for by article VIII of the Convention.

(5) "Convention" means the Convention for the Conservation of Anadromous Stocks of the North Pacific Ocean signed in Moscow, February 11, 1992.

(6) "Convention area" means the waters of the North Pacific Ocean and its adjacent seas, north of 33 degrees North Latitude, beyond 200 nautical miles from the baselines from which the breadth of the territorial sea is measured.

(7) "Directed fishing" means fishing targeted at a particular species or stock of fish.

(8) "Ecologically related species" means living marine species which are associated with anadromous stocks found in the Convention area, including, but not restricted to, both predators and prey of anadromous fish.

(9) "Enforcment officer" means a law enforcement official authorized by any Party to enforce this title.

(10) "Exclusive economic zone" means the zone established by Proclamation Numbered 5030, dated March 10, 1983. For purposes of applying this title, the inner boundary of that zone is a line coterminous with the seaward boundary of each of the coastal States.

(11) "Fish" means finfish, mollusks, crustaceans, and all other forms of marine animal and plant life other than marine mammals and birds.

(12) "Fishing" means—

(A) the catching, taking, or harvesting of fish, or any other activity that can reasonably be expected to result in the catching, taking, or harvesting of fish; or

(B) any operation at sea in preparation for or in direct support of any activity described in subparagraph (A).

(13) "Fishing vessel" means—

(A) any vessel engaged in catching fish within the Convention area or in processing or transporting fish loaded in the Convention area;

(B) any vessel outfitted to engage in any activity described in subparagraph (A);

(C) any vessel described in subparageph (A) or (B).

(14) "Incidental taking" means catching, taking, or harvesting a species or stock of fish while conducting directed fishing for another species or stock of fish.

(15) "Party" means Canada, Japan, the Russian Federation, the United States, and any other nation that may accede to the Convention.

(16) "Secretary" means the Secretary of State.

(17) "United States Section" means the United States Commissioners of the Commission.

SEC. 804. UNITED STATES COMMISSIONERS.

(a) COMMISSIONERS.—The United States shall be represented on the Commission by not more than three United States Commissioners to be appointed by and serve at the pleasure of the President. Each United States Commissioner shall be appointed for a term of office not to exceed 4 years, but is eligible for reappointment. Of the Commissioners—

(1) one shall be an official of the United States Government;

(2) one shall be a resident of the State of Alaska; and

(3) one shall be a resident of the State of Washington.

An individual is not eligible for appointment under paragraph (2) or (3) as a Commissioner unless the individual is knowledgeable or experienced concerning the anadromous stocks and ecologically related species of the North Pacific Ocean.

(b) ALTERNATE COMMISSIONERS.—The Secretary, in consultation with the Secretary of Commerce, may designate from time to time Alternate United States Commissioners to the Commission. An Alternate United States Commissioner may exercise all designated powers and duties of the United States Commissioner in the absence of a duly designated Commissioner for whatever reason. The number of such Alternate United States Commissioners that may be designated for any such meeting shall be limited to the number of authorized United States Commissioners that will not be present.

(c) UNITED STATES SECTION.—The United States Section, in consultation with the Advisory Panel established in section 805, shall identify and recommend to the Commission research needs and priorities for anadromous stocks and ecologically related species subject to the Convention, and oversee the United States research programs involving such fisheries, stocks, an species.

(d) COMPENSATION.—United States Commissioners and Alternate United States Commissioners shall receive no compensation for their services as Commissioners and Alternate Commissioners.

SEC. 805. ADVISORY PANEL.

(2) ESTABLISHMENT OF PANEL.—An Advisory Panel to the United States Section is established. The Advisory Panel shall be composed of the following:

(1) The Commissioner of the Alaska Department of Fish and Game.

(2) The Director of the Washington Department of Fisheries.

(3) One representative of the Pacific States Marine Fisheries Commission, designated by the Executive Director of that commission.

(4) Eleven members (six of whom shall be residents of the State of Alaska and five of whom shall be residents of the State of Washington), appointed by the Secretary, in consultation with the Secretary of Commerce, from among a slate of 12 persons nominated by the Governor of Alaska and a slate of 10 persons nominated by the Governor of Washington.

(b) QUALIFICATIONS.—Persons appointed to the Advisory Panel shall be individuals who are knowledgeable or experienced concerning anadromous stocks and ecologically related species. In submitting a slate of nominees pursuant to subsection (a)(4), the Governors of Alaska and Washington shall seek to represent the broad range of parties interested in anadromous stocks and ecologically related species, and at a minimum shall include on each slate at least one representative of commercial salmon fishing interests and of environmental interests concerned with protection of living marine resources.

(c) LIMITATION ON SERVICE.—Any person appointed to the Advisory Panel pursuant to subsection (a)(4) shall serve for a term not to exceed 4 years, and may not serve more than two consecutive terms.

(d) FUNCTIONS.—The Advisory Panel shall be invited to all nonexecutive meetings of the United States Section and at such meetings shall be granted the opportunity to examine and to be heard on all proposed programs of study and investigation, reports, and recommendations of the United States Section.

(e) COMPENSATION AND EXPENSES.—The members of the Advisory Panel shall receive no compensation or travel expenses for their services as such members.

SEC. 806. COMMISSION RECOMMENDATIONS.

The Secretary, with the concurrence of the Secretary of Commerce, may accept or reject, on behalf of the United States, recommendations made by the Commission in accordance with article IX of the Convention.

SEC. 807. ADMINISTRATION AND ENFORCEMENT OF CONVENTION.

(a) RESPONSIBILITIES.—The Secretary of Commerce shall be responsible for administering provisions of the Convention, this title, and regulations issued under this title. The Secretary, in consultation with the Secretary of Commerce and the Secretary of Transportation, shall be responsible for coordinating the participation of the United States in the Commission.

(b) CONSULTATION AND COOPERATION.—In carrying out such functions, the Secretary of Commerce—

(1) shall, in consultation with the Secretary of Transportation and the United States Section, issue such regulations as may be necessary to carry out the purposes and objectives of the Convention and this title; and

(2) may, with the concurrence of the Secretary, cooperate with the authorized officials of the government of any Party.

SEC. 808. COOPERATION WITH OTHER AGENCIES.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Any agency of the Federal Government is authorized, upon request of the Commission, to cooperate in the conduct of scientific and other programs, and to furnish, on a reimbursable basis, facilities and personnel for the purpose of assisting the Commission in carrying out its duties under the Convention. Such agency may accept reimbursement from the Commission.

(b) FUNCTIONS OF SECRETARY OF COMMERCE.—In carrying out the provisions of the Convention and this title, the Secretary of Commerce may arrange for cooperation with agencies of the United States, the States, private institutions and organizations, and agencies of the government of any Party, to conduct scientific and other programs, and may execute such memoranda as may be necessary to reflect such agreements.

SEC. 809. ENFORCEMENT PROVISIONS.

(a) DUTIES OF SECRETARIES OF COMMERCE AND TRANSPORTATION.—This title shall be enforced by the Secretary of Commerce and the Secretary of Transportation. Such Secretaries may by agreement utilize, on a reimbursable basis or otherwise, the personnel, services, equipment (including aircraft and vessels), and facilities of any other Federal agency, including all elements of the Department of Defense, and of any State agency, in the performance of such duties. Such Secretaries shall, and the head of any Federal or State agency that has entered into an agreement with either such Secretary under the preceding sentence may if the agreement so provides), authorize officers to enforce the provisions of the Convention, this title, and regulations issued under this title. Any such agreement or contract entered into pursuant to this section shall be effective only to such extent or in such amounts as are provided in advance in appropriations Acts.

(b) DISTRICT COURT JURISDICTION.—The district courts of the United States shall have exclusive jurisdiction over any case or controversy arising under the provisions of this title.

(c) POWERS OF ENFORCEMENT OFFICERS.—Authorized officers may, shoreward of the outer boundary of the exclusive economic zone, or during hot pursuit from the zone—

(1) with or without a warrant or other process—

(A) arrest any person, if the officer has reasonable cause to believe that such person has committed an act prohibited by section 810;

(B) board, and search or inspect, any fishing vessel subject to the provisions of the Convention and this title;

(C) seize any fishing vessel (together with its fishing gear, furniture, appurtenances, stores, and cargo) used or employed in, or with respect to which it reasonably appears that such vessel was used or employed in, the violation of any provision of the Convention, this title, or regulations issued under this title;

(D) seize any fish (wherever found) taken or retained in violation of any provision referred to in subparagraph (C);

(E) seize any other evidence related to any violation of any provision referred to in subparagraph (C);

(2) execute any warrant or other process issued by any court of competent jurisdiction; and

(3) exercise any other lawful authority.

(d) ADDITIONAL POWERS.—(1) An authorized officer may in the Convention area—

(A) board a vessel of any Party that reasonably can be believed to be engaged in directed fishing for, incidental taking of, or processing of anadromous fish, and, without warrant or process, inspect equipment, logs, documents, catch, and other articles, and question persons, on board the vessel, for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of the Convention, this title, or any regulation issued under this title; and

(B) if any such vessel or person on board is actually engaged in operations in violation of any such provision, or there is reasonable ground to believe any person or vessel was obviously so engaged before the boarding of such vessel by the authorized officer, arrest or seize such person or vessel and further investigate the circumstance if necessary.

If an authorized officer, after boarding and investigation, has reasonable cause to believe that any such fishing vessel or person engaged in operations in violation of any provision referred to in subparagraph (A), the officer shall deliver the vessel or person as promptly as practicable to the enforcement officers of the appropriate Party, in accordance with the provisions of the Convention.

(2) When requested by the appropriate authorities of a Party, an authorized officer may be directed to attend as a witness, and to produce such available records and files or duly certified copies thereof as may be necessary, for the prosecution by that Party of any violation of the provisions of the Convention or any law of that Party relating to the enforcement thereof.

SEC. 810. UNLAWFUL ACTIVITIES.

It is unlawful for any person or fishing vessel subject to the jurisdiction of the United States—

(1) to fish for any anadromous fish in the Convention area;

(2) to retain on board any anadromous fish taken incidentally in a fishery directed at nonanadromous fish in the Convention area;

(3) to fail to return immediately to the sea any anadromous fish taken incidentally in a fishery directed at nonanadromous fish in the Convention area;

(4) to ship, transport, offer for sale, sell, purchase, import, export, or have custody, control, or possession of, any anadromous fish taken or retained in violation of the Convention, this title, or any regulation issued under this title;

(5) to refuse to permit any enforcement officer to board a fishing vessel subject to such person's control for purposes of conducting any search or inspection in connection with the enforcement of the Convention, this title, or any regulation issued under this title;

(6) to forcibly assault, resist, oppose, impede, intimidate, or interfere with any enforcement officer in the conduct of any search or inspection described in paragraph (5);

(7) to resist a lawful arrest or detection for any act prohibited by this section;

(8) to interfere with, delay, or prevent, by any means, the apprehension, arrest, or detection of another person, knowing that such person has committed any act prohibited by this section; or

(9) to violate any provision of the Convention, this title, or any regulation issued under this title.

SEC. 811. PENALTIES.

(a) CIVIL PENALTIES.—(1) Any person who is found by the Secretary of Commerce, after notice and opportunity for a hearing in accordance with section 554 of title 5, United States Code, to have committed an act prohibited by section 810 shall be liable to the United States for a civil penalty. The amount of the civil penalty shall not exceed $100,000 for each violation. Each day of a continuing violation shall constitute a separate offense. The amount of such civil penalty shall be assessed by the Secretary of Commerce, or the Secretary's designee, by written notice. In determining the amount of such penalty, the Secretary of Commerce shall take into account the nature, circumstances, extent, and gravity of the prohibited acts committed and, with respect to the violation, the degree of culpability, any history of prior offenses, ability to pay, and such other matters as justice may require.

(2) Any person against whom a civil penalty is assessed under paragraph (1) may obtain review thereof in the appropriate court of the United States by filing a complaint in such court within 30 days from the date of such order and by simultaneously serving a copy of such complaint by certified mail on the Secretary of Commerce, the Attorney General, and the appropriate United States Attorney. The Secretary of Commerce shall promptly file in such court a certified copy of the record upon which such violation was found or such penalty imposed, as provided in section 2112 of title 28, United States Code. The findings and order of the Secretary of Commerce shall be set aside by such court if they are not found to be supported by substantial evidence, as provided in section 706(2) of title 5, United States Code.

(3) If any person fails to pay assessment of a civil penalty after it has become a final and unappealable order, or after the appropriate court has entered final judgment in favor of the Secretary of Commerce, the matter shall be referred to the Attorney General, who shall recover the amount assessed in any appropriate district court of the United States. In such action, the validity and appropriateness of the final order imposing the civil penalty shall not be subject to review.

(4) A fishing vessel (including its fishing gear, furniture, appurtenances, stores, and cargo) used in the commission mission of an act prohibited by section 810 shall be liable in rem for any civil penalty assessed for such violation under paragraph (1) and may be proceeded against in any district court of the United States having jurisdiction thereof. Such penalty shall constitute a maritime lien on such vessel that may be recovered in an action in rem in the district court of the United States having jurisdiction over the vessel.

(5) The Secretary of Commerce may compromise, modify, or remit, with or without conditions, any civil penalty that is subject to imposition or that has been imposed under this section.

(6) For the purposes of conducting any hearing under this section, the Secretary of Commerce may issue subpoenas for the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of relevant papers, books, and documents, any may administer oaths. Witnesses summoned shall be paid the same fees and mileage that are paid to witnesses in the courts of the United States. In case of contempt or refusal to obey a subpoena served upon any person pursuant to this paragraph, the district court of the United States for any district in which such person is found, resides, or transacts business, upon application by the United States and after notice to such person, shall have jurisdiction to issue an order requiring such person to appear and give testimony before the Secretary of Commerce or to appear and produce documents before the Secretary of Commerce, or both, and any failure to obey such order of the court may be punished by such court as a contempt thereof.

(b) OFFENSES.—(1) A person is guilty of an offense if the person commits any act prohibited by section 810(5), (6), (7), or (8).

(2) Any offense described in paragraph (1) is a class A misdemeanor punishable by a fine under title 18, United States Code, or imprisonment for not more than 6 months, or both; except that if in the commission of any offense the person uses a dangerous weapon, engages in conduct that causes bodily injury to any enforcement officer, or places any such officer in fear of imminent bodily injury, the offense is a felony punishable by a fine under title 18, United States Code, or imprisonment for not more than 10 years, or both.

(c) FORFEITURE.—(1) Any fishing vessel (including its fishing gear, furniture, appurtenances, stores, and cargo) used, and any fish (or a fair market value thereof) taken or retained, in any manner, in connection with or as a result of the commission of any act prohibited by section 810 shall be subject to forfeiture to the United States. All or part of such vessel may, and all such fish shall, be forfeited to the United States pursuant to a civil proceeding under this section.

(2) Any district court of the United States shall have jurisdiction, upon application of the Attorney General on behalf of the United States, to order any forfeiture authorized under paragraph (1) and any action provided for under paragraph (4).

(3) If a judgment is entered for the United States in a civil forfeiture proceeding under this section, the Attorney General may seize any property or other interest declared forfeited to the United States, which has not previously been seized pursuant to this title or for which security has not previously been obtained. The provisions of the customs laws relating to—

(A) the seizure, forfeiture, and condemnation of property for violation of the customs law;

(B) the disposition of such property or the proceeds from the sale thereof; and

(C) the remission or mitigation of any such forfeiture;

shall apply to seizures and forfeitures incurred, or alleged to have been incurred, under the provisions of this title, unless such provisions are inconsistent with the purposes, policy, and provisions of this title.

(4)(A) Any officer authorized to serve any process in rem that is issued by a court having jurisdiction under section 809(b) shall—

(i) stay the execution of such process; or

(ii) discharge any fish seized pursuant to such process;

upon receipt of a satisfactory bond or other security from any person claiming such property. Such bond or other security shall be conditioned upon such person delivering such property to the appropriate court upon order thereof, without any impairment of its value, or paying the monetary value of such property pursuant to an order of such court. Judgment shall be recoverable on such bond or other security against both the principal and any sureties in the event that any condition thereof is breached, as determined by such court.

(B) Any fish seized pursuant to this title may be sold, subject to the approval and direction of the appropriate court, for not less than the fair market value thereof. The proceeds of any such sale shall be deposited with such court pending the disposition of the matter involved.

(5) For purposes of this section, it shall be a rebuttable presumption that all fish found on board a fishing vessel and which is seized in connection with an act prohibited by section 810 were taken or retained in violation of the Convention and this title.

SEC. 812. FUNDING REQUIREMENTS.

(a) Authorization.—There are authorized to be appropriated from time to time such sums as may be necessary for carrying out the purposes and provisions of the Convention and this title, including—

(1) necessary travel expenses of the United States Commissioners or Alternate Commissioners; and

(2) the United States' share of the joint expenses of the Commission.

(b) Research.—Such funds as shall be made available to the Secretary of Commerce for research and related activities shall be expended to carry out the program of the Commission in accordance with the recommendations of the United States Section and to carry out other research and observer programs pursuant to the Convention.

SEC. 813. DISPOSITION OF PROPERTY.

The Secretary shall dispose of any United States property held by the International North Pacific Fisheries Commission on the date of its termination in a manner that would further the purposes of this title.

SEC. 814. REPEAL OF THE NORTH PACIFIC FISHERIES ACT OF 1954.

The Act of August 12, 1954 (16 U.S.C. 1021–1035) is repealed.

TITLE IX—NEW ENGLAND GROUNDFISH

SEC. 901. FISHERY ENFORCEMENT.

Section 311 of the Magnuson Fishery Conservation and Management Act (16 U.S.C. 1861) is amended—

(1) by redesignating subsection (f) as subsection (g); and

(2) by inserting immediately after subsection (e) the following new subsection:

"(f) Enforcement of Northeast Multispecies Fishery Management Plan.—

"(1) Enforcement agreements.—Beginning not later than October 1, 1993, the Secretary shall, if requested by the Governor of a State represented on the New England Fishery Management Council, enter into an agreement under subsection (a), with each of the States represented on such Council, that authorizes the marine law enforcement agency of such State to perform duties of the Secretary relating to enforcement of the Northeast Multispecies Fishery Management Plan.

"(2) Reimbursement.—An agreement with a State under this subsection shall provide, subject to the availability of appropriations, for reimbursement of the State for expenses incurred in detection and prosecution of violations of any fishery management plan approved by the Secretary.

"(3) Coast guard enforcement working group.—

"(A) Establishment.—The Commander of the First Coast Guard District shall establish an informal fisheries enforcement working group to improve the overall compliance with and effectiveness of the regulations issued under the Northeast Multispecies Fishery Management Plan.

"(B) Membership.—The working group shall consist of members selected by the Commander, and shall include—

"(i) individuals who are representatives of various fishing ports located in the States represented on the New England Fishery Management Council;

"(ii) captains of fishing vessels that operate in waters under the jurisdiction of that Council; and

"(iii) other individuals the Commander considers appropriate.

"(C) Non-Federal status of working group members.—An individual shall not receive any compensation for, and shall not be considered to be a Federal employee based on, membership in the working group.

"(D) Meetings.—The working group shall meet, at the call of the Commander, at least 4 times each year. The meetings shall be held at various major fishing ports in States represented on the New England Fishery Management Council, as specified by the Commander.

"(4) Use of fines and penalties.—Amounts available to the Secretary under this Act which are attributable to fines and penalties imposed for violations of the Northeast Multispecies Fishery Management Plan shall be used by the Secretary pursuant to this section to enforce that Plan.".

SEC. 902. FISHERIES REINVESTMENT PROGRAM.

(a) Program.—Title III of the Magnuson Fishery Conservation and Management Act (16 U.S.C. 1851 et seq.) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"SEC. 314. NORTHWEST ATLANTIC OCEAN FISHERIES REINVESTMENT PROGRAM.

"(a) Program.—(1) Not later than October 1, 1993, the Secretary shall establish a Northwest Atlantic Ocean Fisheries Reinvestment Program for the purposes of—

"(A) promoting development of commercial fisheries and markets for underutilized species of the northwest Atlantic Ocean;

"(B) developing alternative fishing opportunities for participants in the New England groundfish fishery;

"(C) providing technical support and assistance to United States fishermen and fish processors to improve the value-added processing of underutilized species and to make participation in fisheries for underutilized species of the northwest Atlantic Ocean economically viable;

"(D) creating new economic opportunities through the improved processing and expanded use of fish waste; and

"(E) helping to restore overfished New England groundfish stocks through aquaculture or hatchery programs.

"(2) Consultation.—In establishing and implementing the Northwest Fisheries Reinvestment Program, the Secretary shall consult with representatives of the commercial fishing industry, the seafood processing industry, and the academic community (including the National Sea Grant Program).

"(3) Activities under program.—Subject to the availability of appropriations, the Secretary shall award contracts, grants and other financial assistance to United States citizens to carry out the purposes of subsection (1), under the terms and conditions provided in section 2(c) of the Act of August 11, 1939 (15 U.S.C. 713c–3(c); commonly referred to as the 'Saltonstall-Kennedy Act'), except that, in making awards under this section for projects involving participation in fisheries for underutilized species, the Secretary shall give the highest priority to a person who owns or operates a fishing vessel permitted under this Act to participate in the New England groundfish fishery who agrees to surrender that permit to the Secretary during the duration of the contract, grant or other assistance.

"(4) Authorization of appropriations.—There are authorized to be appropriated $5,000,000 for each of fiscal years 1993 through 1997 to carry out the purposes of this section. For fiscal year 1993 no more than $1,000,000, and for fiscal year 1994 no more than $2,000,000, of such funds may be provided from monies made available under section 2(b) of the Act of August 11, 1939 (15 U.S.C. 713c–3(b)).

"(b) Assistance of Other Agencies.—The Secretary shall actively seek the assistance of other Federal agencies in the development of fisheries for underutilized species of the northwest Atlantic Ocean, including to the extent permitted by other applicable laws, assistance from the Secretary of Agriculture in including such underutilized species as agricultural commodities in the programs of the Foreign Agricultural Service for which amounts are authorized under the Food, Agriculture, Conservation, and Trade Act of 1990 (Public Law 101–624; 104 Stat. 3359).

"(c) Management Plans for Underutilized Species.—The New England Fishery Management Council, in consultation with other appropriate Councils, shall develop fishery management plans as soon as possible for any underutilized species of the northwest Atlantic Ocean that is not covered under such a plan, in order to prevent overfishing of that species.

"(d) Underutilized Species Defined.—For purposes of this section, the term 'underutilized species of the northwest Atlantic Ocean' means any fish species of the northwest Atlantic Ocean that is identified, by the Director of the Northeast Fisheries Center of the National Marine Fisheries Service, as an underutilized species.".

Fishery Conservation and Management Act is amended by inserting immediately after the item relating to section 313 the following new item: "Sec. 314. Northwest Atlantic Oceans Fisheries Reinvestment Program.".

(c) AMENDMENTS TO THE SALTONSTALL-KENNEDY ACT.—Section 2(b)(1)(A) of the Act of August 11, 1939 (15 U.S.C. 713c-3(b)(1)(A)); commonly referred to as the "Saltonstall-Kennedy Act"), is amended—

(1) by striking "and" at the end of clause (i); and

(2) by adding at the end the following new clause:

"(iii) to implement the Northwest Atlantic Ocean Fisheries Reinvestment Program established under section 314 of the Magnuson Fishery Conservation and Management Act.".

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Massachusetts [Mr. STUDDS] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from Michigan [Mr. DAVIS] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Massachusetts [Mr. STUDDS].

Mr. STUDDS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 2130, the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration Authorization Act of 1992, provides a comprehensive authorization for NOAA in fiscal year 1993 and additional authorizations for important activities like the modernization of NOAA's fleet.

The chairman of our Oceanography, Great Lakes, and the Outer Continental Shelf Subcommittee, Mr. HERTEL, is to be commended for his diligent work during two Congresses to bring this legislation to resolution.

The bill authorizes $1.65 billion for NOAA programs including $117 million for marine fisheries programs not authorized under other laws, over $94 million for maintenance and construction of NOAA facilities, $67 million for global change research, and $50 million for a much-needed modernization of the NOAA fleet.

In addition, H.R. 2130 establishes a comprehensive coastal water quality monitoring program to be run by NOAA and the Environmental Protection Agency. This program will ensure that information from Federal, State, and local water quality monitoring efforts provides a comprehensive national picture of coastal environmental quality.

I would like to thank the chairman of the Committee on Public Works and Transportation for his cooperation in establishing this program. The Public Works Committee shares jurisdiction with the Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee over many issues concerning water pollution, and I recognize that committee's legitimate interest in this monitoring program.

I would also like to thank the chairman of the Committee on Science, Space, and Technology for his commitment to completing the work that we started early in this Congress. The breadth of NOAA's missions requires close cooperation between our two committees, and I hope we can continue to cooperate in matters of mutual interest.

I fully support the bill. It is not controversial, and I urge my colleagues to support its enactment.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I urge support for this measure.

For the 22 years of its existence, the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration has never had an omnibus authorization bill. Although authorizing appropriations for fiscal years 1992 and 1993 only, this legislation can serve as an important blueprint for future authorizations for the agency and help to preserve its status within the Department of Commerce.

Although the bill contains many meritorious provisions, several deserve special mention. The most important of these is Chairman HERTEL's provision establishing a comprehensive program for the modernization of the deteriorating NOAA fleet. It is clear that NOAA's 22 vessels can no longer support the agency's oceanographic research mission, and it is time the agency put forth a comprehensive plan outlining their commitment to remedy this serious problem. NOAA has been appropriated over $60 million over the last 2 fiscal years for its fleet; this provision will be Mr. HERTEL's legacy that this money will be spent wisely.

I also want to commend Chairman STUDDS for his work in developing a comprehensive water quality monitoring program. I am especially pleased that this program will involve the Great Lakes, and I trust the work authorized under this title of the bill will help the United States further advance the goals of the Great Lakes Water Quality Agreement and protect and improve this international resource.

Finally, the NOAA Authorization Act also authorizes several programs of particular interest to the Great Lakes: zebra mussel control, international large lakes research, an authorization for the Cooperative Institute for Limnology and Ecosystems Research. Although NOAA's role in the Great Lakes has been limited in the past, I hope the work I have pursued during my time on the Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee has strengthened its presence and that it will continue to grow.

I urge support for this measure.

Mr. Speaker, to the NOAA authorization bill there is no objection. We have already passed the bill in the House. I know of no objection. We have negotiated any differences between the House and the Senate. There should be no objections.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. DAVIS. I yield to the gentleman from Pennsylvania.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding to me.

Mr. Speaker, almost a year ago the House passed this legislation. It provided 1993 authorizations for the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration well in advance of the budget and appropriations cycle. But as is happening all too often around here, the Senate dropped the ball and sat on this bill until it has become almost irrelevant. Frustratingly, this has become the unacceptable pattern of Senate inaction.

Still, there are a few provisions that make passage worthwhile. First, a new approach to funding and controlling large, capital-intensive technology development projects is adopted. This landmark complete program authorization language was proposed by Chairman BROWN and me to provide the necessary funding through the turn of the century for the new doppler radar system [NexRad] and the new weather satellite system [GOES]. This endorses completion of these critical weather service modernization initiatives, caps their cost, and prevents any additional funding if they go over budget, do not stay on schedule, or don't meet technical specs.

As far as the authorizations go, they are actually $40 million below the budget request for 1993 for the dry NOAA programs under the Science Committee's jurisdiction. This is $1.2 billion, including adequate resources for weather office operations, while the required growth for procurement of life-saving forecasting and warning technology, such as the radar system and satellites, is fully covered. A major blemish, however, is the construction account, $40 billion over budget to provide for earmarked projects unrelated to NOAA's mission.

Finally, we have attempted to clarify and improve the certification process for Weather Service modernization. First, we have defined "automate" and "relocate" as they relate to required certifications by the Secretary of Commerce. The intention is to convey an automation requiring certification essentially resulting in an unmanned office.

A relocation requiring certification is linked to office moves outside the commuting or service area. A commuting area as the Science Committee understands it, is commonly considered to involve a radius of at least 50 miles as remoteness is defined in the Federal Personnel Manual.

And an undefined certification trigger, a consolidation, as I understand it, means combining one autonomous field office at one location with another at a different location that would otherwise be a relocation.

Also included is the requirement that the national implementation plan include a multistation operational demonstration of key elements, but not necessarily all components of the modernized system, before national implementation. An individual certification shall then include an operation demonstration as well, but not necessarily a multistation demonstration.

The last point of clarification is the prohibition on field office closures before 1996. I would note this does not apply to consolidations, automations or relocations.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. STUDDS. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Massachusetts [Mr. STUDDS] that the House suspend the rules and agree to the resolution, House Resolution 610.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof), the rules were suspended and the resolution was agreed to.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

AUTHORIZING THE CLERK TO MAKE CORRECTIONS IN ENGROSSMENT OF H. RES. 610

Mr. STUDDS. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the Clerk be authorized to make technical corrections in the engrossment of House Resolution 610 providing for consideration of the Senate amendment to H.R. 2130, National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration Authorization Act of 1992.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Massachusetts?

There was no objection.

PIPELINE SAFETY ACT OF 1992

Mr. MINETA. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and take from the Speaker's table the Senate bill (S. 1583) to amend the Natural Gas Pipeline Safety Act of 1968 and the Hazardous Liquid Pipeline Safety Act of 1979 to authorize appropriations and to improve pipeline safety, and for other purposes, with Senate amendments to the House amendments thereto, and concur in the Senate amendments to the House amendments.

Senate amendment to House amendments: Page 58, after line 25, insert:

TITLE VI—MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

SEC. 601. PAGE AVENUE EXTENSION.

(a) Upon submission of a request by the State of Missouri for Federal Highway Administration approval of the Page Avenue Extension project (hereinafter cited in this section as "the project"), the Secretary of the United States Department of Transportation (hereinafter cited in this section as "the Secretary") is authorized to waive the requirements of section 138 of title 23, United States Code and section 303 of title 49, United States Code, for the alignment designated by the State of Missouri as the "Red Alignment", as described in the draft environmental impact statement approved by the Federal Highway Administration on May 30, 1990, if:

(1) the Secretary determines that a final environmental impact statement has been completed by the State of Missouri and approved by the Secretary; and

(2) the State of Missouri enters into an enforceable agreement with the Secretary to implement a project mitigation plan that includes, at a minimum—

(A) expansion of the Creve Coeur Lake Memorial Park (hereinafter cited in this section as "the Park") in the vicinity of St. Louis, Missouri, by at least fifty percent, through acquisition and addition to the Park of not less than 600 acres of land;

(B) development of a walking and bicycle path that is not less than ten feet in width and connects the Park to the KATY Trail State Park in St. Charles County, Missouri;

(C) construction of nature trails in the wooded upland portion of the additions to the Park referred to in subparagraph (A);

(D) development of a Wetland Wildlife area that includes lake areas and marshes, trails, observation points, and other environmentally compatible features in the Park or in one of the additions to the Park referred to in subparagraph (A);

(E) dredging of Creve Coeur Lake to help remedy a chronic siltation problem and to promote fish and wildlife populations;

(F) construction of a new lake in one of the additions to the Park referred to in subparagraph (A) to help alleviate the recurrence of a chronic siltation problem in a manner that minimizes, to the maximum extent practicable and in accordance with section 404 of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act (33 U.S.C. 1344), the disturbance of any existing wetlands;

(G) design and construction of features to minimize the visual and physical impact of the project in the vicinity of the Park, consistent, to the extent practicable, with recommendations of the design committee established in accordance with subsection (c), including—

(i) the use of textured concrete, as appropriate,

(ii) the minimization of bridge pier sizing in the elevated portion of the project;

(iii) the use of a bridge design that is more aesthetically pleasing than standard elevated roadway designs;

(iv) construction of bridge siderails with materials that are effective noise attenuators to reduce operational noise levels near the bridge;

(v) design and construction of a drainage system to prevent contamination of Creve Coeur Lake and Creve Coeur Creek with pollution from roadway runoff;

(vi) landscaping of the area between the elevated roadway and Creve Coeur Mill Road to enhance visual parameters without compromising road user safety; and

(vii) the placement of signs to direct road users to appropriate park entrances and facilities;

(H) such other mitigation measures as the Secretary may determine are appropriate to ensure that the environmental benefits of the project mitigation plan exceed the environmental damage associated with the project; and

(I) a monetary contribution by the State of Missouri as may be necessary to implement the entire mitigation plan, in an amount not less than $6,000,000, including the payment of not less than $250,000 for facility improvements in the Park, and all funds to develop and implement the mitigation plan shall come from non-federal sources of funding.

(b) None of the costs to develop or implement the project mitigation plan referred to in subsection (a) shall be considered expenditures pursuant to or in satisfaction of the transportation enhancement requirements of section 133 of title 23, United States Code (as amended by section 1007 of The Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act of 1991, P.L. 102-240, 105 Stat. 1927-1931).

(c) The Governor of the State of Missouri shall establish a design committee to develop recommendations concerning design and construction features to minimize the visual and physical impact of the project in the vicinity of the Park. The Committee shall include representatives of local elected officials, regional park officials, local community groups, design professionals, environmental organizations, and business organizations.

(d) To the maximum extent practicable, the State of Missouri shall implement the project mitigation plan referred to in subsection (a) prior to the commencement of construction of the Page Avenue Extension project. At a minimum, the mitigation measures specified in subsection (a)(2)(A) and (a)(2)(C) shall be completed prior to commencement of construction of the Page Avenue Extension project.

(e) If the project does not comply with all other requirements of federal environmental law that are applicable to the project, including sections 134 and 135 of title 23, United States Code (as amended by sections 1024 and 1025 of the Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act of 1991, P.L. 102-240, 105 Stat. 1955-1962 and 105 Stat. 1962-1965) and all other requirements of the Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act of 1991 (P.L. 102-240, 105 Stat. 1914 et seq.), any waiver of the requirements of section 138 of title 23, United States Code and section 303 of title 49, United States Code, granted by the Secretary under the authority of this section shall be stayed pending a determination by the Secretary that the project has been brought into compliance with such other requirements. Any determination by the Secretary under the preceding sentence shall be subject to judicial review.

SEC. 602. RURAL ACCESS.

The table contained in section 1106(a)(2) of the Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act of 1991 (105 Stat. 2037-2042) is amended in item number 52, relating to Bedford Springs, Pennsylvania—

(1) by striking "Bedford Springs,";

(2) by inserting "in Bedford Springs, Pennsylvania," after "access road"; and

(3) by inserting "or other projects in the counties of Bedford, Blair, Fulton, and Huntington, as selected by the State of Pennsylvania" after "therewith".

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from California [Mr. MINETA] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. SHUSTER] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from California [Mr. MINETA].

Mr. MINETA. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of S. 1583, the Pipeline Safety Act of 1992, which authorizes funds to carry out the safety programs established under the Natural Gas Pipeline Safety Act and the Hazardous Liquid Pipeline Safety Act and for other purposes. These programs were last authorized by the Pipeline Safety Reauthorization Act of 1988.

The bill before you was passed by the House on September 15, 1992, and sent back to the Senate. The pipeline provisions of the bill were not changed by the Senate. However, two very important transportation related issues were added and that is the reason the House must again take action on the bill.

Mr. Speaker, I urge the Members to join with me in supporting passage of S. 1583.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. SHUSTER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of this important safety legislation.

I am pleased we are able to finalize this important piece of legislation on the floor today. The House passed the Pipeline Safety Act of 1992 on September 15. The Senate has passed the House bill today with minor amendments with which we are prepared to agree.

I would like to again thank all those involved in the process of developing this final package, including my colleagues on the Public Works and Transportation Committee—Chairman BOB ROE, subcommittee Chairman NORM MINETA, and ranking Republican JOHN HAMMERSCHMIDT. Thanks is also extended to our colleagues on the Energy and Commerce Committee—Chairman JOHN DINGELL, subcommittee Chairman PHIL SHARP, ranking Republican NORMAN LENT, and Congressman CARLOS MOORHEAD.

I urge my colleagues to again approve this important safety legislation so that we can send it to President Bush for his signature.

Mr. HAMMERSCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. SHUSTER. I yield to the gentleman from Arkansas, the ranking member of the full committee.

Mr. HAMMERSCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of S. 1583.

Mr. Speaker, I am pleased we are able to bring this important piece of legislation to the floor today. I would like to commend my colleagues on the Public Works and Transportation Committee—Chairman BOB ROE, subcommittee chair, NORM MINETA, and Congressman BUD SHUSTER for their leadership in putting this bill together. My thanks is also extended to our colleagues on the Energy and Commerce Committee—Chairman JOHN DINGELL, subcommittee chair, PHIL SHARP, Congressman NORMAN LENT, and Congressman CARLOS MOORHEAD for their cooperation.

The safety of our natural gas and hazardous liquid pipeline systems is of upmost importance. The Department of Transportation has authority over approximately 1.6 million miles of natural gas pipeline and 151,000 miles of hazardous liquid pipeline. These pipelines transport precious energy and heat to our Nation's homes and industries every day.

The fact that the safety record of these pipelines is already excellent is a tribute to the industry itself, the Office of Pipeline Safety at the Department of Transportation, and the Congress for its diligent oversight of this safety program. Of the over 43,000 transportation fatalities in the United States last year, only 14 were attributed to pipelines. However, in the safety business, even one injury or fatality is too many. The bill before us will continue the industry's strong record and give direction to DOT to proceed with safety initiatives in some new areas to ensure that record improves.

I speak in full support of this legislation and urge my colleagues to do the same.

Mr. LENT. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Pennsylvania yield to me?

Mr. SHUSTER. I am happy to yield to the gentleman from New York.

Mr. LENT. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of the legislation. I believe this is a good bill. I would urge my colleagues to support it.

Mr. Speaker, I rise again in support of S. 1583, the Pipeline Safety Act of 1992. This bill extends the authorization of the Natural Gas Pipeline Safety Act of 1968 and the Hazardous Liquid Pipeline Safety Act of 1979.

Less than a month ago we passed this bill by voice vote. It has been returned to us with a minor amendment.

The substance of this bill has not been changed. This bill improves our Pipeline Safety Program by providing for environmental protection; enhanced accident prevention, through increased inspection requirements, operator training, and customer notifications; and rulemakings to deal with the use of new technology such as excess flow valves, instrumented internal inspection devices, and emergency flow restricting devices.

I believe this is a good bill and I again urge my colleagues to support it.

Mr. MOORHEAD. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. SHUSTER. I yield to the gentleman from California.

Mr. MOORHEAD. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of the legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I rise again in strong support of H.R. 1489, the Pipeline Safety Act of 1992. This bill, which I was pleased to cosponsor with subcommittee Chairman SHARP, reauthorizes the natural gas and hazardous liquids pipeline safety programs through 1995. H.R. 1489 also makes some important substantive changes in our pipeline safety laws.

Less than a month ago we passed this bill on the House floor by voice vote. Today we are presented with essentially the same bill.

H.R. 1489 is a good bill because it requires the Department of Transportation to undertake new pipeline safety measures only where safety considerations warrant them. It matches new safety initiatives with demonstrated safety needs.

I believe the changes in the pipeline safety program made in H.R. 1489 are positive ones and will further enhance the safety of natural gas and hazardous materials pipelines.

So, I urge my colleagues to support this bill.

Mr. SHUSTER. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MINETA. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Michigan [Mr. DINGELL], the distinguished chairman of the Committee on Energy and Commerce.

Mr. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, I thank my good friend, the gentleman from California, for yielding time to me.

Mr. Speaker, I support this legislation. I commend the distinguished gentleman from California [Mr. MINETA] for his handling of this legislation. This is legislation which is in the shared jurisdiction of the Committee on Energy and Commerce. It has been handled in a most friendly and accommodating agreement between the two. The technical amendments are within the jurisdiction of the Committee on Public Works. I support them, the handling of that legislation. I commend the gentleman for the way in which this matter was handled.

Mr. SHARP. Mr. Speaker, the Energy and Commerce Committee is pleased to join with the Public Works Committee in recommending that the House pass H.R. 1489, the Pipeline Safety Act of 1992. I also would like to thank Chairmen DINGELL and ROE of the two committees; my colleagues on the two committees involved, particularly the comanager of the bill, Chairman MINETA; and Mr. LENT, Mr. MOORHEAD, Mr. BREWSTER, Mr. VENTO, and Mr. TAUZIN.

The Public Works Committee and the Energy and Commerce Committee this year have continued the spirit of cooperation on pipeline safety that has enabled us to continually improve this program over the past decade. In this spirit, we are jointly offering a substitute amendment. The substitute amendment draws from the best of the wisdom embodied in the Energy and Commerce Committee version, the Public Works version, and the Senate version.

This legislation is important because between 1971 and 1986, pipeline failures caused an average of 11 deaths and 48 injuries annually and incurred an average annual cost of $25 million in property damage, product loss, and cleanup charges. This includes an estimated 309,000 barrels of oil lost. This legislation will reduce those risks.

Among the highlights of the legislation are, first, a new emphasis on environmental protection, including several specific near-term actions that the Department of Transportation [DOT] must take, as well as new authority which DOT can use to protect the environment;

Second, the bill improves damage prevention, by means of increased inspection requirements, a national program to inspect underwater pipelines to ensure they are properly buried and do not impose a hazard to navigation—in 1990, Congress required such a program for the Gulf of Mexico—better operator training, penalties for pipeline operators and excavators who fail to participate in State and local damage prevention programs, and analysis and corrective action regarding abandoned underwater pipelines;

Third, it expands the universe of pipelines covered by the safety acts, including elimination of the blanket exemption for low internal stress pipelines and creating a program to require some DOT regulation of some gathering lines;

Fourth, it establishes requirements to improve safety by using state-of-the-art technology, including excess flow valves, smart pigs, and emergency flow restricting devices;

Fifth, the bill authorizes the full 50-percent funding of State pipeline safety programs allowed under the existing pipeline safety statutes, which is financed by a user fee;

Sixth, it requires that States be given notice and an opportunity to comment on consent agreements between DOT and pipeline operators; and

The requirements for improving the safety of customer-owned pipe merit some discussion. Mr. MINETA and I are pleased that we were able to reach a reasonable compromise on this matter. We want everyone to know that the controversy over these provisions has led us to take a deep personal interest in the safety of customer-owned pipe. Next Congress, we intend to actively oversee DOT's and the natural gas industry's compliance with the law. We plan to ensure that the safety review is completed in the time and manner specified in the legislation; that the public is aggressively brought into the regulatory process through the survey; and that the public safety is protected. We are optimistic that no additional legislation on this manner will be necessary, but if we learn that it is, we will take the lead in ensuring that it is enacted, if necessary before the next reauthorization cycle.

The customer-owned pipe issue merits some further discussion. The three organizations responsible for ensuring pipeline safety have identified customer-owned natural gas service lines as a major cause for concern: The National Transportation Safety Board, the Department of Transportation, and the National Association of State Pipeline Safety Representatives. I support and agree with the views of all of these organizations on this matter.

The National Transportation Safety Board addressed this issue in its report entitled "Kansas Power and Light Company Natural Gas Accidents September 16, 1988 to March 29, 1989" [NTSB/PAR–90/01]. The report says,

> The actions of both the KCC (Kansas Corporation Commission) and of RSPA (the Research and Special Programs Administration of DOT, the federal organization responsible for pipeline safety) recognized that to attain reasonable public safety, specific tests must be performed on buried gas pipelines without regard to ownership and that gas customers generally cannot be expected to recognize or to perform these tests.

In a January 24 letter to me and to several members of the Public Works Committee, the NTSB said:

> According to testimony given at the Safety Board's public hearing on the KPL accidents, local plumbers would not be adversely affected by requiring gas operators to periodically survey for gas leaks and for corrosion in all buried customer-owned pipe between the gas main and the building being served. Plumbers and other local contractors generally do not perform or offer to perform such services; rather they respond to customers' repair requests after the customers or others have detected the odor of leaking gas. Furthermore, a plumber in the Kansas City area testified that residents who owned a segment of the buried pipe generally refused to protect their lines from corrosion because they did not understand why such protection was needed and because other plumbers told them that corrosion protection was not required. Whether or not it is the supplying gas company that repairs or replaces the customer's pipe, the Safety Board believes the gas company should be required to perform the leak and corrosion tests on buried customer-owned piping that transports gas to buildings. Usually only the gas company has the equipment and qualified people needed to perform such tests. When hazards are detected, the gas company should be required to discontinue gas service until the hazards have been eliminated.

As the Secretary of Transportation said in his May 14, 1991, letter to the Speaker of the House transmitting DOT's proposed pipeline safety legislation, "Within the last several years, gas explosions have destroyed homes and killed and injured residents in Kansas and Missouri. The explosions were due to deteriorated gas lines located in the homeowners' yards. These accidents might have been averted had the distribution company provided necessary maintenance for the lines." I completely agree with the Secretary's assessment.

The Secretary has repeated in numerous letters to the many parties who have expressed interest in the customer-owned pipe provisions, "We at RSPA [DOT] are concerned about the safety of customer-owned gas piping and are examining ways of assuring greater oversight of these pipelines." I support these efforts, and I expect them to accelerate after this bill passes.

Subsection (c) of section 115 does not expand, limit, or change the definition of "transportation of gas" in section 2(3) of the Natural Gas Pipeline Safety Act. Rather, it requires that the Department of Transportation, the States, the pipeline operators and the customers will take whatever action is necessary to address this important safety issue.

The smart pig provisions also merit some elaboration. The Secretary must require periodic inspection by a smart pig or by an equally effective method. In determining whether alternatives provide an equivalent degree of safety to that provided by smart pigs, the Secretary should place the greatest weight on the comparative predictive capability.

In sum, the bill continues the steady congressional effort to improve the safety of our pipelines, and I urge the House to pass it.

Mr. SHUSTER. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. MINETA. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from California [Mr. MINETA] that the House suspend the rules and concur in the Senate amendments to the House amendments to the Senate bill, S. 1583.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended, and the Senate amendments to the House amendments were concurred in.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. MINETA. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on the Senate amendments just concurred in.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?

There was no objection.

ANTI-CAR-THEFT ACT OF 1992

Mr. SCHUMER. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 4542) to prevent and deter auto theft, as amended.

H.R. 4542

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Anti-Car Theft Act of 1992".

TITLE I—TOUGHER LAW ENFORCEMENT AGAINST AUTO THEFT

Subtitle A—Enhanced Penalties for Auto Theft

SEC. 101. FEDERAL PENALTIES FOR ARMED ROBBERIES OF AUTOS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Chapter 103 of title 18, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following:

"§ 2119. Motor vehicles

"Whoever, possessing a firearm as defined in section 921 of this title, takes a motor vehicle that has been transported, shipped, or received in interstate or foreign commerce from the person or presence of another by force and violence or by intimidation, or attempts to do so, shall—

"(1) be fined under this title or imprisoned not more than 15 years, or both,

"(2) if serious bodily injury (as defined in section 1365 of this title) results, be fined under this title or imprisoned not more than 25 years, or both, and

"(3) if death results, be fined under this title or imprisoned for any number of years up to life, or both.".

(b) FEDERAL COOPERATION TO PREVENT "CARJACKING" AND MOTOR VEHICLE THEFT.—In view of the increase of motor vehicle theft with its growing threat to human life and to the economic well-being of the Nation, the Attorney General, acting through the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the United States Attorneys, are urged to work with State and local officials to investigate car thefts, including violations of section 2119 of title 18, United States Code, for armed carjacking, and as appropriate and consistent with prosecutorial discretion, prosecute persons who allegedly violate such law and other relevant Federal statutes.

(c) CLERICAL AMENDMENT.—The table of sections at the beginning of chapter 103 of title 18, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following new item:

"2119. Motor vehicles.".

SEC. 102. IMPORTATION AND EXPORTATION.

Section 553(a) of title 18, United States Code, is amended by striking "fined not more than $15,000 or imprisoned not more than five years" and inserting "fined under this title or imprisoned not more than 10 years".

SEC. 103. TRAFFICKING IN STOLEN VEHICLES.

Each of sections 2312 and 2313(a) of title 18, United States Code, are amended by striking "fined not more than $5,000 or imprisoned not more than five years" and inserting "fined under this title or imprisoned not more than 10 years".

SEC. 104. CIVIL AND CRIMINAL FORFEITURE.

(a) CIVIL FORFEITURE.—Section 981(a)(1) of title 18, United States Code, is amended by adding after subparagraph (E) the following:

"(F) Any property, real or personal, which represents or is traceable to the gross proceeds obtained, directly or indirectly, from a violation of—

"(i) section 511 (altering or removing motor vehicle identification numbers);

"(ii) section 553 (importing or exporting stolen motor vehicles);

"(iii) section 2119 (armed robbery of automobiles);

"(iv) section 2132 (transporting stolen motor vehicles in interstate commerce); or

"(v) section 2313 (possessing or selling a stolen motor vehicle that has moved in interstate commerce).".

(b) CRIMINAL FORFEITURE.—Section 982(a) of title 18, United States Code, is amended by adding after paragraph (4) the following:

"(5) The court, in imposing sentence on a person convicted of a violation or conspiracy to violate—

"(A) section 511 (altering or removing motor vehicle identification numbers);

"(B) section 553 (importing or exporting stolen motor vehicles);

"(C) section 2119 (armed robbery of automobiles);

"(D) section 2132 (transporting stolen motor vehicles in interstate commerce); or

"(E) section 2313 (possessing or selling a stolen motor vehicle that has moved in interstate commerce); shall order that the person forfeit to the United States any property, real or personal, which represents or is traceable to the gross proceeds obtained, directly or indirectly, as a result of such violation.".

SEC. 105. CHOP SHOPS.

(a) AMENDMENT.—Chapter 113 of title 18, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following:

"§ 2322. Chop shops

"(a) IN GENERAL.—

"(1) UNLAWFUL ACTION.—Any person who knowingly owns, operates, maintains, or controls a chop shop or conducts operations in a chop shop shall be punished by a fine under this title or by imprisonment for not more than 15 years, or both. If a conviction of a person under this paragraph is for a violation committed after the first conviction of such person under this paragraph, the maximum punishment shall be doubled with respect to any fine and imprisonment.

"(2) INJUNCTIONS.—The Attorney General shall, as appropriate, in the case of any person who violates paragraph (1), commence a civil action for permanent or temporary injunction to restrain such violation.".

"(b) DEFINITION.—For purposes of this section, the term 'chop shop' means any building, lot, facility, or other structure or premise where one or more persons engage in receiving, concealing, destroying, disassembling, dismantling, reassembling, or storing any passenger motor vehicle or passenger motor vehicle part which has been unlawfully obtained in order to alter, counterfeit, deface, destroy, disguise, falsify, forge, obliterate, or remove the identity, including the vehicle identification number or derivative thereof, of such vehicle or vehicle part and to distribute, sell, or dispose of such vehicle or vehicle part in interstate or foreign commerce.".

(b) CLERICAL AMENDMENT.—The table of sections at the beginning of chapter 113 of title 18, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following new item:

"2322. Chop shops.".

Subtitle B—Targeted Law Enforcement

SEC. 130. GRANT AUTHORIZATION.

(a) PURPOSE.—The purpose of this subtitle is to supplement the provisions of the Edward Byrne Memorial State and Local Law Enforcement Assistance Program to help the States to curb motor vehicle thefts and the related violence.

(b) GRANTS.—The Director of the Bureau of Justice Assistance shall make grants to Anti Car Theft Committees submitting applications in compliance with the requirements of this subtitle.

SEC. 131. APPLICATION.

(a) SUBMISSION.—To be eligible to receive a grant under this subtitle, a chief executive of an Anti Car Theft Committee shall submit an application to the Director of the Bureau of Justice Assistance.

(b) CONTENT.—The application submitted under subsection (a) shall include the following:

(1) A statement that the applicant Anti Car Theft Committee is either a State agency or an agency of a unit of local government.

(2) A statement that the applicant Anti Car Theft Committee is or will be financed in part (A) by a fee on motor vehicles registered by the State or possessed or insured within the State (and that such fee is not less than $1 per vehicle), or (B) in the same manner and to the same extent as is a similar program financed and implemented in a State like Michigan.

(3) An assurance that Federal funds received under a grant under this subtitle shall be used to supplement and not supplant non-Federal funds that would otherwise be available for activities funded under such grant.

(4) A statement that the resources of the applicant Anti Car Theft Committee will be devoted entirely to combating motor vehicle theft, including any or all of the following:

(A) Financing law enforcement officers or investigators whose duties are entirely or primarily related to investigating cases of motor vehicle theft or of trafficking in stolen motor vehicles or motor vehicle parts.

(B) Financing prosecutors whose duties are entirely or primarily related to prosecuting cases of motor vehicle theft or of trafficking in stolen motor vehicles or motor vehicle parts.

(C) Motor vehicle theft prevention programs, including vehicle identification number etching programs, programs implemented by law enforcement agencies and designed to enable the electronic tracking of stolen automobiles, and programs designed to prevent the export of stolen vehicles.

(5) A description of the budget for the applicant Anti Car Theft Committee for the fiscal year for which a grant is sought.

SEC. 132. AWARD OF GRANTS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Director shall allocate to each State a proportion of the total funds available under this subtitle that is equal to the proportion of the number of motor vehicles registered in such State to the total number of motor vehicles registered in the United States. The Director shall ensure that all applicant States have an opportunity to receive grants from an available appropriation. Any State that has not met the requirements described in section 203 of this Act shall be excluded from any allocation under this subsection.

(b) GRANT AMOUNTS.—If one Anti Car Theft Committee within a State submits an application in compliance with section 131, the Director shall award to such Anti Car Theft Committee a grant equal to the total amount of funds allocated to such State under this section. In no case shall the Anti Car Theft Committee receive a grant that is more than 50 percent of the preaward budget for such Anti Car Theft Committee.

(c) MULTIPLE COMMITTEES.—If two or more Anti Car Theft Committees within a State submit applications in compliance with section 131, the Director shall award to such Anti Car Theft Committees grants that in sum are equal to the total amount of funds allocated to such State under this section. In no case shall an Anti Car Theft Committee receive a grant that is more than 50 percent of the preaward budget for such Anti Car Theft Committee. The Director shall allocate funds among two or more Anti Car Theft Committees with a State according to the proportion of the preaward budget of each Anti Car Theft Committee to the total preaward budget for all grant recipient Anti Car Theft Committees within such State.

(d) RENEWAL OF GRANTS.—Subject to the availability of funds, a grant under this subtitle may be renewed for up to 2 additional years after the first fiscal year during which the recipient receives an initial grant under this subtitle if the Director determines that the funds made available to the recipient during the previous year were used in the manner required under the approved application.

SEC. 133. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.

There are authorized to be appropriated $10,000,000 to carry out this subtitle for each of the fiscal years 1993, 1994, and 1995.

Subtitle C—Report Regarding State Motor Vehicle Titling Programs to Combat Motor Vehicle Thefts and Fraud

SEC. 140. ESTABLISHMENT OF TASK FORCE.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of Transportation and the Attorney General of the United States, working together, shall, as soon as practicable after the date of the enactment of this Act but not later than 180 days after such date, establish a task force to study problems which relate to motor vehicle titling, vehicle registration, and controls over motor vehicle salvage which may affect the motor vehicle theft problem. The study shall include an examination of the extent to which the absence of uniformity and integration in State laws regulating vehicle titling and registration and salvage of used vehicles allows enterprising criminals to find the weakest link to "wash" the stolen character of the vehicles. It shall also consider the adoption of a title brand on all certificates of title indicating that the applicable vehicle was previously issued a title brand or a title signifying "rebuilt", "reconstructed", or "flood".

(2) REPORT.—The task force shall prepare a report containing the results of such study and shall submit such report to the President and the Congress and to the chief executive officer of each State not later than 12 months after the task force is established, together with appropriate recommendations to solve these problems.

(b) MEMBERSHIP.—The task force shall consist of—

(1) the Secretary of Transportation, or the Secretary's delegate;

(2) the Attorney General of the United States, or the Attorney General's delegate;

(3) the Secretary of Commerce, or the Secretary's delegate;

(4) the Secretary of the Treasury, or the Secretary's delegate;

(5) at least 3 representatives, to be designated by the Attorney General of the United States;

(6) at least 5 representatives of State motor vehicle departments, to be designated by the Secretary of Transportation; and

(7) at least 1 representative, to be designated by the Secretary of Transportation, from each of the following groups:

(A) Motor vehicle manufacturers.

(B) Motor vehicle dealers and distributors.

(C) Motor vehicle dismantlers, recyclers, and salvage dealers.

(E) Motor vehicle scrap processors.

(F) Insurers of Motor vehicles.

(G) State law enforcement officials.

(H) Local law enforcement officials.

(I) The American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators.

(J) The National Insurance Crime Bureau.

(K) The National Committee on Traffic Laws and Ordinances.

(c) REIMBURSEMENT.—

(1) SALARY.—The members of the task force shall serve without pay.

(2) TRAVEL EXPENSES.—While away from their residences or regular places of business in performance of services for the Federal Government, members of the task force shall be allowed travel expenses, including per diem in lieu of subsistence, in the same manner as persons employed intermittently in the Federal Government service are allowed expenses under section 5703 of title 5, United States Code.

(3) CHAIR.—The Secretary of Transportation, or the Secretary's delegate, shall serve as chairman of the task force. The task force may also invite representatives of the Governors and State legislators to participate.

(d) REPORT.—

(1) BASIS.—The report required by subsection (a)(2) shall be made after a meaningful consultative process and review of existing laws, practices, studies, and recommendations regarding the problems specified in subsection (a)(1).

(2) CONTENT.—The report shall specify the key aspects of motor vehicle antitheft measures necessary to prevent the disposition or use of stolen motor vehicles, or the major components of motor vehicles, and to prevent insurance and other fraud based upon false reports of stolen motor vehicles. The report shall indicate any of the antitheft measures for which national uniformity would be crucial in order for the measure to be adequately effective. The report shall recommend viable ways of obtaining any national uniformity which is necessary.

(3) RECOMMENDATIONS.—The report also shall include other recommendations for legislative or administrative action at the State level or at the Federal level, and recommendations for industry and public actions.

TITLE II—AUTOMOBILE TITLE FRAUD

SEC. 201. DEFINITIONS.

For purposes of this title:

(1) The term "automobile" has the meaning given such term by section 501(1) of the Motor Vehicle Information and Cost Savings Act (15 U.S.C. 2001(1)).

(2) The term "certificate of title" means a document issued by a State evidencing ownership of an automobile.

(3) The term "insurance carrier" means an individual, corporation, or other entity which is engaged in the business of underwriting automobile insurance.

(4) The term "junk automobile" means any automobile which is incapable of operation on roads or highways and which has no value except as a source of parts or scrap.

(5) The term "junk yard" means any individual, corporation, or other entity which is engaged in the business of acquiring or owning junk automobiles for resale, either in their entirety or as spare parts, for rebuilding or restoration, or for crushing.

(6) The term "operator" means a person or entity authorized or designated as the operator of the information system pursuant to section 202(a)(2) or if no such person or entity is authorized, the Secretary.

(7) The term "salvage automobile" means any automobile which is damaged by collision, fire, flood, accident, trespass, or other occurrence to the extent that its fair salvage value plus the cost of repairing the automobile for legal operation on roads or highways would exceed the fair market value of the automobile immediately prior to the occurrence causing its damage.

(8) The term "salvage yard" means any individual, corporation, or other entity which is engaged in the business of acquiring or owning salvage automobiles for resale, either in their entirety or as spare parts, or for rebuilding or restoration, or for crushing.

(9) The term "Secretary" means the Secretary of Transportation.

(10) The term "State" means any State of the United States or the District of Columbia.

SEC. 202. NATIONAL MOTOR VEHICLE TITLE INFORMATION SYSTEM.

(a) INFORMATION SYSTEM.—

(1) ESTABLISHMENT.—Not later than January 1996, the Secretary, in cooperation with the States, shall establish an information system (in this title referred to as the "National Motor Vehicle Title Information System") which will enable States and others to gain instant and reliable access to information maintained by other States pertaining to the titling of automobiles, unless the Secretary determines that an existing information system meets the requirements of subsections (b) and (c) of this section and will enable the Secretary to implement this title as early as possible and designates, in consultation with the Attorney General of the United States, such system as the information system for purposes of this title. In establishing the system, the Secretary, working with the Attorney General of the United States and the States, shall ascertain the extent to which title and related information to be included in the system will be adequate, timely, reliable, uniform, and capable of aiding in efforts to prevent the introduction or reintroduction into interstate commerce of stolen vehicles or parts.

(2) OPERATION.—The Secretary may authorize the operation of the information system established or designated under paragraph (1) by contract through an agreement with a State or States, or by redesignating, after consultation with the States, a third party which represents the interests of the States.

(3) FEES.—Operation of the information system established or designated under paragraph (1) shall be paid for by a system of user fees and should be self-sufficient and not be dependent on Federal funds. The amount of fees collected and retained subject to annual appropriation Acts, by the operator pursuant to this paragraph, not including fees collected by the operator and passed on to a State or other entity providing information to the operator, shall not exceed the costs of operating the system.

(b) MINIMUM FUNCTIONAL CAPABILITIES.—The information system established or designated under subsection (a)(1) shall, at a minimum, enable a user of the system instantly and reliably to determine—

(1) the validity and status of a document purporting to be a certification of title,

(2) whether an automobile bearing a known vehicle identification number is titled in a particular State,

(3) whether an automobile known to be titled in a particular State is or has been a junk vehicle or a salvage vehicle,

(4) for an automobile known to be titled in a particular State, the odometer reading information, as required in section 408 of the Motor Vehicle Information and Cost Savings Act (15 U.S.C. 1988), of such vehicle on the date its certificate of title was issued and such later odometer information, if noted by the State, and

(5) whether an automobile bearing a known vehicle identification number has been reported as a junk vehicle or a salvage vehicle pursuant to section 204.

(c) AVAILABILITY OF INFORMATION.—

(1) TO STATE.—Upon request of a participating State, the operator makes available to such State information in the information system pertaining to any automobile.

(2) TO LAW ENFORCEMENT.—Upon request of a Federal, State, or local law enforcement official, the operator makes available to such official information in the information system pertaining to a particular automobile, salvage yard, or junk yard.

(3) TO PROSPECTIVE PURCHASERS.—Upon request of a prospective purchaser of an automobile, including an auction company or an entity that is in the business of purchasing used automobiles, the operator makes available to such prospective purchaser information in the information system pertaining to such automobile.

(4) TO INSURANCE CARRIERS.—Upon request of a prospective or current insurer of an automobile, the operator makes available to such prospective or current insurer information in the information system pertaining to such automobile.

(5) PRIVACY.—Notwithstanding any provision of paragraphs (1) through (4), the operator shall release no information other than what is necessary to reasonably satisfy the requirements of subsection (b). In no event shall the operator collect an individual's social security number or enable users of the information system to obtain an individual's address or social security number.

SEC. 203. STATE PARTICIPATION IN THE NATIONAL MOTOR VEHICLE TITLE INFORMATION SYSTEM.

(a) REQUIREMENTS.—

(1) INFORMATION SHARING.—Each State shall make titling information maintained by such State available for use in establishing the National Motor Vehicle Title Information System established under section 202.

(2) TITLE VERIFICATION.—Each State shall establish a practice of performing an instant title verification check before issuing a certificate of title to an individual or entity claiming to have purchased an automobile from an individual or entity in another State. Such instant title verification check shall consist of—

(A) communicating to the operator the vehicle identification number of the vehicle for which the certificate of title is sought, the name of the State which issued the most recent certificate of title pertaining to the vehicle, and the name of the individual or entity to whom such certificate was issued; and

(B) affording the operator an opportunity to communicate to the participating State the results of a search of the information.

(b) GRANTS TO STATES.—

(1) REVIEW OF STATE SYSTEMS.—Not later than January 1, 1994, the Secretary, in cooperation with the States, shall—

(A) conduct a review of systems used by the States to compile and maintain information concerning the titling of automobiles, and

(B) determine, for each State, the cost of making titling information maintained by such State available to the operator of the National Motor Vehicle Title Information System for the purpose of meeting the requirements of subsection (b).

(2) AWARD OF GRANTS.—The Secretary may award grants to participating States to be used in making titling information maintained by such States available to the operator of the National Motor Vehicle Title Information System if—

(A) for any State that is a recipient of such a grant, the grant does not exceed—

(i) 25 percent of the cost of making titling information maintained by such State available to the operator of the National Motor Vehicle Title Information System as determined by the Secretary under subsection (d)(1)(B); or

(ii) $300,000;

whichever is lower; and

(B) the Secretary determined that such grants are fair, reasonable, and necessary for the establishment of the National Motor Vehicle Title Information System under section 202(a)(1).

(c) REPORT TO CONGRESS.—No later than January 1, 1997, the Secretary shall report to Congress which States have met the requirements imposed by section 203. If any State has not met these requirements, the Secretary shall describe the impediments that have resulted in the State's failure to meet the requirements.

SEC. 204. REPORTING.

(a) OPERATORS OF JUNK OR SALVAGE YARD.—

(1) INVENTORY REPORT.—Beginning at a time determined by the Secretary, but no earlier than 3 months prior to the establishment of the National Motor Vehicle Title Information System, any person or entity in the business of operating an automobile junk yard or automobile salvage yard shall file a monthly report with the operator. Such report shall contain an inventory of all junk vehicles or salvage vehicles obtained by the junk yard or salvage yard during the preceding month. Such inventory shall contain the vehicle identification number of each vehicle obtained, the date on which it was obtained, the name of the person or entity from whom the reporter obtained the vehicle, and a statement of whether the vehicle was crushed or otherwise disposed of for sale or other purposes.

(2) APPLICATION.—Paragraph (1) shall not apply to—

(A) persons or entities that are required by State law to report the acquisition of junk vehicles or salvage vehicles to State or local authorities if such authorities make such information available to the operator, or

(B) any person who is issued a verification under section 607 of the Motor Vehicle Information and Cost Savings Act stating that the vehicle or parts from such vehicle are not reported as stolen.

(b) INSURANCE CARRIERS.—Beginning at a time determined by the Secretary, but no earlier than 3 months prior to the establishment of the National Motor Vehicle Title Information System, any person or entity engaged in the business of an insurance carrier shall file, directly or through a designated agent, a monthly report with the operator. Such report shall contain an inventory of all vehicles of the current model year or any of the 4 preceding model years which such carrier has, during the preceding month, obtained possession of and determined to be salvage or junk vehicles. Such inventory shall contain the vehicle identification number of each vehicle obtained, the date on which it was obtained, the name of the person or entity from whom the reporter obtained the vehicle, and the owner of the vehicle at the time of the filing of the report.

(c) ENFORCEMENT PROVISIONS.—

(1) PENALTY AMOUNT.—Whoever violates this section may be assessed a civil penalty of not to exceed $1,000 for each violation.

(2) PENALTY PROCEDURE.—Any such penalty shall be assessed by the Secretary and collected in a civil action brought by the Attorney General of the United States. Any such penalty may be compromised by the Secretary. In determining the amount of such penalty, or the amount agreed upon in compromise, the appropriateness of such penalty to the size of the business of the person charged and the gravity of the violation shall be considered. The amount of such penalty, finally determined, or the amount agreed upon in compromise, may be deducted from any sums owed by the United States to the person charged.

(d) PROCEDURES AND PRACTICES.—The Secretary shall establish by rule procedures and practices to facilitate reporting in the least burdensome and costly fashion.

TITLE III—AMENDMENTS ON THEFT PREVENTION REGARDING "CHOP SHOP" RELATED THEFTS

SEC. 301. DEFINITIONS.

(a) CARS, SPECIALTY VEHICLES, AND LIGHT-DUTY TRUCKS.—Section 601(1) of the Motor Vehicle Information and Cost Savings Act (15 U.S.C. 2021(1)) is amended to read as follows:

"(1) The term 'passenger motor vehicle' includes any multipurpose passenger vehicle and light-duty truck that is rated at 6,000 pounds gross vehicle weight or less.".

"(11) The term 'chop shop' means any building, lot, facility, or other structure or premise where one or more persons engage in receiving, concealing, destroying, disassembling, dismantling, reassembling, or storing any passenger motor vehicle or passenger motor vehicle part which has been unlawfully obtained in order to alter, counterfeit, deface, destroy, disguise, falsify, forge, obliterate, or remove the identity, including the vehicle identification number or derivative thereof, of such vehicle or vehicle part and to distribute, sell, or dispose of such vehicle or vehicle part in interstate or foreign commerce.".

(c) MAJOR REPLACEMENT PART.—Section 601(8) (15 U.S.C. 2021(8)) is amended to read as follows:

"(8) The term 'major replacement part' means any major part—

"(A) which is not installed in or on a motor vehicle at the time of its delivery to the first purchaser and the equitable or legal title to which has not been transferred to any first purchaser, or

"(B) which is a customized or modified version of an original major part in or on a completed motor vehicle after the manufacture of such vehicle but before the time of its delivery to the first purchaser.".

SEC. 302. THEFT PREVENTION STANDARD.

(1) by amending subsection (d)(1) to read as follows:

"(d)(1) In the case of major parts installed by the motor vehicle manufacturer, the standard under this section may not require any part to have more than a single identification.", and

(2) by adding at the end the following:

"(f)(1) Within 2 years after the date of the enactment of the Anti-Car Theft Act of 1992, the Secretary shall promulgate a vehicle theft standard which conforms to the requirements of this title and which applies with respect to the covered major parts which are installed by all foreign and domestic manufacturers into passenger motor vehicles (other than light-duty trucks) in not to exceed one-half of the lines not designated under section 603 as high theft lines. Such rule shall be effective for model years applicable to such passenger motor vehicles as provided in subsection (c)(4) of this section.

"(2) Within 3 years after the rule under paragraph (1) is promulgated, the Secretary, based on the Attorney General's finding under paragraph (3), shall designate all the remaining such lines of such passenger motor vehicles (other than light-duty trucks) and apply such standard to such lines in conformance with the requirements of this title. Such rule shall also apply to the major replacement parts for the major parts described in this paragraph. Such rule shall be effective, for model years applicable to such passenger motor vehicles as provided in subsection (c)(4) of this section.

"(3) The Attorney General shall make a finding prior to the Secretary's initiation and promulgation of a rule under paragraph (2) that the rule shall be promulgated unless the Attorney General finds, based upon the information collected and analyzed under section 615 and such other information as the Attorney General may develop (after notice and after a public hearing), that requiring such additional parts marking for all of the applicable passenger motor vehicles would not substantially inhibit chop shop operations and vehicle thefts. The Attorney General shall also take into account as part of the record additional costs, effectiveness, competition, and available alternatives factors. The Attorney General shall transmit the finding and the record upon which the finding is based to the Secretary. Such finding and record shall be a part of the Secretary's rulemaking record.

"(4) The Attorney General of the United States shall by December 31, 1999, determine, after notice and a public hearing, whether one or both rules promulgated under this subsection have been an effective means to substantially inhibit the operation of chop shops and vehicle theft, taking into account the additional cost, competition, and available alternatives. The Attorney General shall base his determination on information collected and analyzed under section 615, the 3-year and 5-year reports issued by the Secretary under this title, and such other information as he may develop and include in the public record. He shall take into consideration the effectiveness, extent of use, and the extent to which civil and criminal penalties under section 610(b) of this title and 18 U.S.C. 2322 regarding chop shops have been effective in substantially inhibiting chop shop operations and vehicle theft. The Attorney General shall promptly transmit his finding to the Secretary. If the determination is that one or both rules have not been an effective means to substantially inhibit chop shop operations and vehicle theft, the Secretary shall within 180 days after receipt of such finding terminate by order 1 or both of the rules promulgated under this subsection effective the next model year following the issuance of such order.

"(5) The Attorney General shall make a separate determination by December 31, 1999, after notice and a public hearing, as to whether the antitheft devices for which an exemption under section 605 is authorized are an effective substitute for parts marking in substantially inhibiting vehicle theft, taking into account the additional cost, competition, and available alternatives. If the Attorney General determines that such antitheft devices are an effective substitute for parts marking in substantially inhibiting vehicle theft, the Secretary shall continue to grant exemptions under section 605 at the level authorized prior to the date of the enactment of the Anti Car Theft Act of 1992 or at the level authorized for model year 2000, as determined by the Attorney General. Nothing in this paragraph affects exemptions granted in model year 2000 or earlier to any manufacturer.

"(6) The Secretary and the Attorney General shall keep the appropriate legislative committees of Congress with jurisdiction over this Act and 18 U.S.C. 2322 informed about the actions taken or planned under this subsection.

"(g) The Secretary is authorized to periodically redetermine and establish by rule the median theft rate under subsection (a)(1), but not more than every 2 years.".

(1) by striking in subsection (a)(1)(A) "in which the final standard is promulgated" and inserting in lieu thereof "in which the Anti Car Theft Act of 1992 is enacted";

(2) by striking out paragraph (3) of subsection (a) and by redesignating paragraphs (4) and (5) as paragraphs (3) and (4), respectively;

(3) by striking "or (3)" in redesignated paragraphs (3) and (4) of subsection (a);

(4) by adding at the end of subsection (a) (as amended by paragraph (2)) the following:

"(5) Any motor vehicle line subject, on the date of enactment of the Anti Car Theft Act of 1992, to parts marking requirements under section 602 and this section shall continue to be subject to such requirements unless such motor vehicle line becomes exempt from such requirements under section 605.", and

(5) by striking paragraph (4) of subsection (b) and redesignating paragraph (5) as paragraph (4).

SEC. 304. LIMITED EXEMPTION FOR NEW VEHICLES EQUIPPED WITH EFFECTIVE ANTITHEFT AS ORIGINAL EQUIPMENT.

(a) CONTINUING CURRENT LAW.—The second sentence of section 605(a)(2) of the Motor Vehicle Information and Cost Savings Act (15 U.S.C. 2025(a)(2)) is amended by inserting "through model year 1996" after "model year".

(b) MODEL YEARS AFTER MODEL YEAR 1996.—Section 605(a)(2) of the Motor Vehicle Information and Cost Savings Act (15 U.S.C. 2025(a)(2)) is amended by adding at the end the following: "For model year 1997 through model year 2000, the Secretary may grant such an exemption for not more than 1 additional line of any manufacturer and such exemption shall not affect the validity of the exemption of any line previously exempted under this paragraph. For model years subsequent to 2000, the number of lines for which the Secretary may grant such an exemption (if any) shall be determined by the Attorney General under section 602(f)(5).

SEC. 305. PROHIBITED ACTS.

(a) RULES.—Section 610(a)(2) of the Motor Vehicle Information and Cost Savings Act (as so redesignated by section 306 of this Act) is amended by inserting "or Attorney General" after "Secretary".

(b) CHOP SHOPS.—Section 610 of the Motor Vehicle Information and Cost Savings Act (as so redesignated by section 306 of this Act) (15 U.S.C. 2027) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(c)(1) It shall be unlawful for any person to knowingly own, operate, maintain, or control a chop shop or conduct operations in a chop shop of any kind or transport by any means any passenger motor vehicle or passenger motor vehicle part to or from a chop shop.

"(2) The Secretary shall, as appropriate and in consultation with the Attorney General, in the case of any person who violates paragraph (1), commence a civil action for permanent or temporary injunction to restrain such violation or the Secretary shall assess and recover a civil penalty of not more than $100,000 per day for each such violation, or both.".

SEC. 306. VERIFICATION.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Title VI of the Motor Vehicle Information and Cost Savings Act is amended by redesignating sections 607 through 614 as sections 610 through 617, respectively, by striking in section 602(e) "and 612" and inserting "and 615", and by inserting after section 606 the following:

"VERIFICATION OF VEHICLE AS LEGAL SALVAGE OR JUNK VEHICLE

"SEC. 607. (a) Any person engaged in business as an insurance carrier to sell comprehensive insurance coverage for motor vehicles shall, if such carrier obtains possession of and transfers a junk motor vehicle or a salvage motor vehicle—

"(1) verify, in accordance with procedures established by rule under section 609 by the Attorney General and in consultation with the Secretary of Transportation, whether that motor vehicle is reported as stolen, and

"(2) provide verification to whomever such carrier transfers or sells any such salvage or junk motor vehicle identifying the vehicle identification number or derivative thereof of such vehicle and verifying that such vehicle has not been reported as stolen or, if reported as stolen, that such insurance carrier has recovered the vehicle and has proper legal title to the vehicle.

For purposes of paragraph (2), the term 'vehicle identification number' means a unique identification number assigned to a passenger motor vehicle by a manufacturer in compliance with applicable regulations or a derivative thereof. Nothing in this paragraph shall be construed to prohibit such carrier from transferring a motor vehicle if, within a reasonable period of time during normal business operations (as determined by the Attorney General under section 609 of this title) using reasonable efforts, such carrier has not received a determination under section 609 that the vehicle has not been reported as stolen or to otherwise determine whether such vehicle has been reported as stolen, except that such carrier shall provide a written certification of such lack of determination.

"(b) The Attorney General, in consultation with the Secretary, shall promulgate such regulations as are needed to ensure that verification performed and provided by insurance carriers under subsection (a)(2) is uniform, effective, and resistant to fraudulent use.".

(b) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The regulations required by section 607(b) of the Motor Vehicle Information and Cost Savings Act shall be promulgated within 6 months after the date of the enactment of this subsection. The amendment made by subsection (a) shall take effect within 3 months after such regulations are promulgated, but not before the system in section 609 of the Motor Vehicle Information and Cost Savings Act is operational.

(c) PARTS.—Title VI of such Act, as amended by subsection (a), is amended by inserting after section 607 the following new section:

"PARTS

"SEC. 608. (a) No person engaged in the business of salvaging, dismantling, recycling, or repairing passenger motor vehicles shall knowingly sell or distribute in commerce or transfer or install a major part marked with an identification number without—

"(1) first determining, through a procedure established by rule by the Attorney General in consultation with the Secretary of Transportation under section 609 that such major part has not been reported as stolen; and

"(2) providing the purchaser or transferee with a verification identifying the vehicle identification number or derivative thereof of such major part, and verifying that such major part has not been reported as stolen.

"(b) The Attorney General, in consultation with the Secretary of Transportation, shall promulgate such regulations as are needed to ensure that verifications provided by persons under subsection (a)(2) are uniform, effective, and resistant to fraudulent use.

"(c) Subsection (a) shall not apply to a person who is the manufacturer of the major part, who has purchased the major part directly from the manufacturer, who has received a verification from an insurance carrier pursuant to section 607 that the motor vehicle from which such major part is derived has not been reported as stolen, or that such carrier has failed, in accordance with section 607, to determine whether such vehicle has been stolen. Such person shall be required to provide such verification to any person to whom such vehicle, or any major part of such vehicle, is thereafter transferred or sold in commerce. The Attorney General shall promulgate regulations to implement this section.".

(d) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendment made by subsection (c) shall be effective on the date that the system required by section 609 is established.

"NATIONAL STOLEN AUTO PART INFORMATION SYSTEM

"SEC. 609. (a) The Attorney General shall, within 9 months of the date of the enactment of the Anti Car Theft Act of 1992, maintain in the National Crime Information Center an information system containing the identification numbers of stolen passenger motor vehicles and stolen passenger motor vehicle parts. The Attorney General shall also consult with State and local law enforcement agencies in the establishment of such system. The Attorney General shall also consult with the National Crime Information Center Policy Advisory Board to ensure the security of the information in such system and that such system will not compromise the security of stolen vehicle and vehicle parts information in such information system.

"(b) The Attorney General shall specify procedures by rule by which individuals or entities seeking to transfer a vehicle or vehicle parts may obtain a determination whether a part is listed in the system as stolen. If the Attorney General determines that the National Crime Information Center is not able to perform the functions of the information system required under subsection (a), the Attorney General shall enter into an agreement for the operation of such a system separate from the National Crime Information Center.

"(c) The information system under subsection (a) shall, at a minimum, include the following information pertaining to each passenger motor vehicle reported to a law enforcement authority as stolen and not recovered:

"(1) The vehicle identification number of such passenger motor vehicle.

"(2) The make and model year of such passenger motor vehicle.

"(3) The date on which the passenger motor vehicle was reported as stolen.

"(4) The location of the law enforcement authority that received the reports of the passenger motor vehicle's theft.

"(5) If the passenger motor vehicle at the time of its theft contained parts bearing identification numbers or the derivative thereof different from the vehicle identification number of the stolen passenger motor vehicle, the identification numbers of such parts.

"(d) ADVISORY COMMITTEE.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—The National Stolen Auto Part Information System to be maintained under subsection (a) is to be developed by the Attorney General with the advice and recommendation of the advisory committee established under paragraph (2).

"(2) ESTABLISHMENT.—Not later than 60 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Attorney General shall establish in the Department of Justice and appoint an advisory committee with respect to the National Stolen Auto Part Information System to be maintained under subsection (a).

"(3) MEMBERSHIP.—The advisory committee established under paragraph (2) shall be composed of 10 members as follows:

"(A) The Attorney General shall serve as the chairperson of the advisory committee.

"(B) The Secretary of Transportation.

"(C) One individual appointed by the Attorney General who is qualified to represent the interests of the law enforcement community at the State level.

"(D) One individual appointed by the Attorney General who is qualified to represent the interests of the law enforcement community at the local level.

"(E) One individual appointed by the Attorney General who is qualified to represent the interests of the automotive recycling industry.

"(F) One individual appointed by the Attorney General who is qualified to represent the interests of automotive repair industry.

"(G) One individual appointed by the Attorney General who is qualified to represent the interests of automotive rebuilders industry.

"(H) One individual appointed by the Attorney General who is qualified to represent the interests of automotive parts suppliers industry.

"(I) One individual appointed by the Attorney General who is qualified to represent the interests of the insurance industry.

"(J) One individual appointed by the Attorney General who is qualified to represent the interests of consumers.

"(4) DUTIES.—The advisory committee established under paragraph (2) shall make recommendations regarding—

"(A) the development and implementation of the National Stolen Auto Part Information System, and

"(B) the development and implementation of a verification system as required by section 607.

"(5) REPORT.—Not later than 6 months after the date of the enactment of the Anti Car Theft Act of 1992, the advisory committee established under paragraph (2) shall submit to the Attorney General, the Secretary of Transportation, and the Congress a report containing the committee's recommendations.".

"(e) Upon request by an insurance carrier, a person lawfully selling or distributing in interstate commerce passenger motor vehicle parts, or an individual or enterprise engaged in the business of repairing passenger motor vehicles, the Attorney General, or the entity or entities designated by the Attorney General, shall immediately provide such insurance carrier or person with a determination as to whether the information system under subsection (a) contains a record of a passenger motor vehicle or a passenger motor vehicle part bearing a particular vehicle identification number or derivative thereof having been reported stolen. The Attorney General may require such verification as the Attorney General deems appropriate to ensure that the request is legitimate and will not compromise the security of the system.

"(f) There are authorized to be appropriated such sums as may be necessary to carry out this section. The information system established under subsection (a) shall be effective as provided in the rules promulgated by the Attorney General.".

(e) STUDY.—Section 617 of the Motor Vehicle Information and Cost Savings Act (as so redesignated) is amended in subsection (a)(1) by striking "after the date of the enactment of this title" and in subsection (b)(1) by striking "after the promulgation of the standard required by this title" and inserting in each place "after the date of the enactment of the Anti Car Theft Act of 1992".

TITLE IV—EXPORT OF STOLEN AUTOMOBILES

SEC. 401. RANDOM CUSTOMS INSPECTIONS FOR STOLEN AUTOMOBILES BEING EXPORTED.

Part VI of title IV of the Tariff Act of 1930 is amended by inserting after section 646 the following new sections:

"SEC. 646A. RANDOM CUSTOMS INSPECTIONS FOR STOLEN AUTOMOBILES BEING EXPORTED.

"The Commissioner of Customs shall direct customs officers to conduct at random inspections of automobiles, and of shipping containers that may contain automobiles that are being exported, for purposes of determining whether such automobiles were stolen.

"SEC. 646B. EXPORT REPORTING REQUIREMENT.

"The Commissioner of Customs shall require all persons or entities exporting used automobiles, including automobiles exported for personal use, by air or ship to provide to the Customs Service, at least 72 hours before the export, the vehicle identification number of each such automobile and proof of ownership of such automobile. The Commissioner shall establish specific criteria for randomly selecting used automobiles scheduled to be exported, consistent with the risk of stolen automobiles being exported and shall check the vehicle identification number of each automobile selected pursuant to such criteria against the information in the National Crime Information Center to determine whether such automobile has been reported stolen. At the request of the Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Commissioner shall make available to the Director all vehicle identification numbers obtained under this section.".

The Secretary of the Treasury, acting through the Commissioner of Customs, shall conduct a pilot study of the utility of a nondestructive examination system to be used for inspection of containers that may contain automobiles leaving the country for the purpose of determining whether such automobiles have been stolen.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from New York [Mr. SCHUMER] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from Wisconsin [Mr. SENSENBRENNER] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

Mr. SCHUMER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 10 minutes of my time to the gentleman from Michigan [Mr. DINGELL] chairman of the Committee on Energy and Commerce and ask unanimous consent that he be allowed to control that time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. MCDERMOTT). Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New York?

There was no objection.

We have been hearing all year that Congress does not work, Congress cannot solve problems. Well, the Congress can work, and this bill is the proof. Our constituents have a problem, a costly, frustrating, and often violent problem—auto theft. I could read you the statistics, but I'm sure you don't need them—like me, you have been hearing loud and clear from back home that people are fed up with auto theft.

Auto theft has been on cruise control for too long—it's time to put on the brakes. The only contact criminals should have with our cars is to make the license plates for them.

The good news is that there are solutions. These solutions are not ideological, they do not require a lot of rhetoric or posturing. They do require that everybody work together—law enforcement, auto manufacturers, repair shops, and insurers.

That is what Congress can and should do—identify a problem, find practical, effecitve solutions, and show legislative leadership in getting all the parties to work together in implementing these solutions. That is what we did with the cable bill earlier this evening, and that is what we have done with this bill. This bill will keep car owners, not car thieves, in the driver's seat.

We start with tough law enforcement. Our constituents are being terrorized by an insidious new form of car theft called carjacking. This bill makes armed carjacking a Federal crime and stiffens sentences for other auto-theft related offenses.

But we cannot have a police officer on every corner, so the bill goes beyond that. Experts in law enforcement know why people steal cars. Mostly, they do it for profit: to resell the car, to export it, or—and this is the most common—to chop it up and sell the parts. Knowing how thieves profit, we can squeeze out that profit and stop the crime at its source. The new, professional car thief is a high-speed racer, running laps around law enforcement. This bill gives law enforcement the tools it needs to catch him.

This bill does that by requiring that major car parts be marked with ID numbers, and that insurance companies and repair shops use these ID numbers to avoid buying and selling stolen parts. We may not realize it, but many of us have probably had stolen parts put into our cars by repair shops. If we can stop that kind of transaction—where a stolen part enters the stream of legitimate commerce as a repair part—we can make a tremendous dent in auto theft.

The problem is not that repair shops deliberately seek out stolen parts to use. The problem is that they have no way of knowing whether a used part has been stolen. This bill would make it the repair shops' responsibility not to sell stolen parts by giving them access—through a simple, toll-free telephone call—to the FBI database of stolen car ID numbers. Before a repair shop installs a used part, it would have to check to make sure that the part is not stolen.

The bill takes the profit out of car theft in other ways as well. It will help State motor vehicle departments coordinate with each other so thieves cannot get phony or washed titles for stolen cars. It will also beef up customs supervision of outgoing cars, so thieves cannot export stolen cars.

I have worked closely with many of my colleagues on this bill. First and foremost, I want to thank and commend my colleague from Wisconsin, JIM SENSENBRENNER, the ranking member of the Crime Subcommittee. We introduced this bill together 7 months ago, after the hearings our subcommittee held on auto theft. Since then we have worked together to bring the bill through the Judiciary Committee and to the floor. I would also like to recognize the contributions of Chairpersons BROOKS, ROSTENKOWSKI, ROE, GIBBONS, MINETA, and COLLINS.

Finally, a great deal of the credit for this bill goes to Chairman DINGELL, and I commend him for it. Although we had our differences about the relative merits of different approaches to fighting auto theft, but the final product incorporates, I believe, much of the best of what all of us had to offer. The basic parts marking program remains intact, and will have a real chance to show its effectiveness. Chairman DINGELL has argued powerfully that strategies other than parts marking should also be tried, and the bill provides for that by retaining a limited exemption for cars with parts marking devices. The interplay and the debate between the Judiciary Committee and the Energy and Commerce Committee has been fruitful, and the bill that emerged is a strong one. It is a bill that will have a real impact on a serious problem, and I urge my colleagues to support it.

Mr. SENSENBRENNER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from New York [Mr. SCHUMER], chairman of our subcommittee, has adequately described this bill. It is a compromise from the bill which he and I originally introduced, and basically the compromise phases in the vehicle identification numbering system which we believe is the guts of this bill.

While much attention in the public has been drawn to the fact that this bill makes armed carjacking a Federal crime, the guts of this bill is to deter car theft by putting the vehicle identification numbers on the major parts which are resold to chop shops, and hopefully using that to deter the market for these parts from stolen cars. With the phase-in, and a determination by the Attorney General on December 31, 1999, we believe we have reached a broad bipartisan agreement to allow this bill to be placed on the suspension calendar. This is a practical alternative to the problem of armed carjacking as well as to the problem of car theft which causes about 88 percent of the premiums for the comprehensive part of every person's auto insurance.

I hope we can speedily enact this bill, and the other body will adopt it so that we can come back with an accomplishment in the 102d Congress.

Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. RAMSTAD].

Mr. RAMSTAD. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding me the time. As a member of the Crime Subcommittee, I want to commend Chairman SCHUMER and ranking member SENSENBRENNER for their bipartisan effort on this legislation.

The threat of carjacking has put fear in the hearts and minds of all law-abiding Americans. People are outraged and terrified by the heinous carjacking epidemic currently upon us.

How can any civilized nation tolerate the brutal killing of a mother dragged 2 miles to her death, while desperately trying to reach for her infant child inside her commandeered car?

How can any civilized people tolerate such despicable, outrageous criminal acts? They cannot and they will not.

The American people should not have to tolerate this crime wave of carjackings. They want Congress to act now to pass this important legislation which imposes a 25-year prison term for anyone convicted of this crime.

Let the message be crystal clear to would-be carjackers: this crime will not be tolerated. Let these thugs know: If you do this crime, you will do the time.

As a cosponsor of this important legislation, I urge my colleagues to vote for the Anti-Car Theft Act of 1992.

Mr. SENSENBRENNER. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from New York [Mr. GREEN].

Mr. GREEN of New York. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding time to me.

Mr. Speaker, as the sponsor of the original legislation enacted by the Congress some years ago to require the placement of vehicle identification numbers on auto parts in addition to the dashboard and the engine, I rise to support H.R. 4542.

My bill, which Congress ultimately enacted in modified form, originally required vehicle identification numbers on major parts. Unfortunately, because of auto industry opposition, the bill got modified as it proceeded through the committee process, and the result was that only a minority of major auto parts now carry vehicle identification numbers. Thus the system has been far less effective than it should be.

This bill will, over time, end the loopholes that were driven into the legislation I sponsored. It will thus make the vehicle identification number system a far more effective device for dealing with the theft of cars to deliver them to chop shops, which cannibalize stolen cars to supply the parts market, and thus victimize consumers, legitimate parts manufacturers and recyclers, and legitimate repair shops alike.

Mr. SENSENBRENNER. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Michigan, [Mr. UPTON].

Mr. UPTON. Mr. Speaker, I just want to commend all of the parties here for their hard work to get a compromise so we could bring such a bill to the floor at 5 in the morning, or maybe 6.

I am pleased to rise today in support of H.R. 4542, the Anti-Car Theft Act of 1992. The events of recent weeks have underscored the need for legislation which firmly addresses the problem of auto theft and its associated violence.

This bill contains tough Federal penalties for those thugs who prey on the innocent through carjackings. This problem is particularly acute here in Washington, and the added jurisdiction given to Federal authorities under this legislation should have a major impact on this terrible crime.

This bill also seeks to deter thefts committed solely for individual car parts. This bill encourages the marking of individual parts. Chop shops are lucrative operations these days, and this bill will help the police put them out of business.

The study commissioned by this legislation will provide the Secretary of Transportation and the Attorney General with a mechanism by which parts marking and antitheft technologies can be fairly evaluated to determine their effectiveness.

Car theft is a crime which costs American drivers and consumers hundreds of millions of dollars each year—and this is only the cost in property. The costs of the increasing violence associated with car theft, of course, cannot be measured in dollars.

The Committees on Energy and Commerce, the Judiciary, and Ways and Means have worked diligently to bring this legislation to the floor. I would like to particularly thank Dave Finnegan and Bruce Gwinn of Mr. DINGELL's and Mrs. COLLINS' staff, and Doug Bennett and Hugh Halpern of our minority staff for their efforts.

This bill is a positive step toward bringing the problem of car theft under control. I urge my colleagues to support this legislation.

Mr. SENSENBRENNER. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself 3 minutes.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of the substitute amendment offered by the gentleman from New York, [Mr. SCHUMER] on H.R. 4542 the Anti-Car Theft Act of 1992. He has been a vigorous leader in seeking to curb the increasing threat of thefts.

At the outset I want to express my appreciation for the cooperative efforts of the gentleman in working out this agreement on legislation which is of great significance to the Committee on the Judiciary and to the Committee on Energy and Commerce, and over which our committees share jurisdiction, particularly with regard to the provisions in titles I, II, and III.

I also want to express my appreciation for the hard work of the gentlewoman from Illinois [Mrs. COLLINS], who chairs the Subcommittee on Commerce, Consumer Protection, and Competitiveness, and that of the ranking minority member, Mr. ALEX MCMILLAN. Their staffs also participated in this effort and they are to be commended for their patience, cooperation, and substantive input. In addition, I want to express appreciation to Representative UPTON and other members of our committee for their help.

Mr. Speaker, I think that this compromise is a reasonable one. It will help to deal with the problem of car theft. It seeks to balance burdens on all of the affected industries and, in particular, it seeks to deal effectively with the concerns expressed by small businesses and auto makers. I believe it is workable and fair, and I expect the Attorney General and the Secretary of Transportation to implement this legislation in a way that is going to assure reasonableness and fairness, and will avoid economic harm or disruption to these industries and their employees.

I urge support for the amended bill.

Mr. Speaker, the amendment adopts the provisions of the bill as reported by our committee on September 22, 1992, on H.R. 4542 with a number of changes to reflect the concerns expressed by Mr. SCHUMER. I am pleased that we have agreed to toughen the penalties against carjacking as contained in the Commerce Committee version and to address the problem of motor vehicle title fraud among the States.

In title III regarding motor vehicle parts labeling designed to deter auto theft and chop shop operations:

First, the bill allows two additional rulemakings to provide for additional parts marking of passenger cars and specialty vehicles, but not light duty trucks. The first rulemaking will take place 2 years after enactment and will be by the Secretary of Transportation. The second rulemaking will take place after a finding by the Attorney General that parts marking substantially inhibits illegal chop shop operations and reduces auto theft and which must occur before the rulemaking is started. That rulemaking will take place 3 years after the first rule is promulgated. At this point, I want to make it clear that the timeframes of 2 years to 3 years are expected to be adhered to firmly. I also expect the Attorney General and the Secretary to be fair in their determinations and rules.

Second, the bill provides a sunset provision whereby the Attorney General can determine whether or not the two rulemakings just mentioned should continue to apply to the applicable vehicles or should be terminated in whole or in part. The Attorney General must make the determination by December 31, 1999. The amendment spells out the information he is to use. Again, I expect the Attorney General to be fair and not biased in this matter.

Third, the legislation continues the present exemptions under section 605(a) for antitheft devices and a manufacturer may add two car lines annually for 3 model years and then one additional car line annually for 4 more model years. It again provides for a particular determination by the Attorney General concerning the continuance of this exemption either at the two car line level or at the one car line level.

Fourth, the amendment adopts clarifying provisions adopted by our committee relative to requirements of action by insurance carriers, salvage yard operators, and auto body repair shops. These industries and small businesses, along with automobile manufacturers and law enforcement personnel would be making valued contributions to deter auto theft. These verification provisions are an important part of this legislation. They were specifically developed by our committee in recognition of legitimate concerns of small businesses. Clearly, the Justice Department and the Transportation Department must implement these in a manner that will do no economic harm to these people. Verification procedures and measures must be effective and reasonable. It must protect future purchases.

Section 607(b) of the bill provides that, "The Attorney General, in consultation with the Secretary, shall promulgate such regulations as are needed to ensure the verification performed and provided by insurance carriers under subsection (a)(2) is uniform, effective, and resistant to fraudulent use."

Through this provision, I expect that the Attorney General would give special attention to the requirement that verification procedures performed by insurance carriers meet a standard of effectiveness. The effectiveness of the stolen part information system established in section 609 should be of prime concern to the Attorney General in promulgating the section 607(b) regulations. I understand, for example, that in some cases vehicles may have parts with different VIN numbers. The Attorney General should consider the extent of this problem and provide reasonable solutions where appropriate.

Mr. Speaker, I believe these changes are sound and helpful. Again, I want to commend Mr. SCHUMER for his efforts and I also want to commend his able staff.

I urge adoption of the amendment.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentlewoman from Illinois [Mrs. COLLINS], chairman of the subcommittee.

Mrs. COLLINS of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding me the time.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H.R. 4542, the Anti-Car Theft Act of 1992.

I want to commend the gentleman from New York (Mr. SCHUMER] for his leadership on the issue of car theft. I also want to commend the chairman of the Energy and Commerce Committee [Mr. DINGELL] for his hard work to improve the workings of the bill during its sequential referral to our committee.

I am a cosponsor of this legislation, and the Subcommittee on Commerce, Consumer Protection, and Competitiveness, which I chair, shares jurisdiction over the bill. I want, therefore, to thank the gentleman from North Carolina [Mr. MCMILLAN], who is the ranking minority member of our subcommittee for his contributions to this important legislation.

The bill we are considering is a compromise between H.R. 4542, as reported by the Committee on Energy and Commerce, and the version reported by the Judiciary Committee.

As a cosponsor of H.R. 4542, I strongly support its provisions to make carjacking a Federal crime, and to make it more difficult for car thieves to sell stolen automobiles. Our subcommittee has responsibility for the current Motor Vehicle Theft Prevention Program. When the Judiciary Committee completed its consideration of this bill, our committee had less than 2 weeks under the sequential referral to act. We immediately held a hearing on the bill, and just 1 week later the committee reported it out with some modifications. Incidentally, at the hearing, on September 10, I think all of our Members and witnesses shared my concerns that we take action against this growing problem across this Nation.

In Chicago alone, over 50,000 cars were stolen in 1990 and in New York City the figure was about 150,000. Total losses are estimated to have been $8 billion—costs which are borne by all consumers in the automobile insurance rates they pay.

In the past several months, the public has become alarmingly aware that car theft is more than an economic crime; it has become a human tragedy.

The first time I heard of a carjacking was about 3 or 4 years ago when a young couple met with violence just off an exit ramp of the Eisenhower Expressway in my district.

The most shocking case involved a young mother, who was dragged 2 miles to her death during a carjacking in Savage, MD, and whose baby was literally thrown from the car. This has absolutely galvanized public opinion and outcry that this Congress act now to address this awesome despicable crime.

This bill would make carjacking a Federal crime with tough penalties, including a sentence of up to life in prison if carjacking results in death. It would also make it illegal to operate a chop shop. Under this bill, the Secretary of Transportation is given authority to seek an injunction against the operation of a chop shop. More importantly, anyone convicted of knowingly operating a chop shop would be subject to not only a fine, but to a 15-year prison term.

Further, H.R. 4542 would create a much stronger, and more effective, parts marking program than that which is now in operation. Currently half of all passenger automobiles are subject to the parts marking requirement.

H.R. 4542 would immediately expand the number of vehicles subject to parts marking by including specialty vehicles, such as minivans, sport utility vehicles, and light trucks. Two years later, the number of vehicles required to be marked would be expanded to include the first 25 percent of the car lines that fall below the median theft rate threshold.

Three years after that, the last 25 percent of the car lines below the theft rate threshold would be subject to parts marking, unless the Attorney General determined the program was ineffective. Current authority, to exempt certain car lines on which auto theft devices are installed would be continued.

Finally, this bill would require that insurance companies verify that junk or salvage vehicles are not reported as stolen, before they sell such vehicles to salvage firms or anyone else. Such verification would be passed on to the purchaser. Similarly, if a salvage firm sells a salvage vehicle that it has not obtained from an insurance company, the same kind of verifications would have to be made and passed on to the purchaser.

Mr. Speaker, I believe this bill will inhibit chop shop operations which are one important reason car thefts in our country have skyrocketed. It also establishes strong penalties that should help reduce car theft, as well as provisions to promote uniform vehicle titling at the State level that should help law enforcement officials investigate car theft.

I urge my colleagues to vote for this bill.

Mr. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. SCHUMER. Mr. Speaker, I once again want to thank the gentleman from Wisconsin [Mr. SENSENBRENNER] for his help on this, and the gentleman from Michigan, [Mr. DINGELL] for his generosity and ability to sit down and compromise, as well as the gentlewoman from Illinois [Mrs. COLLINS], as well as the gentleman from New York and the gentleman from Michigan. I think this is a bill that will be a notable accomplishment of this Congress.

Mr. HOYER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in strong support of H.R. 4542, the Anti-Car Theft Act of 1992. I would like to thank and commend the chairman of the Judiciary Subcommittee on Crime, Mr. SCHUMER, and chairmen BROOKS and DINGELL, for working so diligently to bring this timely legislation to the floor.

I doubt there are very many people in this area who have not heard about the young mother dragged to her death by carjackers. This senseless tragedy is but one of the many which has been occurring with increasing regularity across the country. The callous disregard for life under which criminals now operate calls for the strongest possible response. Carjacking, the taking of a vehicle by force, has reached epidemic proportions in many urban areas and is now permeating suburban enclaves usually viewed as safe havens from violent crime.

We have an opportunity, to play an active role in decreasing a rash of senseless violent crimes. FBI Director William Sessions has said that carjacking is "a violent crime that deserves the full attention of the FBI." We have a responsibility as federal legislators to assist in this effort and H.R. 4542, contains provisions that will achieve this goal.

By creating a new federal offense of armed carjacking and imposing stiffer penalties, thugs may think twice about stealing a car, if not, they will at least pay a high price for their actions.

Carjacking is not just an impulsive, joyriding crime, but is oftentimes motivated by profit. Titles I through III of the bill, contain provisions that will significantly reduce the profitability for car thieves and chop shop operators.

I am pleased however, that this compromise agreement relieves some of the regulatory burden from the shoulders of the automotive aftermarket industry. As legitimate small businesses they should not be penalized for those who participate in criminal activities.

Mr. Speaker, we can no longer afford to allow car thieves who are perpetrating their crimes with increasing violence to profit financially or escape harsh punishment. This legislation is critical, it is timely and we owe it to our constituents to take an active role in combating this latest rash of violent crime.

Mrs. LOWERY of New York. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H.R. 4542, the Anti-Car Theft Act.

I am sure that I am not the only Representative that has received a constituent phone call from someone whose car was recently ripped off. Our constituents are angry at this wave of crime and they want something done about it now.

This legislation is absolutely critical if we are to strike back against the auto thieves and the carjackers. Last year, more than 1.7 million cars valued at $8 billion were stolen in the United States. In addition, the recent rash of carjacking endangers the lives of all Americans who own cars. In many cases, auto thieves have gotten away with murder.

The bill we have before us will make substantial progress in deterring auto theft. It will require new automobiles to have their parts marked with identification numbers. This simple move will enable law enforcement agencies to quickly trace stolen car parts.

The legislation will also make carjacking a Federal offense punishable by up to 15 years in jail. If bodily harm accompanies the carjacking, then the mandatory sentence is increased to 25 years in jail. And if the carjackers cause the death of the victim, the legislation will lock them up and throw away the key. This is a tough response to what has become a national problem. With brutal attacks occurring in broad daylight throughout the cities of America, this action is overdue.

Our constituents are demanding action and action is what we have before us. I understand that the other body is expected to act once this bill is approved by the House. That being the case, I urge my constituents to support its speedy adoption.

Mr. FAZIO. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 4542, the Anti-Car Theft Act.

Auto theft is no longer confined to youngsters out looking for a vehicle for joyriding. It has evolved into carjacking—a version of auto theft that involves armed robbery of a vehicle while the driver is present—an extremely lucrative business in this country. Carjacking has become a high-growth industry that includes both professional thieves and parts shops that deal in stolen auto parts, merchandise which can be worth up to 4 times as much as the car, itself. And the crime is becoming more and more linked to violence—to severe beatings, and even murder.

Every 22 seconds, an auto theft takes place. In 1991, 1.5 million vehicles were stolen here in the United States—55 percent more than in 1983. Auto theft accounts for almost half of the total property lost to crime each year, and up to 88 percent of comprehensive car insurance premiums are a result of car theft. And the numbers continue to grow. Auto theft has become too easy and too profitable and presents a growing threat to both our property and—more important—to our physical safety.

But, H.R. 4542 responds to our need to deal with this menace by making carjacking a Federal offense. Its provisions also include increasing Federal sentences for auto theft; providing start-up funding for computerized crosslinking of State motor vehicle departments so that States can crosscheck vehicle ownership; establishing a grant program, funded by individual automobile taxes and fees, so that State and local governments can set up anti-car theft programs in their communities; and tightening the Customs Service's supervision of exported automobiles.

Our neighborhoods and communities are no longer safe. We are afraid to stop at stoplights, to frequent fast-food outlets, to leave our cars in garages and in shopping mall parking lots, and even to stop for gas. Women are scared to walk to their cars after dark, and families are being victimized in front of their homes and in their driveways.

Americans are sick of talking about crime. They want action, and we here in Congress have a responsibility to deliver it to them. H.R. 4542 meets this carjacking epidemic head on by increasing the risk for the perpetrators and minimizing the profitability for all involved. I urge my colleagues on both sides of the aisle to support its passage.

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H.R. 4542, the Anti-Car Theft Act of 1992, which I cosponsored because it offers a comprehensive approach to deterring a vicious, new auto theft crime. The recent, highly publicized, tragic carjackings in the Washington metropolitan area have my constituents frightened to drive their cars. The rate of carjacking has escalated to an average of one car per day in the Washington area, which has people wondering when they will become the next victim. In addition to the emotional cost of this epidemic, District residents must also bear the burden of higher insurance rates because of high theft rates. One report indicates that as much as 88 percent of an automobile owner's comprehensive insurance premium is attributable to theft claims.

I support the recent compromises that have made this critically needed bill possible, and I appreciate the efforts during these last days of the session to wrap up legislation that is both effective for law enforcement purposes and agreeable to automobile manufacturers.

With good reason, H.R. 4542 makes armed carjacking a Federal offense punishable by imprisonment for up to 15 years. These thefts often cross State lines, and, indeed, to do an effective job, law enforcement agencies have had to work regionally and nationally, rather than just locally. Our local police agencies are now working with FBI agents on a newly formed car-theft task force, and the U.S. attorney's office has created a regional computerized database of suspects and carjacked vehicles. Carjacking is a classic case for Federal intervention.

H.R. 4542 will greatly strengthen local efforts. This bill requires automobile manufacturers to place vehicle identification numbers on major automobile parts of high theft rate vehicles, and requires repair shops to check the identification numbers with a National Stolen Auto Part Information System. In order to combat vehicle title fraud, H.R. 4542 establishes a National Vehicle Information System. H.R. 4542 also directs the Customs Service to spot check export containers for stolen vehicles.

This legislation will take away much of the profit incentive for reckless car thieves, many of whom have dramatically escalated the risk of simply owning or driving a car. I strongly urge my colleagues to support H.R. 4542.

Mr. ANDREWS of Texas. Mr. Chairman, I rise in strong support of H.R. 4542, the Anti-Car Theft Act.

Very little attention has been given to the problem of crime and its solutions in this election year, despite the fact that 76 percent of Americans identify it as an issue that is very important for the Presidential candidates to address.

While we were fighting a war in the deserts of Saudi Arabia, Americans were losing the war on our streets against crime. In 1990, a violent crime was reported once every 17 seconds in the U.S., a quarter of all American households reported being victimized by crime, and over $16 billion was lost by American citizens to property crime.

The U.S. Federal Government must take a lead in marshalling the forces in the war against crime as we did in the war against Iraq—providing badly needed funds to States and localities to increase law enforcement, for beefing up the overburdened parole system, and to construct additional prison facilities to keep hardened criminals off of the streets and to provide a real deterrent to crime.

I commend my colleagues in the Judiciary Committee for H.R. 4542, the Anti-Car Theft Act. This bill proposes an ingenious plan to end the single greatest type of property crime in the United States—auto theft—in a simple, effective and inexpensive manner.

Auto theft accounts for over half of the total cost of all property crimes committed in the United States—between $8–9 billion a year—but only presents car thieves with a 1 in 50 chance of serving any jail time.

The Schumer-Sensenbrenner proposal gets to the heart of the matter: make stealing cars less profitable by drying up the market for stolen auto parts.

A car's parts are worth four times more than the whole car. Mark the parts with the vehicle ID number and you take the profit—and the incentive—right out of car theft.

H.R. 4542, as amended, requires that a vehicle ID number be inscribed on major auto parts of 75 percent of all car models in 2 years and establishes an information clearinghouse so that thieves will be caught selling stolen parts to repair shops.

Such a marking program will be effective—both as a deterrent for auto theft and as a tool for law enforcement to use in recovering stolen vehicles.

At a cost of less than $5 per vehicle to mark car parts, we cannot afford to do without this key weapon in auto theft.

I urge my colleagues to support the passage amended version of H.R. 4542 under suspension of the rules to require the marking of auto parts—nothing less will take the profit out of stealing cars.

Mr. CLEMENT. Mr. Speaker, several grisly carjackings here in the Nation's Capital earlier this month have propelled H.R. 4542 to a vote in this House. Car theft hits close to home, in my home district and the district of every member here.

Our colleague from New York, Mr. SCHUMER, deserves to be congratulated for his leadership on this issue. He has worked long and hard on this legislation. His proposal for a computerized national motor vehicle title information system recognizes that most car thefts are not for joy-riding, but for profit. They are fodder for chop shops.

We face the modern day equivalent of cattle-rustling. Car parts, like cow parts, are easier to transport on the hoof. Stolen parts are valuable only when a chop shop tacks them onto a car that's been junked. The newly rebuilt car is then resold to an unknowing consumer—at a price four or five times what it is worth. That leaves plenty of profit for the chop shop and the thief. This is a double-edged crime. The consumer is not only defrauded, but also made—albeit unwittingly—to pay the carjacker's salary.

I have seen how title-washing occurs. I recently distributed to members two copies of real certificates of title. One was issued by the State of Mississippi in September 1991. It plainly indicates that the vehicle was salvaged. I also distributed a certificate issued in November—just a few weeks later—by the State of Texas. The VIN on each certificate is identical. It's the same car. But the Texas title is clean as a whistle. To the consumer there is no indication that the car is salvaged or rebuilt and the consumer pays dearly for the absence of that information. This has got to stop—now.

This salvage fraud scam is estimated to cost consumers $3 billion a year. In addition, consumers who unknowingly purchase junk vehicles face heightened risks of death or serious injury in accidents.

H.R. 4542 recognizes these lapses in State motor vehicle titling procedures that make it easy for chop shops and their customers to wash the salvage history off a vehicle's title. The bill establishes a task force to study this problem. Especially since it will take years before the new title information system is operational, I would prefer to cut the chop shops down to size—now—using information and other resources that already exist.

When the new Congress meets, I intend to introduce legislation to require nationally uniform title procedures so that a salvage or rebuilt brand means the same thing from one State to another. Unlike the current practice, every State immediately would have to repeat another State's junk brand when it issues a new title for these vehicles. This bill attacks this problem now using information that is already available in every case. This approach already has the support of members, of the Committees on Public Works, Energy and Commerce and Judiciary, as well as the motor vehicle administrators, law enforcement officials and the automotive industry.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support H.R. 4542.

Mr. GOSS. Mr. Speaker, I don't need to draw your attention to violent crime across this country, because my colleagues and I have confronted it right here in our Nation's Capitol. Members of Congress and their staff are certainly not immune to the senseless murders, rapes and beatings, the armed robberies and carjackings, that claim the lives of tens of thousands of Americans every year. Today, this heightened awareness leads us to consider the Anti-Car Theft Act of 1992, an admirable piece of legislation designed to deter auto theft crime. The rash of car thefts across this country is disturbing for several reasons—the increasing incidence of armed car theft, and the fact that 62 percent of all persons arrested for this offense were under 21 years of age. This is a deadly combination that will certainly not end with the passage of one piece of legislation. In fact I am very disturbed that today's debate is limited to only one relatively small aspect of the whole problem. There is a virulent epidemic of crime and lawlessness sweeping this Nation. It's brutal, it's real, it's starting with younger and younger individuals and United States citizens are frightened. Every day we read of another beating or slaying and know that behind those headlines, there are many more unreported incidents. Law enforcement cannot keep our streets, our businesses, our homes, free from crime because we are not giving them the tools to do their job. We have got to reexamine the priority we place on tough crime legislation. We need a comprehensive approach, empowering our police forces, streamlining our judicial process and protecting victims with the same vigor that we use to protect criminals. The statistics are staggering: The 1991 violent crime rate was 4 percent higher than the 1990 rate, 24 percent above the 1987 rate, and 33 percent above the 1982 figure. It's a frightening trend. We have spent our days wasting time and money with partisan bickering and bureaucratic shuffling, when across this country, American citizens live in fear. The get-tough-on-crime Congress must face up to the fact that this session has not yielded one comprehensive piece of legislation that could make a real difference for the American people. We must renew the fight against crime in the next Congress. The facts are indisputable, the violent crime wave is getting worse and we must take aggressive action soon. It's a matter of life or death—literally. Surely, we can protect our people as well as, or better, than our cars. I can always get another car, But I can never replace a loved-one lost to a violent crime. We need tough anticrime legislation that punishes criminals and restores decency. The other way—the liberal way—doesn't work. The proof is everywhere.

Mr. SCHUMER. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from New York [Mr. SCHUMER] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 4542, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

□ 0600

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. SCHUMER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on H.R. 4542, the bill just passed.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. McDERMOTT). Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New York?

There was no objection.

CONFERENCE REPORT ON H.R. 4016, COMMUNITY ENVIRONMENTAL RESPONSE FACILITATION ACT

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and agree to the conference report on the bill (H.R. 4016) to amend the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act of 1980 to require the Federal Government, before termination of Federal activities on any real property owned by the Government, to identify real property where no hazardous substance was stored, released, or disposed of.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Washington [Mr. SWIFT] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. RITTER] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remark, and include extraneous material, on H.R. 4016, the bill now under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Washington?

There was no objection.

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, today the House considers the conference report on H.R. 4016, the Community Environmental Response Facilitation Act. This bill was introduced by the Honorable LEON PANETTA of California to address troubling situations that are occurring with increasing regularity as more Federal facilities are closed due to budget constraints. One need not look far to see the economic pain that results when a DOE plant or a military base closes. Such closures will become more numerous as the Department of Defense builds down, the Nuclear Energy Program is downsized, and the budget deficit further constricts the breadth of Government activities.

The problem is twofold. First, as Federal facilities close, communities nearby are subjected to economic dislocation. The land, however, can be used for economic development. But in response, State, and local governments are focusing economic growth efforts on redevelopment of property within the closed facility.

This approach is constructive, and should be pursued. However, it leads to the second problem, which is that many Federal facilities slated for closure are contaminated by hazardous substances or petroleum products, and require environmental response actions.

Thus, we are faced with a dilemma: closed or soon-to-be closed Federal facilities could supply inexpensive land for future development; but environmental and public health concerns brought on by preexisting contamination must be addressed before that can happen.

H.R. 4016 steps into the breech to provide a sensible mechanism to allow State and local governments to pursue economic growth measures where Federal facilities have closed their doors. It amends the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation and Liability Act [CERCLA] to expedite the identification of uncontaminated Federal land so it can be transferred for non-Federal uses.

This bill sets up a process within CERCLA by which Federal agencies with jurisdiction over property slated for closure can evaluate and identify uncontaminated property within a facility. When this is done, the agency involved shall seek concurrence in the identification from regulatory officials. For properties listed on the national priorities list [NPL], concurrence must be rendered by the EPA Administrator; for properties not on the NPL, concurrence must be given by the appropriate State official. Once concurrence is given, or deemed given, the property may be transferred and redeveloped for the benefit of the community.

H.R. 4016 does one other thing. Perhaps most importantly, the bill provides that any cleanup action found necessary after the date such property is transferred shall remain the responsibility of the U.S. Government.

This is a sensible, bipartisan, good-Government bill. It is procommunity and proenvironment. It protects the integrity of the environmental statutes while providing a vehicle for responding to economic problems in communities.

I appreciate and commend the constructive efforts of the ranking member of the subcommittee and his staff in crafting a work product that addresses a critical issue in a timely fashion. I also wish to commend the good work of the sponsor, Mr. PANETTA, and thank him for his assistance in this process. In addition, the other body has shared in a bicameral commitment to addressing this issue; their work has been excellent. This is a timely, well-thought-out conference report for which I urge my colleagues' strong support.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. RITTER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of the conference report on H.R. 4016, a bill to amend the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation and Liability Act—or CERCLA—better known as superfund.

Mr. Speaker, this legislation is a good example of bipartisan cooperation in clearly identifying a problem and tailoring legislation to address the specific issue. I believe this demonstrates that Congress can tackle tough environmental issues in a more thoughtful fashion when we do not force everything into huge, megabills. And I want to thank my good friend, the gentleman from Washington [Mr. SWIFT], for his leadership in moving this legislation, originally introduced by the gentleman from California, Mr. PANETTA.

The goal of this legislation is to break the logjam at closing government facilities to free up clean property for productive use. Expeditious property transfers are particularly important for the people in the communities near these facilities. Many communities frequently see the best hope for economic survival in quickly converting the closed facility to productive new uses.

This legislation seeks to speed up the transfer of property that is not contaminated by clarifying the process of distinguishing uncontaminated land from areas of contamination. The conference report contains provisions from the Senate bill that establish special procedures and timetables for military bases closed under the various base closure laws.

The conference report contains important language indicating that this legislation is not meant to duplicate efforts already undertaken by the Department of Defense or other agencies. To the extent possible, the determination of whether a parcel is clean and ready for transfer, can and should be based on existing studies.

Mr. Speaker, I would note that much more needs to be done if this country is to balance budgetary concerns, the needs of local communities, and the need for a clean environment.

Studies indicate that under existing law, the Nation may spend between $750 billion to $1.2 trillion over the next 30 years in cleaning up contaminated sites. I am afraid that much of this cost will go for lawyers or overly prescriptive programs which certainly jack up the cost of cleanup and may actually slow the pace of cleanup.

In the next Congress, I hope I can continue to work with Mr. SWIFT and others in a bipartisan fashion to craft additional reforms to remove some of the current disincentives and redtape which impede expeditious and cost-effective cleanup.

Mr. Speaker, I would urge all of my colleagues to support the conference report.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the author of this legislation, the gentleman from California [Mr. PANETTA].

Mr. PANETTA. Mr. Speaker, I introduced H.R. 4016 last fall after careful analysis of a clear and growing problem afflicting communities grappling with the loss of Federal installations. The Community Environmental Response Facilitation Act [CERFA] is a tailored response to that defined problem, and the passage of the conference report on H.R. 4016 today in the House of Representatives is absolutely required. The House approved this legislation by voice vote on August 10, and the Senate adopted a modified version by voice vote on September 18. I appreciate the chance to urge my colleagues to approve the report of the conferees, a report which has only improved the legislation. I am very pleased with the conference report, and as the author of the bill, I take great pleasure in calling on my colleagues to support it.

Mr. Speaker, I cannot exaggerate the urgency of this bill, cities and towns around the Nation are waiting to develop and implement the reuse of closing Federal facilities. Municipalities across the Nation have contacted me again and again, asking when this measure will pass the Congress. CERFA's final passage today will assist them within several months, if not weeks, as they struggle to mitigate the devastating economic losses suffered when a Federal installation closes.

To recapitulate the impetus for this act, I would remind my colleagues that existing Federal property transfer practices exacerbate rather than overcome the difficulties our communities face as they attempt to reuse Federal facilities. Current law and regulations do not facilitate studies to confirm which areas of closing installations are free of hazardous waste, needlessly delaying their transfer to State, local, or private interest. Our communities' losses are doubled in this process; they are unable to reap the potential of closed Federal facilities even as they continue to suffer losses stemming from the original closure.

The Community Environmental Response Facilitation Act would require the Federal Government to identify property free of contamination for sale to non-Federal interests at closing Federal facilities at the earliest opportunity. In a comprehensive hearing held by the Subcommittee on Transportation and Hazardous Materials on April 9, 1992, and in subsequent letters of support, the National Association of Attorneys General, the attorney general of the State of Texas, the United States Conference of Mayors, the counties of Monterey and Alameda in California, Friends of the Earth, and the Natural Resources Defense Council expressed unreserved support for the legislation. In testimony before the subcommittee, the Department of Defense said H.R. 4016 "hits the mark." Finally, as Chairman SWIFT has noted, the Subcommittee on Transportation and Hazardous Materials and the Committee on Energy and Commerce each reported H.R. 4016 by a voice vote with bipartisan support. With Senator MITCHELL as its chief sponsor in the other body, the Senate has likewise given its strong approval to the legislation by voice vote.

Under the bill, identifications of waste-free property under most Federal agencies would be made at least 6 months before the termination of operations at the facility. Once such an identification had been made, the Federal Government would be empowered to declare the property excess and allow its transfer for redevelopment.

The conference agreement establishes a reasonable exception for closing and downsizing military bases. Identification of uncontaminated areas at bases closed or realigned under previous base closure laws would be mandated within 18 months of the enactment of this act, providing a single date certain by which all such bases must be examined. Identification of such clean areas at bases closed or realigned in the future would be required within 18 months of their selection for closure or realignment. The Senate had added other amendments which I am happy to say were dropped from the legislation in conference.

The Government's liability for hazardous substances remaining in lands formerly owned by the Federal Government is a related community concern. Accordingly, the legislation mandates that deeds entered into for the sale or transfer of Federal property to a non-Federal interest contain a convenant warranting that the Federal Government must conduct any remediation of waste for which it is responsible, even after transfer of the property.

H.R. 4016 also clarifies congressional intent with respect to environmental restoration efforts at closing Federal facilities. The bill includes the criterion that environmental cleanups at Federal facilities must be undertaken with a view to facilitating and advancing both environmental protection and the prompt transfer of excess property in order to mitigate the ill economic effects of closures. Importantly, the bill allows us to address community concerns without sacrificing the quality of environmental restoration.

Finally, CERFA mandates that the EPA must concur in any agency's determination that property is free of contamination on Superfund facilities and, in the case of non-Superfund sites, States must concur in that determination. The EPA is the one Federal agency whose mission it is to safeguard and monitor environmental standards. Clearly, the agency with the expertise to make findings of contamination ought to have the power to concur or not concur in these important determinations. Too much is at risk not to involve the EPA or a State's environmental agency. This legislation expedites the transfer of clean property to communities, but it does not authorize the transfer of properties that turn out to be contaminated.

I want to thank Chairmen SWIFT and DINGELL for their critical assistance in moving this legislation forward promptly, with all due deliberation and with the solicited views of every interest affected. I would also pay tribute, again, to Chairman ROE of the Public Works and Transportation Committee, who, despite his committee's jurisdiction over this issue, recognized the urgency of the bill's passage and allowed it to proceed to the floor in August without delay, and to the majority leader of the other body, who moved quickly to facilitate the Senate's examination of the legislation. Finally, I would like to thank counsels Dick Frandsen and Ric Ilgenfritz very much for all the expertise and dedication they contributed as the bill took shape over the past year.

My friends, the passage of this act will not receive much notice, but it is yet another example of the Congress taking a proactive step to address a defined problem with a carefully designed, widely supported solution. This act represents a responsible Government at work and we can all be proud of its passage.

Mr. RITTER. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, this was a bill that was passed in an extremely bipartisan way. I want to thank all of those Members who worked on it.

Mr. MATSUI. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in strong support of the conference report on H.R. 4016, the Community Environmental Response Facilities which will promote the smooth conversion and transfer to excess Federal property for other economically productive uses.

H.R. 4016 provides a commonsense approach to the conversion of Federal property without impeding environmental cleanup. It allows local communities to move ahead expeditiously with their plans for the property without sacrificing sound environmental remediation in the least. It is important to note that this legislation in no way absolves Agencies of responsibility for the cleanup and proper disposal of toxics located on excess Federal property, nor does it abridge the laws regulating standards and procedures for environmental remediation. This bill in no way compromises comprehensive, safe, and prompt cleanup efforts.

Under this legislation, only property in which no hazardous substances were stored, released, or disposed of can be investigated and submitted for approval by an appropriate State official to be sold or transferred. Contaminated facilities and other specific hot spots will be held in possession by the Federal Agency in possession of the property until they are properly cleaned up.

This legislation serves the dual goals of cleaning up environmentally hazardous areas and allowing for the rapid disposition of unused but valuable property which might otherwise lie wasted for years until isolated sites, perhaps great distances from the useful and environmentally sound acreage, are cleaned up. It is important, particularly in these tough economic times, that unnecessary impediments to economic growth be eliminated in order to help our Nation recover from the recession in which we have been mired for so long.

This legislation is absolutely essential for making effective use of property and capital now being used for defense purposes. I have two military bases in my congressional district, Mather Air Force Base and the Sacramento Army Depot. Mather Air Force Base is scheduled to close late in 1993, while the Sacramento Army Depot will be closing at the end of 1996. There are sites of both facilities which have been contaminated by toxic chemicals, but I would like to focus on the situation at Mather Air Force Base for purposes of illustrating the problem that will be addressed by H.R. 4016.

Only 200 of the 6,300 acres of land at the Mather facility are currently known to be contaminated. There are ongoing studies to determine whether there are other contaminated sites on the base but the majority of the acreage at Mather is uncontaminated and is ready to be converted to productive use. The entire 6,300 acres of land will remain off limits for purposes of conversion without the help offered by Mr. PANETTA's legislation, and will sit idle while the hot spots await cleanup. Without this legislation, the city and county of Sacramento will be unable to go forward with the transformation of Mather from a military installation into a vibrant element of our local community.

I congratulate my friend Congressman LEON PANETTA for his hard work and leadership on this issue, and I urge my colleagues to support the conference report of H.R. 4016. It is good legislation, in touch with the needs of the times without sacrificing the welfare of our environment.

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Washington [Mr. SWIFT] that the House suspend the rules and agree to the conference report on the bill, H.R. 4016.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the conference report was agreed to.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

DESIGNATING CERTAIN FEDERAL BUILDINGS

Mr. MINETA. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 6163) to designate certain Federal buildings, as amended.

H.R. 6163

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. MITCHELL H. COHEN UNITED STATES COURTHOUSE.

(a) DESIGNATION.—The United States courthouse under construction at 400 Cooper Street in Camden, New Jersey, shall be known and designated as the "Mitchell H. Cohen United States Courthouse".

(b) REFERENCES.—Any reference in a law, map, regulation, document, paper, or other record of the United States to the courthouse referred to in subsection (a) shall be deemed to be a reference to the "Mitchell H. Cohen United States Courthouse".

SEC. 2. CLARKSON S. FISHER FEDERAL BUILDING AND UNITED STATES COURTHOUSE.

(a) DESIGNATION.—The Federal building and United States courthouse located at 402 East State Street in Trenton, New Jersey, shall be known and designated as the "Clarkson S. Fisher Federal Building and United States Courthouse".

(b) REFERENCES.—Any reference in a law, map, regulation, document, paper, or other record of the United States to the Federal building and United States courthouse referred to in subsection (a) shall be deemed to be a reference to the "Clarkson S. Fisher Federal Building and United States Courthouse".

SEC. 3. THEODORE ROOSEVELT FEDERAL BUILDING.

(a) DESIGNATION.—The Federal building currently occupied by the Office of Personnel Management and located at 1900 E Street, Northwest, Washington, D.C., known as Federal Office Building Number 9, shall be known and designated as the "Theodore Roosevelt Federal Building".

(b) REFERENCES.—Any reference in a law, map, regulation, document, paper, or other paper of the United States to the Federal building referred to in subsection (a) shall be deemed to be a reference to the "Theodore Roosevelt Federal Building".

SEC. 4. GEORGE C. YOUNG UNITED STATES COURTHOUSE AND FEDERAL BUILDING.

(a) DESIGNATION.—The building located at 80 North Hughey Avenue in Orlando, Florida, shall be known and designated as the "George C. Young United States Courthouse and Federal Building".

(b) REFERENCES.—Any reference in a law, map, regulation, document, paper, or other record of the United States to the building referred to in subsection (a) shall be deemed to be a reference to the "George C. Young United States Courthouse and Federal Building".

SEC. 5. GLENN M. ANDERSON FEDERAL BUILDING.

(a) DESIGNATION.—The Federal building located at 501 West Ocean Boulevard in Long Beach, California, shall be known and designated as the "Glenn M. Anderson Federal Building".

(b) REFERENCES.—Any reference in a law, map, regulation, document, paper, or other record of the United States to the Federal building referred to in subsection (a) shall be deemed to be a reference to the "Glenn M. Anderson Federal Building".

SEC. 6. ROBERT A. GRANT FEDERAL BUILDING AND UNITED STATES COURTHOUSE.

(a) DESIGNATION.—The Federal building and United States courthouse located at 204 South Main Street in South Bend, Indiana, shall be known and designated as the "Robert A. Grant Federal Building and United States Courthouse".

(b) REFERENCES.—Any reference in a law, map, regulation, document, paper, or other record of the United States to the Federal building and United States courthouse referred to in subsection (a) shall be deemed to be a reference to the "Robert A. Grant Federal Building and United States Courthouse".

SEC. 7. ROBERT A. ROE FEDERAL BUILDING.

(a) DESIGNATION.—The Federal building located at 200 Federal Plaza in Paterson, New Jersey, shall be known and designated as the "Robert A. Roe Federal Building".

(b) REFERENCES.—Any reference in a law, map, regulation, document, paper, or other record of the United States to the Federal building referred to in subsection (a) shall be deemed to be a reference to the "Robert A. Roe Federal Building".

SEC. 8. JOHN PAUL HAMMERSCHMIDT FEDERAL BUILDING AND UNITED STATES COURTHOUSE.

(a) DESIGNATION.—The Federal building and United States courthouse located at the corner of College Avenue and Mountain Street in Fayetteville, Arkansas, shall be known and designated as the "John Paul Hammerschmidt Federal Building and United States Courthouse".

(b) REFERENCES.—Any reference in a law, map, regulation, document, paper, or other record of the United States to the Federal building and courthouse referred to in subsection (a) shall be deemed to be a reference to the "John Paul Hammerschmidt Federal Building and United States Courthouse".

SEC. 9. RONALD REAGAN FEDERAL BUILDING AND COURTHOUSE.

(a) DESIGNATION.—The Federal building and courthouse to be constructed at 5th and Ross Streets in Santa Ana, California, shall be known and designated as the "Ronald Reagan Federal Building and Courthouse".

(b) REFERENCES.—Any reference in a law, map, regulation, document, paper, or other record of the United States to the Federal building and courthouse referred to in subsection (a) shall be deemed to be a reference to the "Ronald Reagan Federal Building and Courthouse".

SEC. 10. RICHARD H. CHAMBERS UNITED STATES COURT OF APPEALS BUILDING.

(a) DESIGNATION.—The United States Court of Appeals building located at 125 South Grand Avenue in Pasadena, California, shall be known and designated as the "Richard H. Chambers United States Court of Appeals Building".

(b) REFERENCES.—Any reference in a law, map, regulation, document, paper, or other record of the United States to the building referred to in subsection (a) shall be deemed to be a reference to the "Richard H. Chambers United States Court of Appeals Building".

SEC. 11. MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR. FEDERAL BUILDING.

(a) DESIGNATION.—The Federal building located at Main and Church Streets in Victoria, Texas, shall be known and designated as the "Martin Luther King, Jr. Federal Building".

(b) REFERENCES.—Any reference in a law, map, regulation, document, paper or other record of the United States to the Federal building referred to in subsection (a) shall be deemed to be a reference to the "Martin Luther King, Jr. Federal Building".

SEC. 12. QUENTIN N. BURDICK UNITED STATES COURTHOUSE.

(a) DESIGNATION.—The United States courthouse to be constructed in Fargo, North Dakota, shall be known and designated as the "Quentin N. Burdick United States Courthouse".

(b) REFERENCES.—Any reference in a law, map, regulation, document, paper, or other record of the United States to the courthouse referred to in subsection (a) shall be deemed a reference to the "Quentin N. Burdick United States Courthouse".

SEC. 13. JOSEPH G. MINISH PASSAIC RIVER WATERFRONT PARK AND HISTORIC AREA.

(a) DESIGNATION.—The area for which environmental and other streambank restoration measures are authorized by section 101(a)(18)(B) of the Water Resources Development Act of 1990, relating to the project for flood control, Passaic River Mainstem, New Jersey and New York, shall be known and designated as the "Joseph G. Minish Passaic River Waterfront Park and Historic Area".

(b) REFERENCES.—Any reference in a law, regulation, document, record, map, or other paper of the United States to the area referred to in section 1 shall be deemed to be a reference to the "Joseph G. Minish Passaic River Waterfront Park and Historic Area".

SEC. 14. JOHN PAUL HAMMERSCHMIDT LAKE, ARKANSAS.

(a) DESIGNATION.—The reservoir created by the James W. Trimble Lock and Dam on the Arkansas River, Arkansas, constructed as part of the project for navigation on the Arkansas River and tributaries, shall be known and designated as the "John Paul Hammerschmidt Lake".

(b) LEGAL REFERENCES.—A reference in any law, regulation, document, record, map, or other paper of the United States to the lake referred to in paragraph (1) shall be deemed to be a reference to the "John Paul Hammerschmidt Lake".

SEC. 15. ROBERT C. BYRD LOCKS AND DAM.

(a) DESIGNATION.—The Gallipolis Locks and Dam, Ohio River, Ohio and West Virginia, authorized by section 301(a) of the Water Resources Development Act of 1986 (100 Stat. 4110), is designated as the "Robert C. Byrd Locks and Dam".

(b) REFERENCES.—Any reference in a law, map, regulation, document, paper, or other record of the United States to the locks and dam referred to in section 1 shall be deemed to be a reference to the "Robert C. Byrd Locks and Dam".

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from California [Mr. MINETA] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from Oklahoma [Mr. INHOFE] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from California [Mr. MINETA].

Mr. MINETA. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, this bill is primarily a compilation of previously passed House naming bills. It includes the naming of buildings for two former Presidents of the United States, retiring and deceased Members of Congress, the great civil rights leader Martin Luther King, Jr., and certain members of the judiciary.

Mr. Speaker, I urge adoption of the bill.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. INHOFE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, as has been explained by the previous speaker, sections 1 through 12 of H.R. 6163 designate 12 different Federal buildings after distinguished Americans. The House has already passed separate bills on 11 of these designations. The exception is the designation of a courthouse yet to be constructed in Fargo, ND, after the late Senator Quentin Burdick.

I would like to add that two of these buildings are named after two of the most distinguished Members in the history of Congress, the gentleman from New Jersey [Mr. ROE] and the gentleman from Arkansas [Mr. HAMMERSCHMIDT], the chairman and the ranking member of the committee on Public Works and Transportation.

Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Arkansas [Mr. HAMMERSCHMIDT], the ranking member of the Committee on Public Works and Transportation.

Mr. HAMMERSCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H.R. 6163, which packages 12 separate naming bills together in one bill. The house has already passed separate bills on all but one of these initiatives.

Included in this package is S. 3224 which will designate the United States Courthouse to be constructed in Fargo, ND as the "Quentin N. Burdick United States Courthouse." Quentin Burdick had a long and distinguished career in the Senate, and this is a most appropriate way to honor his service.

Senator Burdick's early association with the non-partisan league helped to shape his political philosophy of making government work for the people.

After being elected to the U.S. House of Representatives in 1958, he began what was to be a life-long pursuit of speaking up for the rights and interests of the American farmer. Perhaps the best example of this is his commitment to protecting water rights for his rural constituents.

Using his committee assignments in the House and later in the Senate, Quentin Burdick was able to promote and protect major water projects for North Dakota such as the Garrison Diversion project, which provided North Dakota with Missouri river water to compensate for losses associated with the construction of the Garrison Dam.

His influence as chairman of the Senate Environment and Public Works Committee can be seen in several major highway and clean water bills. Most notably, his leadership on the Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act of 1991 was instrumental in getting that vital piece of legislation through both houses.

It is an honor and a privilege for me to support H.R. 6163 which will honor several distinguished Americans, and I urge my colleagues to do likewise.

Mr. INHOFE. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. MINETA. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from California [Mr. MINETA] that the house suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 6163, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. MINETA. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on H.R. 6163, the bill just passed.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?

There was no objection.

WATER RESOURCES DEVELOPMENT ACT OF 1992

Mr. ROE. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 6167) to provide for the conservation and development of water and related resources, to authorize the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers civil works program to construct various projects for improvements to the Nation's infrastructure, and for other purposes.

H.R. 6167

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE; TABLE OF CONTENTS.

(a) SHORT TITLE.—This Act may be cited as the "Water Resources Development Act of 1992".

(b) TABLE OF CONTENTS.—

Sec. 507. Permit conditions.
Sec. 508. Ocean dumping penalties.
Sec. 509. Authorization of appropriations.
Sec. 510. Report to Congress.

SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

Congress finds that—

(1) a sound and strong infrastructure is the essential core and foundation of the Nation's economic well-being and growth and its ability to compete in the global economy;

(2) the Nation's infrastructure has been sorely neglected for years, and there is a desperate need at every level of government to increase infrastructure investment for the benefit of future generations;

(3) it is the responsibility of the Federal Government to provide coordination, direction, and assistance in the restoration and maintenance of a sound infrastructure, including a national transportation system involving surface, air, and water transportation and facilities for restoration and preservation of water quality, prevention of damages from floods, and provision of hydroelectric power and municipal and industrial water supplies;

(4) it should be a goal of the United States to develop a national intermodal transportation system that moves people and goods in an efficient manner;

(5) the Nation's future economic direction is dependent on its ability to confront directly the enormous challenges of the global economy, declining productivity growth, energy vulnerability, air pollution, water pollution, and the need to rebuild the Nation's infrastructure;

(6) a national intermodal transportation system is a coordinated, flexible network of diverse but complementary forms of transportation which moves people and goods in the most efficient manner;

(7) a national intermodal transportation system will enhance the ability of United States industry to compete in the global marketplace by reducing transportation costs;

(8) all forms of transportation, including the transportation systems of the future, will be full partners in the effort to reduce energy consumption and air pollution while promoting economic development and productivity growth;

(9) investment in the infrastructure of the United States will pay immediate and long-term dividends in jobs and economic productivity and provide the foundation for the Nation's continued leadership in the global economic competition of the 21st century;

(10) infrastructure investment differs significantly from other forms of government spending because it creates new wealth for the Nation;

(11) the wealth and economic strength of the United States is in the Nation's infrastructure which provides the foundation for all aspects of life;

(12) failure to invest in the Nation's infrastructure has placed the United States in danger of becoming a service-oriented economy rather than having a strong and independent manufacturing-based economy;

(13) foreign competitors in the global economy have surpassed the Nation's productivity growth through massive infrastructure investments, and many foreign competitors have committed to making multi-trillion dollar infrastructure investments in the future;

(14) the improvement of the Nation's coastal ports is critical to its ability to compete in the global economy through the efficient import and export of goods;

(15) the improvement of the Nation's inland waterway system is a central part of a national intermodal transportation system which permits the efficient transport of goods between markets within the Nation and between inland markets and coastal ports;

(16) the prevention of massive flood damages to the Nation's cities, industries, cultural facilities, municipal facilities, and transportation system plays a vital role in the protection of the Nation's infrastructure and the efficient conduct of commerce;

(17) the provision of municipal and industrial water supply plays a crucial role in the well-being and functioning of the Nation's communities and industries and in the health, environment, and quality of life of the Nation;

(18) the generation of hydroelectric power contributes significantly to the Nation's supply of low-cost energy and plays a significant role in reducing air pollution;

(19) the provision of recreational opportunities and the protection and enhancement of fish and wildlife habitat and environmental values contribute to the well-being of the people of the Nation; and

(20) improvement and protection of the Nation's infrastructure is an essential, proper, and necessary role of government at all levels.

SEC. 3. SECRETARY DEFINED.

For purposes of this Act, the term "Secretary" means the Secretary of the Army.

TITLE I—WATER RESOURCES PROJECTS

SEC. 101. PROJECT AUTHORIZATIONS.

Except as provided in this section, the following projects for water resources development and conservation and other purposes are authorized to be carried out by the Secretary substantially in accordance with the plans, and subject to the conditions, recommended in the respective reports designated in this section:

(1) SOUTHEAST ALASKA HARBORS OF REFUGE, ALASKA.—The project for navigation, Southeast Alaska Harbors of Refuge, Alaska: Report of the Chief of Engineers, dated June 29, 1992, at a total cost of $15,013,000, with an estimated Federal cost of $11,250,000 and an estimated non-Federal cost of $3,763,000.

(2) WHITEMAN'S CREEK, ARKANSAS.—The project for flood control, Whiteman's Creek, Arkansas: Report of the Chief of Engineers, dated June 29, 1992, at a total cost of $4,978,000, with an estimated Federal cost of $2,838,000 and an estimated non-Federal cost of $2,140,000.

(3) MORRO BAY HARBOR, CALIFORNIA.—The project for navigation, Morro Bay Harbor, California: Report of the Chief of Engineers, dated June 4, 1992, at a total cost of $2,056,000, with an estimated Federal cost of $1,644,000 and an estimated non-Federal cost of $412,000.

(4) SACRAMENTO METRO AREA, CALIFORNIA.—The project for flood control, Sacramento Metro Area, California: Report of the Chief of Engineers, dated June 29, 1992, at a total cost of $17,000,000, with an estimated Federal cost of $12,800,000 and an estimated non-Federal cost of $4,200,000.

(5) RIO GRANDE ALAMOSA, COLORADO.—The project for flood control, Rio Grande Alamosa, Colorado: Report of the Chief of Engineers, dated October 7, 1991, at a total cost of $7,080,000, with an estimated Federal cost of $5,250,000 and an estimated non-Federal cost of $1,830,000.

(6) DELAWARE RIVER MAINSTEM AND CHANNEL DEEPENING, DELAWARE, NEW JERSEY, AND PENNSYLVANIA.—The project for navigation, Delaware River Mainstem and Channel Deepening, Delaware, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania: Report of the Chief of Engineers, dated June 29, 1992, at a total cost of $294,931,000, with an estimated Federal cost of $195,767,000 and an estimated non-Federal cost of $99,164,000.

(7) CANAVERAL HARBOR, FLORIDA.—The project for navigation, Canaveral Harbor, Florida: Report of the Chief of Engineers, dated July 24, 1991, as modified by the letter of the Secretary dated October 10, 1991, at a total cost of $11,780,000, with an estimated Federal cost of $6,100,000 and an estimated non-Federal cost of $5,680,000.

(8) KISSIMMEE RIVER RESTORATION, FLORIDA.—The project for the ecosystem restoration of the Kissimmee River, Florida: Report of the Chief of Engineers, dated March 17, 1992, at a total cost of $426,885,000, with an estimated Federal cost of $139,943,000 and an estimated non-Federal cost of $286,942,000. The Secretary is further authorized to construct the Kissimmee River headwaters revitalization project in accordance with the report prepared under section 1135 of the Water Resources Development Act of 1986 (100 Stat. 4251–4252) for such headwaters project and any modifications as are recommended by the Secretary based on the benefits derived for the environmental restoration of the Kissimmee River basin, at a total cost of $92,210,000, with an estimated Federal cost of $46,105,000 and an estimated non-Federal cost of $46,105,000. The Secretary shall take such action as may be necessary to ensure that implementation of the project to restore the Kissimmee River will maintain the same level of flood protection as is provided by the current flood control project.

(9) PORT EVERGLADES HARBOR, FLORIDA.—The project for navigation, Port Everglades Harbor, Florida: Report of the Chief of Engineers, dated September 23, 1991, at an annual cost of $94,500.

(10) SAVANNAH HARBOR, GEORGIA AND SOUTH CAROLINA.—The project for navigation, Savannah Harbor, Georgia and South Carolina: Report of the Chief of Engineers, dated June 1, 1992, at a total cost of $47,416,000, with an estimated Federal cost of $15,112,000 and an estimated non-Federal cost of $32,304,000. The Secretary is authorized to increase the Federal cost share of the recommended plan in accordance with the cost-sharing provisions of the Water Resources Development Act of 1986 (Public Law 99–662) if the Secretary determines that such an increase is warranted and appropriate.

(11) AMITE RIVER AND TRIBUTARIES, LOUISIANA.—The project for flood control, Amite River and Tributaries, Louisiana: Report of the Chief of Engineers, dated August 27, 1991, as modified by the letter of the Secretary, dated January 28, 1992, at a total cost of $65,902,000, with an estimated Federal cost of $32,951,000 and an estimated non-Federal cost of $32,951,000.

(12) SAUGUS RIVER AND TRIBUTARIES, MASSACHUSETTS.—The project for flood control, Saugus River and Tributaries, Massachusetts: Report of the Chief of Engineers, dated August 1, 1990, at a total cost of $95,700,000, with an estimated Federal cost of $61,360,000 and an estimated non-Federal cost of $34,340,000.

(13) LAS VEGAS WASH AND TRIBUTARIES, NEVADA.—The project for flood control, Las Vegas Wash and Tributaries, Nevada: Report of the Chief of Engineers, dated June 29, 1992, at a total cost of $204,300,000, with an estimated Federal cost of $144,000,000 and an estimated non-Federal cost of $60,300,000. The Secretary is further authorized to construct recreation features as proposed in the draft Feasibility Report and Environmental Impact Statement for Las Vegas Wash and Tributaries (Flamingo and Tropicana Washes), dated July 1990, at a total cost of $10,000,000, with an estimated Federal cost of $5,000,000 and an estimated non-Federal cost of $5,000,000.

(14) MOREHEAD CITY HARBOR, NORTH CAROLINA.—The project for navigation, Morehead City Harbor, North Carolina: Report of the Chief of Engineers, dated May 21, 1991, at a total cost of $10,030,000, with an estimated Federal cost of $6,360,000 and an estimated non-Federal cost of $3,670,000.

(15) WEST ONSLOW AND NEW RIVER INLET, NORTH CAROLINA.—The project for flood control, West Onslow and New River Inlet, North Carolina: Report of the Chief of Engineers, dated November 19, 1991, at a total cost of $14,100,000, with an estimated Federal cost of $7,600,000 and an estimated non-Federal cost of $6,500,000.

(16) LACKAWANNA RIVER AT OLYPHANT, PENNSYLVANIA.—The project for flood control, Lackawanna River at Olyphant, Pennsylvania: Report of the Chief of Engineers, dated June 29, 1992, at a total cost of $11,354,000, with an estimated Federal cost of $7,691,000 and an estimated non-Federal cost of $3,663,000.

(17) LACKAWANNA RIVER AT SCRANTON, PENNSYLVANIA.—The project for flood control, Lackawanna River at Scranton, Pennsylvania: Report of the Chief of Engineers, dated June 29, 1992, at a total cost of $15,117,000, with an estimated Federal cost of $11,344,000 and an estimated non-Federal cost of $3,773,000.

(18) LOCKS AND DAMS 2, 3, AND 4, MONONGAHELA RIVER, PENNSYLVANIA.—The project for navigation, Locks and Dams 2, 3, and 4, Monongahela River, Pennsylvania: Report of the Chief of Engineers, dated June 1, 1992, at a total cost of $556,400,000. The costs of construction of the project are to be paid ½ from amounts appropriated from the general fund of the Treasury and ½ from amounts appropriated from the Inland Waterways Trust Fund.

(19) RIO GRANDE DE LOIZA, PUERTO RICO.—The project for flood control, Rio Grande De Loiza, Puerto Rico: Report of the Chief of Engineers, dated March 5, 1992, at a total cost of $122,285,000, with an estimated Federal cost of $97,009,000 and an estimated non-Federal cost of $25,276,000.

(20) SARGENT BEACH, TEXAS.—The project for navigation, Sargent Beach, Texas: Report of the Chief of Engineers, dated June 25, 1992, at a total cost of $67,667,000. The costs of construction of the project are to be paid ½ from amounts appropriated from the general fund of the Treasury and ½ from amounts appropriated from the Inland Waterways Trust Fund.

(21) SHOAL CREEK, AUSTIN, TEXAS.—The project for flood control, Shoal Creek, Austin, Texas: Report of the Chief of Engineers, dated June 16, 1992, at a total cost of $6,808,000, with an estimated Federal cost of $5,106,000 and an estimated non-Federal cost of $1,702,000.

(22) SANDBRIDGE BEACH, VIRGINIA BEACH, VIRGINIA.—The project for beach erosion control and hurricane protection, Sandbridge Beach, Virginia Beach, Virginia: Report of the Chief of Engineers, dated June 29, 1992, at a total cost of $8,850,000, with an estimated Federal cost of $5,750,000 and an estimated non-Federal cost of $3,100,000.

SEC. 102. PROJECT MODIFICATIONS.

(a) TENNESSEE-TOMBIGBEE WATERWAY, ALABAMA AND MISSISSIPPI.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway Wildlife Mitigation project, Alabama and Mississippi, authorized by section 601(a) of the Water Resources Development Act of 1986 (100 Stat. 4138), is modified to authorize—

(A) the Secretary to review lands acquired for the project to determine if such lands can be made available for related project uses (including port, industrial, and other community or regional economic development endeavors);

(B) the Secretary to sell or exchange any lands which are determined by the Secretary to be available for such related uses; and

(C) the Secretary to acquire from willing sellers lands to replace any lands sold or exchanged by the Secretary under this subsection.

(2) LIMITATIONS.—Lands acquired under this subsection shall fully replace lost wildlife habitat value. Acquisition of lands under this subsection may be by purchase, exchange, or a combination thereof. Sales, exchanges, and acquisitions under this subsection shall be at fair market value and shall be with the consent of appropriate Federal and State fish and wildlife agencies. No lands may be sold under this subsection until replacement lands have been acquired under this subsection. Management of lands acquired under this subsection and reimbursement of costs with respect to such lands shall be the same as for lands acquired for the project before the date of the enactment of this Act.

(b) GOLETA AND VICINITY, CALIFORNIA.—The project for flood protection, Santa Barbara County Coastal Streams and tributaries in the area of Goleta, California, authorized by section 201 of the Flood Control Act of 1970 (84 Stat. 1862), is modified to authorize the Secretary to carry out the recommendations contained in the report of the Chief of Engineers relating to flood protection for Goleta and vicinity, California, dated March 25, 1991, at a total cost of $6,800,000, with an estimated Federal cost of $4,800,000 and an estimated non-Federal cost of $2,000,000.

(c) OCEANSIDE HARBOR, CALIFORNIA.—The project for navigation, Oceanside Harbor, California, authorized by the River and Harbor Act of 1965 (79 Stat. 1092), is modified to authorize the Secretary to repair, operate, and maintain the extension of the south jetty constructed in 1968.

(d) SAN LEANDRO MARINA, CALIFORNIA.—

(1) MAINTENANCE OF SOUTHERN CHANNEL.—The project for navigation, San Leandro Marina, Jack D. Maltester Channel, California, authorized under section 201 of the Flood Control Act of 1965 by resolutions adopted by the Committee on Public Works and Transportation of the House of Representatives on June 22, 1971, and adopted by the Committee on Environment and Public Works of the Senate on December 15, 1970, is modified to direct the Secretary to maintain the 8-foot deep and 100-foot wide access channel extending from the southern auxiliary access channel to the boat launching ramp in the small boat lagoon.

(2) DEAUTHORIZATION OF NORTHERN CHANNEL.—The northern auxiliary access channel of the project referred to in paragraph (1) is not authorized after the date of the enactment of this Act.

(3) NAMING OF SOUTHERN CHANNEL.—

(A) DESIGNATION.—The southern auxiliary channel referred to in paragraph (1) shall be known and designated as the "Jack D. Maltester Channel".

(B) LEGAL REFERENCES.—A reference in any law, regulation, document, record, map, or other paper of the United States to the channel referred to in subparagraph (A) shall be deemed to be a reference to the "Jack D. Maltester Channel".

(e) CROSS FLORIDA BARGE CANAL.—Section 1114 of the Water Resources Development Act of 1986 (16 U.S.C. 460tt) is amended—

(1) by redesignating subsection (f) as subsection (g); and

(2) by inserting after subsection (e) the following new subsection:

"(f) CONTRACT FOR CONTINUED O&M.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—During the period beginning on November 28, 1992, and ending on September 30, 1993, the Secretary is authorized and directed to offer to enter into a contract with the St. Johns River Water Management District and the Southwest Florida Water Management District of the State of Florida for the continued operation and maintenance by the Secretary of the portions of the project described in subsection (d). The maintenance shall be performed at a level of service that is necessary to ensure safe operating conditions and to prevent deterioration of the structures. No major rehabilitations or renovations shall be performed by the Secretary in such portions of the project during such period.

"(2) FUNDING.—Funding for the continued operation and maintenance of the barge canal project by the Secretary under this subsection shall not exceed $300,000. The State of Florida shall pay a non-Federal share of $600,000 to fund the continued maintenance of the portions of the project described in subsection (d) in accordance with paragraph (1).".

(f) O'HARE SYSTEM OF THE CHICAGOLAND UNDERFLOW PLAN, ILLINOIS.—The project for flood control, O'Hare System of the Chicagoland Underflow Plan, Illinois, authorized by section 401 of the Water Resources Development Act of 1986 (100 Stat. 4115), is modified to authorize the Secretary to construct the project, at a total cost of $29,000,000, with an estimated Federal cost of $17,800,000 and an estimated non-Federal cost of $11,200,000.

(g) ILLINOIS RIVER, ILLINOIS.—The project for inland navigation, Illinois River, Illinois, authorized by the Rivers and Harbors Act of 1935 (49 Stat. 1035), is modified to direct the Secretary to acquire dredged material disposal areas for such project, at a total Federal cost of not to exceed $7,000,000.

(h) SOUTH FRANKFORT, KENTUCKY.—The project for flood protection, South Frankfort, Kentucky, authorized by section 102(o) of the Water Resources Development Act of 1990 (104 Stat. 4613), is modified to provide that the cost of conducting preconstruction engineering and design for the project shall not be included in the computation for determining the benefit-cost ratio for the project.

(i) LOCKS AND DAM 26, MISSISSIPPI RIVER, ALTON, ILLINOIS AND MISSOURI.—Section 102(l) of the Water Resources Development Act of 1990 (104 Stat. 4613) is amended by inserting before the period at the end of the last sentence "or other non-Federal interests".

(j) LAKE PONTCHARTRAIN, LOUISIANA.—The project for hurricane-flood protection on Lake Pontchartrain, Louisiana, authorized by section 204 of the Flood Control Act of 1965 (79 Stat. 1077), is modified—

(1) to direct the Secretary to construct measures to intercept and convey drainage from the landside slopes of project levees in Jefferson Parish, Louisiana, directly to the existing drainage system;

(2) to direct the Secretary to reevaluate the benefits of the constructed portions of the project which accrue to St. Bernard Parish and to the Lake Borgne Basin Levee District for the purposes of determining the portion of the benefits which were expected to accrue to the parish and district but which were not realized;

(3) to direct the Secretary to reduce the non-Federal share of the capital costs and operation and maintenance attributable to the parish and district by the percentage of the expected benefits which were not realized; and

(4) to provide that the parish and district shall not be required to make payments on their respective non-Federal responsibilities until the Secretary has made the reductions, if any, under paragraph (3).

In carrying out paragraphs (2) and (3), the Secretary shall utilize results of the study conducted under section 116(k) of the Water Resources Development Act of 1990 and any other relevant information.

(k) PARISH CREEK, SHADY SIDE, MARYLAND.—The project for navigation, Parish Creek, Shady Side, Maryland, authorized by the first section of the River and Harbor Act of August 30, 1935 (49 Stat. 1031), is modified to reduce the length of the western boundary of the turning basin by 100 feet.

(l) BUFFUMVILLE LAKE, MASSACHUSETTS.—The flood control project for Buffumville Lake, Massachusetts, authorized by section 3 of the Flood Control Act of August 18, 1941 (55 Stat. 639), is modified to add low flow augmentation as a project purpose and to direct the Secretary to operate the project to improve water quality on the French River, Connecticut and Massachusetts.

(m) SOUTH FORK ZUMBRO RIVER, MINNESOTA.—The project for flood control, South Fork Zumbro River Watershed, Rochester, Minnesota, authorized by section 401(a) of the Water Resources Development Act of 1986 (100 Stat. 4117), is modified to authorize the Secretary to construct the project at a total cost of $123,100,000, with an estimated Federal cost of $90,800,000 and an estimated non-Federal cost of $32,300,000.

(n) NEW MADRID HARBOR, MISSOURI.—The project for navigation, New Madrid Harbor, Missouri, authorized pursuant to section 107 of the River and Harbor Act of 1960 (33 U.S.C. 577), is modified to direct the Secretary to assume responsibility for maintenance of New Madrid County Harbor constructed by non-Federal interests before the date of the enactment of this Act in lieu of maintaining the existing Federal channel.

(o) PAPILLION CREEK AND TRIBUTARIES LAKES, NEBRASKA.—The project for flood control, Papillion Creek and Tributaries Lakes, Nebraska, authorized by section 203 of the Flood Control Act of 1968 (82 Stat. 743) and section 401(a) of the Water Resources Development Act of 1986 (100 Stat. 4119), is modified to authorize the Secretary to construct the project substantially in accordance with the Post Authorization Change Report, dated April 1992, at a total cost of $12,469,000, with an estimated Federal cost of $8,783,000 and an estimated non-Federal cost of $3,686,000.

(1) by adding at the end of subparagraph (A) the following new clause:

"(vi) FLOOD WARNING SYSTEM.—The Secretary is authorized to establish, operate, and maintain, at full Federal expense, the Passaic River flood warning system element of the project before completion of construction of the tunnel element of the project.";

(2) in subparagraph (B) by striking "Jackson" and inserting "Brill";

(3) in subparagraph (B) by striking "$6,000,000" and inserting "$25,000,000";

(4) in subparagraph (B) by striking "and scenic overlook facilities" and inserting "scenic overlook facilities, and public access to Route 21";

(5) in subparagraph (B) by inserting after the first sentence the following new sentence: "The project element authorized by this subparagraph shall be carried out, in cooperation with the city of Newark, so that it is compatible with the proposed reconstruction plans for Route 21 and the proposed arts center.";

(6) in subparagraph (B) by striking "may be undertaken" and inserting "shall be undertaken";

(7) in the first sentence of subparagraph (C)(vi) by inserting after "for" the first place it appears "the purpose of assuring the integrity of";

(8) in subparagraph (C)(vii) by inserting "the additional" after "Act, the fair market value of";

(9) in subparagraph (C)(vii) by inserting "integrity of the" before "Wetlands Bank";

(10) in subparagraph (C)(vii) by inserting "and any other flood control project in the Passaic River basin" after "by this paragraph";

(11) in subparagraph (C)(viii) by striking "for the Wetlands Bank" and inserting "in accordance with clauses (ii) and (vi)"; and

(12) in subparagraph (C)(viii) by inserting "and financial" after "economic".

(q) RARITAN BAY AND SANDY HOOK BAY, NEW JERSEY.—The project for hurricane-flood protection, Raritan Bay and Sandy Hook Bay, New Jersey, authorized by section 203 of the Flood Control Act of 1962 (76 Stat. 1181), is modified to provide periodic beach nourishment for Cliffwood Beach for 50 years.

(r) SANDY HOOK TO BARNEGAT INLET, NEW JERSEY.—The project for beach erosion control, Sandy Hook to Barnegat Inlet, New Jersey, authorized by the River and Harbor Act of 1958, is modified to provide that costs incurred by the non-Federal interests to stabilize the seawall at Belmar and Spring Lake, New Jersey, shall be credited, to the extent that the Secretary determines that the work of stabilizing the seawall is compatible with the project, against the non-Federal share of the cost of construction and maintenance of section 2 of the project (Asbury Park to Manasquan).

(s) RIO GRANDE FLOODWAY, NEW MEXICO.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the project for flood control, Rio Grande Floodway, San Acacia to Bosque del Apache Unit, New Mexico, authorized by section 203 of the Flood Control Act of 1948 (Public Law 80–858) and amended by section 204 of the Flood Control Act of 1950 (Public Law 81–516), is modified to more equitably reflect the non-Federal benefits from the project in relation to the total benefits of the project by reducing the non-Federal contribution for the project by that percentage of benefits which is attributable to the Federal properties; except that, for purposes of this subsection, Federal property benefits may not exceed 50 percent of the total project benefits.

(t) JONES INLET, NEW YORK.—The project for navigation, Jones Inlet, New York, is modified to authorize and direct the Secretary to conduct a reconnaissance and feasibility study on placing noncontaminated dredged material on beach areas downdrift from the federally maintained channel at full Federal expense for purposes of mitigating environmental and other attendant damages resulting from the interruption of littoral system natural processes caused by jetty construction and continued dredging of the Federal channel.

(u) WESTHAMPTON BEACH, NEW YORK.—The project for beach erosion control and hurricane protection for Westhampton Beach, New York, authorized by the Water Resources Development Act of 1974, and modified by the Water Resources Development Act of 1986, is further modified to extend the period of beach nourishment for 30 years from the date of project completion. The non-Federal share of project costs shall not exceed 35 percent of the total project cost as provided in such Acts.

(v) BROKEN BOW LAKE, RED RIVER BASIN, OKLAHOMA.—The project for flood control and water supply, Broken Bow Lake, Red River Basin, Oklahoma, authorized by section 203 of the Flood Control Act of 1958 (72 Stat. 309) and modified by the Flood Control Act of 1962, is further modified to provide for the reallocation of a sufficient amount of existing and available water supply storage space in Broken Bow Lake to support the Mountain Fork trout fishery. Releases of water from Broken Bow Lake for the Mountain Fork trout fishery shall be undertaken under terms and conditions acceptable to the Secretary.

(w) WYOMING VALLEY, PENNSYLVANIA.—The project for flood control, Wyoming Valley, Pennsylvania, authorized by section 401(a) of the Water Resources Development Act of 1986 (100 Stat. 4124), is modified—

(1) to direct the Secretary to complete the final phase II design memorandum for the project (including the results of a review of nonstructural mitigation plans for the purpose of ameliorating damages from induced flooding) not later than August 8, 1994;

(2) to authorize the Secretary—

(A) to cooperate with non-Federal interests to make use of equipment and employees of the non-Federal interests in carrying out the project; and

(B) to credit the non-Federal share of the cost of the project for the value of the use of such equipment and employees; and

(3) to provide that, notwithstanding the last sentence of subsection (c) of section 104 of the Water Resources Development Act of 1986—

(A) non-Federal interests may apply for crediting under such section 104, against the non-Federal share of the cost of the project, the cost of work carried out after June 1, 1972, by the non-Federal interests which the Secretary determines is compatible with the project; and

(B) the Secretary may approve of such crediting to the extent the Secretary determines appropriate.

(x) CHETCO RIVER, OREGON.—The project for navigation, Chetco River, Oregon, authorized by section 301 of the River and Harbor Act of 1965 (79 Stat. 1092), is modified to direct the Secretary to assume responsibility for operation and maintenance of the approximately 200-foot long access channel to the south commercial boat basin consistent with authorized project depths.

(y) PORT ORFORD, OREGON.—Section 117 of the River and Harbor Act of 1970 (84 Stat. 1822) is amended by striking the last sentence and inserting the following: "The Secretary is authorized to maintain the authorized Federal navigation channel at Port Orford, Oregon, including those portions of the channel within 50 feet of the port facility.".

(z) CLIFF WALK, NEWPORT, RHODE ISLAND.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law and any agreement, the Federal share of the cost of repairs and improvements to the Cliff Walk, Newport, Rhode Island, in fiscal year 1993 and succeeding fiscal years shall not be less than 50 percent of the total cost of the project.

(aa) RAY ROBERTS LAKE, ELM FORK OF THE TRINITY RIVER, TEXAS.—The project for navigation, Ray Roberts Lake, Elm Fork of the Trinity River, Texas, authorized by the River and Harbor Act of 1965 (79 Stat. 1091), is modified to direct the Secretary to construct access ramps to permit boat launching access during periods of high water at the Sanger, Jordan, and FM–372 access areas, at an estimated total cost of $55,000. Operation and maintenance of the access ramps shall be a non-Federal responsibility.

(bb) SIMS BAYOU, TEXAS.—The project for flood control, Sims Bayou, Texas, authorized by section 401(a) of the Water Resources Development Act of 1986 (100 Stat. 4125), is modified to direct the Secretary to include, to the extent practicable, measures to improve environmental quality and riparian habitat.

(cc) VIRGINIA BEACH, VIRGINIA.—The project for beach erosion control and hurricane protection, Virginia Beach, Virginia, authorized by section 501(a) of the Water Resources Development Act of 1986 (100 Stat. 4136), is modified to authorize the Secretary to construct the project at a total cost of $112,000,000, with an estimated Federal cost of $72,800,000 and an estimated non-Federal cost of $39,200,000, and an average annual cost of $2,000,000 for the periodic beach nourishment over the 50-year economic life of the project, with an estimated Federal cost of $1,300,000 and an estimated non-Federal cost of $700,000. In carrying out the project, the Secretary is directed to construct the project with a uniform level of protection against a 100-year storm event, plus or minus 15 years, from Rudee Inlet to 89th Street by construction of a seawall from Rudee Inlet to 58th Street with a maximum top of seawall elevation of 13.5 feet (NGVD), dune reconstruction where necessary from 58th Street to 89th Street with a maximum top of dune elevation of 18 feet (NGVD), and construction of a beach berm from Rudee Inlet to 89th Street to a maximum design elevation of 10 feet (NGVD), and a width at design elevation to obtain the desired level of protection. In carrying out the project, the Secretary is also directed to provide for interior storm water to be collected into a pipe which will run longitudinally beneath the reconstructed boardwalk and to be discharged offshore by pumping through subsurface pipelines.

(dd) LOWER GRANITE LOCK AND DAM, WASHINGTON.—The Lower Granite Lock and Dam feature of the project for navigation, Snake River, Oregon, Washington, and Idaho, authorized by section 2 of the River and Harbor Act of March 2, 1945 (59 Stat. 21–22), is modified to authorize the Secretary to construct an all weather surface road in Whitman County, Washington, from Whitman County Road 9000 at the mouth of the Wawawai Canyon to existing roads in the vicinity of the Lower Granite Dam. The cost of such construction shall be assigned to navigation.

(ee) BEECH FORK LAKE, WEST VIRGINIA.—The project for flood control, Beech Fork Lake, West Virginia, authorized by section 203 of the Flood Control Act of 1962 (76 Stat. 1188), is modified to direct the Secretary to complete a study at a cost of not to exceed $500,000 and issue a report on relocation of the lodge resort complex authorized to be constructed as part of the project and to carry out the project substantially in accordance with such report.

(ff) BLUESTONE LAKE, OHIO RIVER BASIN, WEST VIRGINIA.—The project for flood control, Bluestone Lake, Ohio River Basin, West Virginia, authorized by section 4 of the Flood Control Act of June 28, 1938 (52 Stat. 1217), is modified to direct the Secretary to take such measures as are technologically feasible to prohibit the release of drift and debris into waters downstream of the project, including measures to prevent the accumulation of drift and debris at the project, the collection and removal of drift and debris on the segment of the New River upstream of the project, and the removal (through the use of temporary or permanent systems) and disposal of accumulated drift and debris at Bluestone Dam.

(gg) LA CROSSE AND SHELBY, WISCONSIN.—The project for flood protection of State Road and Ebner Coulees, city of La Crosse and Shelby Township, Wisconsin, authorized by section 203 of the Flood Control Act of 1968 (82 Stat. 742), is modified to direct the Secretary to reimburse the non-Federal sponsor $1,467,000 for the Federal share of work performed by the non-Federal sponsor in connection with the project. Such reimbursement shall be in addition to amounts previously reimbursed by the Secretary for such work.

SEC. 103. VISITOR CENTERS.

(a) MELVIN PRICE LOCK AND DAM, ALTON, ILLINOIS.—

(1) CONSTRUCTION.—The Secretary may construct a regional visitor center of at least 24,000 square feet at the Melvin Price Lock and Dam, Alton, Illinois.

(2) PURPOSES.—The purposes of the visitor center to be constructed under this subsection shall be to inform the public of—

(A) the role of the United States Army Corps of Engineers in inland navigation along the Mississippi River and its tributaries,

(B) the role of the Melvin Price Lock and Dam in such inland navigation,

(C) the socioeconomic development of the surrounding area, and

(D) events of historical, archaeological, cultural, and natural significance in such area.

(b) MT. MORRIS DAM, NEW YORK.—

(2) DESIGNATION.—The visitor center to be constructed under this subsection shall be known and designated as the "William B. Hoyt II Visitor Center".

(c) LOWER MISSISSIPPI RIVER MUSEUM AND RIVERFRONT INTERPRETIVE SITE.—

(1) ESTABLISHMENT.—The Secretary shall establish and operate in accordance with this subsection an interpretive facility (including a museum and interpretive site) in Vicksburg, Mississippi, which shall be known as the "Lower Mississippi River Museum and Riverfront Interpretive Site".

(2) LOCATION OF MUSEUM.—The museum shall be located on property currently held by the Resolution Trust Corporation in the vicinity of the Mississippi River Bridge in Vicksburg, Mississippi. Title to the property shall be transferred to the Secretary at no cost.

(3) INTERPRETIVE SITE.—The interpretive site shall be located on riverfront property between the Mississippi River Bridge and the Mississippi Riverpark in Vicksburg, Mississippi. The Secretary is authorized to acquire surface use easements for such site on a willing seller basis.

(4) LIMITATION ON ACQUISITION AUTHORITY.—The Secretary may not use condemnation of property in carrying out this subsection.

(5) PURPOSES OF THE MUSEUM AND INTERPRETIVE SITE.—The purposes of the Lower Mississippi River Museum and Riverfront Interpretive Site are to—

(A) promote an understanding of the Lower Mississippi River and the United States Army Corps of Engineers' role in developing and managing this nationally significant resource;

(B) interpret the United States Army Corps of Engineers historic presence in the Lower Mississippi River Valley and its administration of the Mississippi River and Tributaries project;

(C) provide an understanding of the many Corps of Engineers branches and facilities in the Vicksburg area and their relationship to flood control, navigation, and environmental conservation in the Mississippi River;

(D) highlight the Mississippi River's influence on the Vicksburg area and the river valley's natural, historic, and cultural resource contributions;

(E) highlight local Corps of Engineers projects and management strategies;

(F) provide an understanding of the surrounding natural riparian environment adjacent to the Mississippi River through public access and interpretive displays; and

(G) promote the worldwide application of water resource technologies learned from using the Mississippi River as a working model.

(6) RELATED AGENCIES AND PROGRAMS.—

(A) SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION.—The Secretary shall consult with the Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution in the planning and design of the museum and riverfront interpretive site under this subsection.

(B) DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR.—The Secretary shall consult with the Secretary of the Interior and the Director of the National Park Service in the planning, design, and implementation of interpretive programs for the museum and riverfront interpretive site to be established under this subsection.

(C) VISITOR SERVICES.—The Secretary is directed to provide increased and enhanced visitor services at the United States Army Corps of Engineers, Waterways Experiment Station in Vicksburg, Mississippi.

(7) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There is authorized to be appropriated $2,000,000 to carry out this subsection, including acquiring and restoring under paragraph (2) the property held by the Resolution Trust Corporation and planning, designing, and constructing the museum and riverfront interpretive site under this subsection.

(d) NORTHEASTERN NEW JERSEY REGIONAL FLOOD OPERATIONS-RESPONSE, ENGINEERING, AND VISITOR CENTER.—

(1) CONSTRUCTION.—The Secretary is directed to construct a visitor center in northeastern New Jersey of at least 15,000 square feet to serve as the center for the United States Army Corps of Engineers operations and emergency response engineering activities within the Passaic, Hackensack, Raritan, and Atlantic Coast floodplain areas and to inform the public of the Corps of Engineers' flood damage reduction and emergency preparedness roles for these areas, the socioeconomic development of the region, and events of historical, archaeological, cultural, and natural significance to these areas.

(2) PARK LAND FOR VISITOR ACCESS.—The visitor center to be constructed under this subsection shall include approximately 5 acres of public park land for visitor access.

(3) DESIGNATION.—The visitor center to be constructed under this subsection shall be known and designated as the "Northeastern New Jersey Regional Flood Operations-Response, Engineering, and Visitor Center".

(4) INTERIM MEASURES.—The Secretary is directed to provide increased and enhanced flood emergency operations and engineering preparedness and visitor services at the Corps of Engineers' Passaic River Division office in Hoboken, New Jersey, until such time as the center to be constructed under this subsection is operational.

(e) JOHN PAUL HAMMERSCHMIDT LAKE, ARKANSAS.—

(2) DESIGNATION.—The visitor center to be constructed under this subsection shall be known and designated as the "John Paul Hammerschmidt Visitor Center".

(3) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There is authorized to be appropriated to carry out this subsection $2,000,000 for fiscal years beginning after September 30, 1992. Such sums shall remain available until expended.

SEC. 104. SMALL NAVIGATION PROJECTS.

The Secretary shall conduct a study for each of the following projects and, if the Secretary determines that the project is feasible, shall carry out the project under section 107 of the River and Harbor Act of 1960 (33 U.S.C. 577):

(1) CALCASIEU RIVER, LOUISIANA.—A navigation project for the Calcasieu River, Louisiana, to enlarge the existing channel to the Port of Cameron to dimensions of 18 feet by 200 feet.

(2) CALCASIEU RIVER, LOUISIANA.—A navigation project for the Calcasieu River, Louisiana, to enlarge the southern portion of the Cameron Loop to dimensions of 18 feet by 140 feet.

(3) PROVINCETOWN HARBOR, MASSACHUSETTS.—A navigation project for Provincetown Harbor, Massachusetts.

(4) AUNT LYDIA'S COVE, CHATHAM, MASSACHUSETTS.—A navigation project for Aunt Lydia's Cove, Chatham, Massachusetts.

(5) GRAND MARAIS, MINNESOTA.—A project for a harbor of refuge, Grand Marais, Minnesota.

(6) GRAND PORTAGE, MINNESOTA.—A project for a harbor of refuge, Grand Portage, Minnesota.

(7) SILVER BAY, MINNESOTA.—A project for a harbor of refuge, Silver Bay, Minnesota.

SEC. 105. SMALL FLOOD CONTROL PROJECTS.

(a) PROJECT AUTHORIZATIONS.—The Secretary shall conduct a study for each of the following projects and, if the Secretary determines that the project is feasible, shall carry out the project under section 205 of the Flood Control Act of 1948 (33 U.S.C. 701s):

(1) BLUE RIVER AND BROCK CREEK, SALEM, INDIANA.—A project for flood control, West Fork of the Blue River and Brock Creek, Salem, Indiana.

(2) WHITE RIVER, ELNORA, INDIANA.—A project for flood control, White River, Elnora, Indiana.

(4) WHITE RIVER, PETERSBURG, INDIANA.—A project for flood control, White River, Petersburg, Indiana.

(5) WABASH RIVER, KNOX COUNTY, INDIANA.—A project for flood control Wabash River, Knox County, Indiana.

(6) RED RIVER AT GRAND MARAIS OUTLET, MINNESOTA.—A project for flood control, Red River at Grand Marais Outlet, Minnesota.

(7) SULLIVAN RUN CREEK, BUTLER, PENNSYLVANIA.—A project for flood control, Sullivan Run Creek, Butler, Pennsylvania. The non-Federal share of the cost of the project shall be determined in accordance with section 103(m) of the Water Resources Development Act of 1986.

(8) LITTLE FOSSIL CREEK, TEXAS.—A project for flood control, Little Fossil Creek, Tarrant County, Texas.

(9) TURPENTINE RUN, ST. THOMAS, VIRGIN ISLANDS.—A project for flood control, Turpentine Run, St. Thomas, Virgin Islands.

(b) ST. PETERS, ST. CHARLES COUNTY, MISSOURI.—

(1) MAXIMUM ALLOTMENT.—The maximum amount which may be allotted under section 205 of the Flood Control Act of 1948 (33 U.S.C. 701s) for the project for flood control, St. Peters, St. Charles County, Missouri, shall be $10,000,000 instead of $5,000,000. The Secretary shall revise the local cooperation agreement for such project entered into under section 221 of the Flood Control Act of 1970 to conform with the increase under this paragraph in the Federal participation in such project.

(2) COST SHARING.—Nothing in this subsection shall be construed as affecting any cost sharing requirements applicable to the project under the Water Resources Development Act of 1986.

SEC. 106. SONOMA BAYLANDS WETLAND DEMONSTRATION PROJECT.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary is directed to develop and carry out in accordance with this section a 320-acre Sonoma Baylands wetland demonstration project in the San Francisco Bay-Delta estuary, California. The project shall utilize dredged material suitable for aquatic disposal to restore, protect, and expand the Sonoma Baylands for the purposes of preserving waterfowl, fish, and other wetland dependent species of plants and animals and to provide flood control, water quality improvement, and sedimentation control.

(b) ADDITIONAL PROJECT PURPOSES.—In addition to the purposes described in subsection (a), the purposes of the project under this section are to restore tidal wetlands, provide habitat for endangered species, expand the feeding and nesting areas for waterfowl along the Pacific flyway, and demonstrate the use of suitable dredged material as a resource, facilitating the completion of San Francisco Bay Area dredging projects in an environmentally sound manner.

(c) PLAN.—

(1) GENERAL REQUIREMENT.—The Secretary, in cooperation with appropriate Federal and State agencies, and in accordance with applicable Federal and State environmental laws, shall develop in accordance with this subsection a plan for implementation of the Sonoma Baylands project.

(2) CONTENTS.—The plan shall include initial design and engineering, construction, general implementation, and site monitoring.

(3) PHASES.—

(A) FIRST PHASE.—The first phase of the plan for final design and engineering shall be completed not later than the last day of the 6-month period beginning on the date of the enactment of this Act.

(B) SECOND PHASE.—The second phase of the plan, including construction of on-site improvements, shall be completed not later than the last day of the 10-month period beginning on the date of the enactment of this Act.

(C) THIRD PHASE.—The third phase of the plan, including dredging, transportation, and placement of material, shall be started not later than July 1, 1994.

(D) FINAL PHASE.—The final phase of the plan shall include monitoring of project success and function and remediation if necessary.

(d) NON-FEDERAL PARTICIPATION.—

(1) NON-FEDERAL SHARE.—The non-Federal share of the cost of developing and carrying out the project under this section shall be 25 percent.

(2) LANDS EASEMENTS AND RIGHTS-OF-WAY.—Subject to paragraph (1), non-Federal interests shall provide lands, easements, and rights-of-way necessary to carry out the project the value of which shall be credited toward the non-Federal share.

(e) REPORTS TO CONGRESS.—Not later than the last day of each of the time periods referred to in subsection (c)(3), the Secretary shall report to Congress on the progress being made toward development and implementation of the project under this section.

(f) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There is authorized to be appropriated $15,000,000 for carrying out this section for fiscal years beginning after September 30, 1992. Such sums shall remain available until expended.

SEC. 107. UPPER MISSISSIPPI RIVER PLAN.

(1) in paragraph (2) by striking "ten" each place it appears and inserting "15";

(2) by redesignating paragraphs (6) and (7) as paragraphs (7) and (8), respectively; and

(3) by inserting after paragraph (5) the following new paragraph:

"(6) TRANSFER OF AMOUNTS.—

"(A) GENERAL RULE.—Subject to subparagraph (B), for each fiscal year beginning after September 30, 1992, the Secretary, in consultation with the Secretary of the Interior, and the States of Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri, and Wisconsin, may transfer not to exceed 20 percent of the amount appropriated to carry out each of subparagraphs (A), (B), and (C) of paragraph (1) to carry out any other of such subparagraphs.

"(i) to carry out paragraph (1)(A) may not exceed $189,600,000;

"(ii) to carry out paragraph (1)(B) may not exceed $78,800,000; and

"(iii) to carry out paragraph (1)(C) may not exceed $12,040,000.".

(b) FISH AND WILDLIFE HABITAT REHABILITATION AND ENHANCEMENT PROJECTS.—Section 1103(e) of such Act is amended by striking paragraph (7)(A), as redesignated by subsection (a)(2), and inserting the following new paragraph:

"(7)(A) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (a)(2) of this section, the costs of each project carried out pursuant to paragraph (1)(A) of this subsection shall be allocated between the Secretary and the appropriate non-Federal sponsor in accordance with the provisions of section 906(e) of this Act; except that the costs of operation and maintenance of projects located on Federal lands or lands owned or operated by a State or local government shall be borne by the Federal, State, or local agency that is responsible for management activities for fish and wildlife on such lands.".

SEC. 108. QUARANTINE FACILITY.

(a) CONSTRUCTION.—The Secretary, in consultation with the Governor of Florida, shall construct a research and quarantine facility in Broward County, Florida, to be used in connection with efforts to control Melaleuca and other exotic plant species that threaten native ecosystems in the State of Florida.

(b) OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE.—After construction, the Secretary shall transfer the facility constructed under this section to the Secretary of Agriculture. The facility shall be jointly maintained and operated by the Department of Agriculture and an appropriate agency or agencies of the State of Florida.

(c) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There is authorized to be appropriated for fiscal years beginning after September 30, 1992, $1,000,000 for the construction of the facility described in subsection (a). Such sums shall remain available until expended.

SEC. 109. COLUMBIA, SNAKE, AND CLEARWATER RIVERS.

(a) DREDGING.—The Secretary is authorized to maintain navigation access to, and berthing areas at, all currently operating public and private commercial dock facilities associated with or having access to the Federal navigation project on the Columbia, Snake, and Clearwater Rivers from Bonneville Dam to and including Lewiston, Idaho, at a depth commensurate with the Federal navigation project.

(b) EXEMPTION FROM LIABILITY.—The Federal Government is exempted from any liability for damages to public and private facilities resulting from work performed under this section, including any damages to docks adjacent to the access channel and berthing areas.

SEC. 110. OUTER HARBOR, BUFFALO, NEW YORK.

The Secretary may construct such bulkheads along the Outer Harbor, Buffalo, New York, as may be necessary to protect the shoreline and reduce the flow of pollutants into Lake Erie.

SEC. 111. SMALL STREAMBANK CONTROL PROJECT, WALNUT CANYON CREEK, CALIFORNIA.

The Secretary shall conduct a study for a streambank and shoreline protection project for Walnut Canyon Creek, Anaheim, California, and, if the Secretary determines that the project is feasible, shall carry out such project under section 14 of the Flood Control Act of 1946 (33 U.S.C. 701r). The project shall be carried out in accordance with the locally preferred plan, and the non-Federal sponsor shall provide 100 percent of any costs incurred in carrying out the project which are in excess of the costs which would have been incurred in carrying out the project in accordance with the National Economic Development Plan developed by the Secretary.

SEC. 112. MONTGOMERY POINT LOCK AND DAM, ARKANSAS.

The Secretary shall proceed expeditiously with design, land acquisition, and construction of the Montgomery Point Lock and Dam on the White River, Arkansas, authorized as part of the McClellan-Kerr Waterway by section 10 of the River and Harbor Act of December 22, 1944 (58 Stat. 895).

SEC. 113. MAJOR REHABILITATION.

The costs of major rehabilitation of the following projects are to be paid ½ from amounts appropriated from the general fund of the Treasury and ½ from amounts appropriated from the Inland Waterways Trust Fund:

(1) Brandon Road Lock, Dresden Lock, Marseille Lock, and Lockport Lock, Illinois Waterway, Illinois, authorized by the River and Harbor Act of 1930 at an estimated cost of $32,700,000.

(2) Lock and dam number 13, Mississippi River, Illinois, authorized by the River and Harbor Act of 1930 at an estimated cost of $21,280,000.

(3) Locks and dam number 15, Mississippi River, Illinois, authorized by the River and Harbor Act of 1930 at an estimated cost of $19,180,000.

SEC. 114. STUDIES.

(a) CENTRAL BASIN GROUND WATER PROJECT, CALIFORNIA.—The Secretary, in cooperation with the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, is authorized to conduct a study for the purpose of determining whether there is contaminated ground water flowing downstream from the San Gabriel Valley Ground Water Basin to the Central Ground Water Basin in California through existing Federal facilities at Whittier Narrows Dam, Los Angeles County, California.

(b) SANTA PAULA CREEK, CALIFORNIA.—Not later than 1 year after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall complete the general reevaluation study for the project for flood control, Santa Paula Creek, California, authorized by the Flood Control Act of 1948 (62 Stat. 1175–1182) and transmit to Congress a report on the results of such study.

(c) SUCCESS RESERVOIR, TULE RIVER, CALIFORNIA.—Not later than May 31, 1994, the Secretary shall complete and transmit to Congress a feasibility study for enlargement of the flood control project for the Success Reservoir, on the Tule River, California, authorized by section 10 of the Act entitled "An Act authorizing the construction of certain public works on rivers and harbors for flood control, and for other purposes", approved December 22, 1944 (58 Stat. 901). The study shall include a review of the need for, and desirability of, construction of an upstream toe berm for reservoir embankment stability. The non-Federal share of the enlargement of the project shall be determined in accordance with section 903(c) of the Water Resources Development Act of 1986.

(d) DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA AND MARYLAND.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall, as part of the ongoing review of the Anacostia River Watershed in the District of Columbia and Maryland—

(A) carry out a comprehensive assessment of adverse impacts to such watershed from Federal facilities;

(B) review current plans for reducing such adverse impacts; and

(C) carry out a feasibility study to identify and recommend measures for implementation to eliminate such adverse impacts.

(2) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There is authorized to be appropriated to carry out this subsection $3,000,000 for fiscal years beginning after September 30, 1992. Such sums shall remain available until expended.

(e) CANAVERAL HARBOR, FLORIDA.—The Secretary shall expeditiously complete the General Design Memorandum for the sand transfer portion of the navigation project for Canaveral Harbor, Florida, authorized by section 101 of the River and Harbor Act of 1962 (76 Stat. 1174).

(f) TAMPA HARBOR, ALAFIA RIVER AND BIG BEND, FLORIDA.—The Secretary shall complete in an expeditious manner that portion of the navigation study for Tampa Harbor, Alafia River and Big Bend, Florida, relating to the Alafia River. The Secretary may accept contributions from non-Federal sponsors to cover costs incurred by the Secretary in carrying out such portion of such study.

(g) CEDAR RIVER AND TRIBUTARIES, BLACKHAWK, IOWA.—The Secretary shall complete the feasibility study for Cedar River and tributaries, Blackhawk, Iowa, not later than the last day of the 18-month period beginning on the date of the enactment of this Act.

(h) PORT FOURCHON NAVIGATION CHANNEL, LOUISIANA.—The Secretary shall complete the study for Federal maintenance of the Port Fourchon Navigation Channel, Louisiana, not later than the last day of the 12-month period beginning on the date of the enactment of this Act.

(i) BROCKTON, MASSACHUSETTS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary, in consultation with the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, shall conduct a study of—

(A) the water supply, distribution, and transmission needs of the city of Brockton, Massachusetts, for the purpose of developing recommendations for Federal participation in meeting such needs;

(B) the economic, engineering, and environmental feasibility of providing additional water supply for Brockton, Massachusetts, and vicinity in the Taunton River Basin with a view toward providing for future regional increase in municipal and industrial water demands; and

(C) the water quality and quantity and related land resources of the Taunton River for the purpose of developing a detailed survey and evaluation of existing and future uses of the resources.

(2) REPORT.—Not later than 1 year after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall transmit to Congress a report on the results of the study conducted under paragraph (1). The report must include, at a minimum, a recommendation for the best location of a reservoir for water supply storage on the Taunton River as well as a treatment plant and a recommendation for a route for piping the water from the treatment plant to Brown's Crossing and to Brockton.

(j) HAVERHILL, MASSACHUSETTS.—

(1) STUDY.—The Secretary shall conduct a study on proposed uses of the seawall located in Haverhill, Massachusetts.

(2) REPORT.—Not later than 2 years after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall transmit to Congress a report on the results of the study conducted under this subsection.

(k) GRAND MARAIS HARBOR, MICHIGAN.—Not later than 18 months after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall conduct an economic reevaluation of proposed improvements at Grand Marais Harbor, Michigan.

(l) YAZOO BASIN, MISSISSIPPI.—

(1) REVIEW AND EVALUATION.—The Secretary shall conduct a review and evaluation of the recreational master plan for Yazoo Basin, Mississippi.

(2) PURPOSE.—The purpose of the review and evaluation to be conducted under paragraph (1) is to develop recommendations for Federal and non-Federal participation in the master plan referred to in paragraph (1).

(3) REPORT.—Not later than 1 year after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall transmit to the Committee on Public Works and Transportation of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Environment and Public Works of the Senate a report on the results of the review and evaluation to be conducted under this subsection.

(m) RAMAPO RIVER AT OAKLAND, NEW JERSEY.—The Secretary shall conduct a study of the project for flood control, Ramapo River, Oakland, New Jersey, authorized by section 401(a) of the Water Resources Development Act of 1986 (100 Stat. 4120), for the purpose of determining the feasibility of modifying the project to include realignment of the Ramapo River channel modification through Potash Lake, replacement of the Pompton Lake Dam bascule flood gates with taintor gates, and provision of a 40-year level of flood protection.

(n) LITTLE RIVER, NIAGARA FALLS, NEW YORK.—The Secretary shall complete the feasibility study for Little River, City of Niagara Falls, New York, not later than the last day of the 18-month period beginning on the date of the enactment of this Act.

(o) STRAWBERRY ISLAND, NEW YORK.—

(1) COMPLETION OF STUDY.—The Secretary shall complete the feasibility study of shoreline protection for Strawberry Island, New York, not later than the last day of the 18-month period beginning on the date of the enactment of this Act.

(2) INTERIM EMERGENCY MEASURES.—Pending completion of the study of shoreline protection for Strawberry Island, New York, the Secretary shall undertake such emergency measures as may be necessary to provide shoreline protection for Strawberry Island.

(p) WISTER LAKE, OKLAHOMA.—

(1) STUDY.—The Secretary shall complete a study of the flood control project for Wister Lake, LeFlore County, Oklahoma, authorized by section 4 of the Flood Control Act of June 28, 1938 (52 Stat. 1218), for the purpose of determining the feasibility of modifying the project to increase the level of the conservation pool by 1 foot and to adjust the seasonal pool operation to accommodate the change in the conservation pool elevation.

(2) REPORT.—Not later than 1 year after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall transmit to Congress a report on the results of study conducted under paragraph (1).

(q) SALMON HARBOR, OREGON.—The Federal share of the cost of completion of the study for mitigation of shoreline damage attributable to the Federal navigation project at Salmon Harbor, Oregon, authorized by section 111 of the River and Harbor Act of 1968 (82 Stat. 735), shall be 100 percent.

(r) HAMPTON AND POQUOSON, VIRGINIA.—

(1) STUDY.—The Secretary shall conduct independent studies to determine the Federal interest in and feasibility of providing improvements to the Chesapeake Bay shoreline in the cities of Hampton and Poquoson, Virginia, for environmental protection and enhancement, and protection against high tides and wave action as a result of hurricane and other storm events.

(2) REPORT.—The Secretary shall submit to Congress a report on the results of the studies conducted under this subsection together with a plan of action which the Secretary recommends and an estimate of the cost of implementing such plan.

(s) CORPUS CHRISTI SHIP CHANNEL, TEXAS.—The Secretary shall conduct a study of the project for navigation, Corpus Christi Ship Channel, Texas, authorized by section 101 of the River and Harbor Act of 1958 (72 Stat. 298), for the purpose of determining the feasibility of modifying the project to include maintenance of the Jewel Fulton Canal at a depth of 17 feet as a Federal responsibility.

(t) TUG VALLEY GREENWAY, WEST VIRGINIA.—

(1) STUDY.—The Secretary is directed to conduct a study to determine the feasibility of establishing a "Tug Valley Greenway", in relation to those projects along the Tug Fork River in West Virginia authorized by section 202 of Public Law 96–367, for the purpose of utilizing the river environment for public recreation opportunities. Specific consideration shall be given in the study to providing for hiking trails, fishing access points, bike paths, and scenic overlooks.

(2) CONSULTATION.—In conducting the study under this subsection, the Secretary shall consult with interested State and local government authorities and nonprofit organizations.

(3) REPORT.—Not later than 1 year after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall transmit to Congress a report on the results of the study conducted under this subsection.

SEC. 115. CONTINUATION OF AUTHORIZATION OF CERTAIN PROJECTS AND STUDIES.

(a) GENERAL RULE FOR PROJECTS.—Notwithstanding section 1001 of the Water Resources Development Act of 1986, the following projects shall remain authorized to be carried out by the Secretary:

(1) GREEN BAY LEVEE DISTRICT, IOWA.—The project for flood control, Green Bay Levee District, Iowa, authorized by section 401(a) of the Water Resources Development Act of 1986 (100 Stat. 4115).

(2) LAKE PONTCHARTRAIN, NORTH SHORE, LOUISIANA.—The project for beach erosion control, navigation, and recreation, Lake Pontchartrain, North Shore, Louisiana, authorized by section 601 of the Water Resources Development Act of 1986 (100 Stat. 4142).

(3) ST. JOHNS BAYOU AND NEW MADRID FLOODWAY, MISSOURI.—The project for flood control, St. Johns Bayou and New Madrid Floodway, Missouri, authorized by section 401(a) of the Water Resources Development Act of 1986 (100 Stat. 4118).

(4) DEAL LAKE, MONMOUTH COUNTY, NEW JERSEY.—The project for removal of silt and stumps and the control of pollution from nonpoint sources, Deal Lake, Monmouth County, New Jersey, authorized by section 602 of the Water Resources Development Act of 1986 (100 Stat. 4148–4149).

(5) TYRONE, PENNSYLVANIA.—The project for flood protection, Tyrone, Pennsylvania, on the Little Juniata River authorized by section 10 of the Flood Control Act of December 23, 1944 (58 Stat. 893). The Secretary shall examine lower cost alternative measures for providing flood protection for Tyrone, Pennsylvania, and submit to Congress a report on the results of such examination not later than April 1, 1994.

(6) BIG PINE LAKE, TEXAS.—The project for flood control, Big Pine Lake, Texas, authorized by section 203 of the Flood Control Act of 1962 (76 Stat. 1186).

(b) LIMITATION.—A project described in subsection (a) shall not be authorized for construction after the last day of the 5-year period that begins on the date of the enactment of this Act unless, during such period, funds have been obligated for the construction (including planning and design) of the project.

SEC. 116. PROJECT DEAUTHORIZATIONS.

The following projects are not authorized after the date of the enactment of this Act:

Beginning at a bend in the Federal navigation channel whose coordinates are N. 370950.51, E. 642621.79, running thence in a southwesterly direction about 200 feet to a point whose coordinates are N. 370766.64, E. 642543.09, running thence in a southerly direction about 270.10 feet to a point whose coordinates are N. 370500.00, E. 642500.00.

(2) BOSTON INNER HARBOR CHANNEL, MASSACHUSETTS.—The following 305,340-square-foot portion of the 35-foot channel in Boston Inner Harbor lying easterly of the Charlestown waterfront and westerly of the 40-foot main ship channel, authorized by the River and Harbor Act of June 13, 1902:

Commencing at a point of the intersection of the 35-foot channel line and the westerly 40-foot main ship channel line in Boston Harbor, said point being opposite the east face of Pier 11, Charlestown, Massachusetts; thence running south 10 degrees 17 minutes 15 seconds east 323.54 feet to a point; thence turning and running south 15 degrees 21 minutes 11 seconds west 1,785.75 feet to a point, said last two courses being along the westerly 40-foot main ship channel line; thence turning and running south 65 degrees 18 minutes 42 seconds west 573.52 feet to a point at the bend in the existing westerly 35-foot channel line southeasterly of Pier 4 at Charlestown, Massachusetts; thence turning and running north 50 degrees 11 minutes 25 seconds east 523.55 feet to a point; thence turning and running north 15 degrees 21 minutes 11 seconds east 2,016.68 feet to a point of beginning, said last two courses being along the westerly 35-foot channel line.

(3) NEWBURYPORT, MASSACHUSETTS.—The following portion of the project for navigation, Newburyport Harbor, Massachusetts, authorized by the River and Harbor Act of 1910 (36 Stat. 632):

Commencing at a point north 661793.19 east 768152.83 a line running: north 39 degrees 07 minutes 47 seconds east 227.04 feet to a point north 661969.31 east 768296.11 thence turning and running, south 68 degrees 53 minutes 36 seconds east 2402.44 feet to a point north 661104.18 east 770537.38 thence turning and running, north 84 degrees 27 minutes 35 seconds east 1325.37 feet to a point north 661232.14 east 771856.55 thence turning and running, south 54 degrees 05 minutes 43 seconds west 327.30 feet to a point north 661040.20 east 771591.44 thence turning and running, south 25 degrees 40 minutes 37 seconds west 579.02 feet to a point north 660518.31 east 771340.53 thence turning and running, north 67 degrees 15 minutes 59 seconds west 1791.61 feet to a point north 661210.67 east 769688.11 thence turning and running, north 77 degrees 45 minutes 23 seconds west 1187.30 feet to a point north 661462.46 east 768527.82 thence turning and running, north 48 degrees 35 minutes 19 seconds west 500.00 feet returning to a point north 661793.19 east 768152.83.

(4) GREILICKVILLE, MICHIGAN.—The following portion of the navigation project for Greilickville, Michigan, authorized by section 101 of the River and Harbor Act of 1948 (62 Stat. 1173):

Beginning at the northwest corner of the turning basin, Federal navigation project, Grielickville Harbor, Leelanau County, Michigan, having a northing of 1,199,300 and an easting of 529,501 (Michigan Transverse Mercator, Central Zone, NAD 27) and being depicted on the Department of the Army, Detroit District Corps of Engineers Condition of Channel, sheet 1 of 1, dated March 1991; thence 77 degrees 18 minutes 20.4 seconds a distance of 250.7 feet, thence 167 degrees 18 minutes 20.4 seconds a distance of 175 feet, thence 94 degrees 12 minutes 39.2 seconds a distance of 222.8 feet, thence 167 degrees 36 minutes 07.2 seconds a distance of 600 feet, thence 303 degrees 41 minutes 24.2 seconds a distance of 57.7 feet, thence 257 degrees 22 minutes 57.6 seconds a distance of 421.2 feet, thence 347 degrees 19 minutes 23.2 seconds a distance of 797.4 feet to the point of beginning, containing 7.48 acres more or less.

(5) SOUTH HAVEN HARBOR, MICHIGAN.—The following portion of the navigation project for South Haven Harbor, Michigan, authorized by the first section of the Act entitled "An Act authorizing the construction, repair, and prevention of certain public works on rivers and harbors, and for other purposes", approved August 30, 1935 (49 Stat. 1036):

Beginning at the southwest corner of the turning basin, Federal navigation project, South Haven, Van Buren County, Michigan, having a northing of 330,253.86 and an easting of 358,150.44 (Michigan Transverse Mercator, East Zone, NAD 27) and being depicted on the Department of the Army, Detroit District, Corps of Engineers, condition of channel sheet 2 of 2 dated February 1992; thence north 22 degrees 27 minutes 11 seconds east, along the westerly boundary, a distance of 412.51 feet, thence north 70 degrees 45 minutes 39 seconds east, a distance of 41.91 feet, thence south 61 degrees 05 minutes 08 seconds east, a distance of 325.77 feet, thence south 87 degrees 33 minutes 26 seconds east, a distance of 39.89 feet, thence south 43 degrees 25 minutes 55 seconds west, a distance of 110.35 feet, thence south 70 degrees 45 minutes 56 seconds west, a distance of 472.65 to the point of beginning (containing 2.19 acres, more or less).

SEC. 117. DEAUTHORIZATION OF A PORTION OF THE CANAVERAL HARBOR, FLORIDA, PROJECT.

Section 1080 of the Intermodel Surface Transportation Efficiency Act of 1991 (105 Stat. 2020) is amended by inserting "thence north 00°-18′-51″ west, a distance of 764.43 feet;" after "551.30 feet;".

SEC. 118. NAMINGS.

(a) LOCK AND DAM 3, ARKANSAS RIVER, ARKANSAS.—

(1) DESIGNATION.—Lock and dam numbered 3 on the Arkansas River, Arkansas, constructed as part of the project for navigation on the Arkansas River and tributaries, shall be known and designated as the "Joe Hardin Lock and Dam."

(2) LEGAL REFERENCES.—A reference in any law, regulation, document, record, map, or other paper of the United States to the lock and dam referred to in paragraph (1) shall be deemed to be a reference to the "Joe Hardin Lock and Dam".

(b) GREERS FERRY LAKE VISITORS CENTER, ARKANSAS.—

(1) DESIGNATION.—The visitors center at Greers Ferry Lake, Arkansas, authorized by section 4 of the Act of June 28, 1938 (52 Stat. 2218), shall be known and designated as the "William Carl Garner Visitors Center".

(2) LEGAL REFERENCES.—A reference in any law, regulation, document, record, map, or other paper of the United States to the visitors center referred to in paragraph (1) shall be deemed to be a reference to the "William Carl Garner Visitors Center".

(c) JOHN PAUL HAMMERSCHMIDT LAKE, ARKANSAS.—

(1) DESIGNATION.—The reservoir created by the James W. Trimble Lock and Dam on the Arkansas River, Arkansas, constructed as part of the project for navigation on the Arkansas River and tributaries, shall be known and designated as the "John Paul Hammerschmidt Lake".

(2) LEGAL REFERENCES.—A reference in any law, regulation, document, record, map, or other paper of the United States to the lake referred to in paragraph (1) shall be deemed to be a reference to the "John Paul Hammerschmidt Lake".

(d) RED RIVER WATERWAY, LOUISIANA.—

(1) DESIGNATION.—The lock numbered 5 on the Red River Waterway, Louisiana, is designated as the "Joe D. Waggonner, Jr. Lock".

(2) LEGAL REFERENCES.—A reference in any law, regulation, document, map, or other paper of the United States to the lock referred to in paragraph (1) shall be deemed to be a reference to the "Joe D. Waggonner, Jr. Lock".

(e) PASSAIC RIVER STREAMBANK AREA, NEW JERSEY.—

(1) DESIGNATION.—The area for which environmental and other streambank restoration measures are authorized by section 101(a)(18)(B) of the Water Resources Development Act of 1990, relating to the project for flood control, Passaic River Mainstem, New Jersey and New York, shall hereafter be known and designated as the "Joseph G. Minish Passaic River Waterfront Park and Historic Area".

(2) LEGAL REFERENCES.—A reference in any law, regulation, document, record, map, or other paper of the United States to the area referred to in paragraph (1) shall be deemed to be a reference to the "Joseph G. Minish Passaic River Waterfront Park and Historic Area".

(f) BUENA VISTA FLOOD CONTROL PROJECT, VIRGINIA.—

(1) DESIGNATION.—The project for flood control, Buena Vista, Virginia, authorized by section 101(a)(24) of the Water Resources Development of 1990 (104 Stat. 4610), shall hereafter be known and designated as the "James R. Olin Flood Control Project".

(2) LEGAL REFERENCES.—A reference in any law, regulation, document, record, map, or other paper of the United States to the flood control project referred to in paragraph (1) shall be deemed to be a reference to the "James R. Olin Flood Control Project".

(3) PLAQUE.—The Secretary is authorized to install in an appropriate place a plaque to identify the flood control project referred to in paragraph (1) as the "James R. Olin Flood Control Project".

(g) GALLIPOLIS LOCKS AND DAM, OHIO RIVER, OHIO AND WEST VIRGINIA.—

(1) DESIGNATION.—The Gallipolis Locks and Dam, Ohio River, Ohio and West Virginia, authorized by section 301(a) of the Water Resources Development Act of 1986 (100 Stat. 4110), shall hereafter be known and designated as the "Robert C. Byrd Locks and Dam".

(2) LEGAL REFERENCES.—A reference in any law, regulation, document, record, map, or other paper of the United States to the locks and dam referred to in paragraph (1) shall be deemed to be a reference to the "Robert C. Byrd Locks and Dam".

(h) MILL CREEK RESERVOIR, WASHINGTON.—

(1) DESIGNATION.—The Mill Creek Reservoir, authorized by section 4 of the River and Harbor Act of June 28, 1938 (52 Stat. 1222), shall hereafter be known and designated as the "Virgil B. Bennington Lake".

TITLE II—GENERALLY APPLICABLE PROVISIONS

SEC. 201. ABILITY TO PAY.

(a) GENERAL RULE.—Section 103(m) of the Water Resources Development Act of 1986 (33 U.S.C. 2213(m)) is amended to read as follows:

"(m) ABILITY TO PAY.—Any cost-sharing agreement under this section for flood control or agricultural water supply shall be subject to the ability of a non-Federal interest to pay. The ability of any non-Federal interest to pay shall be determined by the Secretary in accordance with procedures established by the Secretary.".

(b) REVIEW OF REGULATIONS.—The Secretary shall review regulations on ability to pay contained in part 241 of title 33, Code of Federal Regulations, published in the Federal Register, Volume 56, Number 114, on June 13, 1991, in light of locally prevailing conditions such as those associated with the projects listed in subsection (c) and shall amend the regulations to the extent that the Secretary determines necessary to more appropriately take into account locally prevailing conditions which would limit the ability of local interest to participate as non-Federal project sponsors in accordance with established cost-sharing formulas.

(c) PROJECTS.—The projects referred to in subsection (b) are as follows:

(1) FEATHER CREEK, CLINTON, INDIANA.—The project for flood control, Feather Creek, Clinton, Indiana, being carried out under section 205 of the Flood Control Act of 1948 (33 U.S.C. 701(s)).

(2) PERRY CREEK, SIOUX CITY, IOWA.—The project for flood control, Perry Creek, Sioux

(3) ALOHA-RIGOLETTE, LOUISIANA.—The project for flood control, Aloha-Rigolette, Louisiana, authorized by section 101(a)(12) of the Water Resources Development Act of 1990 (104 Stat. 4607).

(4) ST. JOHNS BAYOU AND NEW MADRID FLOODWAY, MISSOURI.—The project for flood control, St. Johns Bayou and New Madrid Floodway, Missouri, authorized by section 401(a) of the Water Resources Development Act of 1986 (100 Stat. 4118).

(5) STE. GENEVIEVE, MISSOURI.—The project for flood control, Ste. Genevieve, Missouri, authorized by section 401(a) of the Water Resources Development Act of 1986 (100 Stat. 4118).

SEC. 202. PROJECTS FOR IMPROVEMENTS OF THE ENVIRONMENT.

Section 1135 of the Water Resources Development Act of 1986 (33 U.S.C. 2309a; 100 Stat. 4251–4252) is amended—

(1) by inserting at the end of subsection (b) the following new sentence: "No modification shall be carried out under this section without specific authorization by Congress if the estimated cost exceeds $5,000,000."; and

(2) in subsection (e) by striking "$15,000,000" and inserting "$25,000,000".

SEC. 203. VOLUNTARY CONTRIBUTIONS FOR ENVIRONMENTAL AND RECREATION PROJECTS.

(a) ACCEPTANCE.—In connection with carrying out a water resources project for environmental protection and restoration or a water resources project for recreation, the Secretary is authorized to accept contributions of cash, funds, materials, and services from persons, including governmental entities but excluding the project sponsor.

(b) DEPOSIT.—Any cash or funds received by the Secretary under subsection (a) shall be deposited into the account in the Treasury of the United States entitled "Contributions and Advances, Rivers and Harbors, Corps of Engineers (8662)" and shall be available until expended to carry out water resources projects described in subsection (a).

SEC. 204. BENEFICIAL USES OF DREDGED MATERIAL.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary is authorized to carry out projects for the protection, restoration, and creation of aquatic and ecologically related habitats, including wetlands, in connection with dredging for construction, operation, or maintenance by the Secretary of an authorized navigation project.

(b) SECRETARIAL FINDINGS.—Subject to subsection (c) of this section, projects for the protection, restoration, or creation of aquatic and ecologically related habitats may be undertaken in any case where the Secretary finds that—

(1) the environmental, economic, and social benefits of the project, both monetary and nonmonetary, justify the cost thereof; and

(2) the project would not result in environmental degradation.

(c) COOPERATIVE AGREEMENT.—Any project undertaken pursuant to this section shall be initiated only after non-Federal interests have entered into a cooperative agreement in accordance with the requirements of section 221 of the Flood Control Act of 1970 in which the non-Federal interests agree to—

(1) provide 25 percent of the cost associated with construction of the project for the protection, restoration, and creation of aquatic and ecologically related habitats, including provision of all lands, easements, rights-of-way, and necessary relocations; and

(2) pay 100 percent of the operation, maintenance, replacement, and rehabilitation costs associated with the project for the protection, restoration, and creation of aquatic and ecologically related habitats.

(d) DETERMINATION OF CONSTRUCTION COSTS.—Costs associated with construction of a project for the protection, restoration, and creation of aquatic and ecologically related habitats shall be limited solely to construction costs which are in excess of those costs necessary to carry out the dredging for construction, operation, or maintenance of the authorized navigation project in the most cost effective way, consistent with economic, engineering, and environmental criteria.

(e) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There is authorized to be appropriated not to exceed $15,000,000 annually to carry out this section. Such sums shall remain available until expended.

SEC. 205. DEFINITION OF REHABILITATION FOR INLAND WATERWAY PROJECTS.

For purposes of laws relating to navigation on inland and intracoastal waterways of the United States, the term "rehabilitation" means—

(1) major project feature restoration—

(A) which consists of structural work on an inland navigation facility operated and maintained by the Corps of Engineers;

(B) which will significantly extend the physical life of the feature;

(C) which is economically justified by a benefit-cost analysis;

(D) which will take at least 2 years to complete; and

(E)(i) which is initially funded before October 1, 1994, and will require at least $5,000,000 in capital outlays; or

(ii) which is initially funded on or after such date and will require at least $8,000,000 in capital outlays; and

(2) structural modification of a major project component (not exhibiting reliability problems)—

(A) which will enhance the operational efficiency of such component or any other major component of the project by increasing benefits beyond the original project design; and

(B) which will require at least $1,000,000 in capital outlays.

Such term does not include routine or deferred maintenance. The dollar amounts referred to in paragraphs (1) and (2) shall be adjusted annually according to the economic assumption published each year as guidance in the Annual Program and Budget Request for Civil Works Activities of the Corps of Engineers.

SEC. 206. CONSTRUCTION OF SHORELINE PROTECTION PROJECTS BY NON-FEDERAL INTERESTS.

(a) AUTHORITY.—Non-Federal interests are authorized to undertake shoreline protection projects on the coastline of the United States, subject to obtaining any permits required pursuant to Federal and State laws in advance of actual construction.

(b) STUDIES AND ENGINEERING.—

(1) BY NON-FEDERAL INTERESTS.—A non-Federal interest may prepare, for review and approval by the Secretary, the necessary studies and engineering for any construction to be undertaken under subsection (a).

(2) BY SECRETARY.—Upon request of an appropriate non-Federal interest, the Secretary may undertake all necessary studies and engineering for any construction to be undertaken under subsection (a) and provide technical assistance in obtaining all necessary permits for such construction if the non-Federal interest contracts with the Secretary to furnish the United States funds for the studies and engineering during the period that the studies and engineering will be conducted.

(c) COMPLETION OF STUDIES.—The Secretary is authorized to complete and transmit to the appropriate non-Federal interests any study for shoreline protection which was initiated before the date of the enactment of this Act or, upon the request of such non-Federal interest, to terminate the study and transmit the partially completed study to the non-Federal interest for completion. Studies subject to this subsection shall be completed without regard to the requirements of subsection (b).

(d) AUTHORITY TO CARRY OUT IMPROVEMENT.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Any non-Federal interest which has received from the Secretary pursuant to subsection (b) or (c) a favorable recommendation to carry out a shoreline protection project or separable element thereof, based on the results of completed studies and engineering for the project or element, may carry out the project or element if a final environmental impact statement has been filed for the project or element.

(2) PERMITS.—Any plan of improvement proposed to be implemented in accordance with this subsection shall be deemed to satisfy the requirements for obtaining the appropriate permits required under the Secretary's authority and such permits shall be granted subject to the non-Federal interest's acceptance of the terms and conditions of such permits if the Secretary determines that the applicable regulatory criteria and procedures have been satisfied.

(3) MONITORING.—The Secretary shall monitor any project for which permits are granted under this subsection in order to ensure that such project is constructed (and, in those cases where such activities will not be the responsibility of the Secretary, operated and maintained) in accordance with the terms and conditions of such permits.

(e) REIMBURSEMENT.—

(1) GENERAL RULE.—Subject to the enactment of appropriation Acts, the Secretary is authorized to reimburse any non-Federal interest an amount equal to the estimate of the Federal share, without interest, of the cost of any authorized shoreline protection project, or separable element thereof, constructed under this section—

(A) if, after authorization and before initiation of construction of the project or separable element, the Secretary approves the plans for construction of such project by such non-Federal interest; and

(B) if the Secretary finds, after a review of studies and engineering prepared pursuant to this section, that construction of the project or separable element is economically justified and environmentally acceptable.

(2) MATTERS TO BE CONSIDERED IN REVIEWING PLANS.—In reviewing plans under this subsection, the Secretary shall consider budgetary and programmatic priorities and other factors that the Secretary deems appropriate.

(3) MONITORING.—The Secretary shall regularly monitor and audit any project for shore protection constructed under this section by a non-Federal interest in order to ensure that such construction is in compliance with the plans approved by the Secretary and that the costs are reasonable.

(4) LIMITATION ON REIMBURSEMENTS.—No reimbursement shall be made under this section unless and until the Secretary has certified that the work for which reimbursement is requested has been performed in accordance with applicable permits or approved plans.

SEC. 207. COST-SHARING FOR DISPOSAL OF DREDGED MATERIAL ON BEACHES.

Section 145 of the Water Resources Development Act of 1976 (33 U.S.C. 426j) is amended by striking the last sentence and inserting the following new sentences: "At the request of the State, the Secretary may enter into an agreement with a political subdivision of the State to place sand on the beaches of the political subdivision of the State under the same terms and conditions required in the first sentence of this section; except that the political subdivision shall be responsible for providing any payments required under such sentence in lieu of the State. In carrying out this section, the Secretary shall give consideration to the schedule of the State, or the schedule of the responsible political subdivision of the requesting State, for providing its share of funds for placing such sand on the beaches of the State or the political subdivision and shall, to the maximum extent practicable, accommodate such schedule.".

SEC. 208. FEES FOR DEVELOPMENT OF STATE WATER PLANS.

(1) in subsection (b) by redesignating paragraph (3) as paragraph (4) and by inserting after paragraph (2) the following new paragraph:

"(3) IN-KIND SERVICES.—Up to ½ of the non-Federal contribution for preparation of a plan subject to the cost sharing program under this subsection may be made by the provision of services, materials, supplies, or other in-kind services necessary to prepare the plan."; and

(2) in subsection (d) by inserting "Indian tribes," after "States of the United States,".

SEC. 209. DAM SAFETY PROGRAM EXTENSION.

(a) STATE SAFETY PROGRAMS.—The first sentence of section 7(a) of Public Law 92-367 (33 U.S.C. 467f(a)) is amended by striking "1992" and inserting "1994".

(b) STATE TRAINING PROGRAMS.—The second sentence of section 11 of Public Law 92-367 (33 U.S.C. 467j) is amended by striking "1992" and inserting "1994".

(c) RESEARCH PROGRAM.—The last sentence of section 12 of Public Law 92-367 (33 U.S.C. 467k) is amended by striking "1992" and inserting "1994".

(d) DAM INVENTORY.—The second sentence of section 13 of Public Law 92-367 is amended by striking "1992" and inserting "1994".

(e) MUSSERS DAM, MIDDLE CREEK, SNYDER COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary is authorized to provide planning, engineering and design, construction, technical, and other assistance to non-Federal interests for repair, reconstruction, replacement, or other modification to Mussers Dam, Middle Creek, Snyder County, Pennsylvania, in order to bring such dam into compliance with the safety requirements which the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission has determined to be necessary.

(2) COORDINATION.—The Secretary shall provide any assistance under paragraph (1) in coordination with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission and State and local interests.

(3) LIMITATION ON STATUTORY CONSTRUCTION.—Nothing in this subsection shall be construed as affecting or modifying—

(A) the obligations of non-Federal interests under the Federal Power Act or any license, permit, or exemption issued under such Act; or

(B) the duties and responsibilities of the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission under the Federal Power Act to require and enforce on a timely basis safety compliance with such Act and any license, permit, or exemption issued under such Act.

(4) FEDERAL SHARE.—The Federal share of the cost of repair, reconstruction, replacement, and other modification to Mussers Dam for the purpose described in paragraph (1) shall be 75 percent.

(5) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There is authorized to be appropriated to carry out this subsection $3,000,000 for fiscal years beginning after September 30, 1992. Such sums shall remain available until expended.

(f) BEAVER LAKE, ARKANSAS.—All costs incurred in carrying out the project to correct seepage problems at Beaver Lake, Arkansas, shall be treated as costs incurred for a dam safety project and shall be subject to cost sharing in accordance with section 1203 of the Water Resources Development Act of 1986.

SEC. 210. SAFETY AWARD AND PROMOTIONAL MATERIALS.

(a) PROMOTION OF SAFETY PROGRAM.—

(1) PROCUREMENT OF PROMOTIONAL MATERIALS.—The Secretary is authorized to procure materials that, in the judgment of the Secretary, are necessary to promote the Corps of Engineers safety program.

(2) DISTRIBUTION OF MATERIALS TO EMPLOYEES.—The items purchased pursuant to this subsection shall be distributed to employees of the Corps of Engineers to advance the goals of the safety program.

(b) EMPLOYEE RECOGNITION.—The Secretary is authorized to incur necessary expenses for the honorary recognition of the outstanding safety performance of employees of the Corps of Engineers. Such recognition may be in the form of certificates, plaques, cash, or other forms of awards.

(c) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There is authorized to be appropriated $350,000 for each fiscal year beginning after September 30, 1992, for carrying out the purposes of this section.

SEC. 211. WORK FOR OTHERS.

Section 3036(d) of title 10, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(3) For purposes of this subsection, the term 'State' includes the several States, the District of Columbia, the Commonwealths of Puerto Rico and the Northern Mariana Islands, territories and possessions of the United States, and Indian tribes.".

SEC. 212. USE OF PRIVATE SECTOR RESOURCES IN SURVEYING AND MAPPING.

To the maximum extent practicable, the Secretary shall make use of private sector resources in carrying out surveying and mapping activities in the Civil Works Program of the Corps of Engineers.

SEC. 213. USE OF DOMESTIC PRODUCTS.

(a) COMPLIANCE WITH BUY AMERICAN ACT.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Except as provided in paragraph (2), the Secretary shall ensure that procurements with funds appropriated to carry out this Act are conducted in compliance with sections 2 through 4 of the Act of March 3, 1933 (41 U.S.C. 10a-10c), popularly known as the "Buy American Act".

(2) LIMITATION ON APPLICABILITY.—This subsection shall apply only to procurements made for which—

(A) amounts are authorized by this Act to be made available; and

(B) solicitations for bids are issued after the date of the enactment of this Act.

(3) REPORTS.—The Secretary shall report to Congress on procurements covered under this subsection of products that are not domestic products.

(b) DEFINITIONS.—For the purposes of this section, the term "domestic product" means a product—

(1) that is manufactured or produced in the United States; and

(2) at least 50 percent of the cost of the articles, materials, or supplies of which are mined, produced, or manufactured in the United States.

SEC. 214. RURAL PROJECT EVALUATION AND SELECTION CRITERIA.

Not later than 18 months after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Comptroller General shall report to the Committee on Environment and Public Works of the Senate and the Committee on Public Works and Transportation of the House of Representatives with specific legislative and other recommendations on—

(1) improving the equitable distribution of water resources development projects in rural areas, including recommendations for—

(A) giving greater value to properties in rural areas;

(B) making the ability to pay provision of section 103(m) of the Water Resources Development Act of 1986 apply more equitably; and

(C) giving greater value to crop lands and crops; and

(2) giving greater emphasis to—

(A) projected increases in values of property, crop lands, and crops which will result from completion of a proposed water resources development project;

(B) projected increases in the ability to pay by residents which will result from completion of a proposed water resources development project; and

(C) other benefits assumed to increase upon completion of a proposed water resources development project.

SEC. 215. COMPENSATION OF CORPS OF ENGINEERS EMPLOYEES.

(a) SPECIAL POWER RATE EMPLOYEES.—The Secretary shall conduct a comparative analysis, on a regional basis, of—

(1) the compensation (including basic wage rates and differential pay) provided to employees of the Corps of Engineers who are paid from the Corps of Engineers Special Power Rate Schedule and who are employed at water resources projects of the Corps; and

(2) the compensation provided to employees of other Federal agencies who perform duties similar to those performed by such employees of the Corps of Engineers.

(b) REGULATORY EMPLOYEES.—The Secretary shall conduct a comparative analysis of—

(1) the compensation provided to employees of the Corps of Engineers who carry out regulatory functions; and

(2) the compensation provided to employees of other Federal agencies who carry out functions similar to those performed by such employees of the Corps of Engineers; for the purpose of determining whether or not an adjustment to the compensation provided to such employees of the Corps of Engineers is needed.

(c) PUBLIC PARTICIPATION.—In conducting the analyses under subsections (a) and (b), the Secretary shall provide opportunities for public participation.

(d) Reports.—Not later than 6 months after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall transmit to Congress a report on the results of the analyses conducted under subsections (a) and (b), together with any recommendations of the Secretary, and shall implement such recommendations.

SEC. 216. DREDGED MATERIAL DISPOSAL AREAS.

(a) Study.—The Secretary shall conduct a study on the need for changes in Federal law and policy with respect to dredged material disposal areas for the construction and maintenance of harbors and inland harbors by the Secretary. As part of the study, the Secretary shall evaluate the need for any changes in Federal and non-Federal cost sharing for such areas and harbor projects, including sources of funding.

(b) Report.—Not later than 18 months after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall transmit to the Committee on Public Works and Transportation of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Environment and Public Works of the Senate a report on the results of the study conducted under subsection (a), together with recommendations of the Secretary.

SEC. 217. REUSE OF WASTE WATER.

(a) In General.—The Secretary is authorized to provide assistance to non-Federal interests for carrying out projects described in subsection (c) for the beneficial reuse of waste water. Such assistance may be in the form of technical and planning and design assistance. If the Secretary is to provide any design or engineering assistance to carry out a project under this section, the Secretary shall obtain by procurement from private sources all services necessary for the Secretary to provide such assistance, unless the Secretary finds that—

(1) the service would require the use of a new technology unavailable in the private sector; or

(2) a solicitation or request for proposal has failed to attract 2 or more bids or proposals.

(b) Non-Federal Share.—The non-Federal share of the cost of assistance provided under this section shall not be less than 25 percent, except that such share shall be subject to the ability of the non-Federal interest to pay, including the procedures and regulations relating to ability to pay established under section 103(m) of the Water Resources Development Act of 1986.

(c) Project Descriptions.—The projects for which the Secretary is authorized to provide assistance under subsection (a) are as follows:

(1) Southern California comprehensive water reuse system.—

(A) Description.—A regional water reuse system for Southern California to treat, store, and transfer water in order to provide a new increment of water supply for agricultural, municipal, industrial, and environmental needs of Southern California.

(B) Cooperation.—The Secretary shall carry out this paragraph in cooperation with the State of California and appropriate local and regional entities.

(C) Southern California defined.—For purposes of this paragraph, the term "Southern California" means those portions of the counties of Imperial, Los Angeles, Orange, San Bernardino, Riverside, San Diego, Ventura, Santa Barbara, and San Luis Obispo, California, within the south coast, central coast, and Colorado River hydrologic regions as defined by the California Department of Water Resources.

(2) San Diego area water reuse demonstration facilities.—Water reuse facilities (which are not inconsistent with facilities mandated by the United States District Court in San Diego, California) to develop advance technology for economically and environmentally sound alternative water supplies for the San Diego metropolitan area.

(3) Santa Rosa water reuse projects.—

(A) Description.—Water reuse projects for the city of Santa Rosa, California, to treat waste water and store such treated water for the purposes of providing new water supplies for agriculture, municipal, environmental, and other purposes and reducing the use of potable water supplies for purposes where treated waste water is a viable substitute.

(B) Cooperation.—The Secretary shall carry out this paragraph in cooperation with the city of Santa Rosa, California, and other appropriate authorities.

(4) Monterey county, California.—

(A) Description.—Reduction of salt water intrusion into aquifers in the vicinity of Castroville, California, for the purposes of improving the water quality of Monterey Bay and enhancing long-term water supply in the area.

(B) Cooperation.—The Secretary shall carry out this paragraph in cooperation with the Monterey Regional Water Pollution Control Agency and the Monterey County Water Resources Agency.

(d) Authorization of Appropriations.—There is authorized to be appropriated to carry out this section $5,000,000. Such sums shall remain available until expended.

SEC. 218. DEMONSTRATION OF WASTE WATER TECHNOLOGY, SANTA CLARA VALLEY WATER DISTRICT AND SAN JOSE, CALIFORNIA.

(a) In General.—The Secretary, in cooperation with the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, is authorized to provide design and construction assistance to the Santa Clara Valley Water District in San Jose, California, and to the city of San Jose, California, for demonstrating and field testing public use innovative processes which advance the technology of waste water reuse and treatment and which promote the use of treated waste water for critical water supply purposes and for the protection of fish and wildlife in the San Francisco Bay. All design, construction, and comprehensive health effects studies shall be carried out by non-Federal interests.

(b) Purposes of Assistance.—Assistance may be provided under this section—

(1) for the design and construction of an innovative nonpotable waste water reuse treatment facility with distribution systems;

(2) for the design and construction of an innovative potable waste water reuse pilot plant;

(3) for implementation of a comprehensive health effects study of the performance of the potable waste water reuse pilot plant; and

(4) after the pilot plant is constructed and is operational, for the design and construction of a potable waste water reuse project, along with integration of the additional potable processes into the existing nonpotable facilities, and the extension of the distribution systems to groundwater recharge areas, if the Secretary, in cooperation with the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, determines that the established public health requirements and water quality goals and objectives are being met by the pilot plant, the public health and safety is not at risk as a result of the operation of the pilot plant, and the pilot plant is operating reliably.

(c) Cost Sharing.—Total project costs under this section shall be shared at 75 percent Federal and 25 percent non-Federal. The non-Federal sponsor shall receive credit for lands, easements, rights-of-way, and relocations toward its share of project costs, but not to exceed 25 percent of total project costs. Operation and maintenance cost shall be 100 percent non-Federal.

(d) Authorization of Appropriations.—There is authorized to be appropriated to carry out this section $10,000,000. Such sums shall remain available until expended.

SEC. 219. ENVIRONMENTAL INFRASTRUCTURE.

(a) In General.—The Secretary is authorized to provide assistance to non-Federal interests for carrying out water-related environmental infrastructure and resource protection and development projects described in subsection (c), including waste water treatment and related facilities and water supply, storage, treatment, and distribution facilities. Such assistance may be in the form of technical and planning and design assistance. If the Secretary is to provide any design or engineering assistance to carry out a project under this section, the Secretary shall obtain by procurement from private sources all services necessary for the Secretary to provide such assistance, unless the Secretary finds that—

(1) the service would require the use of a new technology unavailable in the private sector; or

(2) a solicitation or request for proposal has failed to attract 2 or more bids or proposals.

(b) Non-Federal Share.—The non-Federal share of the cost of projects for which assistance is provided under this section shall not be less than 25 percent, except that such share shall be subject to the ability of the non-Federal interest to pay, including the procedures and regulations relating to ability to pay established under section 103(m) of the Water Resources Development Act of 1986.

(c) Project Descriptions.—The projects for which the Secretary is authorized to provide assistance under subsection (a) are as follows:

(1) Washington, D.C. and Maryland.—Measures to alleviate adverse water quality impacts resulting from storm water discharges from Federal facilities in the Anacostia River watershed, Washington, D.C. and Maryland.

(2) Atlanta, Georgia.—A combined sewer overflow treatment facility for the city of Atlanta, Georgia.

(3) Hazard, Kentucky.—A water system (including a 13,000,000 gallon per day water treatment plant), intake structures, raw water pipelines and pumps, distribution lines, and pumps and storage tanks for Hazard, Kentucky.

(4) Rouge river, Michigan.—Completion of a comprehensive streamflow enhancement project for the Western Townships Utility Authority, Rouge River, Wayne County, Michigan.

(5) Jackson county, Mississippi.—Provision of an alternative water supply for Jackson County, Mississippi.

(6) Epping, New Hampshire.—Evaluation and assistance in addressing expanded and advanced wastewater treatment needs for Epping, New Hampshire.

(7) Manchester, New Hampshire.—Elimination of combined sewer overflows in the city of Manchester, New Hampshire.

(8) ROCHESTER, NEW HAMPSHIRE.—Provision of advanced wastewater treatment for the city of Rochester, New Hampshire.

(9) PATERSON AND PASSAIC COUNTY, NEW JERSEY.—Drainage facilities to alleviate flooding problems on Getty Avenue in the vicinity of St. Joseph's Hospital for the city of Paterson, New Jersey, and Passaic County, New Jersey.

(10) STATE OF NEW JERSEY AND NEW JERSEY WASTEWATER TREATMENT TRUST.—The development of innovative beneficial uses of sewage sludge and conventional and innovative facilities to dispose of sewage sludge or to make reusable products from sewage sludge for local government units that ceased the discharge of sewage sludge in the Atlantic Ocean.

(11) ERIE COUNTY, NEW YORK.—A tunnel from North Buffalo, New York, to Amherst Quarry to relieve flooding and improve water quality.

(12) ERIE COUNTY, NEW YORK.—A sludge processing disposal facility to serve the Erie County Sewer District 5, New York.

(13) OTSEGO COUNTY, NEW YORK.—A water storage tank and an adequate water filtration system for the Village of Milford, Otsego County, New York.

(14) CHENANGO COUNTY, NEW YORK.—A primary source water well and improvement of a water distribution system for New Berlin, Chenango County, New York.

(16) LYNCHBURG, VIRGINIA.—Alleviation of combined sewer overflows for Lynchburg, Virginia, in accordance with combined sewer overflow control plans adopted by, and currently being implemented by, the non-Federal sponsor.

(17) RICHMOND, VIRGINIA.—Alleviation of combined sewer overflows for Richmond, Virginia, in accordance with combined sewer overflow control plans adopted by, and currently being implemented by, the non-Federal sponsor.

(18) COLONIAS ALONG UNITED STATES-MEXICO BORDER.—Wastewater treatment facilities, water systems (including water treatment plants), intake structures, raw water pipelines and pumps, distribution lines, and pumps and storage tanks for colonias in the United States along the United States-Mexico border.

(d) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There is authorized to be appropriated for providing assistance under this section $5,000,000. Such sums shall remain available until expended.

SEC. 220. ENVIRONMENTAL INFRASTRUCTURE ASSISTANCE FOR BENTON AND WASHINGTON COUNTIES, ARKANSAS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary is authorized to provide design and construction assistance to appropriate non-Federal interests for a water transmission line from the northern part of Beaver Lake, Arkansas, into Benton and Washington Counties, Arkansas, at a total cost of $5,000,000.

(b) COST SHARING.—Total project costs under subsection (a) shall be shared at 75 percent Federal and 25 percent non-Federal. The non-Federal sponsor shall receive credit for lands, easements, rights-of-way, and relocations toward its share of project costs, but not to exceed 25 percent of total project costs. Operation and maintenance cost shall be 100 percent non-Federal.

SEC. 221. ENVIRONMENTAL INFRASTRUCTURE ASSISTANCE FOR ERIE COUNTY, NEW YORK.

(a) BEST MANAGEMENT PRACTICES FOR COMBINED SEWER SYSTEM.—The Secretary is authorized to provide design and construction assistance to the Buffalo Sewer Authority, Buffalo, New York, for the development and implementation of best management practices to reduce pollution from the combined sewer system in the city, at a total cost of $6,800,000.

(b) STORM WATER CONTROL PROJECT.—The Secretary is authorized to provide design and construction assistance to the town of Amherst, New York, for a storm water control project on Sheridan Drive between Evans Road and Transit Road in the town of Amherst, New York, at a total cost of $200,000.

(c) COST SHARING.—Total project costs under each of subsections (a) and (b) shall be shared at 75 percent Federal and 25 percent non-Federal. The non-Federal sponsor shall receive credit for lands, easements, rights-of-way, and relocations toward its share of project costs, but not to exceed 25 percent of total project costs. Operation and maintenance cost shall be 100 percent non-Federal.

SEC. 222. ENVIRONMENTAL INFRASTRUCTURE ASSISTANCE FOR LEWISTON, NEW YORK.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary is authorized to provide design and construction assistance to the city of Lewiston, New York, for construction of a storm water control project, at a total cost of $200,000.

(b) COST SHARING.—Total project costs under subsection (a) shall be shared at 75 percent Federal and 25 percent non-Federal. The non-Federal sponsor shall receive credit for lands, easements, rights-of-way, and relocations toward its share of project costs, but not to exceed 25 percent of total project costs. Operation and maintenance cost shall be 100 percent non-Federal.

SEC. 223. BOARD OF ENGINEERS.

The Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors, established by section 3 of the River and Harbor Act of June 13, 1902 (33 U.S.C. 541), shall cease to exist on the 180th day following the date of the enactment of this Act. The Secretary may reassign to other elements within the Department of the Army such duties and responsibilities of the Board as the Secretary determines to be necessary.

SEC. 224. CHANNEL DEPTHS AND DIMENSIONS.

(1) by inserting "and after the project becomes operational" before the first comma;

(2) by inserting "lower" after "mean" the first place it appears;

(3) by inserting ", as defined by the Department of Commerce for nautical charts and tidal predictions," after "water" each place it appears"; and

(4) by inserting "and after the project becomes operational" before "the channel dimensions".

SEC. 225. CHALLENGE COST-SHARING PROGRAM FOR THE MANAGEMENT OF RECREATION FACILITIES.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary is authorized to develop and implement a program to share the cost of managing recreation facilities and natural resources at water resource development projects under the Secretary's jurisdiction.

(b) COOPERATIVE AGREEMENTS.—To implement the program under this section, the Secretary is authorized to enter into cooperative agreements with non-Federal public and private entities to provide for operation and management of recreation facilities and natural resources at civil works projects under the Secretary's jurisdiction where such facilities and resources are being maintained at complete Federal expense.

(c) CONTRIBUTIONS.—For purposes of carrying out this section the Secretary may accept contributions of funds, materials, and services from non-Federal public and private entities. Any funds received by the Secretary under this section shall be deposited into the account in the Treasury of the United States entitled "Contributions and Advances, Rivers and Harbors, Corps of Engineers (8662)" and shall be available until expended to carry out the purposes of this section.

SEC. 226. DEBARMENT OF PERSONS CONVICTED OF FRAUDULENT USE OF "MADE IN AMERICA" LABELS.

If the Secretary determines that a person has been convicted of intentionally affixing a label bearing a "Made in America" inscription to any product sold in or shipped to the United States which is not made in the United States and which is used in a civil works project of the Secretary, the Secretary shall debar the person from contracting with the Federal Government for a period of not less than 3 years and not more than 5 years. For purposes of this section, the term "debar" has the meaning that term has under section 2393(c) of title 10, United States Code.

TITLE III—MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

SEC. 301. EXTENSION OF JURISDICTION OF MISSISSIPPI RIVER COMMISSION.

The jurisdiction of the Mississippi River Commission (established by the Act of June 29, 1879 (33 U.S.C. 641)) is extended to include—

(1) Terrebonne Parish, Louisiana; and

(2) the area bounded by the East Atchafalaya Basin Protection Levee, the Mississippi River Levee, and Bayou Lafourche and extending from Morganza, Louisiana, to the Gulf of Mexico, insofar as such area is affected by the flood waters of the Mississippi River.

SEC. 302. NEW YORK CITY ZEBRA MUSSEL PROGRAM.

(a) MONITORING AND PREVENTION.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary, in consultation with the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, the Director of the United States Fish and Wildlife Service, the Governor of the State of New York, and the Mayor of the city of New York, shall—

(A) develop a prevention monitoring program for zebra mussels throughout the New York City water supply system;

(B) develop appropriate zebra mussel prevention and removal technologies for the New York City water supply system; and

(C) provide technical assistance to the State of New York and the city of New York on alternative design and maintenance practices for the New York City water supply system in the event of zebra mussel infestation.

(2) COST SHARING.—The Secretary shall not initiate any monitoring, prevention, or technical assistance project or program under this subsection until appropriate non-Federal interests agree, by contract, to contribute 25 percent of the cost for such project or program during the period of such project or program.

(3) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—For the purposes of carrying out this subsection, there is authorized to be appropriated to the Secretary $2,000,000 for each of fiscal years 1993, 1994, 1995, 1996, and 1997. Such sums shall remain available until expended.

(b) EXOTIC AQUATIC ORGANISMS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Section 1101(b) of the Nonindigenous Aquatic Nuisance Prevention and Control Act of 1990 (16 U.S.C. 4711(b)) is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(3) In addition to issuing regulations under paragraph (1), the Secretary, in consultation with the Task Force shall, not later than 24 months after the date of the enactment of this paragraph, issue regulations to prevent the introduction and spread of aquatic nuisance species in the Great Lakes through ballast water carried on vessels that, after operating on the waters beyond the exclusive economic zone, enter a United States port on the Hudson River north of the George Washington Bridge.".

(2) DEFINITION.—Paragraph (1) of section 1003 of the Nonindigenous Aquatic Nuisance Prevention and Control Act of 1990 is amended by inserting "the Committee on Public Works and Transportation and" after "means".

SEC. 303. SUSQUEHANNA RIVER, PENNSYLVANIA.

(a) WETLANDS DEMONSTRATION PROJECT.—The Secretary, in cooperation with appropriate Federal agencies, may enter into a cooperative agreement with the Earth Conservancy to develop, and carry out along the Susquehanna River between Wilkes-Barre and Sunbury, Pennsylvania, a wetlands demonstration project for the purposes of—

(1) enhancing municipal waste water treatment in the region;

(2) restoring and maintaining the physical, chemical, and biological integrity of the Susquehanna River and its tributaries as well as nearby lands; and

(3) developing cleanup technologies which can be utilized for various environmental restoration initiatives.

(b) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There is authorized to be appropriated to carry out this section $2,000,000. Such sums shall remain available until expended.

SEC. 304. BROAD TOP REGION OF PENNSYLVANIA.

(a) WATERSHED RECLAMATION AND WETLANDS PILOT PROJECT.—The Secretary, in cooperation with appropriate Federal and State agencies, shall enter into a cooperative agreement with non-Federal interests to develop and carry out along the Juniata River and its tributaries, Pennsylvania, a watershed reclamation and protection and wetlands creation and restoration project for the purposes of—

(1) restoring and maintaining the physical, chemical, and biological integrity of Trough Creek, Stroups Run, and the Raystown Branch of the Juniata River as well as nearby lands;

(2) constructing or restoring wetlands and using other methods to treat acid mine drainage and other runoff to protect surface and ground water;

(3) enhancing municipal water supplies in the region; and

(4) developing innovative reclamation technologies, removing public safety hazards, and developing related recreation facilities for various environmental restoration and cultural resource and economic development opportunities.

(b) FEDERAL SHARE.—The Federal share of the cost of the activities conducted under the cooperative agreement entered into under subsection (a) shall be 75 percent.

(c) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There is authorized to be appropriated to carry out this section $5,500,000. Such sums shall remain available until expended.

SEC. 305. CONSTRUCTION OF BOAT RAMPS AND DOCKS AT J. STROM THURMOND LAKE, GEORGIA.

Section 1134(e) of the Water Resources Development Act of 1986 (100 Stat. 4251) is amended by inserting "(1)" before "In any case" and by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(2) If a person who purchased property under paragraph (1) for replacement of property for which a lease held by such a person was terminated under this section and the property for which the lease was terminated had a boat ramp or dock, or both, the Secretary shall permit such person to construct or have constructed a boat ramp or dock, or both, as the case may be, at the replacement property. A boat ramp or dock constructed under this paragraph shall be comparable in size and configuration to, and shall be maintained in accordance with, regulations issued by the Secretary.".

SEC. 306. WEST VIRGINIA TRAILHEAD FACILITIES.

(1) Beech Fork Lake.

(2) R.D. Bailey Lake.

(3) East Lynn Lake.

(4) Projects authorized by section 202 of Public Law 96-367.

SEC. 307. WATER QUALITY PROJECTS.

(a) PROJECT DESCRIPTION.—The Secretary is authorized to design and construct projects to address water quality problems associated with storm water discharges from large storm events for the New Orleans, Louisiana, metropolitan area, from within the Jefferson and Orleans Parishes from which waters discharge into Lake Pontchartrain and the Mississippi River; the watershed areas of Onondaga County and Syracuse, New York, from which waters discharge into Onondaga Lake, New York; the watershed areas of the Penobscot River in the vicinity of Bangor, Maine, and the Casco Bay in the vicinity of Portland, Maine; and the watershed areas of Narragansett Bay in the vicinity of the Providence, Rhode Island, metropolitan area, including East Providence, Pawtucket, and Central Falls, Rhode Island.

(b) PROJECT DESIGN.—The design of projects under subsection (a) shall ensure the development of effective Federal and non-Federal actions which will contribute toward compliance with the Federal Water Pollution Control Act.

(c) COST SHARING.—Total project costs under subsection (a) shall be shared at 75 percent Federal and 25 percent non-Federal. The non-Federal sponsor shall receive credit for lands, easements, rights-of-way, and relocations toward its share of project costs, but not to exceed 25 percent of total project costs. Operation and maintenance cost shall be 100 percent non-Federal.

(d) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There is authorized to be appropriated $70,000,000 to carry out this section. Such sums shall remain available until expended.

SEC. 308. BALTIMORE HARBOR, MARYLAND.

(a) ANALYTICAL PROCEDURES.—

(1) STUDY.—The Secretary shall conduct a study of Baltimore Harbor, Maryland, for the purpose of developing analytical procedures and criteria for contaminated dredged material in order to distinguish those materials which should be placed in containment sites from those materials which could be used in beneficial projects (such as beach nourishment, shoreline erosion control, island reclamation, and wetlands creation) or which could be placed in open waters without being chemically altered.

(2) REPORT.—Not later than 1 year after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall transmit to Congress a report on the results of the study conducted under this subsection.

(b) DECONTAMINATION STUDY.—

(1) STUDY.—The Secretary shall conduct a study of Baltimore Harbor, Maryland, for the purpose of determining the feasibility and necessity of decontaminating dredged materials and the feasibility of dewatering and recycling dredged materials for use as marketable products. In conducting the study, the Secretary shall consider requirements and locations for a processing or staging area, evaluate the marketability of potential products, and assess financial costs.

(2) REPORT.—Not later than 1 year after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall transmit to Congress a report on the results of the study conducted under this subsection.

(c) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There is authorized to be appropriated $1,000,000 to carry out this section. Such sums shall remain available until expended.

SEC. 309. ADDITIONAL STUDIES.

(a) OHIO RIVER AND TRIBUTARIES.—

(1) STUDY.—The Secretary shall review the report of the Chief of Engineers on the Ohio River and Tributaries, published as House Document 306, 74th Congress, 1st Session, and other pertinent reports to determine whether modifications of the recommendations contained in such report are advisable at the present time, with particular reference to improvements for water and related land resource needs, including abatement of acid mine drainage in Wheeling Creek, Glenns Run, Little Short Creek, and Yellow Creek in Belmont and Jefferson Counties, Ohio.

(2) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There is authorized to be appropriated to carry out this subsection $500,000 for fiscal years beginning after September 30, 1992. Such sums shall remain available until expended.

(b) COASTAL PROTECTION STUDY.—

(1) STUDY.—The Secretary shall conduct a study of the economic benefits of Federal and significant non-Federal shore protection activities in the Mid-Atlantic region from New York to Virginia. In conducting such study, the Secretary shall assess—

(A) the public investment in such activities;

(B) damage incurred by such shore protection activities by coastal storms of October 1991 and January 1992;

(C) the prevention of damage by coastal storms of October 1991 and January 1992 to coastal and upland resources, including public and private properties and other economic activities, as a result of such shore protection activities; and

(D) the extent to which the prevention of damage to coastal and upland resources, including public and private properties and other economic activities, is considered in benefit-cost ratios for shore protection activities.

(2) REPORT.—Not later than 1 year after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall transmit to the Committee on Environment and Public Works of the Senate and the Committee on Public Works and Transportation of the House of Representatives a report containing the findings of the Secretary with respect to the study conducted under this subsection.

(c) HARRISON COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI.—

(1) STUDY.—The Secretary is authorized to enter into a memorandum of understanding with the Secretary of Agriculture for the purpose of studying problems associated with flooding in Harrison County, Mississippi. Under the memorandum of understanding, the Secretary and the Secretary of Agriculture will jointly conduct a reconnaissance study of Harrison County, Mississippi, and the following bodies of water and associated watersheds:

(A) Wolf River.

(B) Big Biloxi River.

(C) Little Biloxi River.

(D) Turkey Creek.

(E) Saucier Creek.

(F) Hog Branch Creek.

(G) Flat Branch Creek.

(H) Tuxachanie Creek.

(I) Tchoutacabouffa River.

(2) CONTENTS.—The reconnaissance study to be conducted under paragraph (1) shall include the following:

(A) REVIEW OF RELEVANT REPORTS.—A review of relevant reports of the Chief of Engineers and other reports which the Secretary of Agriculture and the Secretary, in consultation with the Chief of Engineers, determine to be appropriate.

(B) PLAN FOR IMPLEMENTATION.—The development of a plan to implement measures to address the problems associated with flooding identified in the study, including measures for the development, use, and conservation of water resources in the geographic areas that are the subject of the study. The development of the plan shall include, to the extent practical, an evaluation of alternative measures.

(C) COST ESTIMATE.—A cost estimate for each measure described in subparagraph (B).

(3) REPORT.—Not later than 1 year after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary and the Secretary of Agriculture shall jointly transmit to Congress a written report that includes—

(A) findings on the study conducted under paragraph (1);

(B) a reasonable schedule for the implementation of the measures described in the plan developed under paragraph (2)(B); and

(C) a cost estimate determined in accordance with paragraph (2)(C) for the implementation of the plan developed under paragraph (2)(B).

(d) REYNOLDS CHANNEL.—

(1) STUDY.—The Secretary is authorized to conduct a study on the need for navigation improvements in Reynolds Channel and the connecting State Boat Channel between Captree Island and Oak Beach.

(2) REPORT.—Not later than 12 months after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall transmit to the Committee on Environment and Public Works of the Senate and the Committee on Public Works and Transportation of the House of Representatives a report on the results of the study conducted under this subsection.

(e) ORCHARD BEACH, BRONX, NEW YORK.—

(1) REVIEW.—The Secretary is authorized to review the reports of the Chief of Engineers and other pertinent documents pertaining to Orchard Beach, Bronx, New York, and to make appropriate recommendations concerning storm damage prevention, recreation, environmental restoration, and other purposes.

(2) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There is authorized to be appropriated to carry out this subsection $400,000 for fiscal years beginning after September 30, 1992. Such sums shall remain available until expended.

(f) EAST RIVER, NEW YORK.—

(1) STUDY.—The Secretary is authorized to conduct a study on the need for erosion protection along the East River, New York, in the vicinity of Brooklyn, Queens, and Manhattan with a view toward mitigating the deleterious effects of drift removal on protecting the adjacent shoreline from erosion.

(2) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There is authorized to be appropriated to carry out this subsection $500,000 for fiscal years beginning after September 30, 1992. Such sums shall remain available until expended.

(g) LAKE CHAMPLAIN AND THE NARROWS OF LAKE CHAMPLAIN, VERMONT.—

(1) STUDY.—The Secretary is authorized to conduct a reconnaissance and feasibility study of remediation of contaminated sediments in Lake Champlain and the Narrows of Lake Champlain, Vermont. Such activities shall be coordinated with the State of Vermont and the Water Resources Research Center at the University of Vermont.

(2) FUNDING.—Funds previously expended by the State of Vermont and the Water Resources Research Institute at the University of Vermont in investigating sediment contamination shall be considered toward any joint funding requirement relating to the study to be conducted under this subsection.

(h) LAKE CHAMPLAIN, VERMONT.—The Secretary is authorized to conduct a reconnaissance and feasibility study of providing additional boat access points on Lake Champlain, Vermont.

(i) MONTPELIER, VERMONT.—The Secretary is authorized to conduct a reconnaissance and feasibility study on providing additional flood protection for Montpelier, Vermont.

(j) NEW ENGLAND COASTAL DREDGED MATERIAL.—

(1) EVALUATION.—The Secretary shall conduct an evaluation of long-term coastal dredged material disposal needs along the Maine and New Hampshire coasts. Beginning in 1995, any dredge material resulting from a project proposed as a result of this study shall be disposed of at a site which is permanently designated by the Environmental Protection Agency pursuant to title I of the Marine Protection, Research, and Sanctuaries Act of 1972.

(2) FUNDING.—$500,000 is authorized under General Investigations to conduct the study under this subsection, which will take into account the 2 States' dredged material disposal needs.

(k) ST. JOHN'S RIVER CHANNEL, FLORIDA.—In studying the feasibility of Federal improvements to the St. John's River Channel, Florida, the Secretary shall examine the commercial and military uses of the channel in those areas traversed by both military and commercial vessels and shall coordinate the efforts of the Secretary with the Secretary of the Navy to utilize available studies and resources which project future military dredging needs in the St. John's River Channel.

(l) CENTRAL AND SOUTHERN FLORIDA.—The Chief of Engineers shall review the report of the Chief of Engineers on central and southern Florida, published as House Document 643, 80th Congress, 2d Session, and other pertinent reports, with a view to determining whether modifications to the existing project are advisable at the present time due to significantly changed physical, biological, demographic, or economic conditions, with particular reference to modifying the project or its operation for improving the quality of the environment, improving protection of the aquifer, and improving the integrity, capability, and conservation of urban water supplies affected by the project or its operation.

SEC. 310. REND LAKE, ILLINOIS.

(a) STUDY.—The Secretary shall conduct a study on whether or not to relieve the State of Illinois of the requirement to make annual payments for unused water supply storage in Rend Lake on the Big Muddy River in Illinois.

(b) REPORT.—The Secretary shall transmit to Congress a report on the results of the study conducted under subsection (a), together with recommendations for any conditions which the Secretary considers to be appropriate if the State of Illinois is to be relieved of the requirement to make the annual payments referred to in subsection (a).

(c) INTERIM PAYMENTS.—Until 6 months after the date on which the Secretary transmits to Congress the report under subsection (b), the State of Illinois shall not be required to make any payments under its contract with the United States for use of storage space for water supply in Rend Lake on the Big Muddy River in Illinois.

SEC. 311. PORTUGESE AND BUCANA RIVERS, PUERTO RICO.

Section 31 of the Water Resources Development Act of 1988 (102 Stat. 4030) is amended by striking "temporarily residing and".

SEC. 312. LITTLE GOOSE AND LOWER GRANITE, WASHINGTON.

(a) MEASURES.—The Secretary is directed to undertake such measures as are necessary to compensate for damages caused to public and private property by the drawdown undertaken in March 1992 by the United States Army Corps of Engineers at the Little Goose and Lower Granite projects in Washington. The costs of such measures shall be considered project costs and shall be allocated in accordance with existing cost allocations for the Little Goose and Lower Granite projects.

(b) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—In addition to amounts previously appropriated, there is authorized to be appropriated to carry out this section $8,000,000. Such sums shall remain available until expended.

SEC. 313. SOUTH CENTRAL PENNSYLVANIA ENVIRONMENTAL RESTORATION INFRASTRUCTURE AND RESOURCE PROTECTION DEVELOPMENT PILOT PROGRAM.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT OF PROGRAM.—The Secretary shall establish a pilot program for providing environmental assistance to non-Federal interests in south central Pennsylvania. Such assistance may be in the form of design and construction assistance for water-related environmental infrastructure and resource protection and development projects in south central Pennsylvania, including projects for waste water treatment and related facilities, water supply, storage, treatment, and distribution facilities, and surface water resource protection and development.

(b) PUBLIC OWNERSHIP REQUIREMENT.—The Secretary may provide assistance for a project under this section only if the project is publicly owned.

(c) CONSULTATION WITH SARCD COUNCIL.—In carrying out this section, the Secretary shall consult the SARCD Council.

(d) LOCAL COOPERATION AGREEMENTS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Before providing assistance under this Act, the Secretary shall enter into a local cooperation agreement with a non-Federal interest to provide for design and construction of the project to be carried out with such assistance.

(2) REQUIREMENTS.—Each local cooperation agreement entered into under this subsection shall provide for the following:

(A) PLAN.—Development by the Secretary, in consultation with the SARCD Council and other appropriate Federal and State officials, of a facilities or resource protection and development plan, including appropriate engineering plans and specifications.

(B) LEGAL AND INSTITUTIONAL STRUCTURES.—Establishment of such legal and institutional structures as are necessary to assure the effective long-term operation of the project by the non-Federal interest.

(3) COST-SHARING.—Total project costs under each local cooperation agreement entered into under this subsection shall be shared at 75 percent Federal and 25 percent non-Federal. The non-Federal interest shall receive credit for lands, easements, rights-of-way, and relocations toward its share of project costs but not to exceed 25 percent of total project costs. Operation and maintenance costs shall be 100 percent non-Federal.

(e) APPLICABILITY OF OTHER FEDERAL AND STATE LAWS.—Nothing in this section shall be construed as waiving, limiting, or otherwise affecting the applicability of any provision of Federal or State law which would otherwise apply to a project to be carried out with assistance provided under this section.

(f) REPORT.—Not later than December 31, 1998, the Secretary shall transmit to Congress a report on the results of the pilot program carried out under this section, together with recommendations concerning whether or not such program should be implemented on a national basis.

(g) AUTHORIZATION AND ALLOCATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—

(1) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There is authorized to be appropriated to carry out this section $17,000,000 for fiscal years beginning after September 30, 1992. Such sums shall remain available until expended.

(2) ALLOCATION.—Funds appropriated to carry out this section for each of fiscal years 1993 through 1998 shall be expended as follows: 50 percent for providing assistance in the Chesapeake Bay watershed area of south central Pennsylvania and 50 percent for providing assistance in the Ohio River watershed area of south central Pennsylvania.

(3) TRANSFERS.—The Secretary may expend up to 20 percent of the amounts required to be expended under paragraph (2) for providing assistance in a watershed area for providing assistance in the other watershed area referred to in paragraph (2); except that the aggregate amount expended for providing assistance in the Chesapeake Bay watershed area for fiscal years 1993 through 1998 shall be 50 percent of the aggregate of the funds appropriated to carry out this section for such fiscal years.

(h) DEFINITIONS.—For purposes of this section, the following definitions apply:

(1) SARCD COUNCIL.—The term "SARCD Council" means the Southern Allegheny Resource Conservation and Development Council.

SEC. 314. ILLINOIS AND MICHIGAN CANAL.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary is authorized to make capital improvements to the Illinois and Michigan Canal.

(b) AGREEMENTS.—The Secretary shall, with the consent of appropriate local and State entities, enter into such arrangements, contracts, and leases with public and private entities as may be necessary for the purposes of rehabilitation, renovation, preservation, and maintenance of the Illinois and Michigan Canal and its related facilities, including trailside facilities for recreational use connecting the waterways referred to in subsection (c).

(c) ILLINOIS AND MICHIGAN CANAL DEFINED.—For the purpose of this section, the "Illinois and Michigan Canal" consists of the following existing waterways: the Chicago River from and including its mouth at Navy Pier through and including its south branch; the Chicago Sanitary and Ship Canal; and the entire length of those waterways designated as the Illinois and Michigan Heritage Canal between Chicago, Illinois, and LaSalle/Peru, Illinois.

(d) FEDERAL SHARE.—The Federal share of the cost of capital improvements under this section shall be 50 percent.

SEC. 315. VIRGINIA BEACH, VIRGINIA, TECHNICAL AMENDMENTS.

Section 407(a) of the Water Resources Development Act of 1990 (104 Stat. 4647) is amended—

(1) by striking "145" and inserting "156"; and

(2) by striking "33 U.S.C. 426j" and inserting "42 U.S.C. 1962d-5f".

SEC. 316. TRANSFER FACILITY FOR BENEFICIAL USES OF DREDGED MATERIAL, SAN FRANCISCO BAY.

(a) STUDY.—The Secretary shall study the feasibility of establishing a transfer facility at the Leonard Ranch property owned by the Sonoma Land Trust and adjacent to Port Sonoma-Marin, California, for the drying and rehandling of dredged material from San Francisco Bay which is to be transported to an upland site for beneficial uses, including lining, capping, and cover material for sanitary landfills, levee maintenance, and restoration of subsided agricultural lands.

(b) REPORT.—Not later than 1 year after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall transmit to Congress a report on the results of the study conducted under subsection (a).

SEC. 317. PIKEVILLE LAKE, KENTUCKY.

(a) PLAN.—Subject to the provisions of section 1135 of the Water Resources Development Act of 1986, the Secretary is directed to develop and implement a plan for modifying the channel bypass element of the Levisa Fork, Kentucky, project for the purpose of water quality improvement in and restoration of Pikeville Lake, Kentucky, including lake restoration, elimination of stagnant water, and other measures necessary for water quality improvement.

(b) CONTENTS.—Subject to approval of final plans by the Secretary, the plan to be developed and implemented under subsection (a) shall include design and construction of a sewage collection system and related infrastructure, lake restoration (including elimination of stagnant water), and other measures necessary for water quality improvement.

(c) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There is authorized to be appropriated such sums as may be necessary to carry out this section.

SEC. 318. RAYSTOWN LAKE, PENNSYLVANIA.

The Secretary shall undertake a revision of the master plan for the Raystown Lake project, Pennsylvania, and submit to Congress for approval any proposed changes that significantly change uses of the Lake, the surrounding land resources, or any facilities located thereon. As part of the revision, the Secretary shall evaluate opportunities for development of portions of the Lake and adjacent lands by private parties. Pending submission to and approval by the Congress of the results of the revision, the Secretary may not make any significant land use changes at the project.

SEC. 319. SANTA ROSA PLAIN, CALIFORNIA.

The Secretary may study the feasibility of developing and preserving seasonal wetlands on the Santa Rosa plain in California and may provide technical assistance to the Sonoma County Vernal Pool Task Force in developing a plan for the development and preservation of such wetlands.

SEC. 320. KLAMATH GLEN LEVEE, CALIFORNIA.

The Secretary shall determine whether or not a design deficiency exists at the Klamath Glen levee at the confluence of Klamath River and Tewer Creek in Del Norte County, California, that is resulting in erosion at the toe of the levee. If the Secretary determines that such a deficiency does exist, the Secretary shall take such actions as may be necessary to correct the deficiency.

SEC. 321. PHOENIX, ARIZONA.

The Secretary may participate in the study and construction of a water resources project in the vicinity of Phoenix, Arizona, for the purpose of providing flood control and improving water quality in the Tres Rios wetlands, Arizona, at a total cost of $6,500,000.

SEC. 322. WATER SUPPLY NEEDS OF MAHONING VALLEY SANITARY DISTRICT, OHIO.

The Secretary shall cooperate with State and local officials in reviewing the water supply needs of the Mahoning Valley Sanitary District, Ohio. As part of such review, the Secretary shall conduct a study of current and future water allocations at Lake Milton and Neander and Berlin Reservoirs, Ohio.

SEC. 323. SAULT SAINTE MARIE, MICHIGAN.

Section 202 of the Water Resources Development Act of 1990 (104 Stat. 4632) is amended by striking "the parcel of land" and all that follows through the period at the end and inserting the following: "for use as a clubhouse for the local American Legion Post of Sault Sainte Marie, Michigan, the parcel of land, with a building located thereon, lying in the north one-half of fractional Section 5, T47N, R1E, Michigan Meridian, city of Sault Sainte Marie, Chippewa County, Michigan, commencing at the northeast corner of Lot 561 of Assessors Subdivision No. 13, city of Sault Ste. Marie, Chippewa County, Michigan; thence North 24 degrees 01 minutes 00 seconds East, 128.20 feet to the point of beginning; thence North 65 degrees 59 minutes 00 seconds West, 77.30 feet; thence North 08 degrees 04 minutes 00 seconds East, 152.00 feet; thence North 30 degrees 02 minutes 00 seconds East, 40.80 feet; thence North 59 degrees 46 minutes 00 seconds East, 72.75 feet; thence South 65 degrees 59 minutes 00 seconds East, 72.30 feet; thence South 24 degrees 01 minutes 00 seconds West, 245.80 feet to the point of beginning, containing 0.565 acre more or less.".

SEC. 324. HACKENSACK MEADOWLANDS AREA, NEW JERSEY.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary is authorized to provide design and construction assistance to the Hackensack Meadowlands Development Commission of the State of New Jersey for the development of the Phase I Environmental Improvement Program of the Special Area Management Plan for the Hackensack Meadowlands area, New Jersey.

(b) REQUIRED ELEMENTS.—The program to be developed under subsection (a) shall include at a minimum the following areas:

(1) Mitigation and enhancement for significant wetlands that contribute to the Meadowlands ecosystem.

(2) Development and implementation of a regional system to protect, preserve, and monitor wetlands.

(3) Water quality monitoring.

(4) Watershed cleanup at Bellmans and Penhorn Creeks.

(5) Storm water management research and demonstration.

(6) Tide gate improvement and reconstruction to control flooding in the Berry's Creek drainage basin.

(7) Research and development for a water quality improvement program.

(c) COST SHARING.—Total project costs under subsection (a) shall be shared at 75 percent Federal and 25 percent non-Federal. The non-Federal sponsor shall receive credit for lands, easements, rights-of-way, and relocations toward its share of project costs, but not to exceed 25 percent of total project costs. Operation and maintenance cost shall be 100 percent non-Federal.

(d) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATION.—There is authorized to be appropriated to carry out this section $5,000,000 for fiscal years beginning after September 30, 1992. Such sums shall remain available until expended.

SEC. 325. LAND EXCHANGE, ALLATOONA LAKE, GEORGIA.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary may initiate a program to exchange lands above 863 feet in elevation which are excess to the operational needs of Allatoona Lake, Georgia, for lands on the north side of Allatoona Lake which are needed for wildlife management and for protection of the water quality and overall environment of Allatoona Lake.

(b) TERMS AND CONDITIONS.—Land exchanges under the program to be conducted under subsection (a) shall be subject to the following terms and conditions:

(1) Lands acquired under the program must be contiguous to the lands in Federal Government ownership on the date of the enactment of this Act.

(2) Lands acquired under the program shall be from willing sellers only.

(3) The basis for all land exchanges under the program shall be a fair market appraisal so that lands exchanged are of equal value.

SEC. 326. NEW YORK BIGHT AND HARBOR STUDY.

(a) IN GENERAL.—As a continuation of the study pursuant to section 728 of the Water Resources Development Act of 1986, the Secretary shall study a hydro-environmental monitoring and information system in the New York Bight and New York Harbor and tributaries to the head of tide, in the form of a system using computerized buoys and radio telemetry that allows for the continual monitoring (at strategically located sites throughout the New York Bight and Harbor region) of the following: wind, wave, current, salinity, and thermal gradients and sea chemistry, in order to measure the effect of changes due to air and water pollution, including changes due to continued dumping in the Bight. This effort will include the study of a verified, nested, high-resolution Harbor/Bight Apex numerical model, and supportive monitoring and information systems.

(b) HYDRAULIC MODEL.—In addition, the Secretary shall study a proper physical hydraulic model of the New York Bight and the tying in of such model to the existing inshore physical hydraulic model of the Port of New York and New Jersey operated by the United States Army Corps of Engineers.

(c) PURPOSE.—This New York Bight and Harbor effort will address the engineering, environmental, and social impacts of natural and man-made changes to the New York Bight, including water quality parameters such as contaminant and sediment transport effects, and nutrient eutrophication.

(d) COORDINATION WITH EPA; REPORTS.—The Secretary shall coordinate fully with the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency in carrying out the study described in the section and shall report any findings and recommendations to Congress. The Secretary and the Administrator shall also consider the views of other appropriate Federal, State, and local agencies, academic institutions, and members of the public who are concerned about water and sediment quality in the New York Bight and Harbor region.

(e) REMEDIATION TECHNIQUES.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—To test and verify contaminant and sediment tracking ability of the models, and to reduce the problems associated with the dredging and disposal of dioxin contaminated sediments in the region, a study shall be performed to identify appropriate remediation techniques (including isolation and treatment) for mitigating dioxin contaminated sediments at their sources. The study and report are not intended to encumber civil works projects under development or scheduled to be maintained. Work on these projects shall proceed along the present schedule.

(2) REPORT.—Not later than 1 year after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall submit to the Committee on Environment and Public Works of the Senate, the Committee on Public Works and Transportation of the House of Representatives, and to the State of New Jersey a report on—

(A) the dioxin study and monitoring required in this subsection; and

(B) the effectiveness and costs of all reasonable remediation measures, including recommendations as to a plan for implementation of the most time and cost-effective measures.

(f) FUNDING.—There is authorized to be appropriated $1,000,000 for fiscal years beginning after September 30, 1992. Such sums shall remain available until expended.

SEC. 327. AVAILABILITY OF CONTAMINATED SEDIMENTS INFORMATION.

(a) STUDY.—The Secretary shall—

(1) conduct a national study on information that is currently available on contaminated sediments of the surface waters of the United States; and

(2) compile information obtained in such study for the purpose of identifying the location and nature of contaminated sediments in the Nation.

(b) REPORT.—Not later than 1 year after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall transmit to the Committee on Public Works and Transportation of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Environment and Public Works of the Senate a report on the results of the study conducted under subsection (a), including recommendations for the collection of additional data on the contaminated sediments and including the compilation of information referred to in subsection (a).

SEC. 328. MILWAUKEE HARBOR, WISCONSIN.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary is authorized to cooperate with non-Federal interests in the completion of a study on contaminated sediments in Milwaukee Harbor, Wisconsin, and surrounding areas.

(b) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There is authorized to be appropriated to carry out this section $200,000 for fiscal years beginning after September 30, 1992. Such sums shall remain available until expended.

SEC. 329. ARTHUR KILL, NEW YORK AND NEW JERSEY.

The Secretary shall complete planning and design of the project for navigation, Arthur Kill, New York and New Jersey, authorized by section 202(b) of the Water Resources Development Act of 1986 (100 Stat. 4098) after the Secretary has entered into appropriate agreements with non-Federal interests for completion of such planning and design.

SEC. 330. HARBOR MAINTENANCE TRUST FUND DEPOSITS AND EXPENDITURES.

(a) REPORT.—Not later than March 1, 1993, and annually thereafter, the President shall transmit to the Committee on Public Works and Transportation of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Environment and Public Works of the Senate a report on expenditures from and deposits into the Harbor Maintenance Trust Fund.

(b) CONTENTS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Each report to be transmitted under subsection (a) shall contain the following:

(A) A description of expenditures made from the trust fund in the previous fiscal year on a project-by-project basis.

(B) A description of deposits made into the trust fund in the previous fiscal year and the sources of such deposits.

(C) A 5-year projection of expenditures from and deposits into the trust fund.

(2) PREVIOUS YEARS INFORMATION.—In addition to information required under paragraph (1), the initial report to be transmitted under subsection (a) shall contain the information described in subparagraphs (A) and (B) of paragraph (1) for fiscal years 1987 through 1992.

SEC. 331. CONEMAUGH RIVER BASIN, PENNSYLVANIA.

(1) to conduct investigations and surveys of the watersheds of the rivers in the Conemaugh River Basin, Pennsylvania; and

(2) to develop and implement restoration projects for abatement and mitigation of surface water quality degradation caused by abandoned mines and mining activity in such basin.

SEC. 332. TRANSFER OF LOCKS AND APPURTENANT FEATURES, FOX RIVER SYSTEM, WISCONSIN.

(a) TRANSFER.—The Secretary is authorized to transfer to the State of Wisconsin the locks and appurtenant features of the navigation portion of the Fox River System, Wisconsin, extending from Green Bay, Wisconsin, to Lake Winnebago, Wisconsin, subject to the execution of an agreement by the Secretary and the State of Wisconsin which specifies the terms and conditions for such transfer.

(b) TREATMENT OF LOCKS AND APPURTENANT FEATURES.—The locks and appurtenant features to be transferred under subsection (a) shall not be treated as part of any Federal project after the effective date of the transfer.

(c) OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE.—Operation and maintenance of all features of the Fox River System, Wisconsin, other than the locks and appurtenant features to be transferred under subsection (a), shall continue to be a Federal responsibility after the effective date of the transfer under subsection (a).

SEC. 333. FISH AND WILDLIFE MITIGATION.

(a) LANDS, EASEMENTS, RIGHTS-OF-WAY, AND RELOCATIONS.—Section 906(c) of the Water Resources Development Act of 1986 (33 U.S.C. 2283(c)) is amended by inserting ", including lands, easements, rights-of-way, and relocations," before "for implementation and operation".

(b) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—

(1) HARBORS.—Section 101(a)(3) of such Act (33 U.S.C. 2211(a)(3)) is amended by striking

"The non-Federal" and inserting "Except as provided under section 906(c), the non-Federal".

(2) FLOOD CONTROL AND OTHER PURPOSES.—Section 103(i) of such Act (33 U.S.C. 2213(i)) is amended by striking "The non-Federal" and inserting "Except as provided under section 906(c), the non-Federal".

SEC. 334. CHESAPEAKE BAY BENEFICIAL USE SITE MANAGEMENT.

(a) STUDY.—The Secretary is authorized to conduct a study on environmentally beneficial ways to expand or supplement existing placement options and sites serving channel dredging operations of the Port of Baltimore. Such study shall enhance an ongoing long-term management study for the Chesapeake Bay area being conducted by the State of Maryland and the Secretary.

(b) CONDUCT.—In conducting the study under subsection (a), the Secretary shall—

(1) in coordination with Federal agencies and the Maryland Port Administration, demonstrate beneficial uses of dredged materials to enhance public recreational opportunities, increase living resource habitats, and enhance the environmental quality of the Chesapeake Bay;

(2) identify areas for beneficial use placement of dredged materials to enable the Port of Baltimore to continue maintenance dredging until a long-term management study recommends viable alternatives; and

(3) develop options for beneficial use placement of dredged materials for each site identified under paragraph (2).

(c) REPORT.—Not later than 18 months after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall transmit to the Committee on Public Works and Transportation of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Environment and Public Works of the Senate a report on the results of the study conducted under subsection (a).

(d) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There is authorized to be appropriated to carry out this section $3,000,000 for fiscal years beginning after September 30, 1992. Such sums shall remain available until expended.

SEC. 335. DECLARATION OF NONNAVIGABILITY FOR PORTIONS OF CUYAHOGA COUNTY, OHIO.

(a) AREA TO BE DECLARED NONNAVIGABLE; PUBLIC INTEREST.—Unless the Secretary finds, after consultation with local and regional public officials (including local and regional public planning organizations), that the proposed projects to be undertaken within the boundaries in the portions of the county of Cuyahoga, Ohio, described as follows, are not in the public interest then, subject to subsections (b) and (c), those portions of such county, bounded and described as follows, are declared to be nonnavigable waters of the United States:

Situated in the city of Cleveland, county of Cuyahoga, and State of Ohio, T7N, R13W, and known as being a part of original two acre lots numbers 16, 17, 18, 19, and 20 and the northerly extensions thereof, and being more fully described as follows:

Beginning at the intersection of the centerline of East 9th Street (99 feet wide) with the centerline of Relocated Erieside Avenue, N.E. (70 feet wide); thence south 56 degrees 06 minutes 52 seconds west on the centerline of Relocated Erieside Avenue, N.E., a distance of 112.89 feet to a point; thence north 33 degrees 53 minutes 08 seconds west a distance of 35.00 feet to a ⅝ inch rebar on the northwesterly right-of-way line of Relocated Erieside Avenue, N.E.; thence southwesterly on the northwesterly right-of-way line of Relocated Erieside Avenue, N.E., along the arc of a curve to the left, with a radius of 335.00 feet and whose chord bears south 42 degrees 36 minutes 52 seconds west 156.41 feet, an arc distance of 157.87 feet to a ⅝-inch rebar; thence south 29 degrees 06 minutes 52 seconds west on the northwesterly right-of-way line of Relocated Erieside Avenue, N.E., a distance of 119.39 feet to a ⅝-inch rebar; thence southwesterly on the northwesterly right-of-way line of Relocated Erieside Avenue, N.E., along the arc of a curve to the right, with a radius of 665.00 feet and whose chord bears south 39 degrees, 49 minutes 33 seconds west 247.19 feet, an arc distance of 248.64 feet to a ⅝-inch rebar and the true place of beginning of the parcel herein described; thence southwesterly on the northwesterly right-of-way line of Relocated Erieside Avenue, N.E., along the arc of a curve to the right, with a radius of 665.00 feet and whose chord bears south 53 degrees, 17 minutes 33 seconds west 64.05 feet, an arc distance of 64.08 feet to a ⅝-rebar set; thence south 56 degrees 03 minutes 30 seconds west on the northwesterly right-of-way line of Relocated Erieside Avenue, N.E., a distance of 248.38 feet to a ⅝-rebar set; thence northwesterly on the northeasterly right-of-way line of Relocated Erieside Avenue, N.E., along the arc of a curve to the right, with a radius of 265.00 feet and whose chord bears north 79 degrees 02 minutes 42 seconds west 374.09 feet, an arc distance of 415.31 feet to a drill hole set; thence north 34 degrees 08 minutes 55 seconds west on the northeasterly right-of-way line of Relocated Erieside Avenue, N.E., a distance of 505.30 feet to a ⅝-inch rebar set; thence northwesterly on the northeasterly right-of-way line of Relocated Erieside Avenue, N.E., along the arc of a curve to the left, with a radius of 112.00 feet and whose chord bears north 40 degrees 32 minutes 41 seconds west 24.95 feet, an arc distance of 25.01 feet to a drill hole set on the southerly right-of-way line of former Erieside Avenue, as vacated by city of Cleveland Ordinance No. 1100–87, passed June 16, 1987; thence northeasterly on the former right-of-way line along the arc of a curve to the right, with a radius of 515.00 feet and whose chord bears north 75 degrees 36 minutes 18 seconds east 136.45 feet, an arc distance of 136.85 feet to a ⅝-inch rebar set; thence north 86 degrees 13 minutes 04 seconds east on said former right-of-way line a distance of 294.57 feet to a ⅝-inch rebar set; thence north 52 degrees 57 minutes 23 seconds east on said former right-of-way line a distance of 56.98 feet to a ⅝-inch rebar set; thence south 33 degrees 53 minutes 08 seconds east a distance of 244.65 feet to a ⅝-inch rebar set; thence south 78 degrees 53 minutes 08 seconds east a distance of 105.04 feet to a ⅝-inch rebar set; thence north 56 degrees 06 minutes 52 seconds east a distance of 70.75 feet to a ⅝-inch rebar set; thence south 33 degrees 53 minutes 08 seconds east a distance of 274.74 feet to the true place of beginning containing 325,706 square feet (7.477 acres) more or less.

(b) LIMITS ON APPLICABILITY; REGULATORY REQUIREMENTS.—The declaration under subsection (a) shall apply to those parts of the areas described in subsection (a) which are or will be bulkheaded and filled or otherwise occupied by permanent structures, including marina facilities. All such work is subject to all applicable Federal statutes and regulations, including sections 9 and 10 of the Act of March 3, 1899 (30 Stat. 1151; 33 U.S.C. 401 and 403), commonly known as the River and Harbor Appropriation Act of 1899, section 404 of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act, and the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969.

(c) EXPIRATION DATE.—If, 20 years from the date of the enactment of this Act, any area or part thereof described in subsection (a) is not bulkheaded or filled or occupied by permanent structures, including marina facilities, in accordance with the requirements set forth in subsection (b), or if work in connection with any activity permitted in subsection (b) is not commenced within 5 years after issuance of such permits, then the declaration of nonnavigability for such area or part thereof shall expire.

SEC. 336. LOCKWOODS FOLLY RIVER, BRUNSWICK COUNTY, NORTH CAROLINA.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall carry out an exchange rate demonstration project under section 1135 of the Water Resources Development Act of 1986 (100 Stat. 4251) at the Eastern Channel of the Lockwoods Folly River, Brunswick County, North Carolina.

(b) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There is authorized to be appropriated to carry out this section $1,000,000 for fiscal years beginning after September 30, 1992. Such sums shall remain available until expended.

SEC. 337. PORT EVERGLADES, FLORIDA.

(a) DETERMINATION.—The Secretary shall review the construction performed by non-Federal interests at the project for navigation, Port Everglades, Florida, to determine the Federal navigation interest in such work.

(b) REIMBURSEMENT.—If the Secretary determines under subsection (a) that the work performed by non-Federal interests is consistent with the Federal navigation interest, the Secretary may reimburse non-Federal interests an amount equal to the estimate of the Federal share of the cost of construction of the Southport channel and turning notch at Port Everglades, Florida.

SEC. 338. 1993 WORLD UNIVERSITY GAMES.

The Secretary is authorized to use available resources (both personnel and material) to the greatest extent possible to support the logistical and minor construction needs of the local organizing committee of the 1993 World University Games in Western New York for the purpose of supplementing the involvement by the Secretary in the games requested by the Department of Defense, Office of Special Events Management.

SEC. 339. NUISANCE AQUATIC VEGETATION IN LAKE GASTON, VIRGINIA AND NORTH CAROLINA.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary is authorized to undertake a program to control nuisance aquatic vegetation for the purpose of preserving the recreational uses of the waters of Lake Gaston, Virginia and North Carolina.

(b) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There is authorized to be appropriated for the Federal share of the cost of the program authorized by this section $200,000 per fiscal year for each of fiscal years 1993 and 1994.

SEC. 340. SOUTHERN WEST VIRGINIA ENVIRONMENTAL RESTORATION INFRASTRUCTURE AND RESOURCE PROTECTION DEVELOPMENT PILOT PROGRAM.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT OF PROGRAM.—The Secretary shall establish a pilot program for providing environmental assistance to non-Federal interests in southern West Virginia. Such assistance may be in the form of design and construction assistance for water-related environmental infrastructure and resource protection and development projects in southern West Virginia, including projects for waste water treatment and related facilities, water supply, storage, treatment, and distribution facilities, and surface water resource protection and development.

(b) PUBLIC OWNERSHIP REQUIREMENT.—The Secretary may provide assistance for a project under this section only if the project is publicly owned.

(c) LOCAL COOPERATION AGREEMENTS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Before providing assistance under this Act, the Secretary shall enter into a local cooperation agreement with a non-Federal interest to provide for design and construction of the project to be carried out with such assistance.

(2) REQUIREMENTS.—Each local cooperation agreement entered into under this subsection shall provide for the following:

(A) PLAN.—Development by the Secretary, in consultation with appropriate Federal and State officials, of a facilities or resource protection and development plan, including appropriate engineering plans and specifications.

(B) LEGAL AND INSTITUTIONAL STRUCTURES.—Establishment of each such legal and institutional structures as are necessary to assure the effective long-term operation of the project by the non-Federal interest.

(3) COST-SHARING.—Total project costs under each local cooperation agreement entered into under this subsection shall be shared at 75 percent Federal and 25 percent non-Federal. The non-Federal interest shall receive credit for lands, easements, rights-of-way, and relocations toward its share of project costs but not to exceed 25 percent of total project costs. Operation and maintenance costs shall be 100 percent non-Federal.

(d) APPLICABILITY OF OTHER FEDERAL AND STATE LAWS.—Nothing in this section shall be construed as waiving, limiting, or otherwise affecting the applicability of any provision of Federal or State law which would otherwise apply to a project to be carried out with assistance provided under this section.

(e) REPORT.—Not later than December 31, 1998, the Secretary shall transmit to Congress a report on the results of the pilot program carried out under this section, together with recommendations concerning whether or not such program should be implemented on a national basis.

(f) SOUTHERN WEST VIRGINIA DEFINED.—For purposes of this section, the term "Southern West Virginia" means Raleigh, Wayne, Cabell, Fayette, Lincoln, Summers, Wyoming, Webster, Mingo, McDowell, Logan, Boone, Mercer, Pocahontas, Greenbrier, and Monroe Counties, West Virginia.

(g) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There is authorized to be appropriated to carry out this section $5,000,000 for fiscal years beginning after September 30, 1992. Such sums shall remain available until expended.

SEC. 341. TENNESSEE RIVER HERITAGE MUSEUM AND EDUCATION FACILITY.

The Tennessee Valley Authority is authorized to establish a facility to be known as the "Tennessee River Heritage Museum and Education Facility" for the purpose of encouraging science and technology as it relates to developing, managing, and preserving rivers as a nationally significant resource.

SEC. 342. TENNESSEE VALLEY EXHIBIT COMMISSION OF ALABAMA.

(a) COOPERATION BY TENNESSEE VALLEY AUTHORITY.—The Tennessee Valley Authority shall cooperate with the Tennessee Valley Exhibit Commission of Alabama to establish an exhibit in Florence, Alabama, on research and development in the area of inland navigation, tributary development and related activities.

SEC. 343. RED ROCK DAM AND LAKE, IOWA.

(a) STUDY.—The Comptroller General shall conduct a study to review the operation of the project for flood control, Red Rock Dam and Lake, Iowa, authorized by the Flood Control Act of June 28, 1938.

(b) PURPOSE.—The purpose of the study to be conducted under subsection (a) shall be—

(1) to determine whether the property adjacent to the project referred to in subsection (a) is being inundated by high reservoir levels beyond the levels permitted by existing easements; and

(2) to review actions taken by the Secretary to implement the requirement contained in section 108(b) of Public Law 99-190 (99 Stat. 1316).

(c) REPORT.—Not later than 1 year after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Comptroller General shall transmit to the Committee on Public Works and Transportation of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Environment and Public Works of the Senate a report on the results of the study conducted under this section, including recommendations on whether easements of the Secretary referred to in subsection (b)(1) should be renegotiated with landowners.

SEC. 344. ENVIRONMENTAL PROJECT MODIFICATIONS, SACRAMENTO RIVER, CALIFORNIA.

(a) IN GENERAL.—In carrying out modifications, under section 1135(b) of the Water Resources Development Act of 1986 (33 U.S.C. 2294 note), in the structures and operations of the project for flood control, Sacramento River, California, authorized by section 2 of the Flood Control Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 949), for the purpose of improving the quality of the environment in the public interest, the Secretary shall—

(1) credit the value of all lands, easements, and rights-of-way provided by non-Federal interests for such modifications to the non-Federal share of the cost of such modifications;

(2) include the one-time construction of the operation and maintenance facilities as part of project costs for the purposes of cost sharing; and

(3) in addition to the plan contained in the Yolo Basin Wetlands Project Modification Report dated April 1992, plan, design, and construct as part of such modifications historical wetlands at an alternative site located contiguous to the Yolo Bypass, immediately east of the Davis Water Pollution Control Plant, and along the north side of the Willow Slough Bypass.

(b) REPORT DEADLINE.—The Secretary shall complete a separate project modification report to carry out subsection (a)(3) for planning, design, and construction requirements on or before September 30, 1993.

SEC. 345. BANK STABILIZATION AND MARSH CREATION.

(a) STUDY.—The Secretary shall conduct a study on bank stabilization and marsh creation by construction of a system of retaining dikes and by beneficial use of dredged material along the Calcasieu River Ship Canal, Louisiana, at critical locations.

(b) REPORT.—Not later than 1 year after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall transmit to the Committee on Public Works and Transportation of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Environment and Public Works of the Senate a report on the results of the study conducted under subsection (a), including recommendations for specific measures to be undertaken under section 205 of this Act (relating to beneficial uses of dredged material) as a result of such study.

SEC. 346. CONNECTICUT COASTAL SALTMARSH RESTORATION AUTHORIZATION.

Subject to the cost sharing provisions of the Water Resources Development Act of 1986, the Secretary shall, as part of the long term goal of Corps of Engineers water resources development program of increasing the quality and quantity of the Nation's wetlands, investigate and carry out saltmarsh restoration projects along the coastline of the State of Connecticut.

SEC. 347. WINFIELD, BUFFALO, AND ELEANOR, WEST VIRGINIA.

(a) TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE.—The Secretary shall provide technical assistance to the towns of Winfield, Buffalo, and Eleanor, West Virginia, for the purpose of assisting the residents of such towns in analyzing and understanding the remedial options available for dealing with substances posing a risk to the environment at the Corps of Engineers lock and dam construction site in the vicinity of Winfield, West Virginia.

(b) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There is authorized to be appropriated to carry out this section $100,000 for fiscal years beginning after September 30, 1992. Such sums shall remain available until expended.

SEC. 348. LAND CONVEYANCE, CITY OF FORT SMITH, ARKANSAS.

The Secretary may convey to the city of Fort Smith, Arkansas, all right, title, and interest of the United States (excluding all oil, gas, and other minerals and subject to existing encumbrances) in and to a tract of real property (including improvements thereon) of approximately 400 acres located adjacent to the city and under the jurisdiction of the Secretary. Such conveyance shall be subject to terms and conditions agreed to between the Secretary and the city and to such other terms and conditions as the Secretary considers appropriate to protect the interests of the United States.

SEC. 349. RAHWAY RIVER, NEW JERSEY.

The Secretary is authorized to conduct a study on flooding problems along the Rahway River, township of Woodbridge and city of Rahway, New Jersey, and to implement such measures as the Secretary determines feasible in the interest of flood control along the Rahway River and the South Branch of the Rahway River.

SEC. 350. SAN FRANCISCO BAY, CALIFORNIA.

The Secretary is authorized to participate as an active Federal member in the Memorandum of Understanding for the Interagency Ecological Study Program for implementation of the monitoring requirements in the San Francisco Bay—Delta Estuary, California, dated October 19, 1990, and March 9, 1992, including the coordination, conduction, and transfer of funds, equipment, and personnel between the cooperating agencies.

SEC. 351. FLOOD WARNING RESPONSE SYSTEM.

Section 17(a) of the Water Resources Development Act of 1988 (102 Stat. 4026) is amended by striking "consistent" and all that follows through "1986" and inserting "at full Federal expense".

SEC. 352. TARRANT COUNTY, TEXAS.

Section 101(n) of Public Law 99-500 (100 Stat. 1783-345) and section 101 of Public Law 99-591 (100 Stat. 3341-345-3341-346) are each amended by striking ": Provided, That in" and all that follows through "and Marine Creek".

SEC. 353. RELEASE OF CERTAIN USE RESTRICTION.

(a) RELEASE.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the Tennessee Valley Authority is authorized and directed to grant a release or releases, without monetary consideration, from the restriction and covenant which requires that property described in subsection (b) shall at all times be used solely for the purpose of erecting docks and buildings for shipbuilding purposes or for the manufacture or storage of products for the purpose of trading or shipping in transportation.

(b) DESCRIPTION OF PROPERTY.—This section shall apply only to those lands situated in the city of Decatur, Morgan County, Alabama, and described in an indenture conveying such lands to the Ingalls Shipbuilding Corporation dated July 29, 1954, and recorded in Deed Book 535 at page 6 in the office of the Probate Judge of Morgan County, Alabama, which are owned or may hereafter be acquired by the city of Decatur, Alabama.

SEC. 354. FORT POINT, GALVESTON, TEXAS.

(a) CONSTRUCTION OF INTERAGENCY CHILD CARE FACILITY.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the Secretary is authorized by contract or otherwise to construct, establish, equip, maintain, and operate (or assist in constructing, equipping, maintaining, and operating) an interagency child care facility at Fort Point, Galveston, Texas, on Federal property under the management and control of the Galveston District, United States Army Corps of Engineers. The purpose of such facility shall be to provide child care services for children who are members of households of Federal employees.

(b) FEES, TRANSFERS, AND ACCEPTANCE OF DONATIONS.—

(1) FEES.—The Secretary is authorized to establish or provide for the establishment of appropriate fees and charges to be chargeable against the Galveston District, United States Army Corps of Engineers, employees and others who are beneficiaries of the services provided by the child care facility to be constructed under this section.

(2) TRANSFERS.—A Federal agency may transfer to the Secretary for use in connection with the child care facility to be constructed under this section amounts available to the agency for child care services.

(3) DONATIONS.—The Secretary is authorized to accept donations of money, equipment, and other property for use in connection with the child care facility to be constructed under this section.

(c) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There is authorized to be appropriated to carry out this section for fiscal years beginning after September 30, 1992, $1,500,000. Such sums shall remain available until expended.

SEC. 355. PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA.

(a) TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE.—The Secretary is authorized and directed to offer technical assistance to the National Park Service on infrastructure repairs and improvements at the Presidio of San Francisco, California, during the transition period from Army to Park Service management and after its inclusion into the Golden Gate National Recreation Area.

(b) IDENTIFICATION OF OPPORTUNITIES.—The Secretary shall assist the National Park Service in identifying opportunities at the Presidio for demonstration and education programs of environmentally sustainable and innovative technologies, and shall make available a liaison from its Construction Engineering Research Laboratory for this purpose.

(c) COOPERATION.—The Secretary will cooperate with other Federal agencies (such as the Environmental Protection Agency and Department of Energy) which the National Park Service identifies as having an interest and role in such programs at the Presidio.

SEC. 356. SEDIMENT MANAGEMENT STRATEGY FOR MAUMEE RIVER, TOLEDO HARBOR.

(a) DEVELOPMENT.—Not later than 12 months after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary, in coordination with the Toledo Port Authority and the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency, shall develop a comprehensive 5-year and 20-year sediment management strategy for the Maumee River, Toledo Harbor. The strategy may include a combination of several sediment disposal alternatives and shall emphasize innovative, environmentally benign alternatives, including reuse and recycling for wetland restoration.

(b) IMPLEMENTATION.—The Secretary is authorized to conduct the engineering and construction activities necessary to implement the 5-year sediment management strategy developed pursuant to subsection (a).

(c) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There is authorized to be appropriated $1,000,000 to carry out subsection (a) and $3,000,000 to carry out subsection (b).

SEC. 357. SOUTHEAST LIGHT ON BLOCK ISLAND, RHODE ISLAND.

Section 416 of the Water Resources Development Act of 1990 (104 Stat. 4651–4652) is amended by striking subsection (c) and inserting the following:

"(c) COST-SHARING.—The non-Federal share of the cost of relocating the lighthouse under this section shall be $970,000. Administrative costs of the Army Corps of Engineers in carrying out this section shall not be treated, for purposes of this section, as costs of relocating the lighthouse and shall not be paid from amounts appropriated to carry out this section.".

SEC. 358. ALLENDALE DAM, NORTH PROVIDENCE, RHODE ISLAND.

(a) RECONSTRUCTION.—The Secretary is authorized to reconstruct the Allendale Dam in North Providence, Rhode Island, at a total cost of $90,000, with an estimated Federal cost of $67,500 and an estimated non-Federal cost of $22,500. The Secretary shall not rebuild the dam until title to such dam has been transferred to a nonprofit watershed council or the city of North Providence.

(b) NON-FEDERAL SHARE.—The non-Federal share of the cost of the project authorized by this section shall be 25 percent.

SEC. 359. LAKE DEGRAY WATER SUPPLY.

The Secretary is directed to execute a water supply contract with the Ouachita River Water District for withdrawals from Lake DeGray, Arkansas, as provided in the agreement forwarded by the Vicksburg District Corps of Engineers dated March 1992.

SEC. 360. SOURIS RIVER, NORTH DAKOTA.

Section 1124(d) of the Water Resources Development Act of 1986 (33 U.S.C. 652) is amended by striking "$69,100,000" and inserting "$120,800,000".

SEC. 361. ABANDONED AND WRECKED BARGE REMOVAL.

(a) IN GENERAL.—In order to alleviate a hazard to navigation, the Secretary is authorized to remove a sunken barge from waters off the shore of the Narragansett Town Beach in Narragansett, Rhode Island, at a total cost of $200,000, with an estimated Federal cost of $150,000 and an estimated non-Federal cost of $50,000. The Secretary shall not remove the barge until title to such barge has been transferred to the United States.

(b) NON-FEDERAL SHARE.—The non-Federal share of the cost of the project authorized by this section shall be 25 percent. Revenue derived from the sale of scrap from this barge shall be credited toward the non-Federal share of the project cost.

SEC. 362. QUONSET POINT-DAVISVILLE, RHODE ISLAND.

The Secretary is authorized to construct 2 elevated water storage towers at Quonset Point-Davisville, Rhode Island, at a total cost of $1,500,000, with an estimated Federal cost of $1,125,000 and an estimated non-Federal cost of $375,000. In conjunction with this project, the Secretary is authorized to relocate 6,000 linear feet of sewer lines to West Davisville, Rhode Island, at a total cost of $1,000,000, with an estimated Federal cost of $750,000 and an estimated non-Federal cost of $250,000.

SEC. 363. STILLWATER, MINNESOTA.

The Secretary is authorized to undertake the repair and reconstruction of a flood wall system at Stillwater, Minnesota, including an extension of such system to prevent the continuous eroding of the riverfront, at a total cost of $3,200,000, with an estimated Federal cost of $2,400,000 and an estimted non-Federal cost of $800,000.

SEC. 364. STORMWATER DISCHARGES.

(1) in paragraph (1) by striking "October 1, 1992" and inserting "October 1, 1994"; and

(2) in paragraph (6) by striking "October 1, 1992" and inserting "October 1, 1993".

TITLE IV—INFRASTRUCTURE TECHNOLOGY, RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT

SEC. 401. INTERNATIONAL OUTREACH PROGRAM.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary is authorized to engage in activities to inform the United States maritime industry and port authorities of technological innovations abroad that could significantly improve waterborne transportation in the United States, both inland and deep draft. Such activities may include—

(1) development, monitoring, assessment, and dissemination of information about foreign water transportation and port facilities that could significantly improve water transportation in the United States;

(2) research, development, training, and other forms of technology transfer and exchange; and

(3) offering technical services which cannot be readily obtained in the private sector to be incorporated in the proposals of port authorities or other water transportation developers if the costs for assistance will be recovered under the terms of each project.

(b) COOPERATION.—The Secretary may carry out the provisions of this section in cooperation with Federal departments and agencies, State and local agencies, authorities, institutions, corporations (profit or nonprofit), foreign governments, or other organizations.

(c) FUNDING.—The funds to carry out the provisions of this section shall include funds deposited in a special account with the Secretary of the Treasury for such purposes by any cooperating entity or organization according to cost-sharing agreements proscribed by the Secretary. Reimbursement for services provided under this section shall be credited to the appropriation concerned.

SEC. 402. MARINE TECHNOLOGY REVIEW.

(a) DREDGING NEEDS.—The Secretary is authorized to conduct such studies as are necessary to provide a report to Congress on the dredging needs of the national ports and harbors of the United States. The report shall include existing and projected future project depths, types and sizes of ships in use, and world trade patterns, an assessment of the future national waterside infrastructure needs, and a comparison of drafts of United States and selected world ports.

(b) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There is authorized to be appropriated $2,500,000 to carry out this section for fiscal years beginning after September 30, 1992. Such sums shall remain available until expended.

SEC. 403. LA GUARDIA DIKE, NEW YORK.

The responsibility of the Federal Government to maintain and operate a 1,400-foot earthen dike constructed by local interests in lieu of a 1,400-foot steel sheetpile breakwater authorized as part of the Flushing Bay and Creek, New York, project by the River and Harbor Act of 1962 (76 Stat. 1174) is not authorized after the date of the enactment of this Act.

SEC. 404. ATLANTIC COAST OF NEW YORK.

(a) DEVELOPMENT OF PROGRAM.—The Secretary is authorized and directed to develop a data collection and monitoring program of coastal processes for the Atlantic Coast of New York, from Coney Island to Montauk Point, with a view toward providing information necessary to develop a program for addressing post storm actions and long-term shoreline erosion control.

(b) INITIAL PLAN.—Not later than 12 months after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall provide an initial plan for data collection and monitoring to the Committee on Environment and Public Works of the Senate and the Committee on Public Works and Transportation of the House of Representatives. Such initial plan shall be fully coordinated with and agreed to by appropriate agencies of the State of New York.

(c) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There is authorized to be appropriated $1,400,000 for each of fiscal years 1993, 1994, 1995, 1996, and 1997 to carry out this section. Such sums shall remain available until expended.

SEC. 405. SEDIMENTS DECONTAMINATION TECHNOLOGY.

(a) DECONTAMINATION PROJECT.—

(1) SELECTION OF TECHNOLOGIES.—Based upon a review of decontamination technologies identified pursuant to section 412(c) of the Water Resources Development Act of 1990, the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency and the Secretary shall, within 1 year after the date of the enactment of this Act, jointly select removal, pre-treatment, post-treatment, and decontamination technologies for contaminated marine sediments for a decontamination project in the New York/New Jersey Harbor.

(2) RECOMMENDED PROGRAM.—Upon selection of technologies, the Administrator and the Secretary shall jointly recommend a program of selected technologies to assess their effectiveness in rendering sediments acceptable for unrestricted ocean disposal or beneficial reuse, or both.

(b) DECONTAMINATION DEFINED.—For purposes of this section, "decontamination" may include local or remote prototype or production and laboratory decontamination technologies, sediment pre-treatment and post-treatment processes, and siting, economic, or other measures necessary to develop a matrix for selection of interim prototype of long-term processes. Decontamination techniques need not be preproven in terms of likely success.

(c) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There is authorized to be appropriated to carry out this section $5,000,000 for fiscal years beginning after September 30, 1992. Such sums shall remain available until expended.

TITLE V—CONTAMINATED SEDIMENT AND OCEAN DUMPING

SEC. 501. SHORT TITLE AND DEFINITIONS.

(a) SHORT TITLE.—This title may be cited as the "National Contaminated Sediment Assessment and Management Act".

(b) DEFINITIONS.—For the purposes of sections 502 and 503 of this title—

(1) the term "aquatic sediment" means sediment underlying the navigable waters of the United States;

(2) the term "navigable waters" has the same meaning as in section 502(7) of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act (33 U.S.C. 1362(7));

(3) the term "pollutant" has the same meaning as in section 502(6) of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act (33 U.S.C. 1362(6)); except that such term does not include dredge spoil, rock, sand, or celler dirt;

(4) the term "contaminated sediment" means aquatic sediment which—

(A) contains chemical substances in excess of appropriate geochemical, toxicological or sediment quality criteria or measures; or

(B) is otherwise considered by the Administrator to pose a threat to human health or the environment; and

(5) the term "Administrator" means the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency.

SEC. 502. NATIONAL CONTAMINATED SEDIMENT TASK FORCE.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT.—There is established a National Contaminated Sediment Task Force (hereinafter referred to in this section as the "Task Force"). The Task Force shall—

(1) advise the Administrator and the Secretary in the implementation of this title;

(2) review and comment on reports concerning aquatic sediment quality and the extent and seriousness of aquatic sediment contamination throughout the Nation;

(3) review and comment on programs for the research and development of aquatic sediment restoration methods, practices, and technologies;

(4) review and comment on the selection of pollutants for development of aquatic sediment criteria and the schedule for the development of such criteria;

(5) advise appropriate officials in the development of guidelines for restoration of contaminated sediment;

(6) make recommendations to appropriate officials concerning practices and measures—

(A) to prevent the contamination of aquatic sediments; and

(B) to control sources of sediment contamination; and

(7) review and assess the means and methods for locating and constructing permanent, cost-effective long-term disposal sites for the disposal of dredged material that is not suitable for ocean dumping (as determined under the Marine Protection, Research, and Sanctuaries Act of 1972 (33 U.S.C. 1401 et seq.)).

(b) MEMBERSHIP.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The membership of the Task Force shall include 1 representative of each of the following:

(A) The Administrator.

(B) The Secretary.

(C) The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

(D) The United States Fish and Wildlife Service.

(E) The Geological Survey.

(F) The Department of Agriculture.

(2) ADDITIONAL MEMBERS.—Additional members of the Task Force shall be jointly selected by the Administrator and the Secretary, and shall include—

(A) not more than 3 representatives of States;

(B) not more than 3 representatives of ports, agriculture, and manufacturing; and

(C) not more than 3 representatives of public interest organizations with a demonstrated interest in aquatic sediment contamination.

(3) COCHAIRMEN.—The Administrator and the Secretary shall serve as cochairmen of the Task Force.

(4) CLERICAL AND TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE.—Such clerical and technical assistance as may be necessary to discharge the duties of the Task Force shall be provided by the personnel of the Environmental Protection Agency and the Army Corps of Engineers.

(5) COMPENSATION FOR ADDITIONAL MEMBERS.—The additional members of the Task Force selected under paragraph (2) shall, while attending meetings or conferences of the Task Force, be compensated at a rate to be fixed by the cochairmen, but not to exceed the daily equivalent of the base rate of pay in effect for grade GS–15 of the General Schedule under section 5332 of title 5, United States Code, for each day (including travel time) during which they are engaged in the actual performance of duties vested in the Task Force. While away from their homes or regular places of business in the performance of services for the Task Force, such members shall be allowed travel expenses, including per diem in lieu of subsistence, in the same manner as persons employed intermittently in the Government service are allowed expenses under section 5703(b) of title 5, United States Code.

(c) REPORT.—Within 2 years after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Task Force shall submit to Congress a report stating the findings and recommendations of the Task Force.

SEC. 503. SEDIMENT SURVEY AND MONITORING.

(a) SURVEY.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Administrator, in consultation with the Administrator of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration and the Secretary, shall conduct a comprehensive national survey of data regarding aquatic sediment quality in the United States. The Administrator shall compile all existing information on the quantity, chemical and physical composition, and geographic location of pollutants in aquatic sediment, including the probable source of such pollutants and identification of those sediments which are contaminated pursuant to section 501(b)(4).

(2) REPORT.—Not later than 24 months after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Administrator shall report to the Congress the findings, conclusions, and recommendations of such survey, including recommendations for actions necessary to prevent contamination of aquatic sediments and to control sources of contamination.

(b) MONITORING.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Administrator, in consultation with the Administrator of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration and the Secretary, shall conduct a comprehensive and continuing program to assess aquatic sediment quality. The program conducted pursuant to this subsection shall, at a minimum—

(A) identify the location of pollutants in aquatic sediment;

(B) identify the extent of pollutants in sediment and those sediments which are contaminated pursuant to section 501(b)(4);

(C) establish methods and protocols for monitoring the physical, chemical, and biological effects of pollutants in aquatic sediment and of contaminated sediment;

(D) develop a system for the management, storage, and dissemination of data concerning aquatic sediment quality;

(E) provide an assessment of aquatic sediment quality trends over time;

(F) identify locations where pollutants in sediment may pose a threat to the quality of drinking water supplies, fisheries resources, and marine habitats; and

(G) establish a clearing house for information on technology, methods, and practices available for the remediation, decontamination, and control of sediment contamination.

(2) Report.—The Administrator shall submit to Congress a report on the findings of the monitoring under paragraph (1) on the date that is 2 years after the date specified in subsection (a)(2) and biennially thereafter.

SEC. 504. CONCURRENCE BY THE ADMINISTRATOR.

(a) Concurrence by the Administrator.—Section 103(c) of the Marine Protection, Research, and Sanctuaries Act of 1972 (33 U.S.C. 1413(c)) is amended to read as follows:

"(c) Concurrence by the Administrator.—

"(1) Notification.—Prior to issuing a permit to any person under this section, the Secretary shall first notify the Administrator of the Secretary's intention to do so and provide necessary and appropriate information concerning the permit to the Administrator. Within 30 days of receiving such information, the Administrator shall review the information and request any additional information the Administrator deems necessary to evaluate the proposed permit.

"(2) Concurrence by administrator.—Within 45 days after receiving from the Secretary all information the Administrator considers to be necessary to evaluate the proposed permit, the Administrator shall, in writing, concur with (either entirely or with conditions) or decline to concur with the determination of the Secretary as to compliance with the criteria, conditions, and restrictions established pursuant to sections 102(a) and 102(c) relating to the environmental impact of the permit. The Administrator may request one 45-day extension in writing and the Secretary shall grant such request on receipt of the request.

"(3) Effect of concurrence.—In any case where the Administrator makes a determination to concur (with or without conditions) or to decline to concur within the time period specified in paragraph (2) the determination shall prevail. If the Administrator declines to concur in the determination of the Secretary no permit shall be issued. If the Administrator concurs with conditions the permit shall include such conditions. The Administrator shall state in writing the reasons for declining to concur or for the conditions of the concurrence.

"(4) Failure to act.—If no written documentation is made by the Administrator within the time period provided for in paragraph (2), the Secretary may issue the permit.

"(5) Compliance with criteria and restrictions.—Unless the Administrator grants a waiver pursuant to subsection (d), any permit issued by the Secretary shall require compliance with such criteria and restrictions.".

(b) Conforming Amendment.—Section 103(e) of the Marine Protection, Research, and Sanctuaries Act of 1972 (33 U.S.C. 1413(e)) is amended by inserting "and section 104(a) and (d)" before the period.

SEC. 505. STATE OCEAN DUMPING REQUIREMENTS.

Section 106(d) of the Marine Protection, Research, and Sanctuaries Act of 1972 (33 U.S.C. 1416(d)) is amended to read as follows:

"(d) State Programs.—

(1) State rights preserved.—Except as expressly provided in this subsection, nothing in this title shall preclude or deny the right of any State to adopt or enforce any requirements respecting dumping of materials into ocean waters within the jurisdiction of the State.

"(2) Federal projects.—In the case of a Federal project, a State may not adopt or enforce a requirement that is more stringent than a requirement under this title if the Administrator finds that such requirement—

"(A) is not supported by relevant scientific evidence showing the requirement to be protective of human health, aquatic resources, or the environment;

"(B) is arbitrary or capricious; or

"(C) is not applicable or is not being applied to all projects without regard to Federal, State, or private participation and the Secretary of the Army concurs in such finding.

"(3) Exemption from state requirements.—The President may exempt a Federal project from any State requirement respecting dumping of materials into ocean waters if it is in the paramount interest of the United States to do so.

"(4) Consideration of site of origin prohibited.—Any requirement respecting dumping of materials into ocean waters applied by a State shall be applied without regard to the site of origin of the material to be dumped.".

SEC. 506. SITE DESIGNATION.

(a) Site Designation Amendments.—Section 102(c) of the Marine Protection, Research, and Sanctuaries Act (33 U.S.C. 1412(c)) is amended to read as follows:

"(c) Designation of Sites.—

(1) In general.—The Administrator shall, in a manner consistent with the criteria established pursuant to subsection (a), designate sites or time periods for dumping. The Administrator shall designate sites or time periods for dumping that will mitigate adverse impact on the environment to the greatest extent practicable.

"(2) Prohibitions regarding site or time period.—In any case where the Administrator determines that, with respect to certain materials, it is necessary to prohibit dumping at a site or during a time period, the Administrator shall prohibit the dumping of such materials in such site or during such time period. This prohibition shall apply to any dumping at the site or during such time period. This prohibition shall apply to any dumping at the site or during the time period, including any dumping under section 103(e).

"(3) Dredged material disposal sites.—In the case of dredged material disposal sites, the Administrator, in conjunction with the Secretary, shall develop a site management plan for each site designated pursuant to this section. In developing such plans, the Administrator and the Secretary shall provide opportunity for public comment. Such plans shall include, but not be limited to—

"(A) a baseline assessment of conditions at the site;

"(B) a program for monitoring the site;

"(C) special management conditions or practices to be implemented at each site that are necessary for protection of the environment;

"(D) consideration of the quantity of the material to be disposed of at the site, and the presence, nature, and bioavailability of the contaminants in the material;

"(E) consideration of the anticipated use of the site over the long term, including the anticipated closure date for the site, if applicable, and any need for management of the site after the closure of the site; and

"(F) a schedule for review and revision of the plan (which shall not be reviewed and revised less frequently than 10 years after adoption of the plan, and every 10 years thereafter).

"(4) General site management plan requirement; prohibitions.—After January 1, 1995, no site shall receive a final designation unless a management plan has been developed pursuant to this section. Beginning on January 1, 1997, no permit for dumping pursuant to this Act or authorization for dumping under section 103(e) of this Act shall be issued for a site unless such site has received a final designation pursuant to this subsection or an alternative site has been selected pursuant to section 103(b).

"(5) Management plans for previously designated sites.—The Administrator shall develop a site management plan for any site designated prior to January 1, 1995, as expeditiously as practicable, but not later than January 1, 1997, giving priority consideration to management plans for designated sites that are considered to have the greatest impact on the environment.".

(b) Site Use Clarification.—Section 103(b) of the Marine Protection, Research, and Sanctuaries Act of 1972 (33 U.S.C. 1413(b)) is amended—

(1) in the last sentence by inserting "maximum" before "extent feasible"; and

(2) by adding at the end the following: "In any case in which the use of a designated site is not feasible, the Secretary may, with the concurrence of the Administrator, select an alternative site. The criteria and factors established in section 102(a) relating to site selection shall be used in selecting the alternative site in a manner consistent with the application of such factors and criteria pursuant to section 102(c). Disposal at or in the vicinity of an alternative site shall be limited to a period of not greater than 5 years unless the site is subsequently designated pursuant to section 102(c); except that an alternative site may continue to be used for an additional period of time that shall not exceed 5 years if—

"(1) no feasible disposal site has been designated by the Administrator;

"(2) the continued use of the alternative site is necessary to maintain navigation and facilitate interstate or international commerce; and

"(3) the Administrator determines that the continued use of the site does not pose an unacceptable risk to human health, aquatic resources, or the environment.".

SEC. 507. PERMIT CONDITIONS.

(a) Management Plan.—Section 104(a)(4) of the Marine Protection, Research, and Sanctuaries Act of 1972 (33 U.S.C. 1414(a)(4)) is amended to read as follows: "(4) such requirements, limitations, or conditions as are necessary to assure consistency with any site management plan approved pursuant to section 102(c);".

(b) Permit Term.—Section 104(a) of the Marine Protection, Research, and Sanctuaries Act of 1972 (33 U.S.C. 1414(a)), is amended by adding at the end the following: "Permits issued under this title shall be issued for a period of not to exceed 7 years.".

(c) Review.—Section 104(d) of the Marine Protection, Research, and Sanctuaries Act of 1972 (33 U.S.C. 1414(d)) is amended by adding after "where he finds" the following: ", based upon monitoring data from the dump site and surrounding area,".

SEC. 508. OCEAN DUMPING PENALTIES.

(a) PENALTY.—Section 105(b) of the Marine Protection, Research, and Sanctuaries Act of 1972 (33 U.S.C. 1415(b)) is amended to read as follows:

"(b) CRIMINAL PENALTIES.—In addition to any action that may be brought under subsection (a)—

"(1) any person who knowingly violates any provision of this title, any regulation promulgated under this title, or a permit issued under this title, shall be fined under title 18, United States Code, or imprisoned for not more than 5 years, or both; and

"(2) any person who is convicted of such a violation pursuant to paragraph (1) shall forfeit to the United States—

"(A) any property constituting or derived from any proceeds that the person obtained, directly or indirectly, as a result of such violation; and

"(B) any of the property of the person which was used, or intended to be used in any manner or part, to commit or to facilitate the commission of the violation.".

(b) SEIZURE AND FORFEITURE.—Section 105 of the Marine Protection, Research, and Sanctuaries Act of 1972 (33 U.S.C. 1415) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(i) SEIZURE AND FORFEITURE.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—Any vessel used to commit an act for which a penalty is imposed under section 105(b) shall be subject to seizure and forfeiture to the United States under procedures established for seizure and forfeiture of conveyances under sections 413 and 511 of the Controlled Substances Act (21 U.S.C. 853, 881).

"(2) LIMITATION ON APPLICATION.—This subsection does not apply to an act committed substantially in accordance with a compliance agreement or enforcement agreement entered into by the Administrator under section 104B(c).".

SEC. 509. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.

(a) GENERAL AUTHORIZATION.—Section 111 of the Marine Protection, Research, and Sanctuaries Act of 1972 (33 U.S.C. 1420) is amended by striking "for each of" and all that follows through the period at the end of the section and inserting the following: "for fiscal year 1993 and not to exceed $14,000,000 for each of the fiscal years 1994, 1995, 1996, and 1997, to remain available until expended.".

(b) TASK FORCE, SURVEY AND MONITORING.—There is authorized to be appropriated to the Administrator to carry out sections 502 and 503 such sums as may be necessary.

SEC. 510. REPORT TO CONGRESS.

Section 112 of the Marine Protection, Research, and Sanctuaries Act of 1972 (33 U.S.C. 1421) is amended by adding at the end the following: "Such report shall include a description of the number of permits issued under this title (including the number of permits issued by the Secretary with the concurrence of the Administrator), any actions taken under subsections (c) and (d) of section 103, and for each permit, the site receiving the material, the volume and characteristics of material dumped (including the extent and nature of pollutants in such material), and the management practices implemented in connection with each disposal activity.".

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from New Jersey [Mr. ROE] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from Arkansas [Mr. HAMMERSCHMIDT] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

Mr. ROE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 6167 means jobs, productive jobs for American workers, it means the further rebuilding of our Nation's infrastructure and it means the continued development of our Nation's water resources.

This bill will integrate our water resources development program with the National Intermodal Transportation System that was created last year.

The bill authorizes major expansions and improvements of our water resources infrastructure through projects that will mean thousands of jobs in every part of our Nation.

I want to pay my compliments to JOHN PAUL HAMMERSCHMIDT of Arkansas, our ranking Republic member, HENRY NOWAK of New York, The Chairman of the Subcommittee on Water Resources, and THOMAS PETRI of Wisconsin, the subcommittee's ranking Republican member for their outstanding efforts on this bill.

I also want to thank our counterparts in the Senate, Senator MOYNIHAN of New York, Senator CHAFEE of Rhode Island, and Senator SYMMS of Idaho. Also, I want to express my thanks to the staff of the Public Works and Transportation Committee for their work on this bill and many others over the years.

This bill is a joint effort that reflects the views of the House, the Senate, and the administration.

Investment in our Nation's water resources infrastructure means jobs and it means an increased ability for our Nation to compete in the global economy.

This bill continues the progress in our water resources development program that began with our 1986 water resources bill, it begins to blend our ports and inland waterways into the Intermodal Transportation System that we created last year and it furthers the process of rebuilding our environmental infrastructure.

Our water resources program is a vital part of our Nation's infrastructure rebuilding program and Intermodal Transportation System that includes highways, transit, aviation, and other forms of transportation. Getting the goods to market is critical.

The Water Resources Development Act of 1992 will continue the process of rebuilding the infrastructure and the ports and waterways that are part of the Intermodal Transportation System.

Based on the recommendations of the Corps of Engineers, the bill authorizes and modifies 23 water resources projects at a total of $2.2 billion. There are 8 port developments, 2 inland waterways, 11 flood control projects, 1 environmental restoration project, and 1 beach erosion control project.

This bill recognizes that the Corps of Engineers is a tremendous asset for our entire Nation. It is crucial for the quality of life of all our residents to use the valuable and abundant resources and expertise of the corps to rebuild our Nation's environmental infrastructure.

We are bringing before this House a program for water resources development that is environmentally sound and that will meet our Nation's needs for the 1990's and the 21st century.

This legislation will continue the great progress that has been made in the water resources development area and the Corps of Engineers program since passage of the 1986 Water Resources Act. We will be maintaining the 2-year water resources authorization cycle which is absolutely essential for the proper functioning of the entire program.

At the request of the administration, several authorities to provide grants or loans to communities for important and needed environmental infrastructure projects were changed to authorize the Secretary to provide design and construction assistance in lieu of grants or loans. Such assistance may include planning, engineering, design, and construction of these needed infrastructure improvements.

This bill is vitally needed this year. I urge the Members to vote in support of H.R. 6167, the Water Resources Development Act of 1992 and send this bill to the President for his signature.

I am submitting additional explanatory material concerning section 102(P) with my statement.

Section 102(P) of the House Act also corrects and clarifies the original intent of Sections 101(a)(18)(C) (vii) and (viii) of the Water Resources Development Act of 1990 for the Passaic River Mainstem project, New Jersey and New York, to insure that the full value of credits is available to the project in light of the national importance of the wetlands bank provisions. In recognition of the broad environmental goals of the wetlands bank and the protection of additional open space lands, including Passaic River watershed areas outside of New Jersey, clause 101(a)(18)(C)(vii) requires that the fair market value of such lands be fully credited to the non-federal share of the cost of the project. It is intended that such credits shall be applied to costs allocated to all Passaic River Mainstem project purposes and any other Passaic River basin flood control project, and shall not be limited to offsets against the sponsor's share of costs assigned only to the Passaic River Mainstem project flood control purpose. Additionally, section 102(P) directs that the wetlands bank and additional lands shall not be treated as project costs for purposes of the financial evaluation of the project. The wetlands bank, and the protection of additional open space and watershed lands, are non-Federal programs. It is clearly intended that the value of such lands shall not be considered as a project cost, nor added to or otherwise treated as a project cost for the project's economic and financial evaluations.

In accordance with Sections 101 18(A)(iv) and (v) of Public Law 101-640 the Secretary of the Army is directed to establish a Corps of Engineers operating center for the Passaic River Flood Warning System completed in 1988, under Section 205 of the 1948 Flood Control Act, and amended. The Committee recognizes that the monitoring of rainfall and stream flows over the Passaic River watershed is central to the Federal responsibilities established in Section 101 18(A)(iv) of PL 101-640. Therefore, in accordance with Section 101 18(A)(v) of said Act, which affirms the Flood Warning System element as an integral component of the Main Stem Project, funding is provided for the Corps of Engineers to initiate those transition activities needed to interface with the State of New Jersey, who is currently operating the system, and to plan and prepare for assuming full Federal operation, maintenance, repair, and rehabilitation and replacement in conjunction with the Federal role for the tunnel. The Committee is aware that the system is technically complex requiring sophisticated hydrologic and operations analytical capability including the accurate and timely measurement and computerized evaluation of rainfall and stream flows.

DEPARTMENT OF THE ARMY,
Washington, DC, October 2, 1992.

Hon. ROBERT A. ROE,
Chairman, Committee on Public Works and Transportation,
House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. CHAIRMAN: This is in response to your request for the cash required from the State sponsor for the Passaic Mainstem Tunnel Project. The fully funded cost of the authorized project, including future inflation, and assuming initiation of project construction is in 1988 and project completion in 2008, is $1.94 billion. The cash required would be $113,000,000 assuming the State dedicates sufficient lands currently in public ownership under 101 (18)(c)(vii) of Public Law 101-640.

I hope that this information will be of benefit to you in your deliberations with the State of New Jersey. Once the State has made the necessary long-term commitment to project implementation, the Department of Army is prepared to support continued implementation of this much needed flood control project through the annual budget process.

Sincerely,
G. EDWARD DICKEY,
Acting Assistant Secretary of the Army (Civil Works).

After consultation with staff and the Army Corps of Engineers, it is the intention of the Committee that the above referenced clarifications of sections 101(a)(18)(C) (vii) and (viii) of the Water Resources Development Act of 1990 will have the effect of reducing the State of New Jersey's cash contribution established in the above letter from $113 million to $90 million as reflected in the following chart:

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. HAMMERSCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of the Water Resources Development Act of 1992. This compromise legislation, embodying a final agreement between House and Senate negotiators, contains authorizations for numerous water projects and new or revised policy directives of the Army Corps of Engineers. Among those provisions of particular merit are new authorities for improvement of the environment, beneficial use of dredged material and the many new water projects or modifications to existing water projects which will provide many diverse benefits to the country. In addition, the bill will keep Congress and the administration on track in continuing a 2-year authorization cycle for omnibus water resources legislation.

First, let me congratulate and commend the leadership of the House Public Works and Transportation Committee—most notably, Chairman BOB ROE; Water Resources Subcommittee Chairman HENRY NOWAK; and subcommittee ranking member, TOM PETRI. This represents the last omnibus Corps of Engineers bill Chairmen ROE and NOWAK will work on, as they are retiring at the end of this session. The entire House, and certainly the Public Works and Transportation Committee, will miss their leadership and bipartisan cooperation. I also want to express my appreciation to the retiring chairman emeritus, GLENN ANDERSON, for his many years of service on the committee and to the country.

Let me also congratulate and commend the leadership of the Senate Environment and Public Works Committee and, in particular, the Water Resources, Transportation, and Infrastructure Subcommittee: Chairman DANIEL PATRICK MOYNIHAN, ranking Republican JOHN CHAFEE, and subcommittee ranking Republican Member STEVE SYMMS.

They have worked long and hard with us to produce an acceptable compromise. I would also be remiss in not paying tribute to the late Senator Quentin Burdick, who so ably chaired the full committee and was instrumental in so many ways to help produce this bill.

In addition, Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the administration, officials at the Department of the Army, the Corps of Engineers and the Office of Management and Budget, for their willingness to work with the Congress in developing a bill all of us can accept if not necessarily embrace. In particular, I want to give a special thanks to staff in the corps' Congressional Liaison Office, who worked tirelessly to produce this consensus legislation.

Finally, Mr. Speaker, let me acknowledge the contributions of the many staff who have assisted me and the Members of this House in developing a water resources bill all of us can and should support. The staff who have helped to put this important bill together include Jack Schenendorf, Bob Bergman, Gabe Rozsa, Ben Grumbles, Debbie Gebhardt, Dottie Chepp and Jeff Loveng on the House minority staff and John Doyle, Sante Esposito, Errol Tyler, Ken Kopocis, Scott Slesinger, Cathy Evans, Kevin O'Hara, Karen Rose, Rose Hamlin, and Maggie Cotter on the House majority staff. The many hours of effort by our outstanding legislative counsels, David Mendelsohn and Curt Haensel deserve our gratitude.

Mr. Speaker, allow me to describe the history of the bill currently before us. H.R. 5754 was introduced on August 3, 1992 after careful review of the hearings and many requests submitted to our committee. On August 5, our Subcommittee on Water Resources marked up the bill, followed by full committee markup the next day and House passage on September 23, 1992.

After passage of H.R. 5754 in the House, the leadership of the House and Senate Public Works Committees and officials of the Office of the Assistant Secretary of the Army, the Corps of Engineers, and the administration began to work on an acceptable compromise. Our goal was to produce a bill that reflected House and Senate provisions in H.R. 5754 and S. 2734, while adequately responding to various concerns raised by the administration, the Army, the corps and others.

Mr. Speaker, we have met our goal. The bill before us is an excellent compromise that Congress and the administration can and should support. In fact, in an October 5, 1992 letter to the Public Works Committees, the Office of the Assistant Secretary of the Army praises the compromise bill and indicates that the Department of the Army will recommend that the President approve it.

As the Acting Assistant Secretary of the Army for Civil Works indicates in this letter of October 5, 1992, the bill "continues the vital role of the army corps of engineers in building and maintaining a strong water resources program within a consistent policy framework and realistic fiscal expectations."

Mr. Speaker, in order to obtain the administration's support we were not able to retain every project and provision in H.R. 5754. Quite frankly, we had to make some major changes in order to reach a consensus with the Senate and the administration. On balance, though, the resulting bill is an excellent compromise that will keep Congress and the administration of track with a manageable 2-year authorization process.

Because the other body is not going to be able to take up the compromise package before the House is scheduled to go out, we introduced the compromise bill, H.R. 6167, just a few hours ago. That legislation is currently before us. Our hope is to pass the bill and send it immediately to the Senate so this landmark legislation can become law in the coming weeks.

Mr. Speaker, allow me to highlight some of the provisions in our compromise water resources bill. H.R. 6167 includes authorizations for Corps of Engineers' projects related to, among other things, flood control, navigation, hydropower, shoreline protection, recreation, water supply, environmental protection and resource management, and infrastructure development. It makes important modifications to existing projects and policies, and it involves the corps in new areas and missions.

One provision of particular importance, section 112, involves the Montgomery Point Lock and Dam on the Arkansas River. In my region, we have been struggling for years to get the corps to move forward on this badly needed project to ensure the integrity of the McClellan-Kerr Waterway. During low water conditions, access to the project is frequently blocked. According to detailed and lengthy studies prepared by the corps, a new lock—originally authorized as part of the overall project but never constructed—is needed to correct the situation.

The Assistant Secretary's office, however, is asking for more study, which will increase the cost of the project and could delay the start of construction. To speed up work on the project, our bill includes language directing the corps to proceed expeditiously with design, land acquisition and construction of the project.

Mr. Speaker, there may be a need for some clarification regarding the level of authorized funds for certain provisions in the bill. For example, section 219 (relating to environmental infrastructure), section 313 (relating to south central Pennsylvania), and section 340 (relating to southern West Virginia) authorize numerous activities to meet various infrastructure and development needs. Authorization levels are for total, not annual, appropriations. In the coming years, these levels may prove to be inadequate and may need to be revised.

Another project of importance to my region of the country is section 209(f), which clarifies that needed repairs at Beaver Dam in Arkansas will be treated as dam safety repairs for purposes of the cost-sharing requirements of the Water Resources Development Act of 1986. This means that local ratepayers will have over $15 million of the costs of these needed repairs.

Section 220 authorizes $5 million in Federal funds for 75 percent of the cost of environmental infrastructure assistance for Benton and Washington Counties, AR. The Secretary of the Army is to provide assistance for the design and construction of a water transmission line to help meet the region's water supply needs.

The bill also contains language in section 348 to allow the Secretary of the Army to transfer title to a 400-acre parcel of land to the city of Fort Smith under terms and conditions acceptable to the Secretary. The land is needed by the city for a waste facility which will serve the surrounding community, including nearby Fort Chaffee. The Secretary of the Army's office has worked closely with the city in developing a plan acceptable to all parties. The language in the bill will allow this needed project to go forward.

Similar language was included in H.R. 5006, the Department of Defense authorization bill for fiscal year 1993. Our intent is that the more general language in our bill, H.R. 6167, is controlling if there is a need to resolve any inconsistencies.

Section 224 of the bill will deauthorize the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors 6 months after enactment of this bill. The Secretary is to reassign to other elements within the Department of the Army such duties and responsibilities of the Board as are necessary. We expect the Washington Level Review Center to continue to play a major role in this process. Nothing in this section affects authorities under title 33, U.S. Code sections 542 and 541, relating to survey resolutions and special reports.

Section 364, Stormwater Discharges, is based on my bill, H.R. 6004, which passed the House on September 29, 1992. The provision amends the Clean Water Act to extend permit application and regulation deadlines for certain stormwater discharges. It provides regulatory relief to small and rural towns across America, while ensuring that EPA and the States will have greater opportunity to fashion reasonable, environmentally protective management strategies for stormwater.

Mr. Speaker, section 364 is not identical to the bill I introduced and the House passed. In essence, the regulatory relief is not quite as extensive as I had hoped. H.R. 6004 would have amended section 402(p)(1) of the Clean Water Act to extend the October 1, 1992 permitting moratorium date for 2 years (to October 1, 1994). The bill also would have extended by 2 years the section 402(p)(6) requirement that EPA issue regulations for discharges not enumerated in section 402(p)(2). Section 364 of the water resources bill extends the (p)(1) deadline by 2 years but the (p)(6) deadline by one 1 year.

An additional comment is warranted regarding the overall thrust of this provision and the entire permitting, management, and control program authorized under section 402(p). We are providing EPA and others more time to address certain so-called phase II discharges. At the same time, though, EPA and others must ensure an effective permitting program, to address so-called phase I discharges, that avoids unnecessary, duplicative, or costly sampling, testing, monitoring, reporting, and other requirements.

For example, in cases where groups have undertaken sampling in order to comply with current deadlines, it would make sense that data already gathered could serve as the basis for future applications. Such an approach could help avoid redundant testing.

Section 364 is a small but important step towards more realistic deadlines and more reasonable regulations. Water quality officials and small towns and other potentially regulated entities will appreciate this moderate level of relief.

Mr. Speaker, despite my support for the overall bill, I have a number of concerns about title V of the bill. That title was taken from language of the Senate bill and establishes new regulatory requirements for the assessment and management of contaminated sediments, including new requirements with respect to the discharge of dredged material in connection with the construction and maintenance of navigation channels. The language has been significantly modified to address concerns with the Senate's earlier language including concerns raised by the Administration and navigation interests. However, I believe that the language could have been further clarified to ensure that the new regulatory process is environmentally protective yet will not unnecessarily interfere with important navigation projects.

For example, section 504 amends section 103 of the Marine Protection, Research, and Sanctuaries Act of 1972 (commonly referred to as the Ocean Dumping Act) to provide EPA with what amounts to a veto over Corps of Engineers' permitting decisions for the ocean dumping of dredged materials. The language requires that EPA notify the Corps of any additional information the administrator "deems necessary to evaluate the proposed permit" within 30 days of receiving the "necessary and appropriate information" from the secretary and requires the administrator to act on the basis of that information within 45 days or to request an additional 45 day extension. What is "appropriate and necessary" will need to be clearly spelled out in regulations as is the case now under EPA's existing ocean dumping regulations which have been in effect since January 11, 1977 (see 40 C.F.R. 225.2 (a) and (b)).

Congress clearly intends to set a limit on how long EPA can take to render a decision on the proposed permit and the provisions need to be read with that intent in mind. EPA should not be allowed to drag out a decision by claiming that they need additional information beyond that requested during the 30-day window specified in new section 103(c)(1). EPA must identify what information is needed within 30 days as required under paragraph (c)(1) of the amendment and act on the basis of that information within the time specified in paragraph (c)(2). This approach is not only consistent with congressional intent but also with EPA's own regulations currently in effect concerning ocean dumping permits (40 C.F.R. part 225).

In conclusion, Mr. Speaker, H.R. 6167 is critically needed legislation which deserves our support. We have worked closely with the administration and the other body to develop acceptable compromises. This bipartisan consensus bill authorizes justified projects, makes appropriate adjustments to corps policy, and yet exercises the kind of fiscal restraint needed to obtain the President's signature. I urge my colleagues to give this bill their strongest support.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. ROE. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from New York [Mr. NOWAK].

Mr. NOWAK. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to rise in support of the Water Resources Development Act of 1992 and urge my colleagues to give the bill their support.

Mr. Speaker, this bill continues the biennial authorization cycle for the Water Resources Development Program of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

The bill which we are considering today reflects a compromise of the bill, H.R. 5754, which passed the House by the overwhelming margin of 326 to 87 on September 23, 1992. This is a smaller bill with over $1 billion in cuts from the House-passed bill. Reducing the bill was a difficult task, but a necessary task to assure administration approval of the bill.

The Committee on Public Works and Transportation filed a report to accompany H.R. 5754, House Report 102-842. Since this bill is a compromise version of that bill, the language in that report, to the extent it describes or explains provisions in this bill, should be used to aid in the legislative history of this bill.

The bill will authorize the construction of water resources development projects by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers for flood control, navigation, beach erosion control, and related purposes. The bill also contains deauthorizations of previously authorized projects, authorizations for studies of water resources problems, modifications to previously authorized projects, and provisions related generally to the water resources development program of the Army Corps of Engineers.

This bill is an effort to balance the water resources needs of the Nation and the need to make the program with Corps of Engineers more responsive to environmental concern.

The committee is deeply concerned about the continuing deterioration of the Nation's infrastructure, but is optimistic that legislation such as the Water Resources Development Act of 1992 will allow the Nation to move forward in the improvement of its infrastructure by enhancing intermodal transportation methods and to strengthen its competitive position in world markets.

I would like to specifically address several provisions of the bill. First, I note that the bill includes numerous specific authorizations for appropriations for fiscal years after 1993 for projects, studies, and technical assistance. Unless specifically stated, the amounts authorized for appropriations are not annual appropriations, but total amounts authorized until expended.

Mr. Speaker, at the request of the Administration, several authorities to provide grants or loans to communities for important and needed environmental infrastructure projects were changed to authorize the Secretary to provide design and construction assistance in lieu of grants or loans. Such design and construction assistance can include assistance in planning, engineering, design, and construction of these needed infrastructure improvements.

There is also a provision which abolishes the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors. As the corps readies itself for the 21st century, and tries to reduce its bureaucracy and its overhead, the Board's duties have become duplicative of activities performed at other offices within the corps. Since 1902 the Board has had many duties within the corps including reviewing prior reports in response to resolutions of our committee or the Senate Committee on Environment and Public Works, and standardizing corps project reports from divisions and districts. The bill gives the corps 6 months to make an orderly transfer of the Board's authorities given by law or the Secretary to other entities. It is expected that the duties and responsibilities of the Board will be reassigned within the corps as necessary, including the responsibility to review prior surveys in response to committee resolutions. This provision was supported by the corps.

Finally, the bill deletes a provision requiring the Secretary to reconstruct lands adversely affected by construction of a water resources project. The corps indicates that this provision is redundant—that such actions are a part of any construction of a water resources project. Based upon this assurance from the corps, it became possible to accede to the request of the administration to delete the provision.

I urge my colleagues to support the Water Resources Development Act of 1992.

Mr. HAMMERSCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the ranking member of the Subcommittee on Water Resources, the gentleman from Wisconsin [Mr. PETRI]

Mr. PETRI. Mr. Speaker, the Water Resources Development Act of 1992 we are considering this morning represents the joint efforts of the House Public Works and Transportation Committee, the Senate Environment and Public Works Committee, and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

This bill authorizes 22 navigation and flood control projects, as recommended by the Corps of Engineers. Modifications to ongoing projects, environmental initiatives, and new policies to improve the corps program are also included.

Since the House first passed H.R. 5754—our original water resources bill—on September 23, 1992, we have been working to come up with a package that would be acceptable to the House, the Senate, and the administration.

The bill before us today is the result of those efforts, and the Department of the Army has informed the committee that it would recommend that the legislation be approved by the President.

Between 1970 and 1986, no true water resources authorization bill was enacted into law, and the corps program suffered because of it.

Then, in 1986, we enacted major cost-sharing reforms which improved the program, and we have been able to pass an authorization bill every 2 years since then. It would be most unfortunate if we were to break that tradition this Congress.

But, in order to reach this point, very difficult decisions had to be made. It was necessary to scale back the scope and cost of the bill which was passed last month and, in some circumstances, include authorization limits in order to get a bill which can be signed into law and thus continue the 2-year authorization cycle for water resources legislation.

So, I hope that Members will understand and be aware of the pressures we were working under as we consider this legislation tonight.

Mr. Speaker, we had a difficult task before us, but I believe we have met the challenge of bringing a reasonable bill, which is acceptable to the administration, to the floor of the House. I urge my colleagues to approve H.R. 6167 today.

Mr. HAMMERSCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Louisiana [Mr. LIVINGSTON].

Mr. LIVINGSTON. I thank the gentleman for yielding, and I rise in support of H.R. 6167. Mr. Speaker, this includes a number of critical water projects. I also want to add my thanks and accolades to all the gentlemen who worked so hard on this bill, the water resources bill, for the length of time that I have been in Congress.

Chairman BOB ROE, ranking minority member JOHN PAUL HAMMERSCHMIDT, the gentleman from New York [Mr. NOWAK] are leaving. Mr. PETRI is remaining. The three of those gentlemen are outstanding Members. I add my accolades to their performance and also wish them well wherever life takes them.

Mr. HAMMERSCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, despite my support for H.R. 6167, the Water Resources Development Act of 1992, I have a number of concerns about title V of the bill. That title was taken from language of the Senate bill and establishes new regulatory requirements for the assessment and management of contaminated sediments, including new requirements with respect to the discharge of dredged material in connection with the construction and maintenance of navigation channels. The language has been significantly modified to address concerns with the Senate's earlier language including concerns with the Senate's earlier language including concerns raised by the administration and navigation interests. However, I believe that the language could have been further clarified to ensure that the new regulatory process is environmentally protective yet will not unnecessarily interfere with important navigation projects.

For example, section 504 amends section 103 of the Marine Protection, research, and Sanctuaries Act of 1972—commonly referred to as the Ocean Dumping Act—to provide EPA with what amounts to a veto over Corps of Engineers' permitting decisions for the ocean dumping of dredged materials. The language requires that EPA notify the corps of any additional information the Administrator "deems necessary to evaluate the proposed permit" within 30 days of receiving the "necessary and appropriate information" from the Secretary and requires the Administrator to act on the basis of that information within 45 days or to request an additional 45-day extension. What is "appropriate and necessary" will need to be clearly spelled out in regulations as is the case now under EPA's existing ocean dumping regulations which have been in effect since January 11, 1977—see 40 CFR 225.2 (a) and (b).

Congress clearly intends to set a limit on how long EPA can take to render a decision on the proposed permit and the provisions need to be read with that intent in mind. EPA should not be allowed to drag out a decision by claiming that they need additional information beyond that requested during the 30-day window specified in new section 103(c)(1). EPA must identify what information is needed within 30 days as required under paragraph (c)(1) of the amendment and act on the basis of that information within the time specified in paragraph (c)(2). This approach is not only consistent with congressional intent but also with EPA's own regulations currently in effect concerning ocean dumping permits—40 CFR part 225.

Mr. HAMMERSCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. ROE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to add one more comment as far as the staff is concerned: I thank them for their vigorous effort and extraordinary job that they did in working out not only this piece of legislation but the legislation of the committee over the years.

Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. MCDERMOTT). The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from New Jersey [Mr. ROE] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 6167.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended, and the bill was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. ROE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on the bill just passed.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New Jersey?

There was no objection.

MAMMOGRAPHY QUALITY STANDARDS ACT OF 1992

Mr. WAXMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 6182), to amend the Public Health Service Act to establish the authority for the regulation of mammography services and radiological equipment, and for other purposes.

H.R. 6182

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Mammography Quality Standards Act of 1992".

SEC. 2. CERTIFICATION OF MAMMOGRAPHY FACILITIES.

Part F of title III of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 262 et seq.) is amended by adding at the end the following new subpart:

"Subpart 3—Mammography Facilities

"SEC. 354. CERTIFICATION OF MAMMOGRAPHY FACILITIES.

"(a) DEFINITIONS.—As used in this section:

"(1) ACCREDITATION BODY.—The term 'accreditation body' means a body that has been approved by the Secretary under subsection (e)(1)(A) to accredit mammography facilities.

"(2) CERTIFICATE.—The term 'certificate' means the certificate described in subsection (b)(1).

"(3) FACILITY.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—The term 'facility' means a hospital, outpatient department, clinic, radiology practice, or mobile unit, an office of a physician, or other facility as determined by the Secretary, that conducts breast cancer screening or diagnosis through mammography activities. Such term does not include a facility of the Department of Veterans Affairs.

"(B) ACTIVITIES.—For the purposes of this section, the activities of a facility include the operation of equipment to produce the mammogram, the processing of the film, the initial interpretation of the mammogram and the viewing conditions for that interpretation. Where procedures such as the film processing, or the interpretation of the mammogram are performed in a location different from where the mammogram is performed, the facility performing the mammogram shall be responsible for meeting the quality standards described in subsection (f).

"(4) INSPECTION.—The term 'inspection' means an onsite evaluation of the facility by the Secretary, or State agency on behalf of the Secretary.

"(5) MAMMOGRAM.—The term 'mammogram' means a radiographic image produced through mammography.

"(6) MAMMOGRAPHY.—The term 'mammography' means radiography of the breast.

"(7) SURVEY.—The term 'survey' means an onsite physics consultation and evaluation performed by a medical physicist as described in subsection (f)(1)(E).

"(b) CERTIFICATE REQUIREMENT.—

"(1) CERTIFICATE.—No facility may conduct an examination or procedure described in paragraph (2) involving mammography after October 1, 1994, unless the facility obtains—

"(A) a certificate—

"(i) that is issued, and, if applicable, renewed, by the Secretary in accordance with subsection (c)(1);

"(ii) that is applicable to the examination or procedure to be conducted; and

"(iii) that is displayed prominently in such facility; or

"(B) a provisional certificate—

"(i) that is issued by the Secretary in accordance with subsection (c)(2);

"(ii) that is applicable to the examination or procedure to be conducted; and

"(iii) that is displayed prominently in such facility.

The reference to a certificate in this section includes a provisional certificate.

"(2) EXAMINATION OR PROCEDURE.—A facility shall obtain a certificate in order to—

"(A) operate radiological equipment that is used to image the breast;

"(B) provide for the interpretation of a mammogram produced by such equipment at the facility or under arrangements with a qualified individual at a facility different from where the mammography examination is performed; and

"(C) provide for the processing of film produced by such equipment at the facility or under arrangements with a qualified individual at a facility different from where the mammography examination is performed.

"(c) ISSUANCE AND RENEWAL OF CERTIFICATES.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary may issue or renew a certificate for a facility if the person or agent described in subsection (d)(1)(A) meets the applicable requirements of subsection (d)(1) with respect to the facility. The Secretary may issue or renew a certificate under this paragraph for not more than 3 years.

"(2) PROVISIONAL CERTIFICATE.—The Secretary may issue a provisional certificate for an entity to enable the entity to qualify as a facility. The applicant for a provisional certificate shall meet the requirements of subsection (d)(1), except providing information required by clauses (iii) and (iv) of subsection (d)(1)(A). A provisional certificate may be in effect no longer than 6 months from the date it is issued, except that it may be extended once for a period of not more than 90 days if the owner, lessor, or agent of the facility demonstrates to the Secretary that without such extension access to mammography in the geographic area served by the facility would be significantly reduced and if the owner, lessor, or agent of the facility will describe in a report to the Secretary steps that will be taken to qualify the facility for certification under subsection (b)(1).

"(d) APPLICATION FOR CERTIFICATE.—

"(1) SUBMISSION.—The Secretary may issue or renew a certificate for a facility if—

"(A) the person who owns or leases the facility or an authorized agent of the person, submits to the Secretary, in such form and manner as the Secretary shall prescribe, an application that contains at a minimum—

"(i) a description of the manufacturer, model, and type of each x-ray machine, image receptor, and processor operated in the performance of mammography by the facility;

"(ii) a description of the procedures currently used to provide mammography at the facility, including—

"(I) the types of procedures performed and the number of such procedures performed in the prior 12 months;

"(II) the methodologies for mammography; and

"(III) the names and qualifications (educational background, training, and experience) of the personnel performing mammography and the physicians reading and interpreting the results from the procedures;

"(iii) proof of on-site survey by a qualified medical physicist as described in subsection (f)(1)(E); and

"(iv) proof of accreditation in such manner as the Secretary shall prescribe; and

"(B) the person or agent submits to the Secretary—

"(i) a satisfactory assurance that the facility will be operated in accordance with standards established by the Secretary under subsection (f) to assure the safety and accuracy of mammography;

"(ii) a satisfactory assurance that the facility will—

"(I) permit inspections under subsection (g);

"(II) make such records and information available, and submit such reports, to the Secretary as the Secretary may require; and

"(III) update the information submitted under subparagraph (A) or assurances submitted under this subparagraph on a timely basis as required by the Secretary; and

"(iii) such other information as the Secretary may require.

An applicant shall not be required to provide in an application under subparagraph (A) any information which the applicant has supplied to the accreditation body which accredited the applicant, except as required by the Secretary.

"(2) APPEAL.—If the Secretary denies an application for the certification of a facility submitted under paragraph (1)(A), the Secretary shall provide the owner or lessor of the facility or the agent of the owner or lessor who submitted such application—

"(A) a statement of the grounds on which the denial is based, and

"(B) an opportunity for an appeal in accordance with the procedures set forth in regulations of the Secretary published at 42 C.F.R. 498 and in effect on the date of the enactment of this section.

"(3) EFFECT OF DENIAL.—If the application for the certification of a facility is denied, the facility may not operate unless the denial of the application is overturned at the conclusion of the administrative appeals process provided in the regulations referred to in paragraph (2)(B).

"(e) ACCREDITATION.—

"(1) APPROVAL OF ACCREDITATION BODIES.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary may approve a private nonprofit organization or State agency to accredit facilities for purposes of subsection (d)(1)(A)(iv) if the accreditation body meets the standards for accreditation established by the Secretary as described in subparagraph (B) and provides the assurances required by subparagraph (C).

"(B) STANDARDS.—The Secretary shall establish standards for accreditation bodies, including—

"(i) standards that require an accreditation body to perform—

"(I) a review of clinical images from each facility accredited by such body not less often than every 3 years which review will be made by qualified practicing physicians; and

"(II) a review of a random sample of clinical images from such facilities in each 3-year period beginning October 1, 1994, which review will be made by qualified practicing physicians;

"(ii) standards that prohibit individuals conducting the reviews described in clause (i) from maintaining any financial relationship to the facility undergoing review which would constitute a conflict of interest;

"(iii) standards that limit the imposition of fees for accreditation to reasonable amounts;

"(iv) standards that require as a condition of accreditation that each facility undergo a survey at least annually by a medical physicist as described in subsection (f)(1)(E) to ensure that the facility meets the standards described in subparagraphs (A) and (B) of subsection (f)(1);

"(v) standards that require monitoring and evaluation of such survey, as prescribed by the Secretary;

"(vi) standards that are equal to standards established under subsection (f) which are relevant to accreditation as determined by the Secretary; and

"(vii) such additional standards as the Secretary may require.

"(C) ASSURANCES.—The accrediting body shall provide the Secretary satisfactory assurances that the body will—

"(i) comply with the standards as described in subparagraph (B);

"(ii) comply with the requirements described in paragraph (4);

"(iii) submit to the Secretary the name of any facility for which the accreditation body denies, suspends, or revokes accreditation;

"(iv) notify the Secretary in a timely manner before the accreditation body changes the standards of the body;

"(v) notify each facility accredited by the accreditation body if the Secretary withdraws approval of the accreditation body under paragraph (2) in a timely manner; and

"(vi) provide such other additional information as the Secretary may require.

"(D) REGULATIONS.—Not later than 9 months after the date of the enactment of this section, the Secretary shall promulgate regulations under which the Secretary may approve an accreditation body.

"(2) WITHDRAWAL OF APPROVAL.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall promulgate regulations under which the Secretary may withdraw the approval of an accreditation body if the Secretary determines that the accreditation body does not meet the standards under subparagraph (B) of paragraph (1), the requirements of clauses (i) through (vi) of subparagraph (C) of paragraph (1), or the requirements of paragraph (4).

"(B) EFFECT OF WITHDRAWAL.—If the Secretary withdraws the approval of an accreditation body under subparagraph (A), the certificate of any facility accredited by the body shall continue in effect until the expiration of a reasonable period, as determined by the Secretary, for such facility to obtain another accreditation.

"(3) ACCREDITATION.—To be accredited by an approved accreditation body a facility shall meet—

"(A) the standards described in paragraph (1)(B) which the Secretary determines are applicable to the facility, and

"(B) such other standards which the accreditation body may require.

"(4) COMPLIANCE.—To ensure that facilities accredited by an accreditation body will continue to meet the standards of the accreditation body, the accreditation body shall—

"(A) make onsite visits on an annual basis of a sufficient number of the facilities accredited by the body to allow a reasonable estimate of the performance of the body; and

"(B) take such additional measures as the Secretary determines to be appropriate.

Visits made under subparagraph (A) shall be made after providing such notice as the Secretary may require.

"(5) REVOCATION OF ACCREDITATION.—If an accreditation body revokes the accreditation of a facility, the certificate of the facility shall continue in effect until such time as may be determined by the Secretary.

"(6) EVALUATION AND REPORT.—

"(A) EVALUATION.—The Secretary shall evaluate annually the performance of each approved accreditation body by—

"(i) inspecting under subsection (g)(2) a sufficient number of the facilities accredited by the body to allow a reasonable estimate of the performance of the body; and

"(ii) such additional means as the Secretary determines to be appropriate.

"(B) REPORT.—The Secretary shall annually prepare and submit to the Committee on Labor and Human Resources of the Senate and the Committee on Energy and Commerce of the House of Representatives a report that describes the results of the evaluation conducted in accordance with subparagraph (A).

"(f) QUALITY STANDARDS.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—The standards referred to in subsection (d)(1)(B)(i) are standards established by the Secretary which include—

"(A) standards that require establishment and maintenance of a quality assurance and quality control program at each facility that is adequate and appropriate to ensure the reliability, clarity, and accuracy of interpretation of mammograms and standards for appropriate radiation dose;

"(B) standards that require use of radiological equipment specifically designed for mammography, including radiologic standards and standards for other equipment and materials used in conjunction with such equipment;

"(C) a requirement that personnel who perform mammography—

"(i)(I) be licensed by a State to perform radiological procedures; or

"(II) be certified as qualified to perform radiological procedures by an organization described in paragraph (2)(A); and

"(ii) during the 2-year period beginning October 1, 1994, meet training standards for personnel who perform mammography or meet experience requirements which shall at a minimum include 1 year of experience in the performance of mammography; and

"(iii) upon the expiration of such 2-year period meet minimum training standards for personnel who perform mammograms;

"(D) a requirement that mammograms be interpreted by a physician who is certified as qualified to interpret radiological procedures, including mammography—

"(i)(I) by a board described in paragraph (2)(B); or

"(II) by a program that complies with the standards described in paragraph (2)(C); and

"(ii) who meets training and continuing medical education requirements as established by the Secretary;

"(E) a requirement that individuals who survey mammography facilities be medical physicists—

"(i) licensed or approved by a State to perform such surveys, reviews, or inspections for mammography facilities;

"(ii) certified in diagnostic radiological physics or certified as qualified to perform such surveys by a board as described in paragraph (2)(D); or

"(iii) in the first 5 years after the date of the enactment of this section, who meet other criteria established by the Secretary which are comparable to the criteria described in clause (i) or (ii);

"(F) a requirement that a medical physicist who is qualified in mammography as described in subparagraph (E) survey mammography equipment and oversee quality assurance practices at each facility;

"(G) a requirement that—

"(i) a facility that performs any mammogram maintain the mammogram in the permanent medical records of the patient—

"(I) for a period of not less than 5 years, or not less than 10 years if no additional mammograms of such patient are performed at the facility, or longer if mandated by State law; or

"(II) until such time as the patient should request that the patient's medical records be forwarded to a medical institution or a physician of the patient;

whichever is longer; and

"(ii)(I) a facility must assure the preparation of a written report of the results of any mammography examination signed by the interpreting physician;

"(II) such written report shall be provided to the patient's physicians (if any);

"(III) if such a physician is not available or if there is no such physician, the written report shall be sent directly to the patient; and

"(IV) if such report is sent to the patient, the report shall include a summary written in terms easily understood by a lay person; and

"(H) standards relating to special techniques for mammography of patients with breast implants.

Subparagraph (G) shall not be construed to limit a patient's access to the patient's medical records.

"(2) CERTIFICATION OF PERSONNEL.—The Secretary shall by regulation—

"(A) specify organizations eligible to certify individuals to perform radiological procedures as required by paragraph (1)(C);

"(B) specify boards eligible to certify physicians to interpret radiological procedures, including mammography, as required by paragraph (1)(D);

"(C) establish standards for a program to certify physicians described in paragraph (1)(D); and

"(D) specify boards eligible to certify medical physicists who are qualified to survey mammography equipment and to oversee quality assurance practices at mammography facilities.

"(g) INSPECTIONS.—

"(1) ANNUAL INSPECTIONS.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary may enter and inspect certified facilities to determine compliance with the standards established under subsection (f). The Secretary shall, if feasible, delegate to a State agency the authority to make such inspections.

"(B) IDENTIFICATION.—The Secretary, or State agency acting on behalf of the Secretary, may conduct inspections only on presenting identification to the owner, operator, or agent in charge of the facility to be inspected.

"(C) SCOPE OF INSPECTION.—In conducting inspections, the Secretary or State agency acting on behalf of the Secretary—

"(i) shall have access to all equipment, materials, records, and information that the Secretary or State agency considers necessary to determine whether the facility is being operated in accordance with this section; and

"(ii) may copy, or require the facility to submit to the Secretary or the State agency, any of the materials, records, or information.

"(D) QUALIFICATIONS OF INSPECTORS.—Qualified individuals, as determined by the Secretary, shall conduct all inspections. The Secretary may request that a State agency acting on behalf of the Secretary designate a qualified officer or employee to conduct the inspections, or designate a qualified Federal officer or employee to conduct inspections. The Secretary shall establish minimum qualifications and appropriate training for inspectors and criteria for certification of inspectors in order to inspect facilities for compliance with subsection (f).

"(E) FREQUENCY.—The Secretary or State agency acting on behalf of the Secretary shall conduct inspections under this paragraph of each facility not less often than annually.

"(F) RECORDS AND ANNUAL REPORTS.—The Secretary or a State agency acting on behalf of the Secretary which is responsible for inspecting mammography facilities shall maintain records of annual inspections required under this paragraph for a period as prescribed by the Secretary. Such a State agency shall annually prepare and submit to the Secretary a report concerning the inspections carried out under this paragraph. Such reports shall include a description of the facilities inspected and the results of such inspections.

"(2) INSPECTION OF ACCREDITED FACILITIES.—The Secretary shall inspect annually a sufficient number of the facilities accredited by an accreditation body to provide the Secretary with a reasonable estimate of the performance of such body.

"(3) INSPECTION OF FACILITIES INSPECTED BY STATE AGENCIES.—The Secretary shall inspect annually facilities inspected by State agencies acting on behalf of the Secretary to assure a reasonable performance by such State agencies.

"(4) TIMING.—The Secretary, or State agency, may conduct inspections under paragraphs (1), (2) and (3), during regular business hours or at a mutually agreeable time and after providing such notice as the Secretary may prescribe, except that the Secretary may waive such requirements if the continued performance of mammography at such facility threatens the public health.

"(5) LIMITED REINSPECTION.—Nothing in this section limits the authority of the Secretary to conduct limited reinspections of facilities found not to be in compliance with this section.

"(h) SANCTIONS.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—In order to promote voluntary compliance with this section, the Secretary may, in lieu of taking the actions authorized by subsection (i), impose one or more of the following sanctions:

"(A) Directed plans of correction which afford a facility an opportunity to correct violations in a timely manner.

"(B) Payment for the cost of onsite monitoring.

"(2) CIVIL MONEY PENALTIES.—The Secretary may assess civil money penalties in an amount not to exceed $10,000 for—

"(A) failure to obtain a certificate as required by subsection (b),

"(B) each failure by a facility to substantially comply with, or each day on which a facility fails to substantially comply with, the standards established under subsection (f) or the requirements described in subclauses (I) through (III) of subsection (d)(1)(B)(ii), and

"(C) each violation, or for each aiding and abetting in a violation of, any provision of, or regulation promulgated under, this section by an owner, operator, or any employee of a facility required to have a certificate.

"(3) PROCEDURES.—The Secretary shall develop and implement procedures with respect to when and how each of the sanctions is to be imposed under paragraphs (1) and (2). Such procedures shall provide for notice to the owner or operator of the facility and a reasonable opportunity for the owner or operator to respond to the proposed sanctions and appropriate procedures for appealing determinations relating to the imposition of sanctions.

"(i) SUSPENSION AND REVOCATION.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—The certificate of a facility issued under subsection (c) may be suspended or revoked if the Secretary finds, after providing, except as provided in paragraph (2), reasonable notice and an opportunity for a hearing to the owner or operator of the facility, that the owner, operator, or any employee of the facility—

"(A) has been guilty of misrepresentation in obtaining the certificate;

"(B) has failed to comply with the requirements of subsection (d)(1)(B)(ii)(III) or the standards established by the Secretary under subsection (f);

"(C) has failed to comply with reasonable requests of the Secretary for any record, information, report, or material that the Secretary concludes is necessary to determine the continued eligibility of the facility for a certificate or continued compliance with the standards established under subsection (f);

"(D) has refused a reasonable request of the Secretary, any Federal officer or employee duly designated by the Secretary, or any State officer or employee duly designated by the State, for permission to inspect the facility or the operations and pertinent records of the facility in accordance with subsection (g);

"(E) has violated or aided and abetted in the violation of any provision of, or regulation promulgated under, this section; or

"(F) has failed to comply with a sanction imposed under subsection (h).

"(2) ACTION BEFORE A HEARING.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary may suspend the certificate of the facility before holding a hearing required by paragraph (1) if the Secretary makes the finding described in paragraph (1) and determines that—

"(i) the failure of a facility to comply with the standards established by the Secretary under subsection (f) presents a serious risk to human health; or

"(ii) a facility has engaged in an action described in subparagraph (D) or (E) of paragraph (1).

"(B) HEARING.—If the Secretary suspends a certificate under subparagraph (A), the Secretary shall provide an opportunity for a hearing to the owner or operator of the facility not later than 60 days from the effective date of the suspension. The suspension shall remain in effect until the decision of the Secretary is made after the hearing.

"(3) INELIGIBILITY TO OWN OR OPERATE FACILITIES AFTER REVOCATION.—If the Secretary revokes the certificate of a facility on the basis of an act described in paragraph (1), no person who owned or operated the facility at the time of the act may, within 2 years of the revocation of the certificate, own or operate a facility that requires a certificate under this section.

"(j) INJUNCTIONS.—If the Secretary determines that—

"(1) continuation of any activity related to the provision of mammography by a facility would constitute a serious risk to human health, the Secretary may bring suit in the district court of the United States for the district in which the facility is situated to enjoin continuation of the activity; and

"(2) a facility is operating without a certificate as required by subsection (b), the Secretary may bring suit in the district court of the United States for the district in which the facility is situated to enjoin the operation of the facility.

Upon a proper showing, the district court shall grant a temporary injunction or restraining order against continuation of the activity or against operation of a facility, as the case may be, without requiring the Secretary to post a bond, pending issuance of a final order under this subsection.

"(k) JUDICIAL REVIEW.—

"(1) PETITION.—If the Secretary imposes a sanction on a facility under subsection (h) or suspends or revokes the certificate of a facility under subsection (i), the owner or operator of the facility may, not later than 60 days after the date the action of the Secretary becomes final, file a petition with the United States court of appeals for the circuit in which the facility is situated for judicial review of the action. As soon as practicable after receipt of the petition, the clerk of the court shall transmit a copy of the petition to the Secretary or other officer designated by the Secretary. As soon as practicable after receipt of the copy, the Secretary shall file in the court the record on which the action of the Secretary is based, as provided in section 2112 of title 28, United States Code.

"(2) ADDITIONAL EVIDENCE.—If the petitioner applies to the court for leave to adduce additional evidence, and shows to the satisfaction of the court that the additional evidence is material and that there were reasonable grounds for the failure to adduce such evidence in the proceeding before the Secretary, the court may order the additional evidence (and evidence in rebuttal of the additional evidence) to be taken before the Secretary, and to be adduced upon the hearing in such manner and upon such terms and conditions as the court may determine to be proper. The Secretary may modify the findings of the Secretary as to the facts, or make new findings, by reason of the additional evidence so taken, and the Secretary shall file the modified or new findings, and the recommendations of the Secretary, if any, for the modification or setting aside of the original action of the Secretary with the return of the additional evidence.

"(3) JUDGMENT OF COURT.—Upon the filing of the petition referred to in paragraph (1), the court shall have jurisdiction to affirm the action, or to set the action aside in whole or in part, temporarily or permanently. The findings of the Secretary as to the facts, if supported by substantial evidence, shall be conclusive.

"(4) FINALITY OF JUDGMENT.—The judgment of the court affirming or setting aside, in whole or in part, any action of the Secretary shall be final, subject to review by the Supreme Court of the United States upon certiorari or certification, as provided in section 1254 of title 28, United States Code.

"(l) INFORMATION.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—Not later than October 1, 1996, and annually thereafter, the Secretary shall compile and make available to physicians and the general public information that the Secretary determines is useful in evaluating the performance of facilities, including a list of facilities—

"(A) that have been convicted under Federal or State laws relating to fraud and abuse, false billings, or kickbacks;

"(B) that have been subject to sanctions under subsection (h), together with a statement of the reasons for the sanctions;

"(C) that have had certificates revoked or suspended under subsection (i), together with a statement of the reasons for the revocation or suspension;

"(D) against which the Secretary has taken action under subsection (j), together with a statement of the reasons for the action;

"(E) whose accreditation has been revoked, together with a statement of the reasons of the revocation;

"(F) against which a State has taken adverse action; and

"(G) that meets such other measures of performance as the Secretary may develop.

"(2) DATE.—The information to be compiled under paragraph (1) shall be information for the calendar year preceding the date the information is to be made available to the public.

"(3) EXPLANATORY INFORMATION.—The information to be compiled under paragraph (1) shall be accompanied by such explanatory information as may be appropriate to assist in the interpretation of the information compiled under such paragraph.

"(m) STATE LAWS.—Nothing in this section shall be construed to limit the authority of any State to enact and enforce laws relating to the matters covered by this section that are at least as stringent as this section or the regulations issued under this section.

"(n) NATIONAL ADVISORY COMMITTEE.—

"(1) ESTABLISHMENT.—In carrying out this section, the Secretary shall establish an advisory committee to be known as the National Mammography Quality Assurance Advisory Committee (hereafter in this subsection referred to as the 'Advisory Committee').

"(2) COMPOSITION.—The Advisory Committee shall be composed of not fewer than 13, nor more than 19 individuals, who are not officers or employees of the Federal Government. The Secretary shall make appointments to the Advisory Committee from among—

"(A) physicians,

"(B) practitioners, and

"(C) other health professionals, whose clinical practice, research specialization, or professional expertise include a significant focus on mammography. The Secretary shall appoint at least 4 individuals from among national breast cancer or consumer health organizations with expertise in mammography and at least 2 practicing physicians who provide mammography services.

"(3) FUNCTIONS AND DUTIES.—The Advisory Committee shall—

"(A) advise the Secretary on appropriate quality standards and regulations for mammography facilities;

"(B) advise the Secretary on appropriate standards and regulations for accreditation bodies;

"(C) advise the Secretary in the development of regulations with respect to sanctions;

"(D) assist in developing procedures for monitoring compliance with standards under subsection (f);

"(E) make recommendations and assist in the establishment of a mechanism to investigate consumer complaints;

"(F) report on new developments concerning breast imaging that should be considered in the oversight of mammography facilities;

"(G) determine whether there exists a shortage of mammography facilities in rural and health professional shortage areas and determine the effects of personnel or other requirements of subsection (f) on access to the services of such facilities in such areas;

"(H) determine whether there will exist a sufficient number of medical physicists after

October 1, 1999, to assure compliance with the requirements of subsection (f)(1)(E);

"(I) determine the costs and benefits of compliance with the requirements of this section (including the requirements of regulations promulgated under this section); and

"(J) perform other activities that the Secretary may require.

The Advisory Committee shall report the findings made under subparagraphs (G) and (I) to the Secretary and the Congress no later than October 1, 1993.

"(4) MEETINGS.—The Advisory Committee shall meet not less than quarterly for the first 3 years of the program and thereafter, at least biannually.

"(5) CHAIRPERSON.—The Secretary shall appoint a chairperson of the Advisory Committee.

"(o) CONSULTATIONS.—In carrying out this section, the Secretary shall consult with appropriate Federal agencies within the Department of Health and Human Services for the purposes of developing standards, regulations, evaluations, and procedures for compliance and oversight.

"(p) BREAST CANCER SCREENING SURVEILLANCE RESEARCH GRANTS.—

"(1) RESEARCH.—

"(A) GRANTS.—The Secretary shall award grants to such entities as the Secretary may determine to be appropriate to establish surveillance systems in selected geographic areas to provide data to evaluate the functioning and effectiveness of breast cancer screening programs in the United States, including assessments of participation rates in screening mammography, diagnostic procedures, incidence of breast cancer, mode of detection (mammography screening or other methods), outcome and follow up information, and such related epidemiologic analyses that may improve early cancer detection and contribute to reduction in breast cancer mortality. Grants may be awarded for further research on breast cancer surveillance systems upon the Secretary's review of the evaluation of the program.

"(B) USE OF FUNDS.—Grants awarded under subparagraph (A) may be used—

"(i) to study—

"(I) methods to link mammography and clinical breast examination records with population-based cancer registry data;

"(II) methods to provide diagnostic outcome data, or facilitate the communication of diagnostic outcome data, to radiology facilities for purposes of evaluating patterns of mammography interpretation; and

"(III) mechanisms for limiting access and maintaining confidentiality of all stored data; and

"(ii) to conduct pilot testing of the methods and mechanisms described in subclauses (I), (II), and (III) of clause (i) on a limited basis.

"(C) GRANT APPLICATION.—To be eligible to receive funds under this paragraph, an entity shall submit an application to the Secretary at such time, in such manner, and containing such information as the Secretary may require.

"(D) REPORT.—A recipient of a grant under this paragraph shall submit a report to the Secretary containing the results of the study and testing conducted under clauses (i) and (ii) of subparagraph (B), along with recommendations for methods of establishing a breast cancer screening surveillance system.

"(2) ESTABLISHMENT.—The Secretary shall establish a breast cancer screening surveillance system based on the recommendations contained in the report described in paragraph (1)(D).

"(3) STANDARDS AND PROCEDURES.—The Secretary shall establish standards and procedures for the operation of the breast cancer screening surveillance system, including procedures to maintain confidentiality of patient records.

"(4) INFORMATION.—The Secretary shall recruit facilities to provide to the breast cancer screening surveillance system relevant data that could help in the research of the causes, characteristics, and prevalence of, and potential treatments for, breast cancer and benign breast conditions, if the information may be disclosed under section 552 of title 5, United States Code.

"(q) STATE PROGRAM.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary may, upon application, authorize a State—

"(A) to carry out, subject to paragraph (2), the certification program requirements under subsections (b), (c), (d), (g)(1), (h), (i), and (j) (including the requirements under regulations promulgated pursuant to such subsections), and

"(B) to implement the standards established by the Secretary under subsection (f), with respect to mammography facilities operating within the State.

"(2) APPROVAL.— The Secretary may approve an application under paragraph (1) if the Secretary determines that—

"(A) the State has enacted laws and issued regulations relating to mammography facilities which are the requirements of this section (including the requirements under regulations promulgated pursuant to such subsections), and

"(B) the State has provided satisfactory assurances that the State—

"(i) has the legal authority and qualified personnel necessary to enforce the requirements of and the regulations promulgated pursuant to this section (including the requirements under regulations promulgated pursuant to such subsections),

"(ii) will devote adequate funds to the administration and enforcement of such requirements, and

"(iii) will provide the Secretary with such information and reports as the Secretary may require.

"(3) AUTHORITY OF SECRETARY.—In a State with an approved application—

"(A) the Secretary shall carry out the Secretary's functions under subsections (e) and (f);

"(B) the Secretary may take action under subsections (h), (i), and (j); and

"(C) the Secretary shall conduct oversight functions under subsections (g)(2) and (g)(3).

"(4) WITHDRAWAL OF APPROVAL.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary may, after providing notice and opportunity for corrective action, withdraw the approval of a State's authority under paragraph (1) if the Secretary determines that the State does not meet the requirements of such paragraph. The Secretary shall promulgate regulations for the implementation of this subparagraph.

"(B) EFFECT OF WITHDRAWAL.—If the Secretary withdraws the approval of a State under subparagraph (A), the certificate of any facility accredited by the State shall continue in effect until the expiration of a reasonable period, as determined by the Secretary, for such facility to obtain certification by the Secretary.

"(r) FUNDING.—

"(1) FEES.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall, in accordance with this paragraph assess and collect fees from persons described in subsection (d)(1)(A) (other than persons who are governmental entities, as determined by the Secretary) to cover the costs of inspections conducted under subsection (g)(1) by the Secretary or a State acting under a delegation under subparagraph (A) of such subsection. Fees may be assessed and collected under this paragraph only in such manner as would result in an aggregate amount of fees collected during any fiscal year which equals the aggregate amount of costs for such fiscal year for inspections of facilities of such persons under subsection (g)(1). A person's liability for fees shall be reasonably based on the proportion of the inspection costs which relate to such person.

"(B) DEPOSIT AND APPROPRIATIONS.—

"(i) DEPOSIT AND AVAILABILITY.—Fees collected under subparagraph (A) shall be deposited as an offsetting collection to the appropriations for the Department of Health and Human Services as provided in appropriation Acts and shall remain available without fiscal year limitation.

"(ii) APPROPRIATIONS.—Fees collected under subparagraph (A) shall be collected and available only to the extent provided in advance in appropriation Acts.

"(2) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.— There are authorized to be appropriated to carry out this section—

"(A) to award research grants under subsection (q), such sums as may be necessary for each of the fiscal years 1993 through 1997; and

"(B) for the Secretary to carry out other activities which are not supported by fees authorized and collected under paragraph (1), such sums as may be necessary for fiscal year 1993 through 1997.".

SEC. 3. STUDY.

(a) STUDY.—The Comptroller General of the United States shall conduct a study of the certification program authorized by the amendment made by section 2 to determine—

(1) if the program has resulted in the improvement of the quality and accessibility of mammography services, and

(2) if the program has reduced the frequency of poor quality mammography and improved the early detection of breast cancer.

(b) REPORTS.—Not later than 3 years from the date of the enactment of this Act, the Comptroller General shall submit to the Committee on Labor and Human Resources of the Senate and the Committee on Energy and Commerce of the House of Representatives an interim report of the results of the study under subsection (a). Not later than 5 years from such date the Comptroller General shall submit a final report on such study to such Committees.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from California [Mr. WAXMAN] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from New York [Mr. LENT] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from California [Mr. WAXMAN].

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. WAXMAN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on this legislation.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?

There was no objection.

Mr. WAXMAN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, this is a slightly amended version of H.R. 5938, which previously passed the House on the suspension calendar. The changes represent negotiations concluded with the Senate.

Mr. Speaker, the purpose of this legislation is to assure the availability of high quality mammography services in the fight against breast cancer. The benefits of early detection of breast cancer through mammography in terms of saving lives and scarce health dollars are well-documented.

This is not an arcane issue. Breast cancer will affect almost every American—personally, or because of the illness of a loved one or friend. It is the most frequent cancer in women. One out of every 9 American women will develop the disease during her lifetime. And, this year alone, almost 45,000 women will die from it.

Mr. Speaker, the bill before us establishes Federal quality standards for mammograms to protect against substandard providers and life-threatening care. The Secretary of HHS, working with the States and private accrediting organizations, would enforce appropriate requirements for the operation of mammography equipment and for the professionals who provide this vital service.

This legislation reflects the advice of experts in the field of mammography at the Department of Health and Human Services and in the private sector. We are especially grateful for the assistance of the congressional caucus for women's issues, and the leadership of Congresswoman SCHROEDER and Congresswoman LLOYD. In addition, a number of private organizations and agencies at the Department of Health and Human Services have given valuable assistance.

Mr. Speaker, I am proud to join Chairman DINGELL and our colleagues Congresswoman SCHROEDER and Congresswoman LLOYD as cosponsors of this bill in the House.

I urge my colleagues to support this bill so that we can continue our efforts to improve women's health and save lives.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. LENT. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, the goals of this legislation are commendable, and I support them.

Screening for early detection of breast cancer is a critical preventive health measure, encouraged by health and medical experts. There can be a tragic outcome, however, if the mammogram is of such poor quality, or is so incorrectly interpreted, that the individual receives false or misleading results.

A number of recent reports have indicated that some mammography facilities are using equipment that is inappropriate or poorly calibrated, that the reading and interpretation of mammograms and even the development of the film are of variable quality, and that many mammograms are being taken by individuals who are not properly trained.

These are situations which need to be remedied.

Mr. Speaker, I am concerned about establishing a large Federal regulatory scheme, which involves the Federal Government in the private practice of physicians. I would hope that the Secretary will implement this legislation in a way that will least intrude on the ability of mammography facilities to serve patients efficiently and effectively.

Mammography is a critically important preventive health measure. It is essential that mammograms be performed properly and interpreted correctly. Today, in many cases that is not being done. For these reasons, I support this legislation.

Mr. LENT. Mr. Speaker, I have no requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. WAXMAN. Mr. Speaker, I have no request for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from California [Mr. WAXMAN] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 6182.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended, and the bill was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

CONSIDERATION OF REPORT ON H.R. 5938

Mr. WAXMAN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the report on H.R. 5938 be made part of the legislative history of the bill, H.R. 6182.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?

There was no objection.

NATIONAL TRAIL SYSTEM ACT AMENDMENTS

Mrs. BYRON. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to take from the Speaker's table the bill (H.R. 6184) to amend the National Trail System Act to designate the American Discovery Trail for study to determine the feasibility and desirability of its designation as a national trail, and ask for its immediate consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentlewoman from Maryland?

Mr. LAGOMARSINO. Mr. Speaker, reserving the right to object, and I shall not object, I yield to the gentlewoman to explain the legislation.

Mrs. BYRON. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, this is a bill that passed the House in June unanimously under suspension. It was amended in the Senate. Both sides have agreed to the amendment. There is a discussion going on in the Senate, and I wish to have this considered with the amendments attached to the new bill number.

Mr. LAGOMARSINO. Mr. Speaker, further reserving the right to object, I want to take just a moment to congratulate the gentlewoman from Maryland for her service in this institution and to the country.

Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation of objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentlewoman from Maryland?

There was no objection.

The Clerk read the bill as follows:

H.R. 6184

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. DESIGNATION OF AMERICAN DISCOVERY TRAIL AS A STUDY TRAIL.

Section 5(c) of the National Trails System Act (16 U.S.C. 1244(c)) is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(34) American Discovery Trail, extending from Pt. Reyes, California, across the United States through Nevada, Utah, Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia, Maryland, and the District of Columbia, to Cape Henlopen State Park, Delaware; to include in the central United States a northern route through Colorado, Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois, and Indiana and a southern route through Colorado, Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, and Indiana.".

SEC. 2. DESIGNATION OF ALA KAHAKAI TRAIL AS A STUDY TRAIL.

Section 5(c) of the National Trails System Act (16 U.S.C. 1244(c)) is further amended by adding at the end of the following new paragraph:

"(35) Ala Kahakai Trail in the State of Hawaii, an ancient Hawaiian trail on the Island of Hawaii extending from the northern tip of the Island of Hawaii approximately 175 miles along the western and southern coasts to the northern boundary of Hawaii Volcanoes National Park.".

The bill was ordered to be engrossed and read a third time, was read the third time, and passed, and a motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

ELWHA RIVER ECOSYSTEM AND FISHERIES RESTORATION ACT

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 4844) to restore Olympic National Park and the Elwha River ecosystem and fisheries in the State of Washington.

H.R. 4844

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be referred to as the "Elwha River Ecosystem and Fisheries Restoration Act."

SEC. 2. DEFINITIONS.

For the purposes of this Act:

(a) The term "Administrator" means the Administrator of the Bonneville Power Administration.

(b) The term "Commission" means the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission.

(c) The term "electric power" means electric peaking capacity or electric energy or both.

(d) The term "Elwha Project" means the Elwha River Hydroelectric Project, Federal Energy Regulatory Commission Project Number 2683, including appurtenant works and project lands, located on the Elwha River in Clallam County, Washington.

(e) The term "Glines Project" means the Glines Canyon Hydroelectric Project, Federal Energy Regulatory Commission Project Number 588, including appurtenant works and project lands, located on private and public lands both within and without the exterior boundaries of Olympic National Park on the Elwha River in Clallam County, Washington.

(f) The term "local industrial consumer" means the owner of the pulp and paper mill located on Ediz Hook in Port Angeles, Washington, that, on the date of enactment of this Act, receives and consumes the electric power produced by the Projects, or its successors or assignees.

(g) The term "local preference customer" means Port Angeles City Light.

(h) The term "owner" means the current owner of the Projects or its successors or assignees, but shall not mean the Secretary, the United States, or any other entity acquiring title to the Projects or features thereof pursuant to the terms of this Act.

(i) The term "Park" means Olympic National Park.

(j) The term "Project" or "Projects" means either or both the Elwha Project and the Glines Project, including project works and appurtenant lands.

(k) The term "project replacement power" means electric power delivered to the local industrial consumer to replace losses of electric power generation from the Projects following their acquisition by the Secretary pursuant to this Act, in an amount not to exceed 172.088 gigawatthours of energy in any year.

(m) The term "State" means the State of Washington, including its agencies and departments.

SEC. 3. ACQUISITION OF PROJECTS.

(a) Effective sixty days after submission to the Congress of the report referred to in section 3(c), the Secretary is authorized to acquire the Elwha and Glines Canyon Projects, and all rights of the owner and local industrial consumer therein, subject to the appropriation of funds therefor; Provided, That the Secretary shall not acquire the projects unless he has determined pursuant to subsection (c) that removal of the Project dams is necessary for the full restoration of the Elwha River ecosystem and native anadromous fisheries and that funds for that purpose will be available for such removal within two years after acquisition.

(b) The consideration for acquisition of the Projects shall be $29.5 million and no more, to be paid by the Secretary to the owner and local industrial consumer at the time of acquisition, and shall be conditioned on a release of liability providing that all obligations and liabilities of the owner and the local industrial consumer to the United States arising from the Projects, based upon ownership, license, permit, contract, or other authority, including, but not limited to, project removal and any ecosystem, fish and wildlife mitigation or restoration obligations, shall, from the moment of title transfer, be deemed to have been satisfied; Provided, That the United States may not assume or satisfy any liability, if any, of the owner or local industrial consumer to any federally recognized Indian Tribe nor shall such liability to the Tribe, if any, be deemed satisfied without the consent of such Tribe.

(c) The Secretary shall prepare a report on the acquisition of the Projects and his plans for the full restoration of the Elwha River ecosystem and the native anadromous fisheries and submit such report on or before January 31, 1994, to the Appropriations Committees of the United States Senate and the United States House of Representatives, as well as to the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources of the Senate and the Committees on Energy and Commerce, Interior and Insular Affairs, and Merchant Marine and Fisheries of the United States House of Representatives. The report shall contain, without limitation:

(1) The precise terms of acquisition of the Projects, with an analysis of the costs, in addition to the consideration set out in section 3(b), and potential liabilities and benefits, if any, to the Federal Government resulting from the acquisition and all other actions authorized under this Act;

(2) Alternatives, in lieu of dam removal, for the restoration of the Elwha River ecosystem and the native anadromous fisheries and wildlife of the Elwha River Basin, consistent with the management plan of the Park, the rights of any Indian tribe secured by treaty or other Federal law, and applicable State law. The report shall include feasibility studies for each alternative considered and a definite plan for removal. Such definite plan shall include the timetable after conveyance for removal of the dams and the plans for removal and disposal of sediment, debris, and other materials consistent with all applicable environmental laws and a detailed explanation of all costs of removal. In conducting the feasibility studies and in the preparation of the definite plan, the Secretary is authorized to use the services of any Federal agency on a reimbursable basis and the heads of all Federal agencies are authorized to provide such technical and other assistance as the Secretary may request. For each alternative considered, the Secretary shall estimate total costs, environmental risks and benefits, the potential for full restoration of the Elwha River ecosystem and native andromous fisheries, and the effect on natural and historic resources (together with any comments made by the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation for any properties which are listed, or eligible for listing, on the National Register of Historic Places).

(3) Specific proposals for management of all lands or interests therein acquired pursuant to this Act which are located outside the exterior boundaries of the Olympic National Park. The Secretary shall specifically address the suitability such lands, or portions thereof, for addition to the National Wildlife Refuge System; National Park System; transfer to the Lower Elwha Klallam Tribe in trust for tribal housing, cultural, or economic development purposes in accordance with a plan developed by the Lower Elwha Klallam Tribe in consultation with the Secretary; and development and use by the State. Upon acquisition, all lands and interests therein within the exterior boundaries of the Park shall be managed pursuant to authorities otherwise applicable to the Park.

For the purposes of protecting the Federal investment in restoration, that portion of the river outside the Park on which the Federal Government will acquire both banks shall, upon such acquisition, be managed in accordance with the declared policy of Section 1(b) of P.L. 90-542, except that modifications necessary to restore, protect, and enhance fish resources and to protect the existing quality of water supplied from the river are hereby authorized.

(4) Specific proposals and any Federal funding and the availability of that funding that may be necessary to protect the existing quality and availability of water from the Elwha River for municipal and industrial use from possible adverse impacts of dam removal.

(5) Identification of any non-Federal parties or entities, excluding Federally recognized Indian tribes, which would directly benefit from the commercial, recreational, and ecological values that would be enhanced by the restoration of the Elwha River ecosystem and fisheries, if the Secretary believes that such parties or entities should assume some portion of the cost involved in the restoration, together with the specific cost-share provisions which the Secretary deems necessary and reasonable.

(d) In preparing his report, the Secretary shall consult with appropriate State and local officials, affected Indian tribes, the Commission, the Environmental Protection Agency, the Secretary of Energy, the Administrator, the Pacific Northwest Power Planning Council, the Secretary of Commerce, and of the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation, as well as interested members of the public. In addition, the Secretary shall afford an opportunity for public comment on the report prior to its submission to the Congress.

(e) Upon the appropriation of the sum provided for in section 3(b) for the acquisition of the Projects and the determination that dam removal is necessary, the owner and local industrial consumer shall convey to the United States, through the Secretary, title to the Projects, including all property and all other rights and interests. Upon such conveyance and payment of the consideration as provided in section 3(b), and without further action by the United States, title shall transfer and vest in the United States, the owner and local industrial consumer shall be released from any further liability to the United States, as provided in section 3(b), and the acquisition from the owner and local industrial consumer shall be deemed to be completed.

SEC. 4. ECOSYSTEM AND FISHERIES RESTORATION.

(a) Effective sixty days after submission of the report referred to in section 3(c) and following the conveyance in section 3(e), the Secretary is authorized and directed, subject to the appropriation of funds therefor, to take such actions as are necessary to implement—

(1) the definite plan referred to in section 3(c)(2) for the removal of the dams and full restoration of the Elwha River ecosystem and native anadromous fisheries;

(2) management of lands acquired pursuant to this Act which are located outside the exterior boundaries of the Park; and

(3) protection of the existing quality and availability of water from the Elwha River for municipal and industrial uses from possible adverse impacts of dam removal.

(A) The definite plan referred to section 3(c)(2) must include all actions reasonably necessary to maintain and protect existing water quality for the City of Port Angeles, Dry Creek Water Association, and the industrial users of Elwha River water against adverse impacts of dam removal. The cost of such actions, which may include as determined by the Secretary, if reasonably necessary, design, construction, operation and maintenance of water treatment or related facilities, shall be borne by the Secretary. Funds may not be appropriated for removal of the dams, unless, at the same time, funds are appropriated for actions necessary to protect existing water quality.

(b) Nothing in this section shall be construed as an entitlement for which a claim against the United States may be made under the Tucker Act.

SEC. 5. PROJECT OPERATION AND REPLACEMENT POWER.

(a) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, neither the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission nor any other agency of the Federal Government shall have the authority or jurisdiction to issue a permanent license or similar order with respect to either Project prior to conveyance as provided in section 3(e), except that the Commission shall have jurisdiction under the Federal Power Act and is hereby authorized and directed to issue or maintain in effect annual licenses or authorizations for both Projects, authorizing continued operation of both Projects by the owner and local industrial consumer, such operation to be under such terms and conditions and in accordance with such practices as existed on September 1, 1992, until (1) the date the Secretary has acquired title to the Projects or (2) if the Secretary's report required in section 3(c) does not provide for dam removal, five years after the expiration of the current annual license or authorization then in effect, after which time the Commission shall have authority under the Federal Power Act to issue appropriate licenses with respect to such Projects to the extent the Commission has jurisdiction over such Projects under such Act on the date of enactment of this Act.

(b) To ensure the availability of adequate electric power supplies to the operating facilities of the local industrial consumer, the Administrator shall, following acquisition of the Projects pursuant to this Act, deliver all project replacement power required by the operating facilities of the local industrial consumer through the local preference customer at a rate equal to the priority firm rate, or the rate which is then the equivalent of the priority firm rate if that designation is no longer used by the Administrator, as such rate is fixed by the Administrator from time to time, without regard to any new large single load determinations or similar factors. The local industrial consumer shall pay the local preference customer for such project replacement power at the same rate as all other industrial consumers of the local preference customer.

(c) Upon conveyance of the Projects to the United States, the Secretary shall maintain the dams in a safe condition for the period prior to their removal.

SEC. 6. LEASE OF FEDERAL LANDS.

(a) LEASE OF LANDS TO THE CITY OF PORT ANGELES.—After the Secretary makes the determination to remove the dams and actually acquires the Projects and funds are appropriated for such conveyance and removal, the Secretary is authorized to issue a lease to the City of Port Angeles, Washington, for those lands situated on Ediz Hook, Clallam County, Washington, currently leased to the City under Lease No. DOT–CG13–4811–72, dated April 4, 1972, as amended, except for that parcel of land described in subsection (b)(2). Such lease shall be issued pursuant to the Act of June 14, 1926, as amended, (43 U.S.C. 869) for a period of 99 years, beginning on a date to be determined by the Secretary, without right of patent.

(b) LEASE OF LANDS TO THE LOWER ELWHA KLALLAM TRIBE.—(1) After the Secretary makes the determination to remove the dams and actually acquires the Projects and funds are appropriated for such conveyance and removal, the Secretary is authorized to lease to the Lower Elwha Klallam Tribe that parcel of land situated on Ediz Hook, Clallam County, Washington, described in paragraph (2) for the purposes of the construction and operation of a tribal cultural facility, such as a longhouse or a museum, and associated interpretive and parking facilities. Such lease shall be issued pursuant to the Act of June 14, 1926, as amended, (43 U.S.C. 869) for a period of 99 years beginning on a date determined by the Secretary, without right of patent.

(2) The parcel of land to be leased to the Lower Elwha Klallam Tribe is that parcel of land lying south of the existing roadway and extending southward to the southern boundary of the land currently leased to the City of Port Angeles (Lease No. DOT–CG13–4811–72, dated April 4, 1972, as amended) and beginning at the north-south line 200 feet east of the western boundary of Out Lot 6 and running easterly 600 feet to the north-south line 300 feet west of the eastern boundary of Out Lot 6.

(3) In addition to the general terms and conditions applicable under the Act of June 14, 1926, as amended, (43 U.S.C. 869), the lease to the Tribe shall be subject to the following terms and conditions:

(A) There shall be public access to the beach along the south side of the parcel at all times.

(B) The City of Port Angeles shall have the right to construct and maintain a waterfront trail adjacent to the existing roadway along the north side of the parcel, the location of which shall be determined in conjunction with the Secretary.

(C) Parking facilities on the parcel shall be open to the public at all times.

(c) In addition to the terms and conditions described in this section for the leases to the City and the Tribe, the Secretary shall incorporate by reference into each lease the Agreement entered into on August 11, 1992, between the City and the Tribe regarding the use of the adjacent leaseholds.

SEC. 7. TRIBAL LAND ACQUISITION AND DEVELOPMENT.

(a) After the Secretary makes the determination to remove the dams and actually acquires the Projects and funds are appropriated for such conveyance and removal, the Secretary is authorized to acquire by purchase, and hold in trust in reservation status for the benefit of the Lower Elwha Klallam Tribe, lands in Clallam County, Washington, for housing, economic development, and moorage for the Tribal commercial fishing fleet.

(b) There is authorized to be appropriated an amount not to exceed $4,000,000 to carry out the land acquisition purposes of this section.

SEC. 8. SAVINGS.

(a) Nothing in this Act shall abridge or modify existing rights to Elwha River water.

(b) Nothing in this Act shall affect the rights of any Indian Tribe secured by Treaty or other law of the United States.

(c) This Act does not modify any of the Administrator's obligations or require the Administrator to take any actions regarding the protection, mitigation, or enhancement of fish and wildlife or expand those provided for under the Pacific Northwest Power Planning and Conservation Act, P.L. 96–501. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the Administrator shall not be required to make any expenditures from the Bonneville Power Administration fund for the operation, maintenance, rehabilitation, improvement, or removal, breach, or bypass of the Projects.

SEC. 9. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.

There are authorized to be appropriated to the Secretary of the Interior for expenditure through the Assistant Secretary for Fish, Wildlife and Parks and to the Secretary of Commerce for expenditure through the National Marine Fisheries Service such sums as may be necessary to carry out the purposes of this Act; Provided, That such authorization shall not become effective until sixty days following submission of the report provided for in section (3)(c) of this Act.

Mr. SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Washington [Mr. SWIFT] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from California [Mr. MOORHEAD] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on the bill presently under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Washington?

There was no objection.

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, this bill provides that there should be studied various alternative strategies that would lead to full restoration of the Elwha River ecosystem. If the optimum strategy is determined to be dam removal, then provisions of this bill go into effect.

There are two dams, one inside the Olympic National Park and one downriver on the Elwha River, slightly just outside the park. They would be acquired under those circumstances by the U.S. Government for subsequent removal. The present owners of the dam will give them up and receive replacement power and appropriate compensation.

The water supply in Port Angeles will be protected. The Elwha tribe will have an opportunity to acquire much-needed land on the Elwha River ecosystem, including the magnificent salmon runs will be fully restored. This resolves a great many problems and a great deal of uncertainty. The fact is if we do not deal with this matter legislatively, it is going to be resolved probably at much greater cost in the courts. We already have lawsuits by the environmentalists with regard to the Endangered Species Act, we have lawsuits filed by the Parks Department against FERC, we have possible lawsuits by the Elwha Indians under the Indian Rights Claims. This is a way in which all of the relevant problems could be resolved. I heartily commend it to my colleagues.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MOORHEAD. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I support this committee amendment substitute to the text of H.R. 4844 because it substantially improves the bill. As introduced, H.R. 4844 transferred ownership of two dams from James River Corp. to the Federal Government in exchange for the Federal Government being responsible for environmental restoration of the Elwha River and being responsible for providing replacement power from the Bonneville Power Administration. While estimates of the cost of environmental restoration under the original bill ranged from $30 million upward to $200 million, the committee amendment caps Federal fiscal responsibility at $29.5 million for dam acquisition. Also, the committee amendment requires the Secretary of Interior to determine that the dams should be torn down and requires the money necessary to tear them down be appropriated before title to the dams can be transferred to the Federal Government. These are significant improvements.

Unfortunately, the other major component of the bill which required BPA to provide replacement power at a preferred rate to the dam's hydropower customers and required BPA's other customers to be held harmless at taxpayer expense has not been fixed. As currently drafted, the U.S. taxpayer would pick up the tab, through BPA debt forgiveness, of holding BPA's customers harmless.

I support this bill as improved and hope that the BPA debt forgiveness problem can be fixed either by the Senate or in the next Congress.

Mr. Speaker, I have no requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I have no requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Washington [Mr. SWIFT] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 4844, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended, and the bill, as amended, was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

IMPLEMENTING RECOMMENDATIONS OF FEDERAL COURTS STUDY COMMISSION

Mr. HUGHES. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 6185) to implement the recommendations of the Federal Courts Study Commission, and for other purposes.

H.R. 6185

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Federal Courts Administration Act of 1992".

TITLE I—IMPLEMENTATION OF FEDERAL COURTS STUDY COMMITTEE RECOMMENDATIONS

SEC. 101. SUPREME COURT AUTHORITY TO PRESCRIBE RULES FOR APPEAL OF INTERLOCUTORY DECISIONS.

Section 1292 of title 28, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(e) The Supreme Court may prescribe rules, in accordance with section 2072 of this title, to provide for an appeal of an interlocutory decision to the courts of appeals that is not otherwise provided for under subsection (a), (b), (c), or (d).".

SEC. 102. JURISDICTION OF MAGISTRATE JUDGES TO MODIFY OR REVOKE PROBATION OR SUPERVISED RELEASE AFTER IMPRISONMENT.

Section 3401 of title 18, United States Code, is amended—

(1) in subsection (d) by striking "and to revoke or reinstate the probation of any person granted probation by him." and inserting "and to revoke, modify, or reinstate the probation of any person granted probation by a magistrate judge."; and

(2) by adding at the end the following new subsections:

"(h) The magistrate judge shall have power to modify, revoke, or terminate supervised release of any person sentenced to a term of supervised release by a magistrate judge.

"(i) A district judge may designate a magistrate judge to conduct hearings to modify, revoke, or terminate supervised release, including evidentiary hearings, and to submit to the judge proposed findings of fact and recommendations for such modification, revocation, or termination by the judge, including, in the case of revocation, a recommended disposition under section 3583(e) of this title. The magistrate judge shall file his or her proposed findings and recommendations.".

SEC. 103. INTERCIRCUIT TRANSFERS.

Section 291(a) of title 28, United States Code, is amended to read as follows:

"(a) The Chief Justice of the United States may, in the public interest, designate and assign temporarily any circuit judge to act as circuit judge in another circuit upon request by the chief judge or circuit justice of such circuit.".

TITLE II—JUDICIAL SURVIVORS' ANNUITIES IMPROVEMENTS

SEC. 201. JUDICIAL SURVIVORS' ANNUITIES AMENDMENTS.

(a) ELECTION.—Section 376(a)(1) of title 28, United States Code, is amended in the matter following subparagraph (G)—

(1) by striking "or" at the end of clause (v); and

(2) by inserting before the semicolon at the end of clause (vi) ", or (vii) the date of the enactment of the Federal Courts Administration Act of 1992".

(b) CONTRIBUTIONS.—Section 376(b) of title 28, United States Code, is amended—

(1) by inserting "(1)" after "(b)";

(2) in the first sentence by striking "including any 'retirement salary', a sum equal to 5 percent of that salary." and inserting "a sum equal to 2.2 percent of that salary, and a sum equal to 3.5 percent of his or her retirement salary. The deduction from any retirement salary—

"(A) of a justice or judge of the United States retired from regular active service who is described in section 371(b)(1) of this title,

"(B) of a justice or judge of the United States retired under section 372(a) of this title who is willing and able to perform judicial duties in accordance with section 294 of this title,

"(C) of a judge of the United States Court of Federal Claims retired under section 178(a) or (b) of this title who meets the requirements of section 178(d) of this title, or

"(D) of a judicial official on recall under section 155(b), 797, 373(c)(4), 375, or 636(h) of this title, shall be an amount equal to 2.2 percent of retirement salary.";

(3) by redesignating all that follows the first sentence (as amended by paragraph (2) of this subsection) as paragraph (3) and inserting before such paragraph (3) the following new paragraph:

"(2) A judicial official who is not entitled to receive an immediate retirement salary upon leaving office but who is eligible to receive a deferred retirement salary on a later date shall file, within 90 days before leaving office, a written notification of his or her intention to remain within the purview of this section under such conditions and procedures as may be determined by the Director of the Administrative Office of the United States Courts. Every judicial official who files a written notification in accordance with this paragraph shall be deemed to consent to contribute, during the period before such a judicial official begins to receive his or her retirement salary, a sum equal to 3.5 percent of the deferred retirement salary which that judicial official is entitled to receive. Any judicial official who fails to file a written notification under this paragraph shall be deemed to have revoked his or her election under subsection (a) of this section."; and

(4) in paragraph (3), as redesignated by paragraph (3) of this subsection, by striking "so deducted and withheld from the salary of each such judicial official" and inserting "deducted and withheld from the salary of each judicial official under paragraphs (1) and (2) of this subsection".

(c) DEPOSITS.—Section 376(d) of title 28, United States Code, is amended—

(1) in paragraph (1) by striking "5 percent" and inserting "3.5 percent"; and

(2) in paragraph (2) by striking "5 percent" and inserting "3.5 percent".

(d) REFUND OF DEPOSITS.—Section 376(g) of title 28, United States Code, is amended to read as follows:

"(g) If any judicial official leaves office and is ineligible to receive a retirement salary or leaves office and is entitled to a deferred retirement salary but fails to make an election under subsection (b)(2) of this section, all amounts credited to his or her account established under subsection (e), together with interest at 4 percent per annum to December 31, 1947, and at 3 percent per annum thereafter, compounded on December 31 of each year, to the date of his or her relinquishment of office, minus a sum equal to 2.2 percent of salary for service while deductions were withheld under subsection (b) or for which a deposit was made by the judicial official under subsection (d), shall be returned to that judicial official in a lump-sum payment within a reasonable period of time following the date of his or her relinquishment of office. For the purposes of this section, a 'reasonable period of time' shall be presumed to be no longer than 1 year following the date upon which such judicial official relinquishes his or her office.".

(e) Payment of Annuities.—Section 376(h)(1) of title 28, United States Code, is amended by striking "or while receiving 'retirement salary,' " and inserting "while receiving retirement salary, or after filing an election and otherwise complying with the conditions under subsection (b)(2) of this section".

(f) Creditable Service.—Section 376(k) of title 28, United States Code, is amended—

(1) in paragraph (3) by striking "and" at the end;

(2) in paragraph (4) by striking the period and inserting ", and"; and

(3) by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(5) those years during which such judicial official had deductions withheld from his or her retirement salary in accordance with subsection (b)(1) or (2) of this section.".

(g) Computation of Annuity.—Section 376(l) of title 28, United States Code, is amended—

(1) in paragraph (1) by striking "(i) during those three years of such service in which his or her annual salary" and inserting "(i) during those three years of such service, or during those three years while receiving a retirement salary, in which his or her annual salary or retirement salary"; and

(2) in paragraph (1) by redesignating subparagraph (D) as subparagraph (E) and inserting after subparagraph (C) the following:

"(D) the number of years during which the judicial official had deductions withheld from his or her retirement salary under subsection (b)(1) or (2) of this section; plus".

(h) Termination.—Section 376 of title 28, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end of that section the following new subsection:

"(v) Subject to the terms of a decree, court order, or agreement described in subsection (t)(1), if any judicial official ceases to be married after making the election under subsection (a), he or she may revoke such election in writing by notifying the Director of the Administrative Office of the United States Courts. The judicial official shall also notify any spouse or former spouse of the application for revocation in accordance with such requirements as the Director of the Administrative Office of the United States Courts shall by regulation prescribe. The Director may provide under such regulations that the notification requirement may be waived with respect to a spouse or former spouse if the judicial official establishes to the satisfaction of the Director that the whereabouts of such spouse or former spouse cannot be determined.".

(i) Adjustment of Contribution Rate.—Section 376 of title 28, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end of that section the following new subsection:

"(w) The Comptroller General of the United States shall, at the end of each 3-fiscal year period, determine whether the contributions by judicial officials under subsection (b) during that 3-year period accounted for 50 percent of the costs of the Judicial Survivors' Annuities Fund and if not, then what adjustments in the contribution rates under subsection (b) should be made to achieve that 50 percent figure. The Comptroller General shall report the results of each determination under this subsection to the Congress.".

(j) Credit for Prior Contributions at Higher Rate.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the contribution under section 376(b) (1) or (2) of title 28, United States Code (as amended by this section), of any judicial official who is within the purview of such section 376 on the effective date of this title shall be reduced by 0.5 percent for a period of time equal to the number of years of service for which the judicial official has made contributions or deposits before the enactment of this Act to the credit of the Judicial Survivors' Annuities Fund or for 18 months, whichever is less, if such contributions or deposits were never returned to the judicial official. For purposes of this subsection, the term "years" shall mean full years and twelfth parts thereof.

(k) Redeposit of Prior Contributions.—Any judicial official as defined in section 376(a)(1) of title 28, United States Code, who makes an election under section 376(b) of title 28, United States Code, may make a redeposit, as required by section 7 of Public Law 94–554 and section 2(c)(2) of Public Law 99–336, to the credit of the Judicial Survivors' Annuities Fund in installments, in such amounts and under such conditions as may be determined in each instance by the Director of the Administrative Office of the United States Courts. If a judicial official elects to make a redeposit in installments—

(1) the Director shall require that the first installment payment made shall be in an amount no smaller than the last 18 months of salary deductions or deposits previously returned to that judicial official in a lump-sum payment; and

(2) the election under section 376(b) of title 28, United States Code, shall be effective upon payment of the first such installment.

(l) Audit by GAO.—The Comptroller General shall—

(1) conduct an audit of the judicial survivors annuities program under section 376 of title 28, United States Code, for the 3-year period beginning on the date of the enactment of this Act; and

(2) report to the Congress, not later than 60 days after the end of that 3-year period, on the results of such audit, comparing such program to other survivors annuities programs within the Federal Government.

SEC. 202. EFFECTIVE DATE.

This title and the amendments made by this title shall take effect on the date of the enactment of this Act.

TITLE III—JUDICIAL FINANCIAL ADMINISTRATION

SEC. 301. AWARD OF FILING FEES IN FAVOR OF THE UNITED STATES.

(a) Actions Commenced by the United States.—Section 2412(a) of title 28, United States Code, is amended—

(1) by inserting "(1)" after "(a)"; and

(2) by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(2) A judgment for costs, when awarded in favor of the United States in an action brought by the United States, may include an amount equal to the filing fee prescribed under section 1914(a) of this title. The preceding sentence shall not be construed as requiring the United States to pay any filing fee.".

(b) Disposition of Filing Fees.—Section 1931 of title 28, United States Code, is amended by striking "The following" and all that follows through the end and inserting the following:

"(a) Of the amounts paid to the clerk of court as a fee under section 1914(a) or as part of a judgment for costs under section 2412(a)(2) of this title, $60 shall be deposited into a special fund of the Treasury to be available to offset funds appropriated for the operation and maintenance of the courts of the United States.

"(b) If the court authorizes a fee under section 1914(a) or an amount included in a judgment for costs under section 2412(a)(2) of this title of less than $120, the entire fee or amount, up to $60, shall be deposited into the special fund provided in this section.".

TITLE IV—JURY MATTERS

SEC. 401. JURY SELECTION.

Section 1863(b)(2) of title 28, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following: "The plan for the district of Massachusetts may require the names of prospective jurors to be selected from the resident list provided for in chapter 234A, Massachusetts General Laws, or comparable authority, rather than from voter lists.".

SEC. 402. GRAND JURY TRAVEL.

Section 1871(c) of title 28, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(5) A grand juror who travels to district court pursuant to a summons may be paid the travel expenses provided under this section or, under guidelines established by the Judicial Conference, the actual reasonable costs of travel by aircraft when travel by other means is not feasible and when certified by the chief judge of the district court in which the grand juror serves.".

SEC. 403. PERMANENT AUTHORIZATION FOR OPTIONAL USE OF NEW JURY SELECTION PROCESS.

(a) Authority To Use One-Step Procedure.—Section 1878 of title 28, United States Code, is amended to read as follows:

"§ 1878. Optional use of a one-step summoning and qualification procedure

"(a) At the option of each district court, jurors may be summoned and qualified in a single procedure, if the court's jury selection plan so authorizes, in lieu of the two separate procedures otherwise provided for by this chapter. Courts shall ensure that a one-step summoning and qualification procedure conducted under this section does not violate the policies and objectives set forth in sections 1861 and 1862 of this title.

"(b) Jury selection conducted under this section shall be subject to challenge under section 1867 of this title for substantial failure to comply with the provisions of this title in selecting the jury. However, no challenge under section 1867 of this title shall lie solely on the basis that a jury was selected in accordance with a one-step summoning and qualification procedure authorized by this section.".

(b) Conforming Amendment.—The item relating to section 1878 in the table of sections for chapter 121 is amended to read as follows:

"1878. Optional use of a one-step summoning and qualification procedure.".

(c) Savings Provision.—For courts participating in the experiment authorized under section 1878 of title 28, United States Code (as in effect before the effective date of this section), the amendment made by subsection (a) of this section shall be effective on and after January 1, 1992.

Section 2503 of title 28, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(d) For the purpose of construing sections 1821, 1915, 1920, and 1927 of this title, the United States Court of Federal Claims shall be deemed to be a court of the United States.".

SEC. 910. SUBPOENAS AND INCIDENTAL POWERS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 2521 of title 28, United States Code, is amended—

(1) by amending the section caption to read as follows:

"§ 2521. Subpoenas and incidental powers";

(2) by inserting "(a)" before "Subpoenas requiring"; and

(3) by adding at the end the following new subsections:

"(b) The United States Court of Federal Claims shall have power to punish by fine or imprisonment, at its discretion, such contempt of its authority as—

"(1) misbehavior of any person in its presence or so near thereto as to obstruct the administration of justice;

"(2) misbehavior of any of its officers in their official transactions; or

"(3) disobedience or resistance to its lawful writ, process, order, rule, decree, or command.

"(c) The United States Court of Federal Claims shall have such assistance in the carrying out of its lawful writ, process, order, rule, decree, or command as is available to a court of the United States. The United States marshal for any district in which the Court of Federal Claims is sitting shall, when requested by the chief judge of the Court of Federal Claims, attend any session of the Court of Federal Claims in such district.".

(b) CONFORMING AMENDMENT.—The table of sections for chapter 165 of title 28, United States Code, is amended by amending the item relating to section 2521 to read as follows:

"2521. Subpoenas and incidental powers.".

SEC. 911. EFFECTIVE DATE.

This title and the amendments made by this title shall take effect on the date of the enactment of this Act.

TITLE X—ADDITIONAL PROVISIONS

SEC. 1001. VICTIMS' RIGHTS FUNDING.

Section 1402 of the Victims of Crime Act of 1984 (42 U.S.C. 10601) is amended—

(1) by striking subsection (c) and inserting the following:

"(c) Sums deposited in the Fund shall remain in the Fund and be available for expenditure under this subsection for grants under this chapter without fiscal year limitation."; and

(2) by striking subsection (d) and inserting the following:

"(d) The Fund shall be available as follows:

"(1) The first $6,200,000 deposited in the Fund in each of the fiscal years 1992 through 1995 and the first $3,000,000 in each fiscal year thereafter shall be available to the judicial branch for administrative costs to carry out the functions of the judicial branch under sections 3611 and 3612 of title 18, United States Code.

"(2) Of the next $100,000,000 deposited in the Fund in a particular fiscal year—

"(A) 49.5 percent shall be available for grants under section 1403; and

"(B) 45 percent shall be available for grants under section 1404(a).

"(3) The next $5,500,000 deposited in the Fund in a particular fiscal year shall be available for grants under section 1404(a).

"(4) The next $4,500,000 deposited in the Fund in a particular fiscal year shall be available for grants under section 1404(a).

"(5) Any deposits in the Fund in a particular fiscal year that remain after the funds are distributed under paragraphs (1) through (4) shall be available as follows:

"(A) 47.5 percent shall be available for grants under section 1403.

"(B) 47.5 percent shall be available for grants under section 1404(a).

"(C) 5 percent shall be available for grants under section 1404(c).".

SEC. 1002. AUTHORITY TO LIMIT COLLECTION OF PRETRIAL INFORMATION IN CLASS A MISDEMEANOR CASES.

Section 3154(1) of title 18, United States Code, is amended by inserting before the period "; except that a district court may direct that information not be collected, verified, or reported under this paragraph on individuals charged with Class A misdemeanors as defined in section 3559(a)(6) of this title".

SEC. 1003. TERRORISM CIVIL REMEDY.

(a) Terrorism.—Chapter 113A of title 18, United States Code, is amended—

(1) in section 2331 by striking subsection (d) and redesignating subsection (e) as subsection (d);

(2) by redesignating section 2331 as 2332 and striking the caption for section 2331 and inserting the following:

"§ 2332. Criminal penalties";

(3) by inserting before section 2332 as redesignated the following:

"§ 2331. Definitions

"As used in this chapter—

"(1) the term 'international terrorism' means activities that—

"(A) involve violent acts or acts dangerous to human life that are a violation of the criminal laws of the United States or of any State, or that would be a criminal violation if committed within the jurisdiction of the United States or of any State;

"(B) appear to be intended—

"(i) to intimidate or coerce a civilian population;

"(ii) to influence the policy of a government by intimidation or coercion; or

"(iii) to affect the conduct of a government by assassination or kidnapping; and

"(C) occur primarily outside the territorial jurisdiction of the United States, or transcend national boundaries in terms of the means by which they are accomplished, the persons they appear intended to intimidate or coerce, or the locale in which their perpetrators operate or seek asylum;

"(2) the term 'national of the United States' has the meaning given such term in section 101(a)(22) of the Immigration and Nationality Act;

"(3) the term 'person' means any individual or entity capable of holding a legal or beneficial interest in property; and

"(4) the term 'act of war' means any act occurring in the course of—

"(A) declared war;

"(B) armed conflict, whether or not war has been declared, between two or more nations; or

"(C) armed conflict between military forces of any origin.";

(4) by adding after section 2332, as redesignated by paragraph (2) of this subsection, the following new sections:

"§ 2333. Civil remedies

"(a) Action and Jurisdiction.—Any national of the United States injured in his or her person, property, or business by reason of an act of international terrorism, or his or her estate, survivors, or heirs, may sue therefor in any appropriate district court of the United States and shall recover threefold the damages he or she sustains and the cost of the suit, including attorney's fees.

"(b) Estoppel Under United States Law.—A final judgment or decree rendered in favor of the United States in any criminal proceeding under section 1116, 1201, 1203, or 2332 of this title or section 902(i), (k), (l), (n), or (r) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. App. 1472(i), (k), (l), (n), or (r)) shall estop the defendant from denying the essential allegations of the criminal offense in any subsequent civil proceeding under this section.

"(c) Estoppel Under Foreign Law.—A final judgment or decree rendered in favor of any foreign state in any criminal proceeding shall, to the extent that such judgment or decree may be accorded full faith and credit under the law of the United States, estop the defendant from denying the essential allegations of the criminal offense in any subsequent civil proceeding under this section.

"§ 2334. Jurisdiction and venue

"(a) General Venue.—Any civil action under section 2333 of this title against any person may be instituted in the district court of the United States for any district where any plaintiff resides or where any defendant resides or is served, or has an agent. Process in such a civil action may be served in any district where the defendant resides, is found, or has an agent.

"(b) Special Maritime or Territorial Jurisdiction.—If the actions giving rise to the claim occurred within the special maritime and territorial jurisdiction of the United States, as defined in section 7 of this title, then any civil action under section 2333 of this title against any person may be instituted in the district court of the United States for any district in which any plaintiff resides or the defendant resides, is served, or has an agent.

"(c) Service on Witnesses.—A witness in a civil action brought under section 2333 of this title may be served in any other district where the defendant resides, is found, or has an agent.

"(d) Convenience of the Forum.—The district court shall not dismiss any action brought under section 2333 of this title on the grounds of the inconvenience or inappropriateness of the forum chosen, unless—

"(1) the action may be maintained in a foreign court that has jurisdiction over the subject matter and over all the defendants;

"(2) that foreign court is significantly more convenient and appropriate; and

"(3) that foreign court offers a remedy which is substantially the same as the one available in the courts of the United States.

"§ 2335. Limitation of actions

"(a) In General.—Subject to subsection (b), a suit for recovery of damages under section 2333 of this title shall not be maintained unless commenced within 4 years after the date the cause of action accrued.

"(b) Calculation of Period.—The time of the absence of the defendant from the United States or from any jurisdiction in which the same or a similar action arising from the same facts may be maintained by the plaintiff, or of any concealment of the defendant's whereabouts, shall not be included in the 4-year period set forth in subsection (a).

"§ 2336. Other limitations

"(a) Acts of War.—No action shall be maintained under section 2333 of this title for injury or loss by reason of an act of war.

"(b) Limitation on Discovery.—If a party to an action under section 2333 seeks to discover the investigative files of the Department of Justice, the Assistant Attorney General, Deputy Attorney General, or Attorney General may object on the ground that compliance will interfere with a criminal investigation or prosecution of the incident, or a national security operation related to the incident, which is the subject of the civil litigation. The court shall evaluate any such objections in camera and shall stay the discovery if the court finds that granting the discovery request will substantially interfere with a criminal investigation or prosecution of the incident or a national security operation related to the incident. The court shall consider the likelihood of criminal prosecution by the Government and other factors it deems to be appropriate. A stay of discovery under this subsection shall constitute a bar to the granting of a motion to dismiss under rules 12(b)(6) and 56 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. If the court grants a stay of discovery under this subsection, it may stay the action in the interests of justice.

"(c) Stay of Action for Civil Remedies.—(1) The Attorney General may intervene in any civil action brought under section 2333 for the purpose of seeking a stay of the civil action. A stay shall be granted if the court finds that the continuation of the civil action will substantially interfere with a criminal prosecution which involves the same subject matter and in which an indictment has been returned, or interfere with national security operations related to the terrorist incident that is the subject of the civil action. A stay may be granted for up to 6 months. The Attorney General may petition the court for an extension of the stay for additional 6-month periods until the criminal prosecution is completed or dismissed.

"(2) In a proceeding under this subsection, the Attorney General may request that any order issued by the court for release to the parties and the public omit any reference to the basis on which the stay was sought.

"§ 2337. Suits against Government officials

"No action shall be maintained under section 2333 of this title against—

"(1) the United States, an agency of the United States, or an officer or employee of the United States or any agency thereof acting within his or her official capacity or under color of legal authority; or

"(2) a foreign state, an agency of a foreign state, or an officer or employee of a foreign state or an agency thereof acting within his or her official capacity or under color of legal authority.

"§ 2338. Exclusive Federal jurisdiction

"The district courts of the United States shall have exclusive jurisdiction over an action brought under this chapter."; and

(5) by amending the table of sections to read as follows:

"CHAPTER 113A—TERRORISM

"Sec.
"2331. Definitions.
"2332. Criminal penalties.
"2333. Civil remedies.
"2334. Jurisdiction and venue.
"2335. Limitation of actions.
"2336. Other limitations.
"2337. Suits against government officials.
"2338. Exclusive Federal jurisdiction.

(b) TABLE OF CONTENTS.—The table of contents of part 1 of title 18, United States Code, is amended by striking

"113A. Extraterritorial jurisdiction over terrorist acts abroad against United States nationals .... 2331"

"113A. Terrorism .... 2331".

(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—This section and the amendments made by this section shall apply to any pending case or any cause of action arising on or after 4 years before the date of enactment of this Act.

TITLE XI—EFFECTIVE DATE

SEC. 1101. EFFECTIVE DATE.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Except as otherwise provided in this Act, the provisions of this Act and the amendments made by this Act shall take effect on January 1, 1993.

(b) AVAILABILITY OF APPROPRIATIONS.—Notwithstanding any provision of this Act, all sums expended pursuant to this Act shall be subject to the availability of appropriations.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. MCDERMOTT). The gentleman from New Jersey [Mr. HUGHES] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from California [Mr. MOORHEAD] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

Mr. HUGHES. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, this is a bill that was passed just a few days ago out of the House on a voice vote. It basically implements the Federal Courts Study Commission recommendations. Among other things, it makes improvements to the Judicial Survivors Annuity Program and makes some management and technical changes, housekeeping changes, to the courts throughout the country.

It is a good bill, and I would urge my colleagues to support it.

Mr. MOORHEAD. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, this legislation, as has been explained, is exactly the same as the one that passed the other day. It passed the House. One small section has been deleted because it had objections in the Senate. It adopts many of the suggestions of the Federal Court Study Committee on which I serve.

I believe it is a good piece of legislation and it will certainly help the operation of the courts and I ask for its adoption.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question on the motion offered by the gentleman from New Jersey [Mr. HUGHES] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 6185.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

REMOVAL OF NAME OF MEMBER FROM H.R. 953, ANTI-INDIA BILL

Mr. PALLONE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to remove my name as a cosponsor of H.R. 953, the Anti-India bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New Jersey?

There was no objection.

RECESS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to House Resolution 591, the Chair declares the House in recess to not later than 9 a.m. Bells will be rung 15 minutes prior to reconvening.

Accordingly (at 6 o'clock and 27 minutes a.m.) the House stood in recess until 9 a.m.

□ 0900

AFTER RECESS

The recess having expired, at 9 a.m., the House was called to order by the Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the majority leader, the gentleman from Missouri [Mr. GEPHARDT].

PROVIDING FOR THE CONVENING OF THE FIRST SESSION OF THE 103D CONGRESS

Mr. GEPHARDT. Mr. Speaker, I send to the desk a joint resolution (H.J. Res. 563) providing that the first regular session of the 103d Congress shall begin at noon on Tuesday, January 5, 1993, and ask unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The clerk will report the joint resolution.

H.J. RES. 563

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress Assembled, That the first regular session of the One Hundred Third Congress shall begin at noon on Tuesday, January 5, 1993.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Missouri?

There was no objection.

The joint resolution was ordered to be engrossed and read a third time, was read the third time, and passed, and a motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

PROVIDING FOR PRINTING OF REVISED EDITION OF RULES AND MANUAL OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES FOR THE 103D CONGRESS

Mr. GEPHARDT. Mr. Speaker, I send to the desk a resolution (H. Res. 611) providing for the printing of the revised edition of the Rules and Manual of the House of Representatives for the 103d Congress, and ask unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Clerk will report the resolution.

The Clerk read the resolution, as follows:

H. RES. 611

Resolved, That a revised edition of the Rules and Manual of the House of Representatives for the One Hundred Third Congress be printed as a House document, and that two thousand additional copies shall be printed and bound for the use of the House of Representatives, of which seven hundred copies shall be bound in leather with thumb index and delivered as may be directed by the Parliamentarian of the House for distribution to officers and Members of Congress.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Missouri?

There was no objection.

The resolution was agreed to.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

RELATING TO EARLY ORGANIZATION OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES FOR THE 103D CONGRESS

Mr. GEPHARDT. Mr. Speaker, I send to the desk a resolution (H.Res. 612) providing that any organizational caucus or conference in the House of Representatives for the 103d Congress may begin on or after December 7, 1992, and ask for its immediate consideration.

The Clerk read the resolution, as follows:

H. RES. 612

Resolved, That any organizational caucus or conference in the House of Representatives for the One Hundred Third Congress may begin on or after December 7, 1992.

SEC. 2. As used in this resolution, the term "organizational caucus or conference" means a party caucus or conference authorized to be called under section 202(a) of House Resolution 988, Ninety-third Congress, agreed to on October 8, 1974, and enacted into permanent law by chapter III of title I of the Supplemental Appropriations Act, 1975 (2 U.S.C. 29a(a)).

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Missouri?

There was no objection.

The resolution was agreed to.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

AUTHORIZING THE SPEAKER AND THE MINORITY LEADER TO ACCEPT RESIGNATIONS, APPOINT COMMISSIONS, BOARDS, AND COMMITTEES AUTHORIZED BY LAW OR BY THE HOUSE, NOTWITHSTANDING ADJOURNMENT

Mr. GEPHARDT. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that notwithstanding the adjournment of the second session of the 102d Congress, the speaker and the minority leader be authorized to accept resignations, and to appoint commissions, boards, and committees authorized by law or by the House.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Missouri.

Mr. SOLOMON. Reserving the right to object, Mr. Speaker, we all have been concerned about the Hamilton-Gradison Select Committee getting under way. Can the Chair enlighten us as to what we might be doing on that?

As the Chair knows, minority leader MICHEL and minority leader DOLE have both appointed their members. We were all anxious for it to become effective and to begin working.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will inform the gentleman that appointments granted to the Speaker will be made either immediately before or immediately after the adjournment of the 102d Congress.

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, I thank the Chair, and I withdraw my reservation of objection.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Missouri?

There was no objection.

PERMISSION FOR CHAIRMAN AND RANKING MINORITY MEMBER OF EACH STANDING COMMITTEE AND EACH SUBCOMMITTEE TO EXTEND AND REVISE REMARKS IN CONGRESSIONAL RECORD

Mr. GEPHARDT. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the chairman and ranking minority member of each standing committee and each subcommittee be permitted to extend their remarks in the RECORD, up to and including the RECORD'S last publication, and to include a summary of the work of that committee or subcommittee.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Missouri?

There was no objection.

GRANTING MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE PRIVILEGE TO EXTEND AND REVISE REMARKS IN CONGRESSIONAL RECORD

Mr. GEPHARDT. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members of the House shall have the privilege, until the last edition authorized by the Joint Committee on Printing is published, to extend and revise their own remarks in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD on more than one subject, if they so desire, and may also include therein such short quotations as may be necessary to explain or complete such extensions of remarks. But this order shall not apply to any subject matter which may have occurred, or to any speech delivered subsequent to the adjournment of Congress.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Missouri?

There was no objection.

AUTHORIZING FILING AND PRINTING OF COMMITTEE REPORTS FOLLOWING SINE DIE ADJOURNMENT

Mr. GEPHARDT. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that following adjournment sine die, committees authorized to conduct investigations may be permitted to file reports with the Clerk; and that such reports, and reports on the activities of committees pursuant to clause 1(d), rule XI, may be printed by the Clerk as reports of the 102d Congress.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Missouri?

There was no objection.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 5, rule I, the Chair will now put the question on each motion on which further proceedings were postponed on Sunday, October 4, 1992, and Monday, October 5, 1992.

Votes will be taken in the following order: S. 3100, by the yeas and nays; and S. 1704, by the yeas and nays.

The Chair will reduce to 5 minutes the time for any electronic vote after the first such vote in this series.

LOUISIANA LAND CONVEYANCE; CAVE CREEK CANYON PROTECTION ACT

The SPEAKER. The unfinished business is the question of suspending the rules and passing the Senate bill, S. 3100, as amended.

The SPEAKER. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO] that the House suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill, S. 3100, on which the yeas and nays are ordered.

The vote was taken by electronic device, and there were—yeas 236, nays 102, not voting 94, as follows:

☐ 0939

The Clerk announced the following pair:

On this vote:

Mr. Guarini and Mr. Solarz for, with Mr. Johnson of Texas against.

So (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof), the rules were suspended and the Senate bill, as amended, was passed.

The result of the vote was announced as above recorded.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

□ 0940

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. RUSSO). Pursuant to the provisions of clause 5 of rule I, the Chair announces that he will postpone further proceedings today on each motion to suspend the rules on which a recorded vote or the yeas and nays are ordered, or on which the vote is objected to under clause 4 of rule XV.

Such rollcall votes, if postponed, will be taken later today, but prior to noon.

FAREWELL TO CHARLIE HAYES

(Mr. MFUME asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. MFUME. Mr. Speaker, shortly this week the 102d Congress we all know will come to an end. While it has been a high privilege for all of us to come here and to seek to do the business of the American people, I would be remiss if I did not call to the Members' attention the departing of one of our more colorful Members.

Although it is in fact the Speaker who calls us to order, it is the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. HAYES] who calls us to regular order. Mr. Speaker, to the gentleman from Illinois, CHARLIE HAYES of Chicago, I know I join Members on both sides of the aisle in saying that we will miss his thundering refrain and we will miss his very special friendship.

May God bless you and keep you and grant you many, many more years to come.

WITHDRAWAL OF MOST-FAVORED-NATION STATUS FROM YUGOSLAVIA

Mr. ROSTENKOWSKI. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and take from the Speaker's table the bill (H.R. 5258) to provide for the withdrawal of most-favored-nation status from the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia and to provide for the restoration of such status if certain conditions are fulfilled, with Senate amendments thereto, and concur in the Senate amendments.

The Clerk read as follows:

Senate amendments: Strike out all after the enacting clause and insert:

SECTION 1. WITHDRAWAL OF MOST FAVORED NATION STATUS FROM SERBIA AND MONTENEGRO.

(a) FINDINGS.—The Congress finds that Serbia or Montenegro are not complying with the provisions of the Final Act of the Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe (also known as the "Helsinki Final Act"), particularly the provisions regarding human rights and humanitarian affairs and are not respecting minority rights in Kosovo and Vojvodina.

(b) WITHDRAWAL OF MFN STATUS.—Except as provided in subsection (c), nondiscriminatory treatment shall not apply with respect to any goods that—

(1) are the product of Serbia or Montenegro; and

(2) are entered into the customs territory of the United States on or after the 15th day after the date of the enactment of this Act.

(c) RESTORATION OF NONDISCRIMINATORY TREATMENT.—Notwithstanding subsection (b), the President may restore nondiscriminatory treatment to goods that are the product of Serbia or Montenegro, as the case may be, 30 days after he certifies to the Congress that Serbia or Montenegro, as the case may be—

(1) has ceased its armed conflict with the other ethnic peoples of the region formerly comprising the Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia;

(2) has agreed to respect the borders of the 6 republics that comprised the Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia under the 1974 Yugoslav Constitution; and

(3) has ceased all support of Serbian forces inside Bosnia-Hercegovina.

Amend the title so as to read: "An Act to provide for the withdrawal of most favored nation status from Serbia and Montenegro and to provide for the restoration of such status if certain conditions are fulfilled.".

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. ROSTENKOWSKI] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from Texas [Mr. ARCHER] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. ROSTENKOWSKI].

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. ROSTENKOWSKI. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on the legislation presently under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Illinois?

There was no objection.

Mr. ROSTENKOWSKI. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, the House passed H.R. 5258 on September 22 under suspension of the rules by voice vote. The bill withdraws most-favored-nation treatment from the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia, and requires the President to certify to the Congress that specific conditions exist at least 30 days prior to restoring such treatment.

On September 30, the Senate passed H.R. 5258 with an amendment in the nature of a substitute and returned the bill to the House. The Senate amendment specifies that withdrawal of MFN treatment applies to Serbia and Montenegro, changes compliance with human rights conditions under the Helsinki Act from a certification requirement to a congressional finding, and adds as a condition for certification that Serbia or Montenegro has ceased all support of Serbian forces inside Bosnia-Hercegovina. Otherwise the Senate amendment is identical to, and in no way alters the fundamental purpose or substance of, the House-passed bill.

The principal sponsor of the House-passed bill, Mr. WOLF, agrees with the content of the bill as passed by the Senate. Therefore, I rise today to support passage of H.R. 5258, as amended by the Senate so that the bill can be sent to the President prior to adjournment.

I urge my colleagues to vote for H.R. 5258, as amended by the Senate.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, we have carefully considered this bill on our side and we support it. We have no objections to it.

Mr. HOYER. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support as a cosponsor of H.R. 5258, which withdraws most-favored-nation status [MFN] from the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia and provides for its restoration only under certain conditions. This bill was introduced by our colleague from Virginia, Representative FRANK WOLF, who serves as one of the most active members of the Helsinki Commission and who has just returned from visiting the beleaguered city of Sarajevo, as well as Belgrade, Vojvodina, Kosovo, and Macedonia. He is to be commended for his commitment to the cause of human rights, not just in the former Yugoslavia but throughout east-central Europe.

This bill strips MFN from Serbia and Montenegro, the two republics of the former Yugoslavia which proclaimed this new federation between them in April of this year. Together, they have become the pariah of Europe. Serbia's political leadership is responsible, first and foremost, for the horrifying scene in Bosnia-Hercegovina today, and for the denial of basic human rights and fundamental freedoms to other national or ethnic groups within their own borders. Even ethnic Serbs in Serbia cannot speak their views free from intimidation or persecution.

As Chairman of the Helsinki Commission, I have long advocated the responsible use of diplomatic and economic levers to promote human rights, and I can think of no more compelling case for doing so today than in the case of the new Yugoslavia.

Until peace has been restored and justice has been accomplished in Bosnia-Hercegovina, Belgrade should receive no benefit from the United States. Until human rights are respected in Kosovo and Vojvodina—indeed, throughout Serbia and Montenegro—Belgrade should obtain no advantage from the United States. Until the succession issue is genuinely settled by the mutual agreement of all parties, Belgrade should secure no gain from the United States. Until Helsinki principles are honored in word and deed, Belgrade should acquire no favored status from the United States. No less a message should be sent to Serbia and Montenegro.

Mr. Speaker, the U.N. General Assembly will decide on expelling the new Yugoslavia from this world organization, but first the current Prime Minister, Milan Panic, will be permitted to speak. Mr. Panic, and others within Serbia who may want to save their Republic from the catastrophic conditions in which it finds itself, should place responsibility for these conditions, and for our action here today, squarely on Serbian President Slobodan Milosevic and his supporters. They should use it to demand change, for their own benefit as for the benefit of the victims of aggression in Bosnia-Hercegovina and elsewhere.

As we take this action, we hold no grudge against the Serbian people and the democratic forces among them. As we take this action, we should be prepared to respond when we see real steps toward positive, more democratic change. But we should not respond until we do, whether it takes weeks, months, or years.

Mr. MOODY. Mr. Speaker, the United States has taken the initiative at the United Nations in calling for a commission that could eventually lead to a war crimes tribunal empowered to bring to justice those who have been responsible for atrocities being committed in former Yugoslavia. Talking points are now being circulated among Security Council members by American diplomats, and movement toward establishing a preliminary commission could come sometime in the next month.

The underlying philosophy should be the same as the post World War II Nuremberg trials: even in the heat of war there are acts that cannot be tolerated. Most especially torture and murder of noncombatants, and mistreating or killing prisoners purely because of their race, religion, or ethnicity must not go uncondemned or unpunished.

Mr. Speaker, I strongly support establishing such a U.N.-sponsored tribunal. It would be appropriate not only as a matter of justice for heinous crimes against humanity but also as a means to issue a warning to those who continue to commit these crimes in Bosnia and elsewhere that their actions will not be tolerated by the civilized world community.

Civil wars, by their nature, are bitter and barbarous affairs. The inter-ethnic and communal conflicts we witness today in former Yugoslavia and some other regions of the old Soviet empire are typical in their ferocity and levels of mindless revenge. There is rising evidence that crimes of incredible brutality and viciousness have become almost routine in former Yugoslavia. Forcibly expelling members of one ethnic community by another have provided the atmosphere in which civilian noncombatants have been murdered and mutilated, where prisoners have reportedly been summarily executed or starved to death in notorious detention camps. While none of the three ethnic communities involved in these atrocities is totally innocent, there clearly are individuals whose infamy already cries out for justice.

One of the individuals the U.N. tribunal must consider bringing serious charges against is Zeljko Raznajatovic, better known by his nom de guerre, Arkan, the leader of an ultranationalist band of Serb para-military irregulars. He operates much like the bank-robbing underworld figure he reportedly was before civil war provided him with an excuse to formalize his brutality.

Credible allegations of murderous crimes has followed Arkan from Vukovar in Croatia last year to the Bosnian cities of Bejeljina in April and Brcko in May. There are also serious charges against Vojislav Seselj, a Deputy in the Serbian Parliament, whose followers have been accused of similar crimes.

The para-military leaders using the terrible violence of a civil war to settle ethnic grievances, whether they are Serb, or non-Serb, must be brought to book. Croation and Moslem irregulars have apparently been engaged in similar atrocities against Serbs in northeastern Bosnia and in Croatia. These groups and these leaders must know that winning or losing a battle, or a city, or even the civil war itself is no shield against the imposition of human justice after the fighting ceases.

Given the highly charged nature of the civil war in Yugoslavia it is particularly important that the effort to bring those guilty of crimes against humanity to justice focus on credible and solid evidence of crimes, not merely subjective claims and counter claims based on emotion and revenge.

Mr. Speaker, having lived and worked in Yugoslavia during 1959 and 1960, I have tried to keep informed, and visited four of the six republics of former Yugoslavia last year. In addition to the presidents and top government officials of Serbia, Croatia, Macedonia, and Bosnia, I met with a number of political and religious figures, military commanders and ultra-nationalist paramilitary leaders, including Arkan. while at the time I met him I had no idea who Arkan was, or of the allegations against him that already existed, it is ironic that one of the subjects of our discussion was my plea to him for the humane treatment of prisoners and noncombatant civilians. Since that meeting last December, I have seen reports that Arkan and his followers have been directly implicated in what would clearly be described as war crimes against civilians and combatant prisoners.

For nearly 2 years, the policy of the Bush administration toward the impending disintegration of Yugoslavia has been inconsistent and marked by abrupt changes. In my opinion, we have alternately sought to lead world opinion on Yugoslavia and abrogated that leadership to others. The United States can reestablish its moral leadership in this terrible civil war by spearheading the establishment to bring, at last an element of justice to this terrible and inhuman conflict.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. ROSTENKOWSKI. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. ROSTENKOWSKI] that the House suspend the rules and concur in the Senate amendments to the bill, H.R. 5258.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the Senate amendments were concurred in.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. BILBRAY. Mr. Speaker, I have a point of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. BILBRAY. Mr. Speaker, under the rules we established under martial law the other day, was it not the fact that the conference report must lay on the desk for 2 hours?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Not if it is under a suspension of the rules. This bill was on the list, has been announced, but there is no layover requirement.

CONFERENCE REPORT ON S. 1671, WASTE ISOLATION PILOT PLANT LAND WITHDRAWAL ACT

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and agree to the conference report on the Senate bill (S. 1671) to withdraw certain public lands and to otherwise provide for the operation of the Waste Isolation Pilot Plant in Eddy County, NM, and for other purposes,

(For conference report and statement, see proceedings of the House of today.)

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from California [Mr. MILLER] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from Arizona [Mr. RHODES] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. BILBRAY. Mr. Speaker, I have a point of order.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. BILBRAY. I would ask the Chair, is the gentleman from Arizona [Mr. RHODES] in opposition?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is the gentleman from Arizona [Mr. RHODES] opposed to the motion?

Mr. RHODES. No, Mr. Speaker, I am not.

Mr. BILBRAY. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition and demand time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Nevada [Mr. BILBRAY] will be recognized for 20 minutes in opposition to the bill.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from California [Mr. MILLER].

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks, and include extraneous material, on the legislation under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?

There was no objection.

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I would say to the Members, quickly, this is the conference report on the Waste Isolation Facility in New Mexico to provide for the storage of radioactive waste and the conducting of tests of that facility. It is a conference report that has been worked out with the Committee on the Interior, the Committee on Energy and Commerce, and the Committee on Armed Services to provide for tests before the opening of that facility, for review of those tests, and for public comment on those tests and that facility.

If those tests are in fact successful for the opening of this facility, many of the Members have heard now for many years that we have put in over $1 billion into the construction of this facility, and we believe that it is time to get on with the testing to see whether or not we can use it as a permanent repository for this waste material that is now currently stored in a number of facilities scattered throughout the country.

I want to thank the members of the Committee on Energy and Commerce, the Committee on Armed Services, and the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs who have worked very, very hard on this, and staffs of those committees, to come to this agreement.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BILBRAY. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, the reason I rose in opposition to this bill after a long night with bloodshot eyes, and unshaven, is because the senior Senator from Louisiana has done it again. In section 8 of this particular bill he provides that "certain standards of the EPA will apply to the WIF facility," and that is all right. I understand that.

However, in subsection (b) of that same section he says, "The characterization licensing, construction, operation, or closure of any site required to be characterized under section 13(a) of Public Law 94-425 is exempted." It will not apply to that area.

□ 0950

Well, what is Public Law 97-425? It is the Yucca Mountain site. So the senior Senator from Louisiana again has established that the EPA requirements as promulgated at the WIPP facility will not apply at Yucca Mountain. He stuck it to us in the energy bill, he stuck it to us in the WIPP bill, and that is why I have risen in opposition.

Second, I felt in fairness, this report should have been made available 2 hours ago.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. MONTGOMERY). The Chair would tell the gentleman from Nevada [Mr. BILBRAY] that he should avoid personal references to Members of the Senate.

Mr. BILBRAY. Mr. Speaker, I have not said BENNETT JOHNSTON'S name once.

But, Mr. Speaker, the fact is it did not lie there for 2 hours. I did not get a copy of this until recently. But with the martial law we had, in fairness to everyone, we should have had an opportunity to look at this, and that is why I rose in opposition to this particular bill. It is unfair, it is unjust, but that is the way it happens around here.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I yield 5 minutes en bloc to the gentleman from Arizona [Mr. RHODES], and ask unanimous consent that he may use that time on debate out of his time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?

There was no objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Arizona [Mr. RHODES] is recognized for 5 minutes of the debate time.

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from California [Mr. MOORHEAD].

Mr. MOORHEAD. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of the Conference Report on S. 1671, legislation withdrawing land for the Department of Energy's Waste Isolation Pilot Plant. This legislation is necessary for WIPP, as the plant is known, to begin receiving radioactive waste for testing to see if it can serve as a permanent repository for waste generated by the defense nuclear facilities.

Despite my support for this conference report, parts of it concern me. S. 1671 sets up a cumbersome process requiring DOE to obtain EPA approval of its test phase and retrieval plans. I fear that the process will take too long.

Despite my reservations about this conference report I support it for several reasons. For Congress to do nothing would be a huge institutional failure. I also support this conference report because many of my colleagues are sincerely convinced that DOE needs close scrutiny in order to test radioactive waste at WIPP. Finally, I support this conference report because it moves WIPP from the political arena to the regulatory arena.

For these reasons, Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to vote in favor of this conference report.

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I rise in support of the WIPP conference report. The conference report represents the culmination of many years of work by many members, particularly JOE SKEEN in the House and PETE DOMENICI in the Senate.

Well over a year ago the Subcommittee on Energy and the Environment of the Interior Committee, on which I serve as the ranking member, held the first hearing of the 102d Congress on issues related to WIPP in April 1991. So I feel a particular degree of satisfaction that this conference report has reached this stage.

The bill before us is a significant improvement over that which was passed by the House earlier this spring.

I must say, however, that several problems remain, particularly the very strong role of the EPA, including a great number of determinations and certifications which must be made by the agency during the life of the project.

Also there remains no hammer if EPA fails to approve the test and retrieval plans or fails to issue the final disposal standards in the allotted time.

Having said that, however, I believe that given the very clearly stated concerns of the majority in the House regarding the Department of Energy's past conduct at the WIPP site, and the flexibility, albeit reluctantly at times, demonstrated on that side of the aisle during the conference, I am satisfied that this bill is one I can support.

I urge my colleagues to support the conference report.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BILBRAY. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Oklahoma, [Mr. SYNAR].

Mr. SYNAR. Mr. Speaker, the Waste Isolation Pilot Plant Land Withdrawal Act now before us has several provisions that resulted from negotiations between the House and Senate which are likely to create more problems than they solve.

Earlier this year, the House passed legislation that would have required that the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency [EPA] promulgate final disposal standards, and a certification by EPA that waste experiments were necessary to demonstrate compliance with those standards, before nuclear waste could be brought to WIPP.

This position would have ensured that no tests would be conducted except those that were truly needed and that this determination would be based on final EPA standards.

These tests which will cost hundreds of millions of dollars and take years to conduct should be based and aimed at demonstrating compliance with environmental standards in a timely manner and the House bill ensured that this would be the case.

Five years of oversight of WIPP convinced me that this requirement among others in the House bill, was essential to the establishment of credible and cost-effective test program.

Unfortunately, the deal struck in this conference report takes a different approach to this problem and simply requires the EPA to issue new regulations within 6 months of enactment and make a determination of suitability of the test plan within 10 months of enactment. If the agency kept to this schedule, there would not be a problem, but under the provisions of the bill the two requirements, stand alone and the test plan could, in fact, be approved in the absence of any standards.

While it is true that testing cannot begin at WIPP until final EPA standards are in place, the changes made by the conferees at this final hour could result in EPA's certification of the test plan to be a total sham. Clearly, this is not the intent of the conferees.

Earlier, I had supported the companion legislation reported by the House Energy and Commerce Committee and by the House.

I am in favor of solving our Nation's nuclear waste problems, but I am in favor of solving them the right way; with public credibility and accountability.

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Michigan [Mr. DINGELL], chairman of the Committee on Energy and Commerce.

Mr. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, I support the conference report. I urge my colleagues to do like. This is a good resolution of a very difficult series of questions, and a very, very large number of conflicting interests and concerns. I believe it is fair to the people of the State involved, and I believe it is fair and in the best interests of the people of the country.

I commend my friend, the chairman of the Interior and Insular Affairs Committee, and the other chairmen and members who worked as conferees, and an extraordinarily fine group of staff members who made this possible.

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from South Carolina [Mr. SPRATT].

Mr. SPRATT. Mr. Speaker, I rise in full support of this conference agreement. This bill left the House as a product of a compromise of three committees. It was fairly deliberated by the Armed Services Committee, the Interior and Insular Affairs Committee, and the Energy and Commerce Committee, and went to conference, and was compromised again. But I think it was compromised in favor of the House.

This bill provides that before the actual insertion of waste at the Carlsbad facility can take place, a final rulemaking procedure must take place on the disposal standards, regulations for permanent disposal, and also final rulemaking procedure ending in the publication of a final rule must take place as to the testing and retrieval provisions.

This has been carefully crafted and well compromised. It is a good bill. I fully support it and urge others to vote for it.

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from New Mexico [Mr. SKEEN].

Mr. SKEEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of this conference report. This facility is in my district. It has been ready to go for a number of years.

What we have been exercising is intellectual flagellation in this body over this issue for a long, long time. We are never going to solve this problem of repositories for nuclear waste until we get one started.

That facility is ready to go. This conference report at least gives us a date certain and a starting point.

It is time we got on to do it, because we have wasted almost 6 to 8 years in monkeying around with the legislation, making everybody associated with the issue and interested in the issue, giving them an opportunity to prevail and waste a lot of time that we could have been gathering data for the EPA. Because they have none at the present time.

I am strongly for it. I urge your support, because it is time we got on with this thing, because the temporary storage situation that we have going on today is a total waste of time and very dangerous.

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. KOSTMAYER].

Mr. KOSTMAYER. Mr. Speaker, in reference to what my friend, the gentleman from Oklahoma [Mr. SYNAR], said, the important point for the membership to remember here is none of this material can be buried at this site until the test standards and the disposal standards have been promulgated. Not one single cubic inch can go into the ground until that is done.

Probably none of this material will be deposited in New Mexico, I suspect, this century. It may be a good decade before it is completed.

We have taken every conceivable environmental precaution we could, and under the leadership of the gentleman from Michigan [Mr. DINGELL] and the gentleman from California [Mr. MILLER], we have won a strong, tough bill, and on most of the environmental issues, the environmentalists and the House have succeeded. It is important that we go ahead and proceed with this.

This really closes the loop in terms of the nuclear cycle, in being able to dispose of waste. If this works, it will be a very important step in the right direction for the industry and for the country in learning how to deal with the disposal of this waste.

Whether we are going to generate more nuclear waste or not is not the question. The question is we have got to get rid of the material we have. This facility will take only 20 percent of all the waste that we have. Still 80 percent will remain unburied. We have to deal with that.

This legislation calls for a plan to be developed. This is a good plan. It can work. I urge its adoption.

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from New Mexico [Mr. RICHARDSON].

Mr. RICHARDSON. Mr. Speaker, this is a historic agreement for New Mexico and the Nation with respect to the disposal of transuranic nuclear waste at the waste isolation pilot plan [WIPP]. I want to commend my colleagues on the conference committee for their dedication and hard work to resolve this contentious issue in a manner that provides for fundamental health and safety standards while allowing WIPP to open without significant delay.

The most important aspect of this bill is that there are standards before any testing takes place.

As my colleagues know, I and many concerned New Mexicans have long held the position that WIPP be required to meet the Environmental Protection Agency's standards for radioactive waste disposal before any nuclear waste is emplaced in WIPP. We fought to achieve this standard for many years and finally right here on the floor of the House. Although we did not succeed, we must realize that we all are part of a democratic institution consisting of many ideals—a democratic institution in which by definition a single viewpoint rarely survives unscathed.

It is also important to realize that through this same democratic institution we have successfully implemented many critical health and safety provisions in the final version of the WIPP bill. I can remember during by first terms in Congress when the Department of Energy insisted on bringing upwards of 15 percent of the total waste capacity of WIPP in for the test phase—we have now limited that to one-half of 1 percent. I can remember when the Department of Energy insisted on having self-certification authority—we now have significant independent oversight by the EPA, the Mine Safety and Health Administration, the Occupational Safety and Health Administration, and the Nuclear Regulatory Commission.

I can remember when the Department of Energy insisted on limited public involvement on WIPP activities—we now have significant public involvement throughout the management and operation of WIPP. I can remember when the Department of Energy refused to have NRC certify the waste containers—NRC must now certify the design and quality of the containers. I can remember when the Department of Energy considered any actions taken by the Agency to go uncontested—we now have judicial review. Finally, I can remember when the State of New Mexico had no solid funding commitment to build safe highways and bypasses—we now have $300 million authorized.

Those of us in New Mexico who have fought so hard to ensure the safety of WIPP have achieved many milestones. We have set up a process in which WIPP activities are reviewed and approved by independent agencies. We have set up a process in which the Department of Energy must take remedial action or retrieve the waste if WIPP is found to be out of compliance with applicable environmental regulations. Finally, we have set up a process which allows for public involvement throughout the operation of WIPP. These are the critical elements of the conference agreement. It is in this respect that I feel confident that the public will be adequately protected.

Athough I cannot support the conference report, this is a positive step in the direction of environmental safety.

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

I do not intend to ask for a recorded vote on this. I think clearly in the Department of Energy bill that was passed earlier in the day that it was clear what the will of this body is.

It will be cited in the Senate. The two Senators from Nevada are already filibustering the energy bill. They will address this bill on that side until that language is adopted acceptable to those two Senators; let us hope it will not happen.

I think it was unfair, what was done. I think it was deceiving. I think the fact that this conference report was not laid onto the desk for a number of hours so a Member could look at it is unfair. But the fact is unfairness seems to be the matter of the day here today, not fairness.

Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. BRUCE). The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from California [Mr. MILLER] that the House suspend the rules and agree to the conference report on the Senate bill, S. 1671.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the conference report was agreed to.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

AIRPORT AND AIRWAY SAFETY CAPACITY, NOISE IMPROVEMENT, AND INTERMODAL TRANSPORTATION ACT OF 1992

Mr. OBERSTAR. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Public Works and Transportation be discharged from further consideration of the bill (H.R. 6168) to amend the Airport and Airway Improvement Act of 1982 to authorize appropriations for fiscal years 1993, 1994, and 1995, and for other purposes, and ask for its immediate consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. BRUCE). Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Minnesota?

There was no objection.

The Clerk read the bill, as follows:

H.R. 6168

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE; TABLE OF CONTENTS.

(a) SHORT TITLE.—This Act may be cited as the "Airport and Airway Safety, Capacity, Noise Improvement, and Intermodal Transportation Act of 1992".

(b) TABLE OF CONTENTS.—

TITLE II—FEDERAL AVIATION ACT AMENDMENTS

Sec. 201. Procurement reform.
Sec. 202. Aviation security training.
Sec. 203. Hazards to safe and efficient air commerce.
Sec. 204. National commission to promote a strong and competitive airline industry.
Sec. 205. Strengthening of competition.
Sec. 206. Slot rule effective date.
Sec. 207. Emergency vision equipment.
Sec. 208. Technical amendments to civil penalties.

TITLE III—RESEARCH, ENGINEERING, AND DEVELOPMENT

Sec. 301. Short title.
Sec. 302. Aviation research authorization of appropriations.
Sec. 303. Deicing study.
Sec. 304. Aircraft noise research program.
Sec. 305. Use of domestic products.

TITLE IV—AVIATION INSURANCE

Sec. 401. Insurance for departments and agencies of the United States.
Sec. 402. Extension of program.
Sec. 403. Administration of aviation insurance program.
Sec. 404. Continuation of aviation insurance laws.

TITLE V—EXTENSION OF AIRPORT AND AIRWAY TRUST FUND

Sec. 501. Extension of Airport and Airway Trust Fund.
Sec. 502. Clarification of trust fund revenues.

SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

Congress finds that—

(1) the Nation's aviation system must be part of an intermodal transportation system consisting of hubs and interconnections with other forms of transportation that will move people and goods in the fastest, most efficient manner;

(2) our Nation's airports are our interconnections with the global economy; expanded flight capacity and greatly improved ground access for passengers and cargo are essential to our Nation's ability to compete in the international marketplace;

(3) without significant additional financial resources, the Nation's airports will be unable to accommodate fully the growing aviation and ground traffic demands of the 1990's;

(4) 27 of the Nation's top 100 airports are now unacceptably congested and the resulting delays in flights are costing our economy billions of dollars a year in lost productivity and undermining the Nation's ability to compete in the global economy;

(5) unless the capacity of our airports is increased substantially, the problem of flight delays will escalate dramatically and, by the year 2000, 40 major airports will be congested and incurring more than 20,000 hours of flight delay a year;

(6) the Nation must undertake an airport improvement and development program costing at least $7,000,000,000 a year over the next decade just to prevent the problem of airport delay from growing worse in the 21st century;

(7) neither State, local, nor Federal Government can independently finance the needed airport and intermodal development and there must be a combined effort relying on all levels of government;

(8) both the Federal airport improvement program and local passenger facility charge programs are essential to funding the development, as part of an intermodal transportation system, of airports (including necessary ground access eligible for funding under such programs) which meet our Nation's needs;

(9) the Nation's air traffic control system must be modernized with the highest advanced technology to enable it to continue to move traffic safely and efficiently and the necessary development and procurement of capital equipment will cost at least $18,000,000,000 over the next decade;

(10) the modernization of the air traffic control system will result in productivity and safety benefits of $257,000,000,000 over the life of the equipment purchased; these benefits include the value of time saved by airline passengers, reductions in airline operating costs, and reduced government expenditures and benefits from increased safety;

(11) there will need to be a continuing increase in staffing for the air traffic control system to enable controllers to handle, safely and efficiently, the increased workload which will arise as air transportation grows over the next decade;

(12) the Federal Government must play a major role in developing our aviation system; full use must be made of the more than $5,000,000,000 which aviation users contribute to the Airport and Airway Trust Fund each year and the $7,400,000,000 surplus which has accumulated in the Trust Fund;

(13) although survival of a strong and competitive airline industry is essential to our Nation's economic future—the Nation's airlines are in a financial and competitive crisis which threatens our entire aviation system and our Nation's ability to move people; major airlines have lost more than $6,000,000,000 over the past 2 years; many airlines have merged or discontinued operations; and new entry into the industry has ceased;

(14) the opportunities for new entrants and financially weak airlines to compete successfully can be maximized by the development of new airport capacity, particularly terminal facilities and gates, which will facilitate the ability of new airlines to compete against the airlines which now dominate the facilities at major hub airports;

(15) investment in the aviation transportation infrastructure of the United States will pay immediate and long-term dividends in jobs and economic productivity and provide the foundation for the Nation's continued leadership in the global economic competition of the 21st century;

(16) infrastructure investment differs significantly from other forms of government spending because it creates new wealth for the Nation;

(17) the wealth and economic strength of the United States is in the Nation's infrastructure which provides the foundation for all aspects of life;

(18) failure to invest in the transportation infrastructure, including aviation, has placed the United States in danger of becoming a service-oriented economy, rather than having a strong and independent manufacturing-based economy;

(19) the creation of a national intermodal transportation system is central to the transportation issues of the coming decades and will create the new wealth of the Nation to provide the funds for the Nation to meet the challenges of the 21st century;

(20) our Nation should devote greater efforts to integrating the aviation system with highway and mass transit facilities providing access to airports;

(21) transportation planning, taking account of commerce and land-use patterns, must be improved at all levels and local officials must have a significant role in transportation decisions affecting their areas;

(22) failure to develop an improved intermodal transportation system for the 1990's and the 21st century will result in continuing the two decade trend of decline in United States competitiveness in the global economy and the accompanying decline in the Nation's standard of living;

(23) the safety of the traveling public is of paramount national importance;

(24) aircraft deicing is an important element of aviation safety and past aircraft incidents suggest that both the Federal Government and private industries should focus on methods to improve aircraft deicing procedures and facilities;

(25) noise associated with the use of our Nation's airports must be reduced and efforts to mitigate noise must be continued;

(26) airports must use the airport noise planning program to ensure that capacity expansion minimizes noise to the surrounding community;

(27) the Nation's air traffic control system must be modernized with the most advanced technology, and the necessary capital equipment must be developed and procured, in order to continue the safe and efficient operation of the national airspace system;

(28) there will need to be a continuing increase in the number of aviation safety inspectors to handle the current and future workload of the air carrier and commuter industry; and

(29) the United States airline industry lost more than $6 billion in 1990 and 1991, the number of air carriers serving the public has declined substantially as a result of the industry's financial distress and the absence of governmental policies to promote competition, and continued financial losses could result in the further loss of air carrier competition and service to the traveling public.

TITLE I—AIRPORT AND AIRWAY IMPROVEMENT ACT AMENDMENTS

SEC. 101. DECLARATION OF POLICY.

"(c) National Transportation Policy.—

"(1) It is a goal of the United States to develop a national intermodal transportation system that moves people and goods in an efficient manner. The Nation's future economic direction is dependent on its ability to confront directly the enormous challenges of the global economy, declining productivity growth, energy vulnerability, air pollution, and the need to rebuild the Nation's infrastructure.

"(2) United States leadership in the world economy, the expanding wealth of the Nation, the competitiveness of the Nation's industry, the standard of living, and the quality of life are at stake.

"(3) A national intermodal transportation system is a coordinated, flexible network of diverse but complementary forms of transportation which moves people and goods in the most efficient manner. By reducing transportation costs, these intermodal systems will enhance United States industry's ability to compete in the global marketplace.

"(4) All forms of transportation, including aviation and other transportation systems of the future, will be full partners in the effort to reduce energy consumption and air pollution while promoting economic development.

"(5) An intermodal transportation system consists of transportation hubs which connect different forms of appropriate transportation and provides users with the most efficient means of transportation and with access to commercial centers, business locations, population centers, and the Nation's vast rural areas, as well as providing links to other forms of transportation and to intercity connections.

"(6) Intermodality and flexibility are paramount issues in the process of developing an integrated system that will obtain the optimum yield of United States resources.

"(7) The United States transportation infrastructure must be reshaped to provide the economic underpinnings for the Nation to compete in the 21st century global economy. The United States can no longer rely on the sheer size of its economy to dominate international economic rivals and must recognize fully that its economy is no longer a separate entity but is part of the global marketplace. The Nation's future economic prosperity depends on its ability to compete in an international marketplace that is teeming with competitors but where a full one-quarter of the Nation's economic activity takes place.

"(8) The United States must make a national commitment to rebuild its infrastructure through development of a national intermodal transportation system. The United States must provide the foundation for its industries to improve productivity and their ability to compete in the global economy with a system that will move people and goods faster in an efficient manner.".

(b) Capacity Expansion and Noise Abatement.—Such section is further amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(d) Capacity Expansion and Noise Abatement.—It is in the public interest to recognize the effects of airport capacity expansion projects on aircraft noise. Efforts to increase capacity through any means can have an impact on surrounding communities. Noncompatible land uses around airports must be reduced and efforts to mitigate noise must be given a high priority.".

SEC. 102. AIRPORT IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM.

(a) Authorization of Appropriations.—Section 505(a) of the Airport and Airway Improvement Act of 1982 (49 U.S.C. App. 2204(a)) is amended—

(1) by striking "and" following "1991,"; and

(2) by inserting before the period at the end of the second sentence the following: ", and $15,966,700,000 for fiscal years ending before October 1, 1993".

(b) Obligational Authority.—Section 505(b)(1) of such Act is amended by striking "1992" and inserting "1993".

SEC. 103. AIRWAY IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM.

(a) Authorization of Appropriations.—Section 506(a)(1) of the Airport and Airway Improvement Act of 1982 (49 U.S.C. App. 2205(a)(1)) is amended—

(1) by striking "and" following "1991" and inserting a comma; and

(2) by inserting before the period at the end of the first sentence the following: ", $8,200,000,000 for fiscal years ending before October 1, 1993, $11,100,000,000 for fiscal years ending before October 1, 1994, and $14,000,000,000 for fiscal years ending before October 1, 1995".

(b) Capital Investment Plan Augmentation.—Section 506(a)(2) of such Act is amended to read as follows:

"(2) Capital Investment Plan Augmentation.—If the Secretary determines that it is necessary to augment or substantially modify elements of the Airway Capital Investment Plan submitted to Congress under section 504 of this title (including a determination that it is necessary to establish more than 23 area control facilities), there is authorized to be appropriated from the Trust Fund for fiscal year 1994 to carry out such augmentation or modification $100,000,000. Amounts appropriated under this paragraph shall remain available until expended.".

(c) Other Expenses.—

(1) Extension.—Section 506(c)(4) of such Act is amended—

(A) in the paragraph heading by striking "–1992" and inserting "–1995"; and

(2) CONFORMING AMENDMENT.—Section 506(e)(5) of such Act is amended by striking "1992" and inserting "1995".

(d) WEATHER SERVICES.—Section 506(d) of such Act is amended by striking the second sentence and inserting the following new sentence: "Expenditures for the purposes of carrying out this subsection shall be limited to $35,596,000 for fiscal year 1993, $37,800,000 for fiscal year 1994, and $39,000,000 for fiscal year 1995.".

(e) RADAR SYSTEM FOR NORTHERN MAINE.—Of amounts authorized under section 505(a)(1) of the Airport and Airway Improvement Act of 1982 for fiscal years 1993 and 1994, not less than $18,000,000 is authorized for site selection and installation of 1 Federal Aviation Administration long-range air route surveillance radar system for that portion of northern Maine currently served by approach control at Loring Air Force Base.

SEC. 104. FAA OPERATIONS.

Section 106(k) of title 49, United States Code, is amended—

(1) by striking "and" and inserting a comma; and

(2) by inserting before the period at the end the following: ", $4,716,500,000 for fiscal year 1993, $5,100,000,000 for fiscal year 1994, and $5,520,000,000 for fiscal year 1995".

SEC. 105. LINKAGE WITH PASSENGER FACILITY CHARGES PROGRAM.

Paragraph (4) of section 1113(e) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. App. 1513(e)(4)) is amended by striking "under this subsection on or before" and all that follows through the period at the end of such paragraph and inserting the following:

"under this subsection on or before September 30, 1993, if, during fiscal year 1993, the amount available for obligation under section 419 of this Act is less than $38,600,000. This limitation on the authority to impose a fee shall not apply if the amount available in fiscal year 1993 for obligation under section 419 is less than $38,600,000 as a result of sequestration or other general appropriations reductions applied proportionately to appropriations accounts throughout an appropriations Act. The provisions of this paragraph shall not affect the authority of the Secretary to approve the imposition of a fee or the use of revenues derived from a fee imposed pursuant to an approval made under this subsection by a public agency which has received an approval to impose a fee under this subsection prior to September 30, 1993, regardless of whether such fee is being imposed on September 30, 1993.".

SEC. 106. APPORTIONMENTS.

(a) INCREASE FOR CARGO HUBS.—Section 507(a)(2) of the Airport and Airway Improvement Act of 1982 (49 U.S.C. App. 2206(a)(2)) is amended—

(1) by striking "3 percent" and inserting "3.5 percent"; and

(2) by striking "(but not to exceed $50,000,000)".

(b) LIMITS.—Section 507(b)(1) of such Act is amended by striking "$300,000 nor more than $16,000,000" and inserting "$400,000 nor more than $22,000,000".

(c) PRIMARY AND CARGO SERVICE AIRPORTS.—Section 507(b)(3) of such Act is amended by striking "49.5 percent" each place it appears and inserting "44 percent".

"(F) INCLUDED AIRPORTS.—For purposes of this paragraph, the airports referred to in subparagraph (A) include those public airports that received scheduled service as of September 3, 1982, but were not apportioned funds in fiscal year 1980 under section 15(a) of the Airport and Airway Development Act of 1970 because the airports were not under the control of State or local public agencies.".

SEC. 107. MILITARY AIRPORTS.

(a) SET-ASIDE.—Section 508(d)(5) of the Airport and Airway Improvement Act of 1982 (49 U.S.C. App. 2207(d)(5)) is amended by inserting after "1992" the following: ", not less than 2.25 percent of the funds made available under section 505 in fiscal year 1993, and not less than 2.5 percent of the funds made available under section 505 in each of fiscal years 1994 and 1995".

(b) DESIGNATION.—Section 508(f)(1) of such Act is amended—

(1) by striking "not more than 8" and inserting "not more than 12"; and

(2) by striking the second sentence.

(c) CONSTRUCTION OF PARKING LOTS, FUEL FARMS, AND UTILITIES.—

(1) FUNDING.—Section 508(f) of such Act is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(6) FUNDING FOR CONSTRUCTION OF PARKING LOTS, FUEL FARMS, AND UTILITIES.—Not to exceed $4,000,000 per airport of the sums to be distributed at the discretion of the Secretary under section 507(c) for fiscal years 1993, 1994, and 1995 may be used in the aggregate by the sponsor of a current or former military airport designated by the Secretary under this subsection for construction, improvement, or repair of airport surface parking lots, fuel farms, and utilities.".

(2) CONFORMING AMENDMENT.—Section 513(c) of such Act is amended by inserting after "this section" the following: "and section 508(f)(6) of this title".

(d) MILITARY BASE CLOSURE REPORT.—Within 30 days after the date on which the Secretary of Defense recommends a list of military bases for closure or realignment pursuant to section 2903(c) of the Defense Base Closure and Realignment Act of 1990 (Public Law 101-510; U.S.C. 2687 note), the Administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration shall submit to Congress and the Defense Base Closure and Realignment Commission a report on the effects of all those recommendations involving military airbases, including but not limited to, the effect of the proposed closures or realignments on civilian airports and airways in the local community and region; potential modifications and costs necessary to convert such bases to civilian aviation use; and in the case of air traffic control or radar coverage currently provided by the Department of Defense, potential installations or adjustments of equipment and costs necessary for the Federal Aviation Administration to maintain existing levels of service for the local community and region.

SEC. 108. AIRPORT NOISE COMPATIBILITY PROGRAM.

Section 508(d)(2) of the Airport and Airway Improvement Act of 1982 (49 U.S.C. App. 2207(d)(2)) is amended by striking "10 percent" and inserting "12.5 percent".

SEC. 109. MAXIMUM OBLIGATION OF THE UNITED STATES.

Section 512(b)(3) of the Airport and Airway Improvement Act of 1982 (49 U.S.C. App. 2211(b)(3)) is amended by striking the period at the end and inserting the following: "; except that, for fiscal year 1993 and thereafter, for grants for the acquisition of land or interests in land, the maximum obligation of the United States may be increased for an airport (other than a primary airport) either by not more than 15 percent or by an amount not to exceed 25 percent of the total increase in allowable project costs attributable to the acquisition of land or interests in land, whichever is greater, based on current credible appraisals or a court award in a condemnation proceeding.".

SEC. 110. TERMINAL DEVELOPMENT.

(a) ALLOWABLE PROJECT COSTS.—Section 513(b)(1) of the Airport and Airway Improvement Act of 1982 (49 U.S.C. App. 2212(b)(1)) is amended by adding at the end the following new sentence: "In the case of a commercial service airport which annually has .05 percent or less of the total enplanements in the United States, the Secretary may approve, under the preceding sentence as allowable project costs of a project for airport development at such airport, terminal development in revenue-producing areas and construction, reconstruction, repair, and improvement of nonrevenue-producing parking lots if the sponsor certifies that no project for needed airport development affecting safety, security, or capacity will be deferred by such approval.".

(b) FEDERAL SHARE.—Section 513(b)(5) of such Act is amended by inserting before the period at the end the following: "; except that the United States share of project costs allowable for any project under such paragraph at a commercial service airport which annually has .05 percent or less of the total enplanements in the United States shall be 85 percent".

(c) RETROACTIVE APPLICABILITY.—The amendment made by subsection (a) may be applied to any terminal development which is underway in calendar year 1992 or later.

SEC. 111. LETTERS OF INTENT.

Section 513(d)(1) of the Airport and Airway Improvement Act of 1982 (49 U.S.C. App. 2212(d)(1)) is amended by adding at the end the following new subparagraph:

"(G) OTHER CONSIDERATIONS.—A letter of intent issued under this paragraph shall not condition the obligation of any funds on the imposition of a passenger facility charge.".

SEC. 112. AIRPORT DEVELOPMENT DEFINED.

(a) AIRCRAFT DEICING EQUIPMENT.—Section 503(a)(2)(B) of the Airport and Airway Improvement Act of 1982 (49 U.S.C. App. 2202(a)(2)(B)) is amended—

(1) by striking "or" at the end of clause (v);

(2) by inserting after clause (vi) the following:

"(vii) aircraft deicing equipment and structures (other than aircraft deicing fluids and storage facilities for such equipment and fluids); or

"(viii) interactive training systems;".

(b) CONTROL TOWER AND NAVIGATIONAL AIDS RELOCATION; MEETING MANDATES OF CERTAIN FEDERAL LAWS; AIRCRAFT DEICING FACILITIES.—Section 503(a)(2) of such Act is further amended—

(1) by striking "and" at the end of subparagraph (C);

(2) by striking the period at the end of subparagraph (D) and inserting a semicolon; and

(3) by adding at the end the following new subparagraphs:

"(E) the relocation, after December 31, 1991, of an air traffic control tower and any navigational aid (including radar) if such relocation is necessary to carry out a project approved by the Secretary under this title;

"(F) and if funded by a grant under this title, any construction, reconstruction, repair, or improvement of an airport (or any purchase of capital equipment for an airport) which is necessary for compliance with the responsibilities of the operator or owner of the airport under the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, the Clean Air Act, and the Federal Water Pollution Control Act with respect to the airport, other than construction or purchase of capital equipment which would primarily benefit a revenue producing area of the airport used by a nonaeronautical business; and

"(G) any acquisition of land for, or work necessary to construct, a pad suitable for deicing aircraft prior to takeoff at a commercial service airport, including construction or reconstruction of paved areas, drainage collection structures, treatment and discharge systems, appropriate lighting, and paved access for deicing vehicles and aircraft, but excluding acquisition of aircraft deicing fluids and construction and reconstruction of storage facilities for aircraft deicing equipment and fluids.".

(c) REPORT.—Not later than 6 months after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration shall report to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation of the Senate and the Committee on Public Works and Transportation of the House of Representatives on the cost and the feasibility of maintaining and operating navigational aids (including radar) for a transition period of up to 2 years at airports converting in whole or in part from military airports to civilian commercial or reliever airports.

SEC. 113. PUBLIC ACCESS AND PARTICIPATION WITH RESPECT TO AIRPORTS.

(a) PUBLIC ACCESS TO AIRPORT BUDGET.—Section 511(a)(11) of the Airport and Airway Improvement Act of 1982 (49 U.S.C. App. 2210(a)(11)) is amended by inserting "and a report of the airport budget will be available to the public at reasonable times and places" before the semicolon at the end.

(b) PUBLIC PARTICIPATION WITH RESPECT TO AIRPORT PROJECTS.—Section 509(b)(6)(A) of such Act (49 U.S.C. App. 2208(b)(6)(A)) is amended by inserting "(i)" after "unless" and by striking the period at the end and inserting the following: ", and (ii) the sponsor of the project certifies to the Secretary that the airport management board either has voting representation from the communities where the project is located or has advised the communities that they have the right to petition the Secretary concerning a proposed project.".

SEC. 114. NATIONAL AIRWAY SYSTEM.

(a) ELIMINATION OF REPORTING REQUIREMENT.—Section 504(b) of the Airport and Airway Improvement Act of 1982 (49 U.S.C. App. 2203(b)) is amended by striking paragraph (2).

(b) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—Such section is further amended—

(1) by striking "(1)";

(2) by striking "(A)", "(B)", and "(C)" and inserting "(1)", "(2)", and "(3)", respectively; and

(3) by striking "(i)", "(ii)", and "(iii)" and inserting "(A)", "(B)", and "(C)", respectively.

SEC. 115. DEFINITION OF PASSENGERS ENPLANED.

Section 503(a)(10) of the Airport and Airway Improvement Act of 1982 (49 U.S.C. App. 2202(a)(10)) is amended by inserting "or Alaska or Hawaii" after "contiguous States".

SEC. 116. EXTENSION OF STATE BLOCK GRANT PILOT PROGRAM.

(b) PARTICIPATING STATES.—Section 534(b) of such Act is amended—

(1) by striking "3" and inserting "7"; and

(2) by adding at the end the following new sentence: "The 7 States to be selected for participation in the program in fiscal years 1993, 1994, 1995, and 1996 shall include the 3 States selected for the participation in the program in fiscal year 1992 (Illinois, Missouri, and North Carolina).".

SEC. 117. DISADVANTAGED BUSINESS ENTERPRISE.

(a) ASSURANCE.—Section 511(a)(17) of the Airport and Airway Improvement Act of 1982 (49 U.S.C. App. 2210(a)(17)) is amended by inserting "or which provide ground transportation, baggage carts, automobile rentals, or other consumer services" after "or other consumer products".

"(h) ADMINISTRATION OF DBE ASSURANCE.—

"(1) MANAGEMENT CONTRACTS.—In administering subsection (a)(17) of this section, an airport owner or operator is authorized to meet the overall percentage goal established under such subsection by including businesses operated through management contracts and subcontracts. The dollar amount of a management contract and subcontract with a DBE firm shall be added to the total of DBE participation in airport concessions and to the base from which the airport's overall percentage goal is calculated. The dollar amount of management contracts and subcontracts with non-DBE firms and the gross revenues of business activities to which management contracts and subcontracts pertain shall not be added to this base.

"(2) PURCHASE OF GOODS AND SERVICES.—Except as provided in subsection (h)(3), an airport owner or operator may meet the overall percentage goal established under subsection (a)(17) of this section by including the purchase from DBEs of goods or services used in businesses conducted on the airport, provided that good faith efforts shall be made by the airport owner or operator and the businesses conducted on the airport to explore all available options to achieve, to the maximum extent practical, compliance with such goal through direct ownership arrangements, including, but not limited to, joint ventures and franchises.

"(3) PROVISION FOR CAR RENTAL FIRMS.—

"(A) In complying with subsection (a)(17) of this section, an airport owner or operator shall include the revenues of car rental firms on the airport in the base from which the overall percentage goal set forth in such subsection is calculated.

"(B) An airport owner or operator may require a car rental firm to meet any requirement imposed under subsection (a)(17) of this section through the purchase or lease of goods or services from DBE's. In the event an airport owner or operator requires the purchase or lease of goods or services from DBE's, a car rental firm shall be permitted to meet such requirement by including purchases or leases of vehicles from any vendor that qualifies as a small business concern (as defined by the Secretary by regulation) owned and controlled by socially and economically disadvantaged individuals (as defined under section 505(d)(2)(B)).

"(C) Nothing in this subsection or subsection (a)(17) of this section shall require a car rental firm to change its corporate structure to provide for direct ownership arrangements in order to meet the requirements of such subsection or subsection (a)(17).

"(4) GENERAL PROVISIONS.—

"(A) Nothing in this subsection or subsection (a)(17) shall preempt any State or local law, regulation, or policy enacted by the governing body of an airport owner or operator, or the authority of any State or local government or airport owner or operator to adopt or enforce any law, regulation, or policy relating to DBE's.

"(B) An airport owner or operator shall be permitted to afford opportunities for small business concerns owned and controlled by socially and economically disadvantaged individuals to participate through direct contractual agreement with such concerns.

"(5) EXCLUSION OF AIR CARRIER SERVICES.—Air carriers in providing passenger or freight-carrying services and other businesses that conduct aeronautical activities at an airport shall not be included in the overall percentage goal set forth in subsection (a)(17) of this section for participation of small business concerns at the airport.".

(c) BASIC PROGRAM.—Section 505(d)(2)(A) of such Act (49 U.S.C. App. 2204(d)(2)(A)) is amended by striking "$14,000,000" and inserting "$16,015,000".

(d) REGULATIONS.—Not later than the 180th day following the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Transportation shall issue regulations to carry out sections 511(a)(17) and 511(h) of the Airport and Airway Improvement Act of 1982, as amended by subsections (a) and (b) of this section, relating to the disadvantaged business enterprise assurance.

SEC. 118. EXTENSION OF CERTAIN RESTRICTIONS ON CONTRACT AND GRANT AWARDS.

(a) PROHIBITION AGAINST FRAUDULENT USE OF "MADE IN AMERICA" LABELS.—Section 9130 of the Aviation Safety and Capacity Expansion Act of 1990 (49 U.S.C. App. 2226b) is amended by inserting ", section 106(k) of title 49, United States Code, or the Airport and Airway Improvement Act of 1982 (other than section 506(b))" after "subtitle".

(b) FOREIGN GOVERNMENTS DISCRIMINATING AGAINST U.S. PRODUCTS.—Section 9131 of such Act (49 U.S.C. App. 2226c) is amended by inserting ", section 106(k) of title 49, United States Code, or the Airport and Airway Improvement Act of 1982 (other than section 506(b))" after "subtitle".

SEC. 119. ACQUISITION OR CONSTRUCTION OF FACILITIES FOR ADVANCED TRAINING OF MAINTENANCE TECHNICIANS FOR AIR CARRIER AIRCRAFT.

(a) GRANTS.—The Administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration may make grants not to exceed 4 vocational technical institutions for the purpose of acquiring or constructing facilities to be used for the advanced training of maintenance technicians for air carrier aircraft.

(b) ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA.—The Administrator may only make a grant under this section to a vocational technical educational institution if such institution has a training curriculum which prepares aircraft maintenance technicians who hold an airframe and power plant certificate issued under subpart D of part 65 of title 14 of the Code of Federal Regulations to maintain, without direct supervision, air carrier aircraft.

(c) LIMITATION ON AMOUNTS OF GRANTS.—The maximum amount of Federal funds which a vocational technical educational institution may receive, in the aggregate, through grants made under this section shall be $5,000,000.

(d) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There is authorized to be appropriated, from the Airport and Airway Trust Fund, such sums as may be necessary for carrying out this section for fiscal years 1993, 1994, and 1995. Such sums shall remain available until expended.

SEC. 120. AIR TRAFFIC CONTROLLER STAFFING.

The Administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration shall develop and submit annually to the Committee on Public Works and Transportation of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation of the Senate a report containing the staffing standards used to determine the number of air traffic controllers needed to operate the air traffic control system of the United States, a 3-year projection of the number of air traffic controllers needed to be employed to operate such system to meet such standards, and a detailed plan for employing such controllers, including projected budget requests.

SEC. 121. AVIATION SAFETY INSPECTORS.

The Administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration shall develop and submit by June 30, 1993, to the Committee on Public Works and Transportation of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation of the Senate—

(1) a report on the criteria used to determine the required number of safety inspectors; and

(2) a 3-year projection of the number of inspectors needed, the training plans for such inspectors, and the support staff required for the inspector workforce.

SEC. 122. LIMITATION ON PRIVATIZATION OF OPERATION OF CERTAIN AIRPORT CONTROL TOWERS.

The Administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration shall not enter into any contract on or before September 30, 1994, with a private person for operation of an airport control tower at any airport which in fiscal year 1990 had 5,500 or more air carrier operations and 40,000 or more air taxi operations unless the owner or operator of such airport first agrees, in writing, to the Administrator entering into such contract.

SEC. 123. EFFECTS OF AIRPORT NOISE.

(a) STUDY.—The Administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration shall—

(1) analyze the social, economic, and health effects of airport noise on populations within 65, 60, and 55 LDN noise areas to determine the actual level at which noise creates an adverse impact on populations; and

(2) study the effect of single event noise on populations.

(b) REPORT.—Not later than 1 year after the date of the enactment of this Act and after providing notice and opportunity for public comment, the Administrator shall transmit to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation of the Senate and the Committee on Public Works and Transportation of the House of Representatives a report on the results of the analysis and study conducted under subsection (a).

SEC. 125. AIRCRAFT OPERATIONS IN WINTER CONDITIONS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Before November 1, 1992, the Administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration shall require, by regulation, procedures to improve safety of aircraft operations during winter conditions.

(b) FACTORS TO BE CONSIDERED.—In determining procedures to be required under subsection (a), the Administrator shall consider, among other things, aircraft and air traffic control modifications, the availability of different types of deicing fluids (taking into account their efficacy and environmental limitations), the types of deicing equipment available, and the feasibility and desirability of establishing timeframes within which deicing must occur under certain types of inclement weather.

SEC. 126. VISUAL FLIGHT RULE ROUTES FOR COMPLEX TERMINAL AIRSPACE AREAS.

Section 307(b) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. App. 1348(b)) is amended by adding at the end the following: "In carrying out clause (3), the Administrator shall update and arrange for publication of clearly defined routes for navigating through a complex terminal airspace area, and to and from an airport located within such an area, where the Administrator determines that publication of such routes would promote safety in air navigation. Such routes shall be for the optional use of pilots operating under visual flight rules and shall be developed in consultation with pilots and other users of affected airports.".

SEC. 127. STUDY ON REFLECTORIZATION OF TAXIWAY AND RUNWAY MARKINGS.

(a) STUDY.—The Secretary of Transportation shall conduct a study to determine whether the safety benefits derived from the reflectorization of runways and taxiways of all military airfields under Federal Specification TT–B–1325B should be extended to runways and taxiways of public use airports.

(b) REPORT.—Not later than June 30, 1993, the Secretary shall transmit to Congress a report on the results of the study conducted under this section, together with recommendations concerning requirements for upgraded reflectorization of runways and taxiways at public use airports.

SEC. 128. OPTIONS TO PURCHASE LAND.

(a) STUDY.—The Secretary of Transportation shall conduct a study on the purchase of options to purchase land for airport development.

(b) CONTENT.—In conducting the study under subsection (a), the Secretary shall examine the following:

(1) ELIGIBILITY FOR FUNDING.—Whether or not the purchase of options to purchase land for airport development should be eligible for funding under the Airport Improvement Program.

(2) CONDITIONS.—If the purchase of such options become eligible for funding under the Airport Improvement Program—

(A) whether or not certain limitations should be imposed on such purchases;

(B) whether or not priority should be afforded to the funding of such purchases in relation to other airport development projects; and

(C) whether or not certain environmental requirements should be imposed on such purchases.

(c) REPORT.—Not later than December 31, 1993, the Secretary shall transmit to Congress a report on the results of the study conducted under subsection (a), together with any appropriate recommendations for legislative and administrative action.

SEC. 129. LIGHTING SYSTEMS FOR AIRCRAFT OBSTRUCTIONS AND AIRPORT RUNWAYS.

(a) STUDY.—The Secretary of Transportation shall conduct a study to assess the current Federal program for monitoring the installation and operation of lighting systems for aircraft obstructions and airport runways.

(b) REPORT.—Not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall transmit to the Committee on Public Works and Transportation of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation of the Senate a report containing the results of the study conducted under this section, together with recommendations on methods to ensure that the best available technologies are utilized in lighting systems described in subsection (a).

SEC. 130. ECONOMIC BENEFITS OF AIRPORT DEVELOPMENT PROJECTS.

(a) STUDY.—The Secretary of Transportation shall conduct a study to assess the economic benefits of carrying out airport development projects in areas designated as "redevelopment areas" under section 401 of the Public Works and Economic Development Act of 1965.

(b) REPORT.—Not later than 1 year after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall transmit to Congress a report containing the results of the study conducted under subsection (a), together with recommendations on whether or not airport development projects in areas described in subsection (a) should receive priority consideration in the distribution of grants under the Airport Improvement Program.

SEC. 131. SOUNDPROOFING OF CERTAIN RESIDENTIAL BUILDINGS IN AREAS SURROUNDING AIRPORTS.

During the 2-year period beginning on the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary may make grants under section 104(c)(2) of the Aviation Safety and Noise Abatement Act of 1979 for projects to soundproof residential buildings—

(1) if the operator of the airport involved received approval for a grant for a project to soundproof residential buildings pursuant to section 301(d)(4)(B) of the Airport and Airway Safety and Capacity Expansion Act of 1987;

(2) if the operator of the airport involved submits updated noise exposure contours, as required by the Secretary; and

(3) if the Secretary determines that the proposed projects are compatible with the purposes of the Aviation Safety and Noise Abatement Act of 1979.

SEC. 132. LAREDO INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT, LAREDO, TEXAS.

Section 313(c)(2)(C) of the Airport and Airway Safety and Capacity Expansion Act of 1987 (101 Stat. 1531) is amended by striking "20 years" and inserting "40 years".

SEC. 133. STUDY OF SMALL AIRPORT RUNWAY MAINTENANCE.

(a) STUDY.—The Secretary of Transportation shall conduct a study to assess the ability of airports which annually enplane .05 percent or less of total enplanements in the United States to finance the maintenance of runways, aprons, and taxiways constructed under the Airport Improvement Program, whether or not it would be desirable to make maintenance of runways, aprons, and taxiways eligible projects for grants under the Airport Improvement Program, and whether or not the result of making such maintenance eligible projects would be to reduce the long-term costs of airport development.

(b) REPORT.—Not later than 1 year after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall transmit to Congress a report containing the results of the study conducted under subsection (a), together with recommendations.

SEC. 134. TUCSON STUDY.

(a) STUDY.—The Administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration shall conduct a study of the current and projected need for air traffic control and related services in the airspace in the vicinity of Tucson, Arizona. In particular the study shall focus upon—

(1) the facilities and personnel necessary to assist general aviation pilots in the vicinity of Tucson and the United States-Mexico border area with services such as weather and traffic advisories;

(2) flight plan filings; and

(3) notification of law enforcement agencies that monitor international air traffic between Arizona and Mexico.

(b) Report.—Not later than May 1, 1993, the Administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration shall submit to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation of the Senate and the Committee on Public Works and Transportation of the House of Representatives a report on the results of the study conducted under subsection (a). The report shall include the Administrator's evaluation of the ability of the consolidation plans of the Federal Aviation Administration to assure no reduction or delay in the delivery of air traffic control and related services to pilots in the vicinity of Tucson.

(c) Status.—The Administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration shall not change the status (including reductions in staff, changes in operating hours, changes in jurisdiction, and disconnection of telephone lines) of the Tucson flight service station before the 60th day following the date on which the report required by subsection (b) is submitted.

SEC. 135. AIR TRAFFIC OVER GRAND CANYON.

(a) Study.—The Administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration, in consultation with the Director of the National Park Service, the State of Arizona, the State of Nevada, the Clark County Department of Aviation, affected Indian tribes, and the general public, shall conduct a study on increased air traffic over Grand Canyon National Park.

(b) Report.—The Administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration shall submit to Congress a report on the results of the study conducted under subsection (a). The report shall include the following:

(1) A report on the increase in air traffic over Grand Canyon National Park since 1987.

(2) A forecast of the increase in air traffic over Grand Canyon National Park through 2010.

(3) A report on the carrying capacity of the airspace over Grand Canyon National Park to ensure aviation safety and to meet the requirements established by section 3 of the Act of August 18, 1987 (Public Law 100–91; 101 Stat. 676), including the substantial restoration of natural quiet at the Park.

(4) A plan of action to manage increased air traffic over Grand Canyon National Park to ensure aviation safety and to meet the requirements established by such section 3 of the Act of August 18, 1987, including any measures to encourage or require the use of quiet aircraft technology by commercial air tour operators.

SEC. 136. CIVIL TILTROTOR DEVELOPMENT ADVISORY COMMITTEE.

(a) Establishment.—The Secretary of Transportation shall establish in the Department of Transportation a Civil Tiltrotor Development Advisory Committee (hereinafter in this section referred to as the "Advisory Committee") to evaluate the technical feasibility and economic viability of developing civil tiltrotor aircraft and a national system of infrastructure to support the incorporation of tiltrotor aircraft technology into the national transportation system.

(b) Membership.—

(1) Appointment.—The Advisory Committee shall be composed of members appointed by the Secretary of Transportation, not later than 60 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, as follows:

(A) At least 1 representative of the Department of Transportation.

(B) At least 1 representative of the Federal Aviation Administration.

(C) At least 1 representative of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

(D) Representatives of other Federal departments and agencies, State and local governments, and private industry, as considered appropriate and necessary by the Secretary.

(2) Qualification.—Members appointed pursuant to subparagraphs (A), (B), and (C) of paragraph (1) shall be appointed from among individuals employed under the Federal departments and agencies described in such subparagraphs who receive an annual rate of basic pay which equals or exceeds the rate payable for level VI of the Senior Executive Service.

(3) Chairperson.—The Secretary of Transportation shall appoint a Chairperson of the Advisory Committee from among individuals employed under the Department of Transportation who receive an annual rate of basic pay which equals or exceeds the rate payable for level IV of the Executive Schedule.

(c) Duties.—The Advisory Committee shall—

(1) determine the costs, feasibility, and economic viability of developing a civil tiltrotor aircraft and establishing the necessary infrastructure to incorporate such aircraft and other advanced vertical takeoff and landing aircraft into the national transportation system;

(2) determine the benefits to the national economy and transportation system, including the potential for improved linkages and connections with other modes of transportation, of incorporating civil tiltrotor aircraft and other advanced vertical takeoff and landing aircraft into the national transportation system;

(3) determine further aeronautical research and development requirements needed to incorporate civil tiltrotor aircraft and other advanced vertical takeoff and landing aircraft into the national transportation system;

(4) determine changes to regulatory standards governing use of the airspace which would be required to incorporate civil tiltrotor aircraft and other advanced vertical takeoff and landing aircraft into the national transportation system; and

(5) recommend which of the costs of developing civil tiltrotor aircraft and establishing the infrastructure necessary to support civil tiltrotor aircraft and other advanced vertical takeoff and landing aircraft should be paid by the Federal Government and which of such costs should be paid by private industry.

(d) Report.—Not later than the 365th day following the date of the first meeting of the Advisory Committee, the Advisory Committee shall transmit to Congress a report containing its determinations and recommendations under subsection (c).

(e) Termination.—The Advisory Committee shall terminate on the 30th day following the date of submission of its report under subsection (d).

SEC. 137. TECHNICAL AMENDMENTS.

(a) Exemption Related to Certain Agreements.—Section 9304(a)(2)(D) of the Airport Noise and Capacity Act of 1990 (49 U.S.C. App. 2153(a)(2)(D)) is amended by striking all after "changes" and inserting the following: ", unless an agreement relating to noise reductions at such airport is entered into between the airport proprietor and an airline or airlines constituting a majority of the airline use of such airport, in which case the exception to subsections (b) and (d) provided by this sentence shall apply only to local actions to enforce such agreement.".

(b) Aircraft Contracts.—Section 9309 of the Airport Noise and Capacity Act of 1990 (49 U.S.C. App. 2158) is amended—

(1) in subsection (a)(2) by striking "written contract executed" and inserting "legally binding contract entered into"; and

(2) in subsection (c)(2) by striking "air".

TITLE II—FEDERAL AVIATION ACT AMENDMENTS

SEC. 201. PROCUREMENT REFORM.

(a) In General.—Section 303 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. App. 1344) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsections:

"(g) Limited Sources of Procurement.—The Administrator shall have the same authority as the Administrator would have under section 2304(c)(1) of title 10, United States Code, if the Federal Aviation Administration were an agency listed under section 2303(a) of title 10, United States Code.

"(h) Contract Tower Program.—The Administrator may enter into a contract, on a sole source basis, with a State or political subdivision thereof for the purpose of permitting such State or political subdivision to operate an airport traffic control tower classified as a level I visual flight rules tower by the Administrator if the Administrator determines that the State or political subdivision has the capability to comply with the requirements of this subsection. Any such contract shall require that the State or political subdivision comply with all applicable safety regulations in its operation of the facility and with applicable competition requirements in the subcontracting of any work to be performed under the contract.".

"(g) Limited sources of procurement.

"(h) Contract tower program.".

SEC. 202. AVIATION SECURITY TRAINING.

Section 316(c) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1357(c)) is amended by inserting "(1)" after "(c)" and by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(2) Reimbursement for Certain Expenses.—At the discretion of the Administrator, reimbursement may be made for travel, transportation, and subsistence expenses for the security training of non-Federal domestic and foreign security personnel whose services will contribute significantly to carrying out civil aviation security programs under this section. To the extent practicable, air travel reimbursed under this paragraph shall be conducted on United States air carriers.".

SEC. 203. HAZARDS TO SAFE AND EFFICIENT AIR COMMERCE.

(a) Notice of Construction.—Section 1101(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. App. 1501(a)) is amended—

(1) by inserting after "of the construction or alteration," the following: "or the establishment or expansion,";

(2) by inserting after "or of the proposed construction or alteration," the following: "or of the proposed establishment or expansion,"; and

(3) by inserting "or sanitary landfill" after "structure".

(b) Landfill Hazard Study and Report.—

(1) Requirements.—The Secretary of Transportation, in consultation with the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, shall conduct a study to determine whether a municipal solid waste facility located within a 5-mile radius of the end of a runway may have the potential for attracting or sustaining bird movements (from feeding, watering, or roosting in the area) that may pose a hazard across the runways or approach and departure patterns of aircraft.

(2) REPORT.—Not later than December 31, 1993, the Secretary of Transportation shall transmit to Congress, after first having provided an opportunity for public comment, a report on the results of the study conducted under paragraph (1), together with an assessment of the threat posed to aviation safety by the location of solid waste facilities near airport runways. The report shall include recommendations concerning the construction of new solid waste facilities and the expansion of existing facilities within a 5-mile radius of an airport runway.

SEC. 204. NATIONAL COMMISSION TO PROMOTE A STRONG AND COMPETITIVE AIRLINE INDUSTRY.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds the following:

(1) The Nation's airlines must be part of an intermodal transportation system that will move people and goods in the fastest, most efficient manner.

(2) The Nation's airlines provide our connections with the global economy. A strong airline industry is essential to our Nation's ability to compete in the international marketplace.

(3) The Nation's airlines are in a state of financial distress, having lost more than $6,000,000,000 in 1990 and 1991. These losses threaten the ability of our airlines to accommodate the growing aviation traffic demands of the 1990's which threaten to undermine our Nation's ability to compete in the global economy.

(4) Because of the airline industry's financial distress and the absence of government policies to promote competition, there has been a precipitous decline in the number of major airlines. Of the 22 airlines which entered the industry following airline deregulation, only 2 are now operating. The rest have either gone out of business or merged with other carriers.

(5) Concentration in the airline industry has advanced rapidly in the past few years. The top 4 major airlines now control 67 percent of aviation traffic and the top 7 airlines now control 91 percent of aviation traffic. Three major airlines, carrying 19 percent of aviation traffic, are in chapter 11 bankruptcy and their survival is in doubt.

(6) The continued success of a deregulated airline system requires the spur of effective actual and potential competition to force airlines to provide high quality service at the lowest possible fares.

(7) Further reductions in the number of major airlines may leave the industry without sufficient competition to ensure a continuation of the benefits consumers have received under airline deregulation.

(b) ESTABLISHMENT.—There is established a commission to be known as the "National Commission to Ensure a Strong Competitive Airline Industry" (hereinafter in this section referred to as the "Commission").

(c) FUNCTIONS.—

(1) INVESTIGATION AND STUDY.—The Commission shall make a complete investigation and study of the financial condition of the airline industry, the adequacy of competition in the airline industry, and legal impediments to a financially strong and competitive airline industry.

(2) POLICY RECOMMENDATIONS.—Based on the results of the investigation and study to be conducted under paragraph (1), the Commission shall recommend to the President and Congress those policies which need to be adopted to—

(A) achieve the national goal of a strong and competitive airline system which will facilitate the ability of the Nation to compete in the global economy;

(B) provide adequate levels of competition and service at reasonable fares in cities of all sizes;

(C) retard the flow of United States air carrier bankruptcies and accompanying loss of jobs for United States citizens;

(D) provide a stable work environment for airline industry employees; and

(E) continue to reduce noise for citizens around airports without damaging the economic or competitive positions of the air carriers.

(3) CONSIDERATION OF AIRCRAFT NOISE ABATEMENT.—In carrying out the study and investigation under paragraph (1), the Commission shall take into account aircraft noise abatement, a priority established by Congress by enactment of the Airport Noise and Capacity Act of 1990.

(d) SPECIFIC MATTERS TO BE ADDRESSED.—The Commission shall specifically investigate and study under subsection (c)(1) the following:

(1) FINANCIAL CONDITION OF AIRLINE INDUSTRY.—The current financial condition of the airline industry and how the industry's financial condition is likely to change over the next 5 years, including—

(A) the profits or losses likely to be achieved by the airline industry over the next 5 years;

(B) whether or not any profits realized will be adequate to permit airlines to acquire the capital equipment necessary to meet the demand of the traveling public in a safe and efficient manner, while complying with environmental regulations; and

(C) whether or not any major airlines are likely to fail or sell major assets in order to survive.

(2) ADEQUACY OF COMPETITION.—The current state of competition in the airline industry, how the structure of airline industry competition is likely to change over the next 5 years, and whether or not the expected level of competition will be sufficient to continue the consumer benefits of airline deregulation.

(3) LEGAL IMPEDIMENTS TO A FINANCIALLY STRONG AND COMPETITIVE AIRLINE INDUSTRY.—Whether or not the Federal Government should take any legislative or administrative actions to improve the financial conditions of the airline industry or to enhance airline competition, including whether or not any changes are needed in the legal and administrative policies which govern—

(A) the initial award and the transfer of international airline routes;

(B) the allocation of slots at high density airports;

(C) the allocation of gates, particularly at airports dominated by 1 or a limited number of airlines;

(D) frequent flier programs;

(E) airline computer reservations systems;

(F) the rights of foreign investors to invest in United States airlines;

(G) the taxes and user fees imposed on United States airlines;

(H) the regulatory responsibilities imposed on United States airlines;

(I) the bankruptcy laws of the United States and related fitness rules administered by the Department of Transportation as they apply to airlines; and

(J) the obligations of failing airlines to meet pension obligations.

(4) INTERNATIONAL AVIATION POLICY.—Whether or not the policies and strategies followed by the United States in international aviation are promoting the ability of United States airlines to achieve long-term competitive success in international markets, including—

(A) the Government's general negotiating policy;

(B) the desirability of multilateral rather than bilateral negotiations;

(C) whether or not foreign countries have developed the necessary infrastructure of airports and airways to enable United States airlines to provide the service needed to meet the demand for aviation service between the United States and such countries;

(D) the rights granted foreign airlines to provide service in United States domestic markets ("cabotage"); and

(E) the rights granted foreign investors to invest in United States airlines.

(5) ASSESSMENT OF AIRCRAFT MANUFACTURING INDUSTRY.—The state of the United States aircraft manufacturing industry and make recommendations to the President and Congress concerning policies that will help foster a healthy, competitive United States aircraft manufacturing industry.

(6) STUDY OF INCENTIVES FOR EXPEDITED FLEET CONVERSION.—The possibility of long-term loan guarantees and tax incentives for air carriers to expedite the conversion of the commercial airline fleet from Stage 2 to Stage 3 aircraft in advance of the deadlines established by the Airport Noise and Capacity Act of 1990.

(e) MEMBERSHIP.—

(1) APPOINTMENT.—The Commission shall be composed of 7 members as follows:

(A) 1 member appointed by the President.

(B) 3 members appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

(2) QUALIFICATIONS.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Members appointed pursuant to paragraph (1) shall be appointed from among individuals who are experts in transportation policy (including representatives of Federal, State, and local governments and other public authorities owning or operating airports) and organizations representing airlines, passengers, shippers, airline employees, aircraft manufacturers, general aviation, and the financial community.

(B) SECTORS REPRESENTED.—Members appointed pursuant to paragraph (1) shall be appointed in a manner such that the interests of both large hub airports and small airports with commercial air service will be taken into consideration. One member of the Commission shall be a citizen representing a consensus among citizen noise groups or noise affected municipalities.

(3) TERMS.—Members shall be appointed for the life of the Commission.

(4) VACANCIES.—A vacancy in the Commission shall be filled in the manner in which the original appointment was made.

(5) TRAVEL EXPENSES.—Members shall serve without pay but shall receive travel expenses, including per diem in lieu of subsistence, in accordance with sections 5702 and 5703 of title 5, United States Code.

(6) CHAIRMAN.—The Chairman of the Commission shall be elected by the members.

(f) STAFF.—The Commission may appoint and fix the pay of such personnel as it considers appropriate.

(g) STAFF OF FEDERAL AGENCIES.—Upon request of the Commission, the head of any department or agency of the United States may detail, on a reimbursable basis, any of the personnel of that department or agency to the Commission to assist it in carrying out its duties under this section.

(h) ADMINISTRATIVE SUPPORT SERVICES.—Upon the request of the Commission, the Administrator of General Services shall provide to the Commission, on a reimbursable basis, the administrative support services necessary for the Commission to carry out its responsibilities under this section.

(i) OBTAINING OFFICIAL DATA.—The Commission may secure directly from any department or agency of the United States information (other than information required by any statute of the United States to be kept confidential by such department or agency) necessary for the Commission to carry out its duties under this section. Upon request of the Commission, the head of that department or agency shall furnish such nonconfidential information to the Commission.

(j) REPORT.—Not later than 6 months after the date on which initial appointments of members to the Commission are completed, the Commission shall transmit to the President and Congress a report on the activities of the Commission, including recommendations made by the Commission under subsection (c)(2).

(k) TERMINATION.—The Commission shall terminate on the 180th day following the date of transmittal of the report under subsection (j). All records and papers of the Commission shall thereupon be delivered by the Administrator of General Services for deposit in the National Archives.

SEC. 205. STRENGTHENING OF COMPETITION.

Section 102 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. App. 1302) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(c) STRENGTHENING OF COMPETITION.—In selecting an air carrier to provide foreign air transportation from among competing applicants to provide such transportation, the Secretary shall consider the strengthening of competition among air carriers operating in the United States in order to prevent undue concentration in the air carrier industry, in addition to considering the factors specified in subsections (a) and (b) of this section.".

SEC. 206. SLOT RULE EFFECTIVE DATE.

The final rule of the Federal Aviation Administration which requires an increased level of minimum use for high density traffic airport slots (57 Federal Register 37308) shall take effect January 1, 1993.

SEC. 207. EMERGENCY VISION EQUIPMENT.

The Administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration shall evaluate and report to the Committee on Public Works and Transportation of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation of the Senate, no later than 9 months after the date of the enactment of this Act, on effects of quantities of smoke in the cockpit of an aircraft which could affect the pilot's vision. In such report, the Administrator shall also explore the efficiency of any existing technologies to evacuate smoke from the cockpit, shall evaluate the need for any change in requirements or operating rules, and shall estimate the cost of installation of such technologies for the commercial airline fleet.

SEC. 208. TECHNICAL AMENDMENT TO CIVIL PENALTIES.

Section 901(a)(3)(A) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. App. 1471(a)(3)(A)) is amended by inserting "901(c), 901(d)," after "section".

TITLE III—RESEARCH, ENGINEERING, AND DEVELOPMENT

SEC. 301. SHORT TITLE.

This title may be cited as the "Federal Aviation Administration Research, Engineering, and Development Authorization Act of 1992".

SEC. 302. AVIATION RESEARCH AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.

Section 506(b)(2) of the Airport and Airway Improvement Act of 1982 (49 U.S.C. App. 2205(b)(2)) is amended by striking subparagraph (A) and all that follows and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"(A) for fiscal year 1993—

"(i) $14,700,000 solely for management and analysis projects and activities;

"(ii) $87,000,000 solely for capacity and air traffic management technology projects and activities;

"(iii) $28,000,000 solely for communications, navigation, and surveillance projects and activities;

"(iv) $7,700,000 solely for weather projects and activities;

"(v) $6,800,000 solely for airport technology projects and activities;

"(vi) $44,000,000 solely for aircraft safety technology projects and activities;

"(vii) $41,100,000 solely for system security technology projects and activities;

"(viii) $31,000,000 solely for human factors and aviation medicine projects and activities;

"(ix) $4,500,000 for environment and energy projects and activities; and

"(x) $5,200,000 for innovative/cooperative research projects and activities; and

"(B) for fiscal year 1994, $297,000,000.

Not less than 15 percent of the amount appropriated pursuant to this paragraph shall be for long-term research projects, and not less than 3 percent of the amount appropriated under this paragraph shall be available to the Administrator for making grants under section 312(g) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958.".

SEC. 303. DEICING STUDY.

Not later than 6 months after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Transportation shall report to Congress on the feasibility of requiring commercial airports and commercial airlines to employ portable equipment to deice commercial aircraft immediately prior to takeoff by placing deicing equipment close to the departure end of the active runway. In addition, the Secretary shall undertake research to develop new techniques and to develop more efficient fluids and technologies for deicing.

SEC. 304. AIRCRAFT NOISE RESEARCH PROGRAM.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT.—The Administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration and the Administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration shall jointly conduct a research program to develop new technologies for quieter subsonic jet aircraft engines and airframes.

(b) GOAL.—The goal of the research program established by subsection (a) is to develop by the year 2000 technologies for subsonic jet aircraft engines and airframes which would permit a subsonic jet aircraft to operate at reduced noise levels.

(c) PARTICIPATION.—In carrying out the program established by subsection (a), the Administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration and the Administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration shall encourage the participation of representatives of the aviation industry and academia.

(d) REPORT TO CONGRESS.—The Administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration and the Administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration shall jointly submit to Congress, on an annual basis during the term of the program established by subsection (a), a report on the progress being made under the program toward meeting the goal described in subsection (b).

SEC. 305. USE OF DOMESTIC PRODUCTS.

(a) PROHIBITION AGAINST FRAUDULENT USE OF "MADE IN AMERICA" LABELS.—(1) A person shall not intentionally affix a label bearing the inscription of "Made in America", or any inscription with that meaning, to any product sold in or shipped to the United States, if that product is not a domestic product.

(2) A person who violates paragraph (1) shall not be eligible for any contract for a procurement carried out with amounts authorized under this title, including any subcontract under such a contract pursuant to the debarment, suspension, and ineligibility procedures in subpart 9.4 of chapter 1 of title 48, Code of Federal Regulations, or any successor procedures thereto.

(b) COMPLIANCE WITH BUY AMERICAN ACT.—(1) Except as provided in paragraph (2), the head of each agency which conducts procurements shall ensure that such procurements are conducted in compliance with sections 2 through 4 of the Act of March 3, 1933 (41 U.S.C. 10a through 10c, popularly known as the "Buy American Act").

(2) This subsection shall apply only to procurements made for which—

(A) amounts are authorized by this title to be made available; and

(B) solicitations for bids are issued after the date of enactment of this Act.

(3) The Secretary of Transportation, before January 1, 1994, shall report to the Congress on procurements covered under this subsection of products that are not domestic products.

(c) DEFINITIONS.—For the purposes of this section, the term "domestic product" means a product—

(1) that is manufactured or produced in the United States; and

(2) at least 50 percent of the cost of the articles, materials, or supplies of which are mined, produced, or manufactured in the United States.

TITLE IV—AVIATION INSURANCE

SEC. 401. INSURANCE FOR DEPARTMENTS AND AGENCIES OF THE UNITED STATES.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 1304(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. App. 1534(a)) is amended—

(1) by inserting after "under this title" the following: ", including insurance to cover any risk from the operation of an aircraft while such aircraft is engaged in intrastate, interstate, or overseas air commerce"; and

(2) by adding at the end the following new sentence: "In addition, such department or agency may, with the approval of the President, procure such insurance to cover any risk arising from the provision of goods or services directly related to and necessary for an operation of an aircraft covered by insurance procured under the preceding sentence if such operation is in the performance of a contract of such department or agency or is for the purpose of transporting military forces or materiel on behalf of the United States pursuant to an agreement between the United States and a foreign government.".

(b) CONFORMING AMENDMENT.—Section 1302(a)(3) of such Act (49 U.S.C. App. 1532(a)(3)) is amended by striking "Insurance" and inserting "Subject to section 1304(a), insurance".

SEC. 402. EXTENSION OF PROGRAM.

Section 1312 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. App. 1542) is amended by striking "1992" and inserting "1997".

SEC. 403. ADMINISTRATION OF AVIATION INSURANCE PROGRAM.

(a) REVIEW.—The Comptroller General of the United States shall conduct a review of the administration of the aviation insurance program under title XIII of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 during the Persian Gulf conflict for the purpose of determining methods of improving the efficiency of the administration of such program by reducing the paperwork and time period required for provision of insurance under such program.

(b) REPORT.—Not later than 1 year after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Comptroller General shall transmit to Congress a report on the results of the review conducted under subsection (a), together with any recommendations of the Comptroller General for improving the efficiency of the administration of the aviation insurance program under title XIII of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958.

SEC. 404. CONTINUATION OF AVIATION INSURANCE LAWS.

Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the provisions of title XIII of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 and all insurance policies issued by the Secretary of Transportation under such title, as in effect on September 30, 1992, shall be treated as having continued in effect until the date of the enactment of this Act.

TITLE V—EXTENSION OF AIRPORT AND AIRWAY TRUST FUND

SEC. 501. EXTENSION OF AIRPORT AND AIRWAY TRUST FUND.

Paragraph (1) of section 9502(d) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (relating to expenditures from Airport and Airway Trust Fund) is amended—

(1) by striking "October 1, 1992" and inserting "October 1, 1995", and

(2) by striking in subparagraph (A) "(as such Acts were in effect on the date of the enactment of the Aviation Safety and Capacity Expansion Act of 1990)" and inserting "(as such Acts were in effect on the date of the enactment of the Airport and Airway Safety, Capacity, Noise Improvement, and Intermodal Transportation Act of 1992)".

SEC. 502. CLARIFICATION OF TRUST FUND REVENUES.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Paragraph (1) of section 9502(e) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (relating to special rules for transfers into trust fund) is amended to read as follows:

"(1) INCREASES IN TAX REVENUES BEFORE 1993 TO REMAIN IN GENERAL FUND.—In the case of taxes imposed before January 1, 1993, the amounts required to be appropriated under paragraphs (1), (2), and (3) of subsection (b) shall be determined without regard to any increase in a rate of tax enacted by the Revenue Reconciliation Act of 1990.".

(b) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendment made by subsection (a) shall take effect as if included in section 11213 of the Revenue Reconciliation Act of 1990 on the date of the enactment of such Act.

Mr. CLINGER. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H.R. 6168. This legislation extends the Airport Improvement Program for 1 year, while extending for 3 years the FAA's facilities and equipment, and operations and maintenance programs.

As Members may be aware, the current AIP expired with the advent of the new fiscal year. The Airport Improvement Program is the principal funding mechanism for airport construction projects such as runways, terminal buildings, taxiways, navigation facilities, and the like. During fiscal year 1992, Congress obligated $1.9 billion from the aviation trust fund to support the AIP.

We on the Public Works Committee have been working under extreme duress to accommodate the Senate during the waning hours of the 102d Congress. This House passed the AIP reauthorization bill in early May. We have been very forthright in our deliberations on this measure; we've been forthcoming, sharing this legislation with all interested parties; and we've always held ourselves ready to negotiate at the convenience of the other body. Yet for reasons that remain a complete mystery to me, the bill has languished in the Senate and only last night did they give any indication of moving the legislation forward.

I hasten to point out that the full Senate has yet to act on the AIP reauthorization. The filibuster that has tied up the Senate since yesterday evening has seriously jeopardized any chances of conferencing on this legislation. The Senate has a tremendous amount of work ahead of it on some very substantial bills, yet this House is scheduled to conclude normal business within the next few hours.

By reporting H.R. 6168, we will give the Senate several options about how to proceed with the Airport Improvement Program reauthorization. Certainly, I would hope the Senate would find one of our measures now pending before them to be suitable and that they could report a bill without amendment and send it to the White House.

The Airport Improvement Program is essential to our Nation's commercial airways system. It is far too important to allow it to lapse. I urge all Members to support this bill.

Mr. HAMMERSCHMIDT. Mr. Speaker, this represents our third, and probably final, attempt to enact legislation to continue the Airport Improvement Program.

Last May, we passed H.R. 4691 which was a 2-year reauthorization. Last Friday, we passed H.R. 6093 which is a 3-year reauthorization.

Unfortunately, the response we have received from the Senate has not been acceptable.

Therefore we have taken our previously passed bills, as well the main elements of a companion Senate bill, and have combined them into an omnibus bill. This bill is a 1-year reauthorization of the Airport Improvement Program and a 3-year reauthorization of other aviation programs. It includes the tilt-rotor commission, the VFR corridors bill, and the war risk insurance bill, all of which previously passed the House.

In my view, this is a good bill. It is a fair compromise between the House and Senate versions.

Failure to enact this legislation would mean that many important airport improvements would come to an end. Others would never get off the ground. This would cause jobs to be lost and damage to local economies. It would also undermine the future growth of the aviation system.

Clearly we should not let the Airport Improvement Program lapse for too long. Therefore, I urge the House to approve this bill, and hopefully the Senate will do the same.

Mr. CLINGER. Mr. Speaker, section 117 of H.R. 6168 amends existing law regarding disadvantaged business enterprise performance requirements that must be met by airport authorities receiving Airport Improvement Program [AIP] grants from the U.S. Department of Transportation.

Section 117 of H.R. 6168 expands section 511(a)(17) of the Airport and Airway Improvement Act of 1982 [AAIA]. The question is whether car rental firms doing business at an airport would be held to the same standard applied to all other business enterprises located at an airport. Section 117 recognizes the unique characteristics of the car rental industry and provides for separate administration of DBE assurance for that industry.

Section 511(h)(2) of the Airport and Airway Improvement Act of 1982, as amended, does not apply to car rental firms doing business at an airport for the purposes of determining compliance with any requirement imposed pursuant to section 511(a)(17) of AAIA. Administration of DBE assurance for car rental firms shall be governed by section 511(h)(3) of the AAIA, as amended.

Section 511(h)(3) of AAIA, as amended, provides that nothing in the law on DBE assurance "shall require a car rental firm to change its corporate structure to provide for direct ownership arrangements." For example, a car rental firm is not required, but is permitted, by the DBE assurance sections 551(a)(17) and 511(h) of the AAIA, as amended, to transfer corporate assets to engage in joint ventures, partnership or subleases.

Section 117 of H.R. 6168 was agreed to by the American Car Rental Association, Hertz Car Rental Co., the Airports Council International, the American Association of Airport Executives, and the Airport Minority Advisory Council.

AMENDMENT IN THE NATURE OF A SUBSTITUTE OFFERED BY MR. OBERSTAR

Mr. OBERSTAR. Mr. Speaker, I offer an amendment in the nature of a substitute.

The Clerk read as follows:

(Amendment not available.)

Mr. OBERSTAR (during the reading). Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the amendment in the nature of a substitute be considered as read and printed in the RECORD.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Minnesota?

There was no objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the amendment in the nature of a substitute offered by the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. OBERSTAR].

The amendment in the nature of a substitute was agreed to.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed and read a third time, was read the third time, and passed.

TITLE AMENDMENT OFFERED BY MR. OBERSTAR

Mr. OBERSTAR. Mr. Speaker, I offer an amendment to the title.

The Clerk read as follows:

Title amendment offered by Mr. OBERSTAR: Amend the title so as to read: "A bill to amend the Airport and Airway Improvement Act of 1982 to authorize appropriations, and for other purposes.".

The title amendment was agreed to.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. OBERSTAR. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on H.R. 6168, the bill just passed.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Minnesota?

There was no objection.

JOHN F. KENNEDY CENTER ACT AUTHORIZATION

Mr. OBERSTAR. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Public Works and Transportation be discharged from further consideration of the bill (H.R. 6164) to amend the John F. Kennedy Center Act to authorize appropriations for maintenance, repair, alteration, and other services necessary for the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, and ask for its immediate consideration in the House.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Minnesota?

Mr. INHOFE. Mr. Speaker, reserving the right to object, I do not intend to object. I am in full support of this.

Mr. OBERSTAR. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. INHOFE. Further reserving the right to object, I am happy to yield to the gentleman from Minnesota for an explanation.

Mr. OBERSTAR. Mr. Speaker, this bill is a straightforward 2-year extension of the existing authority for the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts. This bill authorizes $20.8 million for fiscal year 1993 for operating and capital expenses of the Kennedy Center. That is the exact figure included in the appropriations conference agreement. The bill also authorizes $27 million for those same activities in fiscal year 1994.

H.R. 6164 does not change the current structure or responsibilities of the board of trustees of the Kennedy Center, nor does it alter in any way the relationship and responsibilities between the board and the National Park Service of the Department of the Interior.

This committee feels that changes are long overdue in these areas and next year the committee will address ways to make the Kennedy Center a truly more efficient public building of the United States.

Mr. Speaker, I urge passage of this bill in order to ensure that the Kennedy Center is authorized for the current fiscal year and to put into place authorization levels that would allow the Center's staff to plan effectively for the next fiscal year.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. OBERSTAR. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days to revise and extend their remarks on the bill under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Minnesota.

There was no objection.

Mr. INHOFE. Mr. Speaker, further reserving the right to object, I yield to the gentleman from Arkansas [Mr. HAMMERSCHMIDT].

Mr. HAMMERSCHMIDT. I rise in support of H.R. 6164, which will provide a 2-year authorization for the Kennedy Center for maintenance, repair, and alterations.

Earlier this year, the Public Works and Transportation Committee approved H.R. 5755, which provides a 5-year authorization for maintenance and capital projects at the Kennedy Center. The bill also takes an important first step in addressing the ongoing structural problems at the Kennedy Center by making a significant change in the division of responsibilities between the National Park Service and the Kennedy Center Board of Trustees.

Unfortunately, due to a jurisdictional dispute with another committee, we were unable to bring H.R. 5755 to the floor.

Although H.R. 6164 does not fully address the pressing capital needs projects at the Kennedy Center, it does take care of some of the more immediate problems.

It is my hope that during the 103d Congress, there will be an opportunity to more completely respond to the Kennedy Center's long-term capital needs.

Mr. INHOFE. Mr. Speaker, I withdrew my reservation of objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Minnesota?

There was no objection.

The Clerk read the bill, as follows:

H.R. 6164

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. MAINTENANCE, REPAIRS, AND OTHER BUILDING SERVICES.

Section 6(e)(3) of the John F. Kennedy Center Act (20 U.S.C. 761(e)(3)) is amended to read as follows:

"(3) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There is authorized to be appropriated to the Secretary of the Interior to carry out this subsection—

"(A) for fiscal year 1993, not more than—

"(i) $8,000,000 for annual maintenance, repairs, alterations, and operating services; and

"(ii) $12,806,000 for deferred maintenance, repairs, and alterations; and

"(B) for fiscal year 1994, not more than—

"(i) $12,000,000 for annual maintenance, repairs, alterations, and operating services; and

"(ii) $15,000,000 for deferred maintenance, repairs, and alterations.".

The bill was ordered to be engrossed and read a third time, was read the third time, and passed, and a motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. OBERSTAR. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on H.R. 6164, the bill just passed.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Minnesota?

There was no objection.

QUENTIN N. BURDICK U.S. COURTHOUSE

Mr. OBERSTAR. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Public Works and Transportation be discharged from further consideration of the Senate bill (S. 3224) to designate the U.S. courthouse to be constructed in Fargo, ND, the "Quentin N. Burdick United States Courthouse," and ask for its immediate consideration in the House.

The Clerk read the title of the Senate bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. BRUCE). Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Minnesota?

Mr. INHOFE. Reserving the right to object, and I will not object, I yield to the gentleman from Minnesota for an explanation.

Mr. OBERSTAR. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, Senator Quentin Burdick was born in Munich, ND, on June 19, 1908, and was raised in Williston, where he grew up on his parents' ranch and attended local schools.

Following graduation from the University of Minnesota, where he earned his undergraduate and law degrees, Senator Burdick entered law practice in Fargo in 1932. He quickly became immersed in politics and was nominated for State's attorney in 1934 and 1940; for State senator in 1936; and for Lieutenant Governor in 1942. He also ran, although unsuccessfully, for Governor.

In 1958, he became the first Democrat ever to be elected to the House of Representatives from North Dakota. As a Congressman, the Senator focused on agriculture and water projects through his service on the Interior Committee.

After serving less than one term in the House, he won a special election in 1960 to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator William Langer. He was reelected to the Senate five times.

Senator Burdick served in the U.S. Senate with distinction on the Interior and Insular Affairs Committee; the Judiciary Committee, where he was a leader in rewriting bankruptcy legislation; and the Post Office and Civil Service Committee.

Because of his interest in public works, the Senator joined the Environment and Public Works Committee in 1973 and became chairman in 1987. His first actions as chairman were to pass major highway and clean water legislation, having to override Presidential vetoes on both.

Throughout his career Senator Burdick was a champion of our Nation's infrastructure. Whether it was surface transportation or economic development or water resources, he recognized the significance of public works to our Nation's economy and to the quality of life enjoyed by every American.

I had the personal privilege of working with the Senator last year on the Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act. Much of the success of that landmark law is a result of his dedication and hard work. When Quentin died on September 8, we lost a truly devoted colleague.

This bill is a fitting tribute to a man who spent 34 years in Congress and who only asked to be remembered as a man of the people.

Mr. Speaker, I urge adoption of S. 3224.

Mr. INHOFE. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation of objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Minnesota?

There was no objection.

The Clerk read the Senate bill, as follows:

S. 3224

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. DESIGNATION.

The United States Courthouse to be constructed in Fargo, North Dakota shall be known and designated as the "Quentin N. Burdick United States Courthouse".

SEC. 2. REFERENCES.

Any reference in a law, map, regulation, document, paper, or other record of the United States to the United States Courthouse referred to in section 1 shall be deemed a reference to the "Quentin N. Burdick United States Courthouse".

The Senate bill was ordered to be read a third time, was read the third time, and passed, and a motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. OBERSTAR. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on the Senate bill just passed.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Minnesota?

There was no objection.

JOSEPH G. MINISH PASSAIC RIVER WATERFRONT PARK AND HISTORIC AREA

Mr. OBERSTAR. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Public Works and Transportation be discharged from further consideration of the bill (H.R. 6162) to designate an area for which environmental and other streambank restoration measures are authorized as the "Joseph G. Minish Passaic River Waterfront Park and Historic Area," and ask for its immediate consideration in the House.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Minnesota?

Mr. INHOFE. Mr. Speaker, reserving the right to object, I do not intend to object, I support the bill, but I yield to the gentleman from Minnesota for an explanation.

Mr. OBERSTAR. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, the committee bill would name the new waterfront restoration area being created in the city of Newark as part of the Passaic River flood control project for our distinguished former colleague, Joseph G. Minish.

Joe Minish served in this body for 22 years, providing outstanding representation for the city of Newark and other parts of Essex County, NJ.

He worked long and hard, producing a great many notable achievements for the people of New Jersey on a wide range and broad array of issues.

Joe Minish was first elected to Congress in 1962. During his 22 years in the House, he served on the Banking and House Administration Committees but his interests extended much farther than those committees' jurisdictions.

Joe was involved in numerous issues on behalf of the State of New Jersey, whether it was the early stages of the Nation's Mass Transit Program, environmental protection for the pinelands or funding formulas and appropriations for the State.

Prior to his election to Congress, he had been a labor official in New Jersey.

He served as executive director and executive secretary of the Essex-West Hudson Industrial Union Council.

For more than two decades in this House, Joe Minish was an energetic advocate on behalf of the people of New Jersey. He stood for common sense, for decency, and for doing the right thing for all people.

Many of Joe Minish's accomplishments are not the kind on which we can hang a sign. They are tangible and concrete for the people of New Jersey, nevertheless. The new waterfront park will be a jewel that will place Newark in the forefront of our Nation's urban centers.

It is totally appropriate that this new park which will link a major flood control project with the New Jersey Center for the Arts and with the massive transportation improvements that will revitalize the city of Newark be named the Joseph G. Minish Passaic River Waterfront Park and Historic Area.

It is a well-deserved tribute for his outstanding work of more than two decades.

Mr. INHOFE. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation of objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Minnesota?

There was no objection.

The Clerk read the bill, as follows:

H.R. 6162

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. DESIGNATION.

The area for which environmental and other streambank restoration measures are authorized by section 101(a)(18)(B) of the Water Resources Development Act of 1990, relating to the project for flood control, Passaic River Mainstem, New Jersey and New York, shall be known and designated as the "Joseph G. Minish Passaic River Waterfront Park and Historic Area".

SEC. 2. LEGAL REFERENCES.

Any reference in a law, regulation, document, record, map, or other paper of the United States to the area referred to in section 1 shall be deemed to be a reference to the "Joseph G. Minish Passaic River Waterfront Park and Historic Area".

The bill was ordered to be engrossed and read a third time, was read the third time, and passed, and a motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. OBERSTAR. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on the bill just passed.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Minnesota?

There was no objection.

MITCHELL H. COHEN UNITED STATES COURTHOUSE

Mr. OBERSTAR. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to take from the Speaker's table the Senate bill (S. 2625) to designate the U.S. courthouse being constructed at 400 Cooper Street in Camden, NJ, as the "Mitchell H. Cohen United States Courthouse," and ask for its immediate consideration in the House.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Minnesota?

Mr. INHOFE. Mr. Speaker, reserving the right to object, I do not intend to object, and I yield to the gentleman from Minnesota for an explanation.

Mr. OBERSTAR. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, Mitchell H. Cohen was born on September 11, 1904, in Philadelphia, PA. He attended Temple University and Dickinson School of Law, graduating in 1928. In 1930, he was admitted to the New Jersey Bar. He was city prosecutor for Camden, NJ, from 1936 to 1942. He served as a judge in the Camden Municipal Court in 1942; special deputy attorney general for New Jersey; served on the New Jersey County Court from 1958 to 1961, and the New Jersey Superior Court from 1961 to 1962.

In 1962, President Kennedy appointed him to the U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey, becoming chief judge in 1973. He died on January 7, 1991.

Judge Cohen was a dedicated public servant who had a distinguished career that spanned over 50 years, and he is most deserving of this honor.

Mr. Speaker, S. 2565 is identical to H.R. 2475, which passed the House on suspension on March 3, 1992. In that regard, I want to commend BOB ANDREWS from New Jersey for authoring H.R. 2475 and for his hard work in bringing this matter to where it is today. I also want to pay special tribute to the distinguished junior Senator from New Jersey, FRANK LAUTENBERG, whom, I might add, is also a constituent of mine, for his work in support of the Senate side.

Mr. Speaker, I urge adoption of S. 2565.

Mr. INHOFE. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation of objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Minnesota?

There was no objection.

The Clerk read the Senate bill as follows:

S. 2625

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. DESIGNATION.

The United States courthouse under construction at 400 Cooper Street in Camden, New Jersey, shall be known and designated as the "Mitchell H. Cohen United States Courthouse".

SEC. 2. REFERENCES.

Any reference in a law, map, regulation, document, paper, or other record of the United States to the courthouse referred to in section 1 shall be deemed to be a reference to the "Mitchell H. Cohen United States Courthouse".

The Senate bill was ordered to be read a third time, was read the third time, and passed, and a motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. OBERSTAR. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on the Senate bill just passed.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Minnesota?

There was no objection.

REQUEST FOR CONSIDERATION OF H.R. 6161, ROBERT C. BYRD LOCKS AND DAM

Mr. OBERSTAR. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to take from the Speaker's table the bill (H.R. 6161) to designate the Gallipolis Locks and Dam, Ohio River, Ohio and West Virginia, as the "Robert C. Byrd Locks and Dam", and ask for its immediate consideration.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Minnesota?

Mr. INHOFE. Mr. Speaker, reserving the right to object, and I do not intend to object, I yield to the gentleman from Minnesota for an explanation.

Mr. OBERSTAR. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, one of the greater leaders of the other body and one of its great students, is ROBERT C. BYRD of West Virginia. No one in the Senate has a better understanding of the history of the Senate and of the entire Congress, nor been its greatest defender from attempts of other branches to usurp the power of the legislative branch. A great student and teacher of American and world history, he has not hesitated from calling upon that knowledge to keep the Senate on a proper course. Senator BYRD has served ably as the Senate majority leader, minority leader, and now serves as chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee and President pro tempore. In each capacity he has served his country and his party well. A Member of the Senate since 1958, he has held more Senate leadership positions than any other Senator of any party in Senate history.

His strong support for the needed water infrastructure improvements for West Virginia are well known. It is only fitting that we designate the Gallipolis Locks and Dam on the Ohio River as the Robert C. Byrd Locks and Dam. The Robert C. Byrd Locks and Dam will end a bottleneck in the Ohio River that will cut down the time to traverse the locks from as much as 3 hours to less than 20 minutes. His strong support for this needed project was instrumental in its completion. I am sure that the Congress will join me in supporting this bill to honor one of the great leaders of the Senate, ROBERT C. BYRD.

Mr. Speaker, I urge adoption of H.R. 6161.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. OBERSTAR. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days to revise and extend their remarks on the bill under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Minnesota?

There was no objection.

Mr. INHOFE. Mr. Speaker, further reserving the right to object, I yield to the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. WALKER].

Mr. WALKER. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, I thought we used to have a standard, which was that while Members were serving as incumbents and certainly while they intended to serve as incumbents for some time to come, that we did not name the public projects after those people who were serving in office. I am curious as to why we have this bill out here.

Mr. OBERSTAR. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. INHOFE. Further reserving the right to object, I yield to the gentleman from Minnesota.

Mr. OBERSTAR. I thank the gentleman for yielding further.

Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has stated the case. That has been the policy of the Committee on Public Works and Transportation, not to name public buildings.

Mr. RAHALL. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of this bill which will honor a great West Virginian by renaming the Gallipolis Locks and Dam the "Robert C. Byrd Locks and Dam". Last month, this House passed this same measure as part of the Water Resource Development Act. The uncertain future of that legislation prompted me to attempt to have this matter accomplished on its own.

Senator BYRD has done a great deal to assist the State of West Virginia. In his position as chairman of the Senate Committee on Appropriations, Senator BYRD was instrumental in obtaining funds to have the Gallipolis Locks and Dam upgraded. Before being upgraded, this structure was infamous for the chaos and danger it caused for barges traveling down the Ohio River. Too many times the hazards predicted in corps model engineering studies would come true. Downbound tows approaching Gallipolis during high flows have been swept into the dams or sent crashing into the lock walls. In fact, more navigational accidents had occurred at Gallipolis than at any other lock on the Ohio.

Senator BYRD understood the importance of upgrading this lock, which was in continuous service since 1937, to the industrial and commercial future of the Ohio Valley. He appreciated the value of a safe, consistent navigation along this vital inland artery and was willing to make the Federal financial commitment necessary to make the upgrade possible.

It is fitting that the Congress should recognize the contributions of this great legislator by naming this important structure in his honor. I am pleased to join my colleagues from West Virginia and this body in praising this great man.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I object.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Objection is heard.

ALZHEIMER'S DISEASE RESEARCH, TRAINING, AND EDUCATION AMENDMENTS OF 1991

Mr. WAXMAN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Energy and Commerce be discharged from further consideration of the Senate bill (S. 1577) to amend the Alzheimer's Disease and Related Dementias Services Research Act of 1986 to reauthorize the act, and for other purposes and ask for its immediate consideration in the House.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?

Mr. BARTON of Texas. Mr. Speaker, reserving the right to object, I will not object, but I do ask the chairman of the subcommittee if this is the bill that Congresswoman OLYMPIA SNOWE has worked so diligently on?

Mr. WAXMAN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. BARTON of Texas. I yield to the gentleman from California.

Mr. WAXMAN. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is correct. She, among others of our colleagues has worked hard on this legislation, and I am pleased to present it to the House today on behalf of their efforts.

Mr. BARTON of Texas. Congresswoman SNOWE indicated to me last night that this was an excellent piece of legislation that she strongly wanted to see pass, and if this is the bill that she was discussing, I would withdraw my objection.

Mr. WAXMAN. If the gentleman would yield further, you can take her word for it, this is an excellent piece of legislation. I do not know if you have had a chance to read it over, but I concur in her comments to you and want to share them with others of our colleagues in the House.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of S. 1577, as amended, to revise and extend various authorities established under the 1986 Alzheimer's Disease and Related Dementias Research Act. Similar legislation which was introduced by two champions of research on Alzheimer's disease—our colleagues, Mr. BRUCE and Ms. SNOWE has already passed the House without controversy. The substitute amendment includes additional provisions to improve the Nation's efforts in addressing the needs of Alzheimer's patients and their families.

Both the original bill and the substitute enjoy broad bipartisan support. I know of no objection to the proposal now before us.

The purpose of the legislation, Mr. Speaker, is to reauthorize and improve a number of sections to the 1986 research law which established—for the first time—a comprehensive Alzheimer's disease research program.

Among the most important elements of this program is the Advisory Panel on Alzheimer's Research. This group has published a number of significant reports that include recommendations on appropriate action by both the Congress and the Department of Health and Human Services on Alzheimer's disease and other dementias. It continues to work on additional studies and recommendations for our consideration. S. 1577 would reauthorize the panel for a number of years so that it may be able to pursue this and other important matters.

S. 1577 also includes several minor changes and technical corrections to the 1986 statute. Together, these amendments will serve to improve the basic authority and operation of the Alzheimer's disease research program.

Again, Mr. Speaker, this legislation enjoys strong bipartisan support. I urge my colleagues to support this bill.

Ms. SNOWE. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 3082, the Alzheimer's Disease and Related Dementias Research Amendments of 1991. First, I would like to commend subcommittee chairman WAXMAN and ranking member DANNEMEYER for bringing this legislation to the House floor.

As our older population continues to grow, the human and financial costs of Alzheimer's disease will accelerate precipitously. Because of my concern for the two victims of Alzheimer's disease, the patient and the family, I have made a strong commitment to Alzheimer's research and family caregiving.

H.R. 3082 extends the Advisory Panel on Alzheimer's Disease, the Council on Alzheimer's Disease within the Department of Health and Human Services [DHHS], and research relating to services for individuals with Alzheimer's disease and related dementias, and their families. These advisory groups and research programs were originally authorized in Public Law 99-660. This is legislation that Senator GRASSLEY and I introduced in 1986, and in which Senator METZENBAUM also played a leading role.

The Advisory Panel on Alzheimer's Disease was established as a body of non-federal experts to advise Congress and the executive branch about emerging issues and priorities in biomedical research and service delivery regarding Alzheimer's disease and related dementias.

This panel recently released its third report on the current status of, and made recommendations for legislative and administrative action in, four mandated areas: biomedical and health services research, values and goals in the care of persons with Alzheimer's disease and related dementias, regulations and value clarification, and the financing of Alzheimer's disease programs. This report provides great insight into the problems faced by a society with an increasing number of persons diagnosed with Alzheimer's disease and related dementias.

Once again, this panel has fulfilled its mandates most effectively. However, given the magnitude of the disorder, the number of still unanswered questions and the need for further advice to Congress and the executive branch about new directions in research and the provisions of care, the Panel needs to be reauthorized.

Likewise, the Council on Alzheimer's Disease within DHHS coordinates and identifies the most promising areas of research on Alzheimer's disease. The council has very effectively facilitated coordination and collaboration among numerous and diverse programs and agencies within a broadbased research framework. As a result, there is a great need to extend the Council.

Finally, the need for research on available programs and services is clear. Until the cause, cure, and treatment is found, we must continue to make a Federal commitment to fund Alzheimer's disease research and to find methods for assisting victims of Alzheimer's disease and their families.

Mr. Speaker, I hope that I will have the support of my colleagues in passing H.R. 3082. Clearly, the reauthorization of the Advisory Panel and Council on Alzheimer's disease, and of services research, will help to provide the answers that are desperately needed to conquer this devastating disease.

Mr. BARTON of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation of objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?

There was no objection.

The Clerk read the Senate bill, as follows:

S. 1577

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Alzheimer's Disease Research, Training, and Education Amendments of 1991".

SEC. 2. SHORT TITLE OF ACT.

Section 901 of the Alzheimer's Disease and Related Dementias Services Research Act of 1986 (42 U.S.C. 11201 note) is amended by striking "Services Research Act of 1986" and inserting "Research Act of 1991".

SEC. 3. REFERENCES.

Except as otherwise specifically provided, whenever in this Act an amendment or repeal is expressed in terms of an amendment to, or a repeal of, a section or other provision, the reference shall be considered to be made to a section or other provision of the Alzheimer's Disease and Related Dementias Research Act of 1991 (42 U.S.C. 11201 et seq.).

SEC. 4. FINDINGS.

Section 902 (42 U.S.C. 11201) is amended—

(1) by redesignating paragraphs (7) through (12) as paragraphs (9) through (14);

(2) by striking paragraphs (4), (5), and (6); and

(3) by inserting after paragraph (3) the following new paragraphs:

"(4) the cost of caring for individuals with Alzheimer's disease and related dementias is great, and conservative estimates range between $38,000,000,000 and $42,000,000,000 per year solely for direct costs;

"(5) progress in the neurosciences and behavioral sciences has demonstrated the interdependence and mutual reinforcement of basic science, clinical research, and services research for Alzheimer's disease and related dementias;

"(6) programs initiated as part of the Decade of the Brain are likely to provide significant progress in understanding the fundamental mechanisms underlying the causes of, and treatments for, Alzheimer's disease and related dementias;

"(7) although substantial progress has been made in recent years in identifying possible leads to the causes of Alzheimer's disease and related dementias, and more progress can be expected in the near future, there is little likelihood of a breakthrough in the immediate future that would eliminate or substantially reduce—

"(A) the number of individuals with the disease and dementias; or

"(B) the difficulties of caring for the individuals;

"(8) the responsibility for care of individuals with Alzheimer's disease and related dementias falls primarily on their families, and the care is financially and emotionally devastating;".

SEC. 5. COUNCIL ON ALZHEIMER'S DISEASE.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT.—Section 911 (42 U.S.C. 11211) is amended—

(1) in subsection (a)—

(A) in paragraph (6), by striking "and Communicative Diseases" and inserting "Disorders";

(B) by striking paragraphs (10), (11), and (12); and

(C) by adding at the end the following new paragraphs:

"(10) the Administrator of the Agency for Health Care Policy and Research;

"(11) the Administrator of the Health Resources and Services Administration;

"(12) the Director of the National Center for Nursing Research;

"(13) the Chief Medical Director of the Department of Veterans Affairs;

"(14) the Director of the National Center for Health Statistics; and

"(15) such additional members as the Secretary of Health and Human Services (hereinafter referred to as the 'Secretary') considers appropriate.";

(2) by striking subsection (b) and inserting the following new subsection:

"(b) The Assistant Secretary for Health shall serve as the Chairman of the Council."; and

(3) in subsection (d), by striking "twice" and inserting "once".

(b) FUNCTIONS.—Section 912 (42 U.S.C. 11212) is amended—

(1) in subsection (a)—

(A) by adding "and" at the end of paragraph (3);

(B) by striking "; and" at the end of paragraph (4) and inserting a period; and

(C) by striking paragraph (5); and

(2) by striking subsection (b) and inserting the following new subsection:

"(b)(1) The Chairman of the Council shall submit to the committees listed in paragraph (2) an annual report containing information on—

"(A) progress made by research, sponsored by the Federal Government, on Alzheimer's disease and related dementias; and

"(B) new directions that the Council considers potentially important in research on Alzheimer's disease and related dementias.

"(2) The Chairman of the Council shall submit the report described in paragraph (1) to—

"(A) the Committee on Energy and Commerce of the House of Representatives;

"(B) the Committee on Ways and Means of the House of Representatives;

"(C) the Committee on Veterans' Affairs of the House of Representatives;

"(D) the Committee on Appropriations of the House of Representatives;

"(E) the Committee on Labor and Human Resources of the Senate;

"(F) the Committee on Finance of the Senate;

"(G) the Committee on Veterans' Affairs of the Senate; and

"(H) the Committee on Appropriations of the Senate.".

SEC. 6. ADVISORY PANEL ON ALZHEIMER'S DISEASE.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT.—Section 921 (42 U.S.C. 11221) is amended—

(1) in subsection (a)(2), by striking "the Director of the National Center for Health Services Research and Health Care Technology Assessment" and inserting "the Administrator of the Agency for Health Care Policy and Research";

(2) in subsection (d), to read as follows:

"(d)(1)(A) Except as provided in subparagraph (B), members of the Panel appointed under subsection (a)(1) shall each serve for a term of 3 years.

"(B) Of the members appointed under subsection (a)(1) that are serving on the Panel on the day before the date of the enactment of this subsection—

"(i) five shall serve for a term that expires on such date;

"(ii) five shall serve for a term that expires 1 year after such date; and

"(iii) five shall serve for a term that expires 2 years after such date.

"(2) A vacancy on the Panel shall be filled in the same manner as the original appointment was made, and not later than 90 days after the date on which the vacancy first arises. A vacancy on the Panel shall not affect the powers of the Panel.";

(3) in subsection (f), by striking "twice" and inserting "once";

(4) in subsection (h), by striking "of $100 per day" and inserting "at the daily equivalent of the maximum rate specified for GS-15 of the General Schedule under section 5332 of title 5, United States Code,"; and

(5) by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(i) Notwithstanding section 14 of the Federal Advisory Committee Act (5 U.S.C. App.), on September 30, 1996, the Panel shall be abolished and all programs established under this part shall terminate.".

(b) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—Section 923 (42 U.S.C. 11223) is amended to read as follows:

"SEC. 923. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.

"There are authorized to be appropriated to carry out this part, $150,000 for fiscal year 1992, $157,500 for fiscal year 1993, $165,500 for fiscal year 1994, and such sums as may be necessary for each of the fiscal years 1995 and 1996.".

SEC. 7. RESEARCH RELATING TO SERVICES FOR INDIVIDUALS WITH ALZHEIMER'S DISEASE AND RELATED DEMENTIAS AND FAMILIES OF THE INDIVIDUALS.

(a) RESPONSIBILITIES OF THE NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF MENTAL HEALTH.—

(1) GRANTS.—Section 931 (42 U.S.C. 11251) is amended—

(A) by striking subsections (b)(2) and (c);

(B) in subsection (a), by inserting "and specialized care" after "services"; and

(C) in subsection (b)(1)—

(i) by striking "Within 6 months" and all that follows through "plan shall" and inserting "The Director of the National Institute of Mental Health shall";

(ii) in subparagraph (A)—

(I) by striking "provide for" and inserting "ensure that the research conducted under subsection (a) includes";

(II) by striking clause (iii) and inserting the following new clause:

"(iii) the optimal range, types, and costeffectiveness of services and specialized care for individuals with Alzheimer's disease and related dementias and for their families, in community and residential settings (including home care, day care, and respite care), and in institutional settings, particularly with respect to—

"(I) the design of the services and care;

"(II) appropriate staffing for the provision of the services and care;

"(III) the timing of the services and care during the progression of the disease or dementias; and

"(IV) the appropriate mix and coordination of the services and specialized care;";

(III) in clause (iv), by inserting "the evaluation of best practices for the development of" before "appropriate"; and

(IV) in clauses (v) and (vii), by striking "and nursing home services" and inserting "nursing home services, and other residential services and care"; and

(iii) in subparagraph (B), by striking "research carried out under the plan" and inserting "the research".

(2) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—Section 931(b) (42 U.S.C. 11251(b)) is amended—

(A) by striking "(1)";

(B) by redesignating subparagraphs (A) and (B) as paragraphs (1) and (2), respectively; and

(C) in paragraph (1) (as redesignated by subparagraph (B) of this paragraph), by redesignating clauses (i) through (vii) as subparagraphs (A) through (G), respectively.

(3) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—Section 933 (42 U.S.C. 11253) is amended to read as follows:

"SEC. 933. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.

"There are authorized to be appropriated to carry out this subpart $8,000,000 for fiscal year 1992, $9,000,000 for fiscal year 1993, $10,000,000 for fiscal year 1994, and such sums as may be necessary for each of the fiscal years 1995 and 1996.".

(b) RESPONSIBILITIES OF THE AGENCY FOR HEALTH CARE POLICY AND RESEARCH.—

(1) RESEARCH PROGRAM AND PLAN.—Section 934 (42 U.S.C. 11261) is amended to read as follows:

"SEC. 934. RESEARCH PROGRAM.

"(a) GRANTS FOR RESEARCH.—The Administrator of the Agency for Health Care Policy and Research shall conduct, or make grants for the conduct of, research relevant to appropriate services for individuals with Alzheimer's disease and related dementias and for their families.

"(b) RESEARCH SUBJECTS.—The Administrator of the Agency for Health Care Policy and Research shall ensure that research conducted under subsection (a) shall include research—

"(1) concerning improving the organization, delivery, and financing of services for individuals with Alzheimer's disease and related dementias and for their families, including research on—

"(A) the design, staffing, and operation of special care units for the individuals in institutional settings, as well as individuals in home care, day care, and respite care; and

"(B) the exploration and enhancement of services such as home care, day care, and respite care that provide alternatives to institutional care;

"(2) concerning the costs incurred by individuals with Alzheimer's disease and related dementias and by their families in obtaining services, particularly services that are essential to the individuals and that are not generally required by other patients under long-term care programs;

"(3) concerning the costs, cost-effectiveness, and effectiveness of various interventions to provide services for individuals with Alzheimer's disease and related dementias and for their families;

"(4) conducted in consultation with the Director of the National Institute on Aging and the Commissioner of the Administration on Aging, concerning the role of physicians in caring for persons with Alzheimer's disease and related dementias and for their families, including the role of a physician in connecting such persons with appropriate health care and supportive services, including those supported through State and area agencies on aging designated under section 305(a) (1) and (2)(A) of the Older Americans Act of 1965 (42 U.S.C. 3025(a) (1) and (2)(A)); and

"(5) conducted in consultation with the Director of the National Institute on Aging and the Commissioner of the Administration on Aging, concerning legal and ethical issues, including issues associated with special care units, facing individuals with Alzheimer's disease and related dementias and facing their families.".

(2) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—Section 936 (42 U.S.C. 11263) is amended to read as follows:

"SEC. 936. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.

"There are authorized to be appropriated to carry out this subpart $4,000,000 for fiscal year 1992, $5,000,000 for fiscal year 1993, $6,000,000 for fiscal year 1994, and such sums as may be necessary for each of the fiscal years 1995 and 1996.".

SEC. 8. TRAINING AND EDUCATIONAL ACTIVITIES.

(a) ACTIVITIES.—Section 962 (42 U.S.C. 11292) is amended to read as follows:

"SEC. 962. EDUCATION OF THE PUBLIC, INDIVIDUALS WITH ALZHEIMER'S DISEASE AND THEIR FAMILIES, AND HEALTH AND LONG-TERM CARE PROVIDERS.

"(a) TRAINING AND CONTINUING EDUCATION GRANTS AND CONTRACTS.—

"(1) GRANTS AND CONTRACTS.—The Secretary, acting through the Director of the Bureau of Health Professions may make grants and enter into contracts to assist eligible entities in meeting the costs of projects—

"(A) to train the faculty of schools and graduate departments of medicine, nursing, osteopathic medicine, dentistry, public health, psychology, allied health, and clinical social work, and marriage and family therapists, to teach health care professionals, paraprofessionals, students, and family caregivers of patients with Alzheimer's disease and related dementias;

"(B) to improve the skills of health care professionals, paraprofessionals, and family care givers regarding the diagnosis, care, and treatment of Alzheimer's disease and related dementias; and

"(C) to develop and disseminate curricula relating to the care and treatment of individuals with Alzheimer's disease and related dementias.

"(2) AWARD OF GRANTS.—In awarding grants under this subsection, the Secretary shall—

"(A) award the grants on the basis of merit;

"(B) award the grants in a manner that will ensure access to the programs described in paragraph (1) by rural, minority, and underserved populations throughout the country;

"(C) ensure that the grants are distributed among the principal geographic regions of the United States; and

"(D) give preference to entities that demonstrate a multidisciplinary approach to training health professionals and paraprofessionals.

"(3) APPLICATION.—To be eligible to receive a grant under this subsection, an entity shall submit an application to the Secretary at such time, in such manner, and containing or accompanied by such information, as the Secretary may reasonably require, including, at a minimum—

"(A) an assurance that the eligible entity will make the training programs and continuing education programs described in paragraph (1) available to—

"(i) health care professionals, including mental health professionals;

"(ii) health care paraprofessionals;

"(iii) personnel, including information and referral, case management, and in-home services personnel (including personnel receiving support under the Older Americans Act of 1965 (42 U.S.C. 3001 et seq.)), providing supportive services to the elderly and to the families of the elderly; and

"(iv) family caregivers; and

"(B) an assurance that the entity will coordinate such training programs and continuing education programs with—

"(i) the Alzheimer's Disease Research Centers described in section 445(a) of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 285e–(2)); and

"(ii) the State agency designated under section 305(a)(1) of the Older Americans Act of 1965 (42 U.S.C. 3025(a)(1)), in the State in which the entity will provide such programs.

"(4) ELIGIBLE ENTITY.—To be eligible to receive grants under this subsection, an entity shall be—

"(A) an educational institution providing training and education in medicine, psychology, nursing, social work, gerontology, or health care administration;

"(B) an educational institution providing preparatory training and education of personnel for nursing homes, hospitals, and home or community settings;

"(C) an Alzheimer's Disease Research Center described in section 445(a) of the Public Health Service Act; or

"(D) any other public or not-for-profit sources of assistance to individuals with Alzheimer's disease or related disorders and the families of such individuals.

"(5) COORDINATION.—The Secretary shall coordinate the award of grants under this subsection with the heads of other appropriate agencies, including the Commissioner of the Administration on Aging.

"(b) NATIONAL INSTITUTE ON AGING GRANTS.—

"(1) TRAINING MODELS GRANTS.—

"(A) GRANTS.—The Director of the National Institute on Aging may award grants to eligible entities to assist the entities in developing and evaluating model training programs—

"(i) for—

"(I) health care professionals, including mental health professionals;

"(II) health care paraprofessionals;

"(III) personnel, including information and referral, case management, and in-home services personnel (including personnel receiving support under the Older Americans Act of 1965 (42 U.S.C. 3001 et seq.)), providing supportive services to the elderly and the families of the elderly;

"(IV) family caregivers providing care and treatment for individuals with Alzheimer's disease and related disorders; and

"(V) personnel of local organizations (including community groups, business and labor groups, and religious, educational, and charitable organizations) that have traditionally not been involved in planning and developing long-term care services; and

"(ii) with attention to such variables as—

"(I) curricula development for training and continuing education programs;

"(II) care setting; and

"(III) intervention technique.

"(B) ELIGIBLE ENTITY.—To be eligible to receive a grant under this paragraph, an entity shall be an entity described in subparagraph (A), (B), or (C) of subsection (a)(4).

"(2) EDUCATIONAL GRANTS.—The Director of the National Institute on Aging is authorized to make grants to public and nonprofit private entities to assist such entities in establishing programs, for educating health care providers and the families of individuals with Alzheimer's disease or related disorders, regarding—

"(A) caring for individuals with such diseases or disorders; and

"(B) the availability in the community of public and private sources of assistance, including financial assistance, for caring for such individuals.

"(3) AWARD OF GRANTS.—The Director of the National Institute on Aging shall award grants under this subsection in accordance with the requirements specified in subparagraphs (A) through (C) of subsection (a)(2).

"(4) APPLICATION.—To be eligible to receive a grant under this subsection, an entity shall submit an application to the Director of the National Institute on Aging at such time, in such manner, and containing or accompanied by such information, as the Director may reasonably require, including, at a minimum, an assurance that the entity will coordinate programs provided under this section with the State agency designated under section 305(a)(1) of the Older Americans Act of 1965, in the State in which the entity will provide such programs.

"(5) COORDINATION.—The Director of the National Institute on Aging shall coordinate the award of grants under this subsection with the heads of other appropriate agencies, including the Commissioner of the Administration on Aging.".

(b) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—Section 964 of such Act (42 U.S.C. 12294) is amended—

(1) by inserting "(a)" after "964.";

(2) in subsection (a), as designated by paragraph (1) of this section, by striking "this part" and inserting "sections 961 and 963"; and

(3) by adding at the end the following new subsections:

"(b) There are authorized to be appropriated $5,000,000 for fiscal year 1992, $6,000,000 for fiscal year 1993, $7,000,000 for fiscal year 1994, and such sums as may be necessary for each of the fiscal years 1995 and 1996, to carry out section 962(a).

"(c) There are authorized to be appropriated $2,000,000 for fiscal year 1992, $2,000,000 for fiscal year 1993, $2,000,000 for fiscal year 1994, and such sums as may be necessary for each of the fiscal years 1995 and 1996, to carry out section 962(b)(1).

"(d) There are authorized to be appropriated $5,000,000 for fiscal year 1992, $6,000,000 for fiscal year 1993, $7,000,000 for fiscal year 1994, and such sums as may be necessary for each of the fiscal years 1995 and 1996, to carry out section 962(b)(2).".

SEC. 9. ALZHEIMER'S DISEASE CENTERS.

Section 445 of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 285e–2) is amended—

(1) in subsection (b), by striking paragraph (2) and inserting the following new paragraphs:

"(2) Notwithstanding section 496(b), Federal payments made under a cooperative agreement or grant under subsection (a) may be used for construction of the centers described in subsection (a).

"(3) As used in this subsection:

"(A) The term 'construction' does not include the acquisition of land.

"(B) The term 'training' does not include research training for which National Research Service Awards may be provided under section 487."; and

(2) by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(d) There are authorized to be appropriated to carry out subsection (b)(2) such sums as may be necessary for fiscal year 1992 and each of the subsequent fiscal years.".

SEC. 10. GRANTS FOR PROMOTING INDEPENDENCE AND PREVENTING SECONDARY DISABILITIES IN PERSONS WITH ALZHEIMER'S DISEASE.

Section 445C of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 285e–5) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(d) The Director of the Institute shall develop, or make grants to develop—

"(1) model techniques to—

"(A) promote greater independence, including enhanced independence in performing activities of daily living and instrumental activities of daily living, for persons with Alzheimer's disease and related disorders; and

"(B) prevent or reduce the severity of secondary disabilities, including confusional episodes, falls, bladder and bowel incontinence, and adverse effects of prescription and over-the-counter medications, in such persons; and

"(2) model curricula for health care professionals, health care paraprofessionals, and family caregivers, for training and application in the use of such techniques.".

AMENDMENT IN THE NATURE OF A SUBSTITUTE OFFERED BY MR. WAXMAN

Mr. WAXMAN. Mr. Speaker, I offer an amendment in the nature of a substitute.

The Clerk read as follows:

Amendment in the nature of a substitute offered by Mr. WAXMAN: Strike all after the enacting clause and insert in lieu thereof the following:

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Alzheimer's Disease Research, Training, and Education Amendments of 1992".

SEC. 2. SHORT TITLE OF ACT.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 901 of the Alzheimer's Disease and Related Dementias Services Research Act of 1986 (42 U.S.C. 11201 note) is amended by striking "Services Research Act of 1986" and inserting "Research Act of 1992".

(b) CONFORMING AMENDMENT.—The Alzheimer's Disease and Related Dementias Research Act of 1992 (42 U.S.C. 11201 et seq.) is amended in the heading for title IX by striking "SERVICES".

SEC. 3. REFERENCES.

Except as otherwise specifically provided, whenever in this Act an amendment or repeal is expressed in terms of an amendment to, or a repeal of, a section or other provision, the reference shall be considered to be made to a section or other provision of the Alzheimer's Disease and Related Dementias Research Act of 1992 (42 U.S.C. 11201 et seq.).

SEC. 4. FINDINGS.

(1) by redesignating paragraphs (7) through (12) as paragraphs (9) through (14);

(2) by striking paragraphs (4), (5), and (6); and

(3) by inserting after paragraph (3) the following new paragraphs:

"(4) the cost of caring for individuals with Alzheimer's disease and related dementias is great, and conservative estimates range between $38,000,000,000 and $42,000,000,000 per year solely for direct costs;

"(5) progress in the neurosciences and behavioral sciences has demonstrated the interdependence and mutual reinforcement of basic science, clinical research, and services research for Alzheimer's disease and related dementias;

"(6) programs initiated as part of the Decade of the Brain are likely to provide significant progress in understanding the fundamental mechanisms underlying the causes of, and treatments for, Alzheimer's disease and related dementias;

"(7) although substantial progress has been made in recent years in identifying possible leads to the causes of Alzheimer's disease and related dementias, and more progress can be expected in the near future, there is little likelihood of a breakthrough in the immediate future that would eliminate or substantially reduce—

"(A) the number of individuals with the disease and dementias; or

"(B) the difficulties of caring for the individuals;

"(8) the responsibility for care of individuals with Alzheimer's disease and related dementias falls primarily on their families, and the care is financially and emotionally devastating.".

SEC. 5. COUNCIL ON ALZHEIMER'S DISEASE.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT.—Section 911 (42 U.S.C. 11211) is amended—

(1) in subsection (a)—

(A) in paragraph (2), by striking "Surgeon General of the United States" and inserting "Surgeon General of the Public Health Service";

(B) in paragraph (6), by striking "and Communicative Diseases" and inserting "Disorder";

(C) by striking paragraph (10), (11), and (12); and

(D) by adding at the end the following new paragraphs:

"(10) the Administrator of the Agency for Health Care Policy and Research;

"(11) the Administrator of the Health Resources and Services Administration;

"(12) the Director of the National Center for Nursing Research;

"(13) the Chief Medical Director of the Department of Veterans Affairs'

"(14) the Director of the National Center for Health Statistics; and

"(15) such additional members as the Secretary of Health and Human Services (hereinafter referred to as the 'Secretary') considers appropriate.";

(2) by striking subsection (b) and inserting the following new subsection:

"(b) The Assistant Secretary for Health shall serve as the Chairman of the Council."; and

(3) in subsection (d), by striking "twice" and inserting "once".

(1) in subsection (a)—

(A) by adding "and" at the end of paragraph (3);

(B) by striking "; and" at the end of paragraph (4) and inserting a period; and

(C) by striking paragraph (5); and

(2) by striking subsection (b) and inserting the following new subsection:

"(b)(1) The Chairman of the Council shall submit to the committees listed in paragraph (2) an annual report containing information on—

"(A) progress made by research, sponsored by the Federal Government, on Alzheimer's disease and related dementias; and

"(B) new directions that the Council considers potentially important in research on Alzheimer's disease and related dementias.

"(2) The Chairman of the Council shall submit the report described in paragraph (1) to—

"(A) the Committee on Energy and Commerce of the House of Representatives;

"(B) the Committee on Ways and Means of the House of Representatives;

"(C) the Committee on Veterans' Affairs of the House of Representatives;

"(D) the Committee on Appropriations of the House Representatives;

"(E) the Committee on Labor and Human Resources of the Senate;

"(F) the Committee on Finance of the Senate;

"(G) the Committee on Veterans' Affairs of the Senate; and

"(H) the Committee on Appropriations of the Senate.".

SEC. 6. ADVISORY ON PANEL ON ALZHEIMER'S DISEASE.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT.—Section 921 (42 U.S.C. 11221) is amended—

(1) in subsection (a)(2), by striking "the Director of the National Center for Health Services Research and Health Care Technology Assessment" and inserting "the Administrator of the Agency for Health Care Policy and Research";

(2) in subsection (d), to read as follows:

"(d)(1)(A) Except as provided in subparagraph (B), members of the Panel appointed under subsection (a)(1) shall each serve for a term of 3 years.

"(B) Of the members appointed under subsection (a)(1) that are serving on the Panel on the day before the date of the enactment of this subsection—

"(i) five shall serve for a term that expires on such date;

"(ii) five shall serve for a term that expires 1 year after such date; and

"(iii) five shall serve for term that expires 2 years after such date.

"(2) A vacancy on the Panel shall be filled in the same manner as the original appointment was made, and not later than 90 days after the date on which the vacancy first arises. A vacancy on the Panel shall not affect the powers of the Panel.";

(3) in subsection (f), by striking "twice" and inserting "once";

(4) in subsection (h), by striking "of $100 per day" and inserting "at the daily equivalent of the maximum rate specified for GS–15 of the General Schedule under section 5332 of title 5, United States Code,"; and

(5) by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(i) Notwithstanding section 14 of the Federal Advisory Committee Act (5 U.S.C. App.), on September 30, 1996, the Panel shall be abolished and all programs established under this part shall terminate.".

(b) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—Section 923 (42 U.S.C. 11223) is amended to read as follows:

"SEC. 923. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.

"There are authorized to be appropriated to carry out this part such sums as may be necessary for each of the fiscal years 1992 through 1996.".

SEC. 7. RESEARCH RELATING TO SERVICES FOR INDIVIDUALS WITH ALZHEIMER'S DISEASE AND RELATED DEMENTIAS AND FAMILIES OF THE INDIVIDUALS.

(a) RESPONSIBILITIES OF THE NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF MENTAL HEALTH.—

(1) GRANTS.—Section 931 (42 U.S.C. 11251) is amended—

(A) by striking subsections (b)(2) and (c);

(B) in subsection (a), by inserting "and specialized care" after "services"; and

(C) in subsection (b)(1)—

(i) by striking "Within 6 months" and all that follows through "plan shall" and inserting "The Director of the National Institute of Mental Health shall";

(ii) in subparagraph (A)—

(I) by striking "provide for" and inserting "ensure that the research conducted under subsection (a) includes";

(II) by striking clause (iii) and inserting the following new clause:

"(iii) the optimal range, types, and cost-effectiveness of services and specialized care for individuals with Alzheimer's disease and related dementias and for their families, in community and residential settings (including home care, day care, and respite care), and in institutional settings, particularly with respect to—

"(I) the design of the services and care;

"(II) appropriate staffing for the provision of the services and care;

"(III) the timing of the services and care during the progression of the disease or dementias; and

"(IV) the appropriate mix and coordination of the services and specialized care;";

(III) in clause (iv), by inserting "the evaluation of best practices for the development of" before "appropriate"; and

(IV) in clauses (v) and (vii), by striking "and nursing home services" and inserting "nursing home services, and other residential services and care"; and

(iii) in subparagraph (B), by striking "research carried out under the plan" and inserting "the research".

(2) Conforming Amendments.—Section 931(b) (42 U.S.C. 11251(b)) is amended—

(A) by striking "(1)";

(B) by redesignating subparagraphs (A) and (B) as paragraphs (1) and (2), respectively;

(C) in paragraph (1) (as redesignated by subparagraph (B) of this paragraph), by redesignating clauses (i) through (vii) as subparagraphs (A) through (G), respectively; and

(D) in paragraph (1)(C) (as so redesignated, and as amended by paragraph (1)(C)(ii)(II) of this subsection), by redesignating subclauses (I) through (IV) as clauses (i) through (iv), respectively.

(3) Authorization of Appropriations.—Section 933 (42 U.S.C. 11253) is amended to read as follows:

"SEC. 933. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.

"There are authorized to be appropriated to carry out this subpart such sums as may be necessary for each of the fiscal years 1992 and 1996.".

(b) Responsibilities of the Agency for Health Care Policy and Research.—

(1) Research program and plan.—Subpart 2 of part D (42 U.S.C. 11261 et seq.) is amended—

(A) in the heading for the subpart, by striking "National Center" and all that follows and inserting the following: "Agency for Health Care Policy and Research"; and

(B) by striking section 934 and inserting the following new section:

"SEC. 934. RESEARCH PROGRAM.

"(A) Grants for Research.—The Administrator of the Agency for Health Care Policy and Research shall conduct, or make grants for the conduct of, research relevant to appropriate services for individuals with Alzheimer's disease and related dementias and for their families.

"(b) Research Subjects.—The Administrator of the Agency for Health Care Policy and Research shall ensure that research conducted under subsection (a) shall include research—

"(1) concerning improving the organization, delivery, and financing of services for individuals with Alzheimer's disease and related dementias and for their families, including research on—

"(A) the design, staffing, and operation of special care units for the individuals in institutional settings, as well as individuals in home care, day care, and respite care; and

"(B) the exploration and enhancement of services such as home care, day care, and respite care that provide alternatives to institutional care;

"(2) concerning the costs incurred by individuals with Alzheimer's disease and related dementias and by their families in obtaining services, particularly services that are essential to the individuals and that are not generally required by other patients under long-term care programs;

"(3) concerning the costs, cost-effectiveness, and effectiveness of various interventions to provide services for individuals with Alzheimer's disease and related dementias and for their families;

"(4) conducted in consultation with the Director of the National Institute on Aging and the Commissioner of the Administration on Aging, concerning the role of physicians in caring or persons with Alzheimer's disease and related dementias and for their families, including the role of physician in connecting such persons with appropriate health care and supportive services, including those supported through State and area agencies on aging designated under section 305(a) (1) and (2)(A) of the Older Americans Act of 1965 (42 U.S.C. 3025(a) (1) and (2)(A)); and

"(5) conducted in consultation with the Director of the National Institute on Aging and the Commissioner of the Administration on Aging, concerning legal and ethical issues, including issues associated with special care units, facing individuals with Alzheimer's disease and related dementias and facing their families.".

(2) Authorization of Appropriations.—Section 936 (42 U.S.C. 11263) is amended to read as follows:

"SEC. 936. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.

"There are authorized to be appropriated to carry out this subpart such sums as may be necessary for each of the fiscal years 1992 through 1996.".

SEC. 8. TRAINING AND EDUCATIONAL ACTIVITIES.

(a) Activities.—Section 962 (42 U.S.C. 11292) is amended to read as follows:

"SEC. 962. EDUCATION OF THE PUBLIC, INDIVIDUALS WITH ALZHEIMER'S DISEASE AND THEIR FAMILIES, AND HEALTH AND LONG-TERM CARE PROVIDERS.

"(a) Training Models Grants.—

"(1) Grants.—The Director of the National Institute on Aging may award grants to eligible entities to assist the entities in developing and evaluating model training programs—

"(A) for—

"(i) health care professional, including mental health professionals;

"(ii) health care paraprofessionals;

"(iii) personnel, including information and referral, case management, and in-home services personnel (including personnel receiving support under the Older Americans Act of 1965 (42 U.S.C. 3001 et seq.)), providing supportive services of the elderly and the families of the elderly;

"(iv) family caregivers providing care and treatment for individuals with Alzheimer's disease and related disorders; and

"(v) personnel of local organizations (including community groups, business and labor groups, and religious educational and charitable organizations) that have traditionally not been involved in planning and developing long-term car services; and

"(B) with attention to such variables as—

"(i) curricula development for training and continuing education programs;

"(ii) care setting; and

"(iii) intervention technique.

"(2) Eligible Entity.—To be eligible to receive grants under this subsection, an entity shall be—

"(A) an educational institution providing training and education in medicine, psychology, nursing, social work, gerontology, or health care administration;

"(B) an educational institution providing preparatory training and education of personnel for nursing homes, hospitals, and home or community settings; or

"(C) an Alzheimer's Disease Research Center described in section 445(a) of the Public Health Service Act.

"(b) Educational Grants.—The Director of the National Institute on Aging is authorized to make grants to public and nonprofit private entities to assist such entities in establishing programs, for educating health care providers and the families of individuals with Alzheimer's disease or related disorders, regarding—

"(1) caring for individuals with such diseases or disorders; and

"(2) the availability in the community of public and private sources of assistance, including financial assistance, for caring for such individuals.

"(c) Award of Grants.—In awarding grants under this section, the Director of the National Institute on Aging shall—

"(1) award the grants on the basis of merit;

"(2) award the grants in a manner that will ensure access to the programs described in subsections (a) and (b) by rural, minority, and underserved populations throughout the country; and

"(3) ensure that the grants are distributed among the principal geographic regions of the United States.

"(d) Application.—To be eligible to receive a grant under this section, an entity shall submit an application to the Director of the National Institute on Aging at such time, in such manner, and containing or accompanied by such information, as the Director may reasonably require, including, at a minimum, an assurance that the entity will coordinate programs provided under this section with the State agency designated under section 305(a)(1) of the Older Americans Act of 1965, in the State in which the entity will provide such programs.

"(e) Coordination.—The Director of the National Institute on Aging shall coordinate the award of grants under this section with the heads of other appropriate agencies, including the Commissioner of the Administration on Aging.".

(b) Authorization of Appropriations.—Section 964 of such Act (42 U.S.C. 11294) is amended—

(1) by inserting "(a)" after "964.";

(2) in subsection (a), as designated by paragraph (1) of this section, by striking "this part" and inserting "sections 961 and 963"; and

(3) by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(b) There are authorized to be appropriated such sums as may be necessary for each of the fiscal years 1992 through 1996, to carry out section 962.".

SEC. 9. GRANTS FOR PROMOTING INDEPENDENCE AND PREVENTING SECONDARY DISABILITIES IN PERSONS WITH ALZHEIMER'S DISEASE.

Section 445C of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 285e–5) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(d) The Director of the Institute may develop, or make grants to develop—

"(1) model techniques to—

"(A) promote greater independence, including enhanced independence in performing activities of daily living and instrumental activities of daily living, for persons with Alzheimer's disease and related disorders; and

"(B) prevent or reduce the severity of secondary disabilities, including confusional episodes, falls, bladder and bowel incontinence, and adverse effects of prescription and over-the-counter medications, in such persons; and

"(2) model curricula for health care professionals, health care paraprofessionals, and family caregivers, for training and application in the use of such techniques.".

Mr. WAXMAN (during the reading). Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the amendment in the nature of a substitute be considered as read and printed in the RECORD.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?

There was no objection.

Mr. WAXMAN. Mr. Speaker, I present this bill on behalf of the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. BRUCE] and the gentlewoman from Maine [Ms. SNOWE]. It has already passed the House without controversy.

The amendment in the nature of a substitute includes additional provisions to improve the Nation's effort in addressing the needs of Alzheimer's patients and their families.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the amendment in the nature of a substitute offered by the gentleman from California [Mr. WAXMAN].

The amendment in the nature of a substitute was agreed to.

The Senate bill was ordered to be read a third time, was read the third time, and passed, and a motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

WIC INFANT FORMULA PROCUREMENT ACT OF 1992

Mr. KILDEE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to take from the Speaker's table the Senate bill (S. 2875) to amend the Child Nutrition Act of 1966 to enhance competition among infant formula manufacturers and to reduce the per unit costs of infant formula for the special supplemental food program for women, infants, and children (WIC), and for other purposes, and ask for its immediate consideration.

The Clerk read the title of the Senate bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. BRUCE). Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Michigan?

Mr. GUNDERSON. Reserving the right to object, Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Michigan to explain the legislation before us.

Mr. KILDEE. Mr. Speaker, S. 2875, the Children's Nutrition Assistance Act of 1992, promotes the good nutrition of some of our Nation's most vulnerable children.

The first title of the bill amends the Child Nutrition Homeless Demonstration Program to facilitate its administration so that it can serve more children under the age of 6 who are living in emergency homeless shelters.

The second title of the bill contains provisions designed to save money in the WIC Program, thereby enabling it to serve more nutritionally at-risk women, infants, and children.

Experience has shown that millions of dollars can be saved when State WIC agencies obtain infant formula for the program through a bidding process.

This bill establishes a voluntary program whereby State WIC agencies will have the option of entering into infant formula bids administered by the Secretary of Agriculture.

Another very important provision of the bill addresses the problem of bid-rigging which has been detrimental to the program in the past.

This bill will help prevent the recurrence of bid-rigging by increasing competition, authorizing the Secretary to levy civil penalties to recoup lost funds in the event of bid-rigging, and by disqualifying a company from the bidding process for 2 years if they disclose their bids prior to the time the bids are opened by the Secretary.

The benefits and cost effectiveness of WIC are well documented, but it still reaches only half of those eligible. Every measure that reduces costs for the program and therefore allows more people to be served must be supported.

I urge my colleagues to support the bill.

Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time. If the other side is prepared to yield back its time, I will yield back the balance of my time.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. KILDEE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous matter on the bill (S. 2875) just considered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Michigan?

There was no objection.

Mr. GUNDERSON. Further reserving the right to object, Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman know if there is any objection from the administration?

Mr. KILDEE. There is no objection from the administration and none from the minority.

Mr. WYDEN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentlemen yield?

Mr. GUNDERSON. I yield to the gentleman from Oregon.

Mr. WYDEN. Mr. Speaker, I appreciate the gentleman yielding to me.

I, too, know of no objection. This is a very good bill because it will insure that more of the dollars get into the hands of the hungry infants.

Mr. Speaker, I urge all my colleagues on both sides of the aisle to support it.

Mr. Speaker, it is time that the taxpayers' money in the WIC Program stop lining the pockets of the big three infant formula manufacturers and start feeding hungry babies. That is why I introduced H.R. 5909, the companion bill to S. 2875, the WIC Infant Procurement Act.

The price of infant formula has skyrocketed in the last 10 years—an average of 155 percent. In the meantime, Federal support of the WIC Program has tripled from $736 million to $2.1 billion in the last decade. But despite this incredible increase, the program now only reaches a little more than half the women, infants and children who need it.

In 1987, because of my concerns about the business practices of the infant formula industry, both in the WIC Program and on the commercial market, I introduced legislation that encouraged State WIC Programs to serve more hungry mothers and babies by initiating competitive bidding for infant formula.

Senator LEAHY was instrumental in getting a version of that legislation enacted as a part of the Commodity Distribution Reform Act of 1987. Before 1987, the WIC Program—which accounts for 30 percent of the infant formula market—paid more for infant formula than the retail chain Toys R Us, because this store was able to buy formula wholesale, while WIC was paying retail prices.

But the infant formula manufacturers found ways to circumvent the competitive bidding process instituted in 1987. In a joint Senate hearing on infant formula marketing practices at which I testified, we heard extensive testimony on the practices of the infant formula companies, and the resulting costs to State WIC agencies.

This summer the Federal Trade Commission announced action it has taken against three of the manufacturers. The FTC charged that Mead Johnson & Co., American Home Products, and Abbott Laboratories engaged in anticompetitive practices in sales in Puerto Rico, including informing one another of their bids prior to the unsealing of bids.

The FTC charged that, as a result of these actions, the Federal Government is losing millions of dollars in rebates each year in Puerto Rico alone. The cost to the WIC Program nationally could be astronomical.

Last year, my Subcommittee on Regulation, Business Opportunities and Energy, obtained information from sources within the infant formula industry that the total cost of ingredients for infant formula is $0.22. This figure was confirmed by Carnation Co.—the first time anyone within the industry was able to say that the price of formula is much, much higher than the cost of ingredients. In many markets a can of infant formula can cost as much as $4.

It is obvious that Congress must step in to protect this valuable program from the greedy practices of a few companies. The WIC Infant Formula Procurement Act will help make our Federal investment in the WIC Program more effective.

The bill will increase competition for WIC formula contracts by allowing more players to come into the market. The legislation allows for the Secretary of Agriculture to solicit bids on behalf of WIC agencies from manufacturers for just milk-based formula or soy-based formula.

This lessens the chance that formula companies can rig their bids by offering a competitive bid for one type of formula, and an extremely high bid on the other. It also levels the playing field for smaller companies that produce only one type of formula.

WIC agencies who solicit their own bids retain the flexibility they currently enjoy, but have new opportunities for implementing cost-containment strategies. The legislation encourages smaller States to band together to solicit bids as a bloc.

There is a great deal of concern in the WIC community that smaller States are especially vulnerable to manipulation by the big three formula makers. If contracts continue to be awarded on a State-by-State basis, there is a risk of smaller States getting smaller and smaller bids because the largest companies just are not interested in their contracts.

Finally, the bill would subject the infant formula manufacturers to severe penalties—up to $100 million and a ban from participating in the WIC Program for up to 2 years—for engaging in anticompetitive practices.

I commend Senators LEAHY and METZENBAUM for their hard work and diligence over the years in protecting the health of the WIC Program, and applaud the result. I also want to thank Mr. KILDEE and his staff for their strong support and hard work to seeing this bill completed.

For every $1 spent through WIC, $3 is saved in the first year of a child's life by reducing the likelihood of low-birthweight and premature babies. Dollar for dollar, the WIC Program is one of the best. I urge your support for this critical legislation.

Mrs. SCHROEDER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. GUNDERSON. I yield to the gentlewoman from Colorado.

Mrs. SCHROEDER. Mr. Speaker, I just want to thank all of you for working so hard on this. I think it is very long overdue. I really, really salute the gentleman for getting it out here, and America's children, I am sure, will be more than grateful.

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of S. 2875, the Children's Nutrition Assistance Act of 1992. Title I of the bill, which may be cited as the "Homeless Children's Assistance Act of 1992," essentially follows up on legislation enacted just 2 months ago which authorized State, city and county governments to join private nonprofit organizations in conducting projects providing food service to homeless children under the age of 6 in emergency shelters. While additional funding was provided for this activity even as its expansion was authorized, the U.S. Department of Agriculture quickly informed us that the increase in funding we had provided was just not going to be enough. Additional funding, USDA indicated, would be needed to cover their estimates of what would be required to fully respond to the project applications they anticipated receiving in fiscal years 1993 and 1994 and to meet their increased administrative costs. Title I of S. 2875 permits the use of not more than $4 million in child nutrition account funds not otherwise allocated to the States in fiscal years 1993 and 1994 for these worthy projects.

Title II of the bill, which may be cited as the "WIC Infant Formula Procurement Act of 1992," seeks to reduce the price of the infant formula purchased for use in the WIC Program by strengthening the hand of State and native American WIC agencies in their dealings with the three companies which manufacture 90 percent of the formula made in the United States. It does so primarily by offering WIC agencies the option of requesting USDA to conduct the bidding process on their behalf and to select the winning bidder.

Currently only 3 of the 29 native American WIC agencies and 17 of the 54 State WIC agencies are affiliated with 4 regional bidding consortia established at the States' initiative. While this legislation encourages nonaffiliated agencies to join existing or establish their own bidding consortia for formula and other foods used in WIC. It also recognizes that the smaller agencies may prefer to make use of the negotiating clout USDA will certainly provide.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to give S. 2875 their support.

Mr. GUNDERSON. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Michigan?

There was no objection.

The Clerk read the Senate bill, as follows:

S. 2875

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "WIC Infant Formula Procurement Act of 1992".

SEC. 2. WIC INFANT FORMULA PROTECTION.

(a) FINDINGS.—

(1) the domestic infant formula industry is one of the most concentrated manufacturing industries in the United States;

(2) only three pharmaceutical firms are responsible for almost all domestic infant formula production;

(3) coordination of pricing and marketing strategies is a potential danger where only a very few companies compete regarding a given product;

(4) improved competition among suppliers of infant formula to the special supplemental food program for women, infants, and children (WIC) can save substantial additional sums to be used to put thousands of additional eligible women, infants, and children on the WIC program; and

(5) barriers exist in the infant formula industry that inhibit the entry of new firms and thus limit competition.

(b) PURPOSES.—It is the purpose of this Act to enhance competition among infant formula manufacturers and to reduce the per unit costs of infant formula for the special supplemental food program for women, infants, and children (WIC).

SEC. 3. DEFINITIONS.

Section 17(b) of the Child Nutrition Act of 1966 (42 U.S.C. 1786(b)) is amended by striking paragraph (17) and inserting the following new paragraphs:

"(17) 'Competitive bidding' means a procurement process under which the Secretary or a State agency selects a single source (a single infant formula manufacturer) offering the lowest price, as determined by the submission of sealed bids, for a product for which bids are sought for use in the program authorized by this section.

"(18) 'Rebate' means the amount of money refunded under cost containment procedures to any State agency from the manufacturer or other supplier of the particular food product as the result of the purchase of the supplemental food with a voucher or other purchase instrument by a participant in each such agency's program established under this section.

"(19) 'Discount' means, with respect to a State agency that provides program foods to participants without the use of retail grocery stores (such as a State that provides for the home delivery or direct distribution of supplemental food), the amount of the price reduction or other price concession provided to any State agency by the manufacturer or other supplier of the particular food product as the result of the purchase of program food by each such State agency, or its representative, from the supplier.

"(20) 'Net price' means the difference between the manufacturer's wholesale price for infant formula and the rebate level or the discount offered or provided by the manufacturer under a cost containment contract entered into with the pertinent State agency.".

SEC. 4. PROCUREMENT OF INFANT FORMULA FOR WIC.

Section 17(h)(8) of the Child Nutrition Act of 1966 (42 U.S.C. 1786(h)(8)) is amended by striking subparagraph (G) and inserting the following new subparagraphs:

"(G)(i) The Secretary shall, no more frequently than annually, solicit bids for a cost-containment contract to be entered into by infant formula manufacturers and the State agencies that elect to have the Secretary perform the bid solicitation and selection process on each such State agency's behalf. For such State agencies, the Secretary shall solicit bids and select the winning bidder for a cost containment contract to be entered into by State agencies and infant formula manufacturers or suppliers.

"(ii) If the Secretary determines that the number of State agencies making the election in clause (i) so warrants, the Secretary may, in consultation with such State agencies, divide such State agencies into more than one group of such agencies and solicit bids for a contract for each such group. In determining the size of the groups of agencies, the Secretary shall consider whether infant formula manufacturers likely to submit bids can compete effectively and whether the size of the groups is sufficiently small to promote competition.

"(iii) State agencies electing to require the Secretary to perform the bid solicitation and selection process on their behalf shall enter into the resulting containment contract and shall obtain the rebates or discounts from the manufacturers or suppliers participating in the contract.

"(iv) In soliciting bids and determining the winning bidder under clause (i), the Secretary shall comply with the requirements of subparagraphs (B) and (F).

"(v) The term of the contract for which bids are to be solicited under this paragraph shall be announced by the Secretary in consultation with the affected State agencies and shall be for not less than 2 years.

"(vi) In prescribing specifications for the bids, the Secretary shall ensure, to the maximum extent possible, that the contracts to be entered into by the State agencies and the infant formula manufacturers or suppliers provide for a constant net price for infant formula products for the full term of the contracts and provide for rebates or discounts for all units of infant formula sold through the program that are produced by the manufacturer awarded the contract and that are for a type of formula product covered under the contract. The contracts shall cover all types of infant formula products normally covered under cost containment contracts entered into by State agencies.

"(vii) The Secretary shall also develop procedures for—

"(I) rejecting all bids for any joint contract and announcing a resolicitation of infant formula bids where necessary;

"(II) permitting a State agency that has authorized the Secretary to undertake bid solicitation on its behalf under this subparagraph to decline to enter into the joint contract to be negotiated and awarded pursuant to the solicitation if the agency promptly determines after the bids are opened that participation would not be in the best interest of its program; and

"(III) assuring infant formula manufacturers submitting a bid under this subparagraph that a contract awarded pursuant to the bid will cover State agencies serving no fewer than a number of infants to be specified in the bid solicitation.

"(H)(i) In soliciting bids for contracts for infant formula for WIC, the Secretary and State agencies shall solicit bids from infant formula manufacturers under procedures in which bids for rebates or discounts are solicited—

"(I) for both types of infant formula (a combined bid for both soy and milk based formula) to be supplied by the same manufacturer; and

"(II) for each type of infant formula, separately.

"(ii) The requirements of clause (i) shall not apply if the Secretary, or State agencies, determine for any particular solicitation, that—

"(I) the number of manufacturers and other suppliers eligible to bid will likely be decreased under the approach described in clause (i);

"(II) administrative costs involved in implementing the separate and joint bids would be excessive in relation to the benefits gained; or

"(III) the total rebates or discounts received are likely to decrease under such an approach.

"(iii) State agencies deciding not to accept bids for each type of formula under clause (i) shall advise the Secretary of the basis for the decision, taking into account the requirements set forth in clause (ii).

"(iv) The Secretary shall report to Congress by March 1, 1994, on the decisions State agencies and the Secretary have made regarding bid solicitations under clause (i), along with any recommendations the Secretary may have to increase competition by encouraging the participation of additional infant formula manufacturers in the program established by this section.

"(I) To reduce the costs of any supplemental foods, the Secretary shall—

"(i) promote, but not require, the joint purchase of infant formula among State agencies electing not to participate under the procedures set forth in subparagraph (G);

"(ii) encourage and promote the purchase of supplemental foods other than infant formula under cost containment procedures;

"(iii) inform State agencies of the benefits of cost containment and provide assistance and technical advice at State agency request regarding the State agency's use of cost containment procedures;

"(iv) encourage the joint purchase of supplemental foods other than infant formula under procedures specified in subparagraph (B), if the Secretary determines that—

"(I) the anticipated savings are expected to be significant;

"(II) the administrative expenses involved in purchasing the food item through competitive bidding procedures, whether under a rebate or discount system, will not exceed the savings anticipated to be generated by the procedures;

"(III) the procedures would be consistent with the purposes of the program; and

"(vi) make available additional funds to State agencies out of the funds otherwise available under paragraph (1)(A) for nutrition services and administration in an amount not exceeding one half of 1 percent of the amounts to help defray reasonable anticipated expenses associated with—

"(I) the joint purchasing of infant formula by two or more State agencies, without regard to whether procedures relating to the solicitation of bids were performed by the Secretary;

"(II) soliciting or accepting bids for each type of infant formula (milk or soy based) under subclauses (I) and (II) of subparagraph (H);

"(III) efforts to contain costs regarding the purchase of supplemental foods other than infant formula; or

"(IV) other efforts related to program cost containment.

"(J)(i) Any person, company, corporation, or other legal entity that submits a bid to supply infant formula to carry out the program established under this section and announces or otherwise discloses the amount of the bid, or the rebate or discount practices of such entities, in advance of the time the bids are opened by the Secretary or the State agency, or any person, company, corporation, or other legal entity that makes a statement (prior to the opening of bids) relating to levels of rebates or discounts for the purpose of influencing a bid submitted by any other person, shall be ineligible to submit bids to supply infant formula to the program for the bidding in progress and for up to 2 years from the date the bids are opened and shall be subject to fines of up to $100,000,000, as determined by the Secretary taking into account potential harm to the program established under this section. The Secretary shall issue regulations providing such person, company, corporation, or other legal entity appropriate notice, and an opportunity to be heard and to respond to charges.

"(ii) The Secretary shall determine the length of the disqualification, and the amount of the fine, referred to in clause (i) based on such factors as the Secretary by regulation determines appropriate.

"(iii) Any person, company, corporation, or other legal entity disqualified under clause (i) shall remain obligated to perform any requirements under any contract to supply infant formula existing at the time of the disqualification and until each such contract expires by its terms.

"(K) Not later than the expiration of the 180-day period beginning on the date of enactment of this subparagraph, the Secretary shall prescribe regulations to carry out this paragraph.".

SEC. 5. PROCEDURES TO REDUCE PURCHASES OF LOW-IRON INFANT FORMULA.

Section 17(f) of the Child Nutrition Act of 1966 (42 U.S.C. 1786(f)) is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(22) In the State plan submitted to the Secretary for fiscal year 1994, each State agency shall advise the Secretary regarding the procedures to be used by the State agency to reduce the purchase of low-iron infant formula for infants on the program for which such formula has not been prescribed by a physician or other appropriate health professional, as determined by regulations issued by the Secretary.".

SEC. 6. INCENTIVE TO ENCOURAGE JOINT PURCHASING OF INFANT FORMULA.

Section 17(h)(2)(A) Child Nutrition Act of 1966 (42 U.S.C. 1786(h)(2)(A)) is amended—

(1) by striking "and" at the end of clause (ii);

(2) by striking the period at the end of clause (iii) and inserting "; and"; and

(3) by adding at the end the following new clause:

"(iv) be designated to provide funds, to the extent funds are not already provided under subparagraph (I)(vii) for the same purpose, to help defray reasonable anticipated expenses associated with—

"(I) the joint purchasing of infant formula by two or more State agencies, without regard to whether procedures relating to the solicitation of bids were performed by the Secretary;

"(II) soliciting or accepting bids for each type of infant formula (milk or soy based) under subclauses (I) and (II) of subparagraph (H);

"(III) efforts to contain costs regarding the purchase of supplemental foods other than infant formula; or

"(IV) other efforts related to program cost containment.".

SEC. 7. TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE.

Section 17(h)(8)(E)(ii) of the Child Nutrition Act of 1966 (42 U.S.C. 1786(h)(8)(E)(ii)) is amended by striking "that do not have large caseloads and".

The Senate bill was ordered to be read a third time, was read the third time, and passed, and a motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

U.S. TRADE REPRESENTATIVE, U.S. INTERNATIONAL TRADE COMMISSION, AND U.S. CUSTOMS SERVICE AUTHORIZATIONS, 1993 AND 1994

Mr. ROSTENKOWSKI. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Ways and Means be discharged from further consideration of the Senate bill (S. 2880) to authorize appropriations for fiscal years 1993 and 1994 for the Office of the U.S. Trade Representative, the U.S. International Trade Commission, and the U.S. Customs Service, and for other purposes.

The Clerk read the title of the Senate bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Illinois?

Mr. ARCHER. Reserving the right to object, Mr. Speaker, I shall not object, but I take this time for the purpose of entering into a colloquy with the gentleman from Illinois.

Mr. ROSTENKOWSKI. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. ARCHER. I am happy to yield to the gentleman from Illinois.

Mr. ROSTENKOWSKI. Mr. Speaker, S. 2880, as passed by the Senate on September 9, authorizes appropriations for the U.S. Customs Service, the U.S. International Trade Commission, and the U.S. Trade Representative for fiscal years 1993 and 1994.

On July 8, the House approved similar trade agency authorizations as part of title III of H.R. 5100, the Trade Expansion Act of 1992.

Members will recall that H.R. 5100 also contained significant amendments which would modernize and automate the commercial operations of the customs service. This is the so-called Customs Modernization Act, which was developed by the Committee on Ways and Means on a bipartisan basis in close consultation with the administration and the business community.

Mr. Speaker, the amendment I am offering today consists of a complete substitute or S. 2880. Title I of the amendment primarily contains the customs and trade agency authorizations as agreed to by the House and Senate conferees on the tax bill. Title II of the amendment would substitute a revised version of the customs modernization bill which deletes the sections which are revenue related. This was necessary to preclude the Senate from offering nongermane revenue amendments to the bill.

Mr. Speaker, enactment of the Customs Modernization Act would be in the overall best interests of both the government and the private sector. Customs officers and the entire trading community will benefit from the procedural improvements contained in this bill. This is the reason that I am seeking to move this bill today, even though the Customs Modernization Act has passed the House as part of the conference report on the tax bill, H.R. 11.

The customs modernization provisions address four major areas: First, the facilitation of customs' processing of imported merchandise through automation, including the authorization of a national customs automation program allowing for remote entry filing; second, improving compliance with U.S. Customs laws by adopting or, where appropriate, increasing penalties for noncompliance; third, providing the trade community with greater certainty concerning customs rules and regulations—informed compliance; and fourth, streamlining customs' operations through a number of administrative changes.

Mr. Speaker, House passage of this amendment will allow us to expedite the bill to the President. I urge my colleagues to support this amended version of S. 2880.

Mr. Speaker, for purposes of legislative history, the committee report on the bill, H.R. 5100 (H. Rept. 102-607), which passed the House in July, contains a detailed description of the Customs Modernization Act in a form virtually identical to that contained in my amendment. Thus, the legislative history of H.R. 5100 (H. Rept. 102-607), constitutes the legislative history of the Customs Modernization Act contained in this bill.

Mr. ARCHER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for the explanation. We have no objection on our side. We support the amendment.

Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation of objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Illinois?

There was no objection.

The Clerk read the Senate bill, as follows:

S. 2880

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

"(g)(1)(A) There are authorized to be appropriated to the Office for the purposes of carrying out its functions not to exceed the following:

"(i) $21,697,000 for fiscal year 1993.

"(ii) $22,435,000 for fiscal year 1994.

"(B) Of the amounts authorized to be appropriated under subparagraph (A) for any fiscal year—

"(i) not to exceed $98,000 may be used for entertainment and representation expenses of the Office; and

"(ii) not to exceed $2,500,000 shall remain available until expended.".

SEC. 2. CUSTOMS FORFEITURE FUND.

Section 613A(f)(2)(B) of the Tariff Act of 1930 (19 U.S.C. 1613b(f)(2)(B)) is amended to read as follows:

"(B) Of the amount authorized to be appropriated under subparagraph (A), not to exceed the following shall be available to carry out the purposes set forth in subsection (a)(3):

"(i) $15,000,000 for fiscal year 1993.

"(ii) $15,600,000 for fiscal year 1994.".

SEC. 3. REPORTS ON CUSTOMS ISSUES.

(a) ATTRITION.—Not later than February 1, 1993, the Secretary of the Treasury shall submit a report to the Committee on Finance of the Senate and the Committee on Ways and Means of the House of Representatives (hereafter in this section referred to as the "Committees") on the causes for the high attrition rates experienced by the United States Customs Service in its Southwest region, with particular focus on border ports of entry. The report shall include recommendations to the Committees for reducing the high attrition rate.

(b) STAFFING.—Not later than November 1, 1992, the Secretary of the Treasury shall submit a report to the Committees describing the Secretary's plans for staffing at full capacity on a port-by-port basis each of the facilities that has been or will be expanded, built, modernized, or otherwise improved under the Southwest Border Capital Improvements Program.

Subtitle A—Improvement in Customs Enforcement

SEC. 211. PENALTIES FOR VIOLATIONS OF ARRIVAL, REPORTING, ENTRY, AND CLEARANCE REQUIREMENTS.

Section 436 (19 U.S.C. 1436) is amended—

(1) by amending subsection (a)—

(A) by striking out "433" in paragraph (1) and inserting "431, 433, or 434 of this Act or section 4197 of the Revised Statutes of the United States (46 U.S.C. App. 91)",

(B) by amending paragraph (2) to read as follows:

"(2) to present or transmit, electronically or otherwise, any forged, altered, or false document, paper information, data or manifest to the Customs Service under section 431(e), 433(d), or 434 of this Act or section 4197 of the Revised Statutes of the United States (46 U.S.C. App. 91) without revealing the facts; or", and

(C) by amending paragraph (3) to read as follows:

"(3) to fail to make entry or to obtain clearance as required by section 434 or 644 of this Act, section 4197 of the Revised Statutes of the United States (46 U.S.C. App. 91), or section 1109 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. App. 1509); or"; and

(2) by striking out "and entry" in the section heading and inserting "entry, and clearance".

SEC. 212. FAILURE TO DECLARE.

Section 497(a) (19 U.S.C. 1497(a)) is amended—

(1) by inserting "or transmitted" after "made" in paragraph (1)(A); and

(2) by amending paragraph (2)(A) to read as follows:

"(A) if the article is a controlled substance, either $500 or an amount equal to 1,000 percent of the value of the article, whichever amount is greater; and".

SEC. 213. CUSTOMS TESTING LABORATORIES; DETENTION OF MERCHANDISE.

"SEC. 499. EXAMINATION OF MERCHANDISE.

"(a) ENTRY EXAMINATION.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—Imported merchandise that is required by law or regulation to be inspected, examined, or appraised shall not be delivered from customs custody (except under such bond or other security as may be prescribed by the Secretary to assure compliance with all applicable laws, regulations, and instructions which the Secretary or the Customs Service is authorized to enforce) until the merchandise has been inspected, appraised, or examined and is reported by the Customs Service to have been truly and correctly invoiced and found to comply with the requirements of the laws of the United States.

"(2) EXAMINATION.—The Customs Service—

"(A) shall designate the packages or quantities of merchandise covered by any invoice or entry which are to be opened and examined for the purpose of appraisement or otherwise;

"(B) shall order such packages or quantities to be sent to such place as is designated by the Secretary by regulation for such purpose;

"(C) may require such additional packages or quantities as the Secretary considers necessary for such purpose; and

"(D) shall inspect a sufficient number of shipments, and shall examine a sufficient number of entries, to ensure compliance with the laws enforced by the Customs Service.

"(3) UNSPECIFIED ARTICLES.—If any package contains any article not specified in the invoice or entry and, in the opinion of the Customs Service, the article was omitted from the invoice or entry—

"(A) with fraudulent intent on the part of the seller, shipper, owner, agent, importer of record, or entry filer, the contents of the entire package in which such article is found shall be subject to seizure; or

"(B) without fraudulent intent, the value of the article shall be added to the entry and the duties, fees, and taxes thereon paid accordingly.

"(4) DEFICIENCY.—If a deficiency is found in quantity, weight, or measure in the examination of any package, the person finding the deficiency shall make a report thereof to the Customs Service. The Customs Service shall make allowance for the deficiency in the liquidation of duties.

"(5) INFORMATION REQUIRED FOR RELEASE.—If an examination is conducted, any information required for release shall be provided, either electronically or in paper form, to the Customs Service at the port of examination. The absence of such information does not limit the authority of the Customs Service to conduct an examination.

"(b) TESTING LABORATORIES.—

"(1) ACCREDITATION OF PRIVATE TESTING LABORATORIES.—The Customs Service shall establish and implement a procedure, under regulations promulgated by the Secretary, for accrediting private laboratories within the United States which may be used to perform tests (that would otherwise be performed by Customs Service laboratories) to establish the characteristics, quantities, or composition of imported merchandise. Such regulations—

"(A) shall establish the conditions required for the laboratories to receive and maintain accreditation for purposes of this subsection;

"(B) shall establish the conditions regarding the suspension and revocation of accreditation, which may include the imposition of a monetary penalty not to exceed $100,000 and such penalty is in addition to the recovery, from a gauger or laboratory accredited under paragraph (1), of any loss of revenue that may have occurred, but the Customs Service—

"(i) may seek to recover lost revenue only in cases where the gauger or laboratory intentionally falsified the analysis or gauging report in collusion with the importer; and

"(ii) shall neither assess penalties nor seek to recover lost revenue because of a good faith difference of professional opinion; and

"(C) may provide for the imposition of a reasonable charge for accreditation and periodic reaccreditation.

The collection of any charge for accreditation and reaccreditation under this section is not prohibited by section 13031(e)(6) of the Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1985 (19 U.S.C. 58c(e)(6)).

"(2) APPEAL OF ADVERSE ACCREDITATION DECISIONS.—A laboratory applying for accreditation, or that is accredited, under this section may contest any decision or order of the Customs Service denying, suspending, or revoking accreditation, or imposing a monetary penalty, by commencing an action in accordance with chapter 169 of title 28, United States Code, in the Court of International Trade within 60 days after issuance of the decision or order.

"(3) TESTING BY ACCREDITED LABORATORIES.—When requested by an importer of record of merchandise, the Customs Service shall authorize the release to the importer of a representative sample of the merchandise for testing, at the expense of the importer, by a laboratory accredited under paragraph (1). The testing results from a laboratory accredited under paragraph (1) that are submitted by an importer of record with respect to merchandise in an entry shall, in the absence of testing results obtained from a Customs Service laboratory, be accepted by the Customs Service if the importer of record certifies that the sample tested was taken from the merchandise in the entry. Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to limit in any way or preclude the authority of the Customs Service to test or analyze any sample or merchandise independently.

"(4) AVAILABILITY OF TESTING PROCEDURE, METHODOLOGIES, AND INFORMATION.—Testing procedures and methodologies used by the Customs Service, and information resulting from any testing conducted by the Customs Service, shall be made available as follows:

"(A) Testing procedures and methodologies shall be made available upon request to any person unless the procedures or methodologies are—

"(i) proprietary to the holder of a copyright or patent related to such procedures or methodologies, or

"(ii) developed by the Customs Service for enforcement purposes.

"(B) Information resulting from testing shall be made available upon request to the importer of record and any agent thereof unless the information—

"(i) is proprietary to the holder of a copyright or patent related to the procedures or methodologies; or

"(ii) reveals information developed by the Customs Service for enforcement purposes.

"(5) MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.—For purposes of this subsection—

"(A) any reference to a private laboratory includes a reference to a private gauger; and

"(B) accreditation of private laboratories extends only to the performance of functions by such laboratories that are within the scope of those responsibilities for determinations of the elements relating to admissibility, quantity, composition, or characteristics of imported merchandise that are vested in, or delegated to, the Customs Service.

"(c) DETENTIONS.—Except in the case of merchandise with respect to which the determination of admissibility is vested in an agency other than the Customs Service, the following apply:

"(1) IN GENERAL.—Within the 5-day period (excluding weekends and holidays) following the date on which merchandise is presented for customs examination, the Customs Service shall decide whether to release or detain the merchandise. Merchandise which is not released within such 5-day period shall be considered to be detained merchandise.

"(2) NOTICE OF DETENTION.—The Customs Service shall issue a notice to the importer or other party having an interest in detained merchandise no later than 5 days, excluding weekends and holidays, after the decision to detain the merchandise is made. The notice shall advise the importer or other interested party of—

"(A) the initiation of the detention;

"(B) the specific reason for the detention;

"(C) the anticipated length of the detention;

"(D) the nature of the tests or inquiries to be conducted; and

"(E) the nature of any information which, if supplied to the Customs Service, may accelerate the disposition of the detention.

"(3) TESTING RESULTS.—Upon request by the importer or other party having an interest in detained merchandise, the Customs Service shall provide the party with copies of the results of any testing conducted by the Customs Service on the merchandise and a description of the testing procedures and methodologies (unless such procedures or methodologies are proprietary to the holder of a copyright or patent or were developed by the Customs Service for enforcement purposes). The results and test description shall be in sufficient detail to permit the duplication and analysis of the testing and the results.

"(4) SEIZURE AND FORFEITURE.—If otherwise provided by law, detained merchandise may be seized and forfeited.

"(5) EFFECT OF FAILURE TO MAKE DETERMINATION.—

"(A) The failure by the Customs Service to make a final determination with respect to the admissibility of detained merchandise within 30 days after the merchandise has been presented for customs examination, or such longer period if specifically authorized by law, shall be treated as a decision of the Customs Service to exclude the merchandise for purposes of section 514(a)(4).

"(B) For purposes of section 1581 of title 28, United States Code, a protest against the decision to exclude the merchandise which has not been allowed or denied in whole or in part before the 30th day after the day on which the protest was filed shall be treated as having been denied on such 30th day.

"(C) Notwithstanding section 2639 of title 28, United States Code, once an action respecting a detention is commenced, unless the Customs Service establishes by a preponderance of the evidence that an admissibility decision has not been reached for good cause, the court shall grant the appropriate relief which may include, but is not limited to, an order to cancel the detention and release the merchandise.".

(b) EXISTING LABORATORIES.—Accreditation under section 499(b) of the Tariff Act of 1930 (as added by subsection (a)) is not required for any private laboratory (including any gauger) that was accredited or approved by the Customs Service as of the day before the date of the enactment of this Act; but any such laboratory is subject to reaccreditation under the provisions of such section and the regulations promulgated thereunder.

SEC. 214. RECORDKEEPING.

(1) by amending subsection (a) to read as follows:

"(a) REQUIREMENTS.—Any—

"(1) owner, importer, consignee, importer of record, entry filer, or other party who—

"(A) imports, files a drawback claim, or transports or stores merchandise carried or held under bond, or

"(B) knowingly causes the importation or transportation or storage of merchandise carried or held under bond into or from the customs territory of the United States;

"(2) agent of any party described in paragraph (1); or

"(3) person whose activities require the filing of a declaration or entry, or both;

shall make, keep, and render for examination and inspection such records (including, but not limited to, statements, declarations, documents and electronically generated or machine readable data) which—

"(A) pertain to any such activity, or to the information contained in the documents, records or electronically generated or machine readable data required by this Act in connection with such activity; and

"(B) are normally kept in the ordinary course of business."; and

(2) by amending subsection (c) to read as follows:

"(c) Period of Time.—The records required by subsections (a) and (b) shall be kept for such period of time, not to exceed 5 years from the date of entry or exportation, as appropriate, as the Secretary shall prescribe; except that records for any drawback claim shall be kept until the 3rd anniversary of the date of payment of the claim.".

SEC. 215. EXAMINATION OF BOOKS AND WITNESSES.

Section 509 (19 U.S.C. 1509) is amended as follows:

(1) Subsection (a) is amended—

(A) by striking out "and taxes" wherever it appears and inserting ", fees and taxes";

(B) by inserting "or electronically generated or machine readable data," after "other document," in paragraph (1);

(C) by striking out the semicolon at the end of paragraph (1) and inserting ", except that—

"(A) if such record, statement, declaration, document, or electronically stored or transmitted information or data is required by law or regulation for the entry of the merchandise (whether or not the Customs Service required its presentation at the time of entry) it shall be provided to the Customs Service within a reasonable time after demand for its production is made, taking into consideration the number, type, and age of the item demanded; and

"(B) if a person of whom demand is made under subparagraph (A) fails to comply with the demand, the person may be subject to penalty under subsection (g);";

(D) by amending that part of paragraph (2) that precedes subparagraph (D) to read as follows:

"(2) summon, upon reasonable notice—

"(A) the person who—

"(i) imported, or knowingly caused to be imported, merchandise into the customs territory of the United States,

"(ii) exported merchandise, or knowingly caused merchandise to be exported, to Canada,

"(iii) transported or stored merchandise that was or is carried or held under customs bond, or knowingly caused such transportation or storage, or

"(iv) filed a declaration, entry, or drawback claim with the Customs Service;

"(B) any officer, employee, or agent of any person described in subparagraph (A);

"(C) any person having possession, custody or care of records (including electronically generated or machine readable data) relating to the importation or other activity described in subparagraph (A); or"; and

(E) by striking out the comma at the end of subparagraph (D) and inserting a semicolon.

(2) Subsections (b) and (c) are redesignated as subsections (c) and (d), respectively.

(3) The following new subsection is inserted after subsection (a):

"(b) Regulatory Audit Procedures.—

"(1) In conducting a regulatory audit under this section (which does not include a quantity verification for a customs bonded warehouse or general purpose foreign trade zone), the Customs Service auditor shall provide the person being audited, in advance of the audit, with a reasonable estimate of the time to be required for the audit. If in the course of an audit it becomes apparent that additional time will be required, the Customs Service auditor shall immediately provide a further estimate of such additional time.

"(2) Before commencing an audit, the Customs Service auditor shall inform the party to be audited of his right to an entry conference at which time the purpose will be explained and an estimated termination date set. Upon completion of on-site audit activities, the Customs Service auditor shall schedule a closing conference to explain the preliminary results of the audit.

"(3) Except as provided in paragraph (5), if the estimated or actual termination date for an audit passes without the Customs Service auditor providing a closing conference to explain the results of the audit, the person being audited may petition in writing for such a conference to the appropriate regional commissioner, who, upon receipt of such a request, shall provide for such a conference to be held within 15 days after the date of receipt.

"(4) Except as provided in paragraph (5), the Customs Service auditor shall complete the formal written audit report within 90 days following the closing conference unless the appropriate regional commissioner provides written notice to the person being audited of the reason for any delay and the anticipated completion date. After application of any exemption contained in section 552 of title 5, United States Code, a copy of the formal written audit report shall be sent to the person audited no later than 30 days following completion of the report.

"(5) Paragraphs (3) and (4) shall not apply after the Customs Service commences a formal investigation with respect to the issue involved.".

(4) Subsection (d) (as redesignated by paragraph (2)) is amended—

(A) by striking out "or documents" in paragraph (1)(A) and inserting "documents, or electronically generated or machine readable data";

(B) by inserting ", unless such customhouse broker is the importer of record on an entry" after "broker" in paragraph (1)(C)(i);

(C) by striking out "import" in each of paragraphs (2)(B) and (4)(B);

(D) by inserting "described in section 508" after "transactions" in each of paragraphs (2)(B) and (4)(B); and

(E) by inserting ", fees," after "duties" in paragraph (4)(A).

(5) The following new subsections are added at the end thereof:

"(e) List of Records and Information.—The Customs Service shall identify and publish a list of the records or entry information that is required to be maintained and produced under subsection (a)(1)(A).

"(f) Recordkeeping Compliance Program.—

"(1) In general.—After consultation with the importing community, the Customs Service shall by regulation establish a recordkeeping compliance program which the parties listed in section 508(a) may participate in after being certified by the Customs Service under paragraph (2). Participation in the recordkeeping compliance program by recordkeepers is voluntary.

"(2) Certification.—A recordkeeper may be certified as a participant in the recordkeeping compliance program after meeting the general recordkeeping requirements established under the program or after negotiating an alternative program suited to the needs of the recordkeeper and the Customs Service. Certification requirements shall take into account the size and nature of the importing business and the volume of imports. In order to be certified, the recordkeeper must be able to demonstrate that it—

"(A) understands the legal requirements for recordkeeping, including the nature of the records required to be maintained and produced and the time periods involved;

"(B) has in place procedures to explain the recordkeeping requirements to those employees who are involved in the preparation, maintenance, and production of required records;

"(C) has in place procedures regarding the preparation and maintenance of required records, and the production of such records to the Customs Service;

"(D) has designated a dependable individual or individuals to be responsible for recordkeeping compliance under the program and whose duties include maintaining familiarity with the recordkeeping requirements of the Customs Service;

"(E) has a record maintenance procedure approved by the Customs Service for original records, or, if approved by the Customs Service, for alternative records or recordkeeping formats other than the original records; and

"(F) has procedures for notifying the Customs Service of occurrences of variances to, and violations of, the requirements of the recordkeeping compliance program or the negotiated alternative programs, and for taking corrective action when notified by the Customs Service of violations or problems regarding such program.

"(g) Penalties.—

"(1) Definition.—For purposes of this subsection, the term 'information' means any record, statement, declaration, document, or electronically stored or transmitted information or data referred to in subsection (a)(1)(A).

"(2) Effects of failure to comply with demand.—Except as provided in paragraph (4), if a person fails to comply with a lawful demand for information under subsection (a)(1)(A) the following provisions apply:

"(A) If the failure to comply is a result of the willful failure of the person to maintain, store, or retrieve the demanded information, such person shall be subject to a penalty, for each release of merchandise, not to exceed $100,000, or an amount equal to 75 percent of the appraised value of the merchandise, whichever amount is less.

"(B) If the failure to comply is a result of the negligence of the person in maintaining, storing, or retrieving the demanded information, such person shall be subject to a penalty, for each release of merchandise, not to exceed $10,000, or an amount equal to 40 percent of the appraised value of the merchandise, whichever amount is less.

"(C) In addition to any penalty imposed under subparagraph (A) or (B) regarding demanded information, if such information related to the eligibility of merchandise for a column 1 special rate of duty under title I, the entry of such merchandise—

"(i) if unliquidated, shall be liquidated at the applicable column 1 general rate of duty; or

"(ii) if liquidated within the 2-year period preceding the date of the demand, shall be reliquidated, notwithstanding the time limitation in section 514 or 520, at the applicable column 1 general rate of duty;

except that any liquidation or reliquidation under clause (i) or (ii) shall be at the applicable column 2 rate of duty if the Customs Service demonstrates that the merchandise should be dutiable at such rate.

"(3) Avoidance of penalty.—No penalty may be assessed under this subsection if the person can show—

"(A) that the loss of the demanded information was the result of an act of God or other natural casualty or disaster beyond the fault of such person or an agent of the person;

"(B) on the basis of other evidence satisfactory to the Customs Service, that the demand was substantially complied with; or

"(C) the information demanded was presented to and retained by the Customs Service at the time of entry or submitted in response to an earlier demand.

"(4) Penalties not exclusive.—Any penalty imposed under this subsection shall be in addition to any other penalty provided by law except for—

"(A) a penalty imposed under section 592 for a material omission of the demanded information, or

"(B) disciplinary action taken under section 641.

"(5) Remission or mitigation.—A penalty imposed under this section may be remitted or mitigated under section 618.

"(6) Customs summons.—Nothing in this subsection shall limit or preclude the Customs Service from issuing, or seeking the enforcement of, a customs summons.

"(7) Alternatives to penalties.—

"(A) In general.—When a recordkeeper who—

"(i) has been certified as a participant in the recordkeeping compliance program under subsection (f); and

"(ii) is generally in compliance with the appropriate procedures and requirements of the program; does not produce a demanded record or information for a specific release or provide the information by acceptable alternative means, the Customs Service, in the absence of willfulness or repeated violations, shall issue a written notice of the violation to the recordkeeper in lieu of a monetary penalty. Repeated violations by the recordkeeper may result in the issuance of penalties and removal of certification under the program until corrective action, satisfactory to the Customs Service, is taken.

"(B) Contents of notice.—A notice of violation issued under subparagraph (A) shall—

"(i) state that the recordkeeper has violated the recordkeeping requirements;

"(ii) indicate the record or information which was demanded; and

"(iii) warn the recordkeeper that future failures to produce demanded records or information may result in the imposition of monetary penalties.

"(C) Response to notice.—Within a reasonable time after receiving written notice under subparagraph (A), the recordkeeper shall notify the Customs Service of the steps it has taken to prevent a recurrence of the violation.

"(D) Regulations.—The Secretary shall promulgate regulations to implement this paragraph. Such regulations may specify the time periods for compliance with a demand for information and provide guidelines which define repeated violations for purposes of this paragraph. Any penalty issued for a recordkeeping violation shall take into account the degree of compliance compared to the total number of importations, the nature of the demanded records and the recordkeeper's cooperation.".

SEC. 216. JUDICIAL ENFORCEMENT.

The second sentence of section 510(a) (19 U.S.C. 1510(a)) is amended by inserting "and such court may assess a monetary penalty" after "as a contempt thereof".

SEC. 217. REVIEW OF PROTESTS.

Section 515 (19 U.S.C. 1515) is amended by inserting at the end the following new subsections:

"(c) If a protesting party believes that an application for further review was erroneously or improperly denied or was denied without authority for such action, it may file with the Commissioner of Customs a written request that the denial of the application for further review be set aside. Such request must be filed within 90 days after the date of the notice of the denial. The Commissioner of Customs may review such request and, based solely on the information before the Customs Service at the time the application for further review was denied, may set aside the denial of the application for further review and void the denial of protest, if appropriate. If the Commissioner of Customs fails to act within 30 days after the date of the request, the request shall be considered denied. All denials of protests are effective from the date of original denial for purposes of section 2636 of title 28, United States Code. If an action is commenced in the Court of International Trade that arises out of a protest or an application for further review, all administrative action pertaining to such protest or application shall terminate and any administrative action taken subsequent to the commencement of the action is null and void.

"(d) If a protest is timely and properly filed, but is denied contrary to proper instructions, the Customs Service may on its own initiative, or pursuant to a written request by the protesting party filed with the appropriate district director within 90 days after the date of the protest denial, void the denial of the protest.".

SEC. 218. REPEAL OF PROVISION RELATING TO RELIQUIDATION ON ACCOUNT OF FRAUD.

Section 521 (19 U.S.C. 1521) is repealed.

SEC. 219. PENALTIES RELATING TO MANIFESTS.

Section 584 (19 U.S.C. 1584) is amended—

(1) by amending subsection (a)—

(A) by striking out "appropriate customs officer" wherever it appears and inserting "Customs Service",

(B) by striking out "officer demanding the same" in paragraph (1) and inserting "officer (whether of the Customs Service or the Coast Guard) demanding the same", and

(C) by inserting "(electronically or otherwise)" after "submission" in the last sentence of paragraph (1); and

(2) by amending subsection (b)—

(A) by striking out "the appropriate customs officer", "he" (except in paragraph (1)(F)), and "such officer" wherever they appear and inserting "the Customs Service";

(B) by striking out "written" wherever it appears (other than paragraph (1)(F)),

(C) by inserting "or electronically transmit" after "issue" wherever it appears, and

(D) by striking out "his intention" in the first sentence of paragraph (1) and inserting "intent".

SEC. 220. UNLAWFUL UNLADING OR TRANSSHIPMENT.

Section 586 (19 U.S.C. 1586) is amended—

(1) by inserting ", or of a hovering vessel which has received or delivered merchandise while outside the territorial sea," after "from a foreign port or place" wherever it appears; and

(2) by amending subsection (f)—

(A) by striking out "the appropriate customs officer of the" and "the appropriate customs officer within the" and inserting "the Customs Service at the"; and

SEC. 222. INTERPRETIVE RULINGS AND DECISIONS; PUBLIC INFORMATION.

Section 625 (19 U.S.C. 1625) is amended to read as follows:

"(a) Publication.—Within 90 days after the date of issuance of any interpretive ruling (including any ruling letter, or internal advice memorandum) or protest review decision under this chapter with respect to any customs transaction, the Secretary shall have such ruling or decision published in the Customs Bulletin or shall otherwise make such ruling or decision available for public inspection.

"(b) Appeals.—A person may appeal an adverse interpretive ruling and any interpretation of any regulation prescribed to implement such ruling to a higher level of authority within the Customs Service for de novo review. Upon a reasonable showing of business necessity, any such appeal shall be considered and decided no later than 60 days following the date on which the appeal is filed. The Secretary shall issue regulations to implement this subsection.

"(c) MODIFICATION AND REVOCATION.—A proposed interpretive ruling or decision which would—

"(1) modify (other than to correct a clerical error) or revoke a prior interpretive ruling or decision which has been in effect for at least 60 days; or

"(2) have the effect of modifying the treatment previously accorded by the Customs Service to substantially identical transactions; shall be published in the Customs Bulletin. The Secretary shall give interested parties an opportunity to submit, during not less than the 30-day period after the date of such publication, comments on the correctness of the proposed ruling or decision. After consideration of any comments received, the Secretary shall publish a final ruling or decision in the Customs Bulletin within 30 days after the closing of the comment period. The final ruling or decision shall become effective 60 days after the date of its publication.

"(d) PUBLICATION OF CUSTOMS DECISIONS THAT LIMIT COURT DECISIONS.—A decision that proposes to limit the application of a court decision shall be published in the Customs Bulletin together with notice of opportunity for public comment thereon prior to a final decision.

"(e) PUBLIC INFORMATION.—The Secretary may make available in writing or through electronic media, in an efficient, comprehensive and timely manner, all information, including directives, memoranda, electronic messages and telexes which contain instructions, requirements, methods or advice necessary for importers and exporters to comply with the Customs laws and regulations. All information which may be made available pursuant to this subsection shall be subject to any exemption from disclosure provided by section 552 of title 5, United States Code.".

SEC. 223. SEIZURE AUTHORITY.

Section 596(c) (19 U.S.C. 1595a(c)) is amended to read as follows:

"(c) Merchandise which is introduced or attempted to be introduced into the United States contrary to law shall be treated as follows:

"(1) The merchandise shall be seized and forfeited if it—

"(A) is stolen, smuggled, or clandestinely imported or introduced;

"(B) is a controlled substance, as defined in the Controlled Substances Act (21 U.S.C. 801 et seq.), and is not imported in accordance with applicable law; or

"(C) is a contraband article, as defined in section 1 of the Act of August 9, 1939 (49 U.S.C. App. 781).

"(2) The merchandise may be seized and forfeited if—

"(A) its importation or entry is subject to any restriction or prohibition which is imposed by law relating to health, safety, or conservation and the merchandise is not in compliance with the applicable rule, regulation, or statute;

"(B) its importation or entry requires a license, permit or other authorization of an agency of the United States Government and the merchandise is not accompanied by such license, permit, or authorization;

"(C) it is merchandise or packaging in which copyright, trademark, or trade name protection violations are involved (including, but not limited to, violations of section 42, 43, or 45 of the Act of July 5, 1946 (Public Law 95-410; 15 U.S.C. 1124, 1125, or 1127), section 506 or 509 of title 17, United States Code, or section 2318 or 2320 of title 18, United States Code);

"(D) it is trade dress merchandise involved in the violation of a court order citing section 43 of such Act of July 5, 1946 (15 U.S.C. 1125);

"(E) it is merchandise which is marked intentionally in violation of section 304; or

"(F) it is merchandise for which the importer has received written notices that previous importations of identical merchandise from the same supplier were found to have been marked in violation of section 304.

"(3) If the importation or entry of the merchandise is subject to quantitative restrictions requiring a visa, permit, license or other similar document, or stamp from the United States Government or from a foreign government or issuing authority pursuant to a bilateral or multilateral agreement, the merchandise shall be subject to detention in accordance with section 499 unless the appropriate visa, license, permit, or similar document or stamp is presented to the Customs Service; but if the visa, permit, license or similar document or stamp which is presented in connection with the importation or entry of the merchandise is counterfeit, the merchandise may be seized and forfeited.

"(4) If the merchandise is imported or introduced contrary to a provision of law which governs the classification or value of merchandise and there are no issues as to the admissibility of the merchandise into the United States, it shall not be seized except in accordance with section 592.

"(5) In any case where the seizure and forfeiture of merchandise are required or authorized by this section, the Secretary may—

"(A) remit the forfeiture under section 618, or

"(B) permit the exportation of the merchandise, unless its release would adversely affect health, safety, or conservation or be in contravention of a bilateral or multilateral agreement or treaty.".

Subtitle B—National Customs Automation Program

SEC. 231. NATIONAL CUSTOMS AUTOMATION PROGRAM.

Part I of title IV is amended—

(1) by striking out

"PART I—DEFINITIONS

"PART I—DEFINITIONS AND NATIONAL CUSTOMS AUTOMATION PROGRAM

"Subpart A—Definitions"; and

(2) by inserting after section 402 the following:

"Subpart B—National Customs Automation Program

"SEC. 411. NATIONAL CUSTOMS AUTOMATION PROGRAM.

"(a) ESTABLISHMENT.—The Secretary shall establish the National Customs Automation Program (hereinafter in this subpart referred to as the 'Program') which shall be an automated and electronic system for processing commercial importations and shall include the following existing and planned components:

"(1) Existing components:

"(A) The electronic entry of merchandise.

"(B) The electronic entry summary of required information.

"(C) The electronic transmission of invoice information.

"(D) The electronic transmission of manifest information.

"(E) Electronic payments of duties, fees, and taxes.

"(F) The electronic status of liquidation and reliquidation.

"(G) The electronic selection of high risk entries for examination (cargo selectivity and entry summary selectivity).

"(2) Planned components:

"(A) The electronic filing and status of protests.

"(B) The electronic filing (including remote filing under section 414) of entry information with the Customs Service at any location.

"(C) The electronic filing of import activity summary statements and reconciliation.

"(D) The electronic filing of bonds.

"(E) The electronic penalty process.

"(F) The electronic filing of drawback claims, records, or entries.

"(G) Any other component initiated by the Customs Service to carry out the goals of this subpart.

"(b) PARTICIPATION IN PROGRAM.—The Secretary shall by regulation prescribe the eligibility criteria for participation in the Program. Participation in the Program is voluntary.

"SEC. 412. PROGRAM GOALS.

"The goals of the Program are to ensure that all regulations and rulings that are administered or enforced by the Customs Service are administered and enforced in a manner that—

"(1) is uniform and consistent;

"(2) is as minimally intrusive upon the normal flow of business activity as practicable; and

"(3) improves compliance.

"SEC. 413. IMPLEMENTATION AND EVALUATION OF PROGRAM.

"(a) OVERALL PROGRAM PLAN.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—Before the 180th day after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall develop and transmit to the Committees an overall plan for the Program. The overall Program plan shall set forth—

"(A) a general description of the ultimate configuration of the Program;

"(B) a description of each of the existing components of the Program listed in section 411(a)(1); and

"(C) estimates regarding the stages on which planned components of the Program listed in section 411(a)(2) will be brought online.

"(2) ADDITIONAL INFORMATION.—In addition to the information required under paragraph (1), the overall Program plan shall include a statement regarding—

"(A) the extent to which the existing components of the Program currently meet, and the planned components will meet, the Program goals set forth in section 412; and

"(B) the effects that the existing components are currently having, and the effects that the planned components will likely have, on—

"(i) importers, brokers, and other users of the Program, and

"(ii) Customs Service occupations, operations, processes, and systems.

"(b) IMPLEMENTATION PLAN, TESTING, AND EVALUATION.—

"(1) IMPLEMENTATION PLAN.—For each of the planned components of the Program listed in section 411(a)(2), the Secretary shall—

"(A) develop an implementation plan;

"(B) test the component in order to assess its viability;

"(C) evaluate the component in order to assess its contribution toward achieving the program goals; and

"(D) transmit to the Committees the implementation plan, the testing results, and an evaluation report.

In developing an implementation plan under subparagraph (A) and evaluating components under subparagraph (C), the Secretary shall publish a request for comments in the Customs Bulletin and shall consult with the trade community, including importers, brokers, shippers, and other affected parties.

"(2) IMPLEMENTATION.—

"(A) The Secretary may implement on a permanent basis any Program component referred to in paragraph (1) on or after the date which is 30 days after paragraph (1)(D) is complied with.

"(B) For purposes of subparagraph (A), the 30 days shall be computed by excluding—

"(i) the days either House is not in session because of an adjournment of more than 3 days to a day certain or an adjournment of the Congress sine die, and

"(ii) any Saturday and Sunday, not excluded under clause (i), when either House is not in session.

"(3) EVALUATION AND REPORT.—The Secretary shall—

"(A) develop a user satisfaction survey of parties participating in the Program;

"(B) evaluate the results of the user satisfaction survey on a biennial basis (fiscal years) and transmit a report to the Committees on the evaluation by no later than the 90th day after the close of each 2d fiscal year;

"(C) with respect to the existing Program component listed in section 411(a)(1)(G) transmit to the Committees—

"(i) a written evaluation of such component before the 180th day after the date of the enactment of this section and before the implementation of the planned Program components listed in section 411(a)(2) (B) and (C), and

"(ii) a report on such component for each of the 3 full fiscal years occurring after the date of the enactment of this section, which report shall be transmitted not later than the 90th day after the close of each such year; and

"(D) not later than the 90th day after the close of fiscal year 1993, and annually thereafter through fiscal year 1999, transmit to the Committees a written evaluation with respect to the implementation and effect on users of each of the planned Program components listed in section 411(a)(2).

In carrying out the provisions of this paragraph, the Secretary shall publish requests for comments in the Customs Bulletin and shall consult with the trade community, including importers, brokers, shippers, and other affected parties.

"(c) COMMITTEES.—For purposes of this section, the term 'Committees' means the Committee on Ways and Means of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Finance of the Senate.

"SEC. 414. REMOTE LOCATION FILING.

"(a) CORE ENTRY INFORMATION.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—A Program participant may file an entry of merchandise with the Customs Service from a location other than the district designated in the entry for examination (hereafter in this section referred to as a 'remote location') if—

"(A) the Customs Service is satisfied that the participant has the capabilities referred to in paragraph (2) regarding such method of filing; and

"(B) the participant elects to file from the remote location.

"(2) REQUIREMENTS.—In order to qualify for filing from a remote location, a Program participant must have the capability to provide, on an entry-by-entry basis, for the following:

"(A) The electronic entry of merchandise.

"(B) The electronic entry summary of required information.

"(C) The electronic transmission of invoice information (when required by the Customs Service).

"(D) The electronic payment of duties, fees, and taxes.

"(E) Such other electronic capabilities within the existing or planned components of the Program as the Secretary shall by regulation require.

"(3) ALTERNATIVE FILING.—Any Program participant that is eligible under paragraph (1) to file entry information electronically from a remote location but chooses not to do so in the case of any entry must file any paper documentation for the entry at the designated location referred to in subsection (d).

"(b) ADDITIONAL ENTRY INFORMATION.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—A Program participant that is eligible under subsection (a) to file entry information from a remote location may, if the Customs Service is satisfied that the participant meets the requirements under paragraph (2), also electronically file from the remote location additional information that is required by the Customs Service to be presented before the acceptance of entry summary information and at the time of acceptance of entry summary information.

"(2) REQUIREMENTS.—The Secretary shall publish, and periodically update, a list of those capabilities within the existing and planned components of the Program that a Program participant must have for purposes of this subsection.

"(3) FILING OF ADDITIONAL INFORMATION.—

"(A) IF INFORMATION ELECTRONICALLY ACCEPTABLE.—A Program participant that is eligible under paragraph (1) to file additional information from a remote location shall electronically file all such information that the Customs Service can accept electronically.

"(B) ALTERNATIVE FILING.—If the Customs Service cannot accept additional information electronically, the Program participant shall file the paper documentation with respect to the information at the appropriate filing location.

"(C) APPROPRIATE LOCATION.—For purposes of subparagraph (B), the 'appropriate location' is—

"(i) before January 1, 1999, a designated location; and

"(ii) after December 31, 1998—

"(I) if the paper documentation is required for release, a designated location; or

"(II) if the paper documentation is not required for release, a remote location designated by the Customs Service or a designated location.

"(D) OTHER.—A Program participant that is eligible under paragraph (1) to file additional information electronically from a remote location but chooses not to do so must file the paper documentation with respect to the information at a designated location.

"(c) POST-ENTRY SUMMARY INFORMATION.—A Program participant that is eligible to file electronically entry information under subsection (a) and additional information under subsection (b) from a remote location may file at any remote location designated by the Customs Service any information required by the Customs Service after entry summary.

"(d) DEFINITION OF DESIGNATED LOCATION.—For purposes of this section, the term 'designated location' means a customs office located in the customs district designated by the entry filer for purposes of customs examination of the merchandise.".

SEC. 232. EFFECTIVE DATE OF RATES OF DUTY.

Section 315 (19 U.S.C. 1315) is amended—

(1) by striking out "appropriate customs officer in the form and manner prescribed by regulations of the Secretary of the Treasury," in the first sentence of subsection (a) and inserting "Customs Service by written, electronic or such other means as the Secretary by regulation shall prescribe,";

SEC. 233. DEFINITIONS.

(1) by amending subsection (k) to read as follows:

"(k) The term 'hovering vessel' means—

"(1) any vessel which is found or kept off the coast of the United States within or without the customs waters, if, from the history, conduct, character, or location of the vessel, it is reasonable to believe that such vessel is being used or may be used to introduce or promote or facilitate the introduction or attempted introduction of merchandise into the United States in violation of the laws of the United States; and

"(2) any vessel which has visited a vessel described in paragraph (1)."; and

(2) by inserting at the end thereof the following new subsections:

"(n) The term 'electronic transmission' means the transfer of data or information through an authorized electronic data interchange system consisting of, but not limited to, computer modems and computer networks.

"(o) The term 'electronic entry' means the electronic transmission to the Customs Service of—

"(1) entry information required for the entry of merchandise, and

"(2) entry summary information required for the classification and appraisement of the merchandise, the verification of statistical information, and the determination of compliance with applicable law.

"(p) The term 'electronic data interchange system' means any established mechanism approved by the Commissioner of Customs through which information can be transferred electronically.

"(q) The term 'National Customs Automation Program' means the program established under section 411.

"(r) The term 'import activity summary statement' refers to data or information transmitted electronically to the Customs Service, in accordance with such regulations as the Secretary prescribes, at the end of a specified period of time which enables the Customs Service to assess properly the duties, taxes and fees on merchandise imported during that period, collect accurate statistics and determine whether any other applicable requirement of law (other than a requirement relating to release from customs custody) is met.

"(s) The term 'reconciliation' means an electronic process, initiated at the request of an importer, under which the elements of an entry, other than those elements related to the admissibility of the merchandise, that are undetermined at the time of entry summary are provided to the Customs Service at a later time. A reconciliation is treated as an entry for purposes of liquidation, reliquidation, and protest.".

SEC. 234. MANIFESTS.

(1) by amending subsections (a) and (b) to read as follows:

"(a) IN GENERAL.—Every vessel required to make entry under section 434 or obtain clearance under section 4197 of the Revised Statutes of the United States (46 U.S.C. App. 91) shall have a manifest that complies with the requirements prescribed under subsection (d).

"(b) PRODUCTION OF MANIFEST.—Any manifest required by the Customs Service shall be signed, produced, delivered or electronically transmitted by the master or person in charge of the vessel, aircraft, or vehicle, or by any other authorized agent of the owner or operator of the vessel, aircraft, or vehicle in accordance with the requirements prescribed under subsection (d). A manifest may be supplemented by bill of lading data supplied by the issuer of such bill. If any irregularity of omission or commission occurs in any way in respect to any manifest or bill of lading data, the owner or operator of the vessel, aircraft or vehicle, or any party responsible for such irregularity, shall be liable for any fine or penalty prescribed by law with respect to such irregularity. The Customs Service may take appropriate action against any of the parties."; and

(2) by inserting after subsection (c) the following new subsection:

"(d) REGULATIONS.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall by regulation—

"(A) specify the form for, and the information and data that must be contained in, the manifest required by subsection (a);

"(B) allow, at the option of the individual producing the manifest and subject to paragraph (2), letters and documents shipments to be accounted for by summary manifesting procedures;

"(C) prescribe the manner of production for, and the delivery for electronic transmittal of, the manifest required by subsection (a); and

"(D) prescribe the manner for supplementing manifests with bill of lading data under subsection (b).

"(2) LETTERS AND DOCUMENTS SHIPMENTS.— For purposes of paragraph (1)(B)—

"(A) the Customs Service may require with respect to letters and documents shipments—

"(i) that they be segregated by country of origin, and

"(ii) additional examination procedures that are not necessary for individually manifested shipments;

"(B) standard letter envelopes and standard document packs shall be segregated from larger document shipments for purposes of customs inspections; and

"(C) the term 'letters and documents' means—

"(i) data described in General Headnote 4(c) of the Harmonized Tariff Schedule of the United States,

"(ii) securities and similar evidences of value described in heading 4907 of such Schedule, but not monetary instruments defined pursuant to chapter 53 of title 31, United States Code, and

(C) by amending paragraph (10) to read as follows:

"(10) Any other fact that the Secretary may by regulation require as being necessary to a proper appraisement, examination and classification of the merchandise.";

(2) by amending subsection (c) to read as follows:

"(c) IMPORTER PROVISION OF INFORMATION.—Any information required to be set forth on an invoice may alternatively be provided by any of the parties qualifying as an 'importer of record' under section 484(a)(2)(B) by such means, in such form or manner, and within such time as the Secretary shall by regulation prescribe."; and

(3) by inserting before the period at the end of subsection (d) the following: "and may allow for the submission or electronic transmission of partial invoices, electronic equivalents of invoices, bills, or other documents or parts thereof, required under this section".

SEC. 236. ENTRY OF MERCHANDISE.

Section 484 (19 U.S.C. 1484) is amended to read as follows:

"SEC. 484. ENTRY OF MERCHANDISE.

"(a) REQUIREMENT AND TIME.—

"(1) Except as provided in sections 490, 498, 552, 553, and 336(j), one of the parties qualifying as 'importer of record' under paragraph (2)(B), either in person or by an agent authorized by the party in writing, shall, using reasonable care—

"(A) make entry therefor by filing with the Customs Service—

"(i) such documentation or, pursuant to an electronic data interchange system, such information as is necessary to enable the Customs Service to determine whether the merchandise may be released from customs custody, and

"(ii) notification whether an import activity summary statement will be filed; and

"(B) complete the entry by filing with the Customs Service the declared value, classification and rate of duty applicable to the merchandise, and such other documentation or, pursuant to an electronic data interchange system, such other information as is necessary to enable the Customs Service to—

"(i) properly assess duties on the merchandise,

"(ii) collect accurate statistics with respect to the merchandise, and

"(iii) determine whether any other applicable requirement of law (other than a requirement relating to release from customs custody) is met.

"(2)(A) The documentation or information required under paragraph (1) with respect to any imported merchandise shall be filed or transmitted in such manner and within such time periods as the Secretary shall by regulation prescribe. Such regulations shall provide for the filing of import activity summary statements, covering entries made during a calendar month, within such time period as is prescribed in regulations but not to exceed the 20th day following such calendar month.

"(B) When an entry of merchandise is made under this section, the required documentation or information shall be filed or electronically transmitted either by the owner or purchaser of the merchandise or, when appropriately designated by the owner, purchaser, or consignee of the merchandise, a person holding a valid license under section 641. When a consignee declares on entry that he is the owner or purchaser of merchandise the Customs Service may, without liability, accept the declaration. For the purposes of this Act, the importer of record must be one of the parties who is eligible to file the documentation or information required by this section.

"(C) The Secretary, in prescribing regulations to carry out this subsection, shall establish procedures which insure the accuracy and timeliness of import statistics, particularly statistics relevant to the classification and valuation of imports. Corrections of errors in such statistical data shall be transmitted immediately to the Director of the Bureau of the Census, who shall make corrections in the statistics maintained by the Bureau. The Secretary shall also provide, to the maximum extent practicable, for the protection of the revenue, the enforcement of laws governing the importation and exportation of merchandise, the facilitation of the commerce of the United States, and the equal treatment of all importers of record of imported merchandise.

"(b) RECONCILIATION.—A party that electronically transmits an entry summary or import activity summary statement may at the time of filing such summary or statement notify the Customs Service of his intention to file a reconciliation pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary may prescribe. Such reconciliation must be filed by the importer of record within such time period as is prescribed by regulation but no later than 15 months following the filing of the entry summary or import activity summary statement. Before filing a reconciliation, an importer of record shall post bond or other security pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary may prescribe.

"(c) RELEASE OF MERCHANDISE.—The Customs Service may permit the entry and release of merchandise from customs custody in accordance with such regulations as the Secretary may prescribe. No officer of the Customs Service shall be liable to any person with respect to the delivery of merchandise released from customs custody in accordance with such regulations.

"(d) SIGNING AND CONTENTS.—Entries shall be signed by the importer of record, or his agent, unless filed pursuant to an electronic data interchange system. If electronically filed, each transmission of data shall be certified by an importer of record or his agent, one of whom shall be resident in the United States for purposes of receiving service of process, as being true and correct to the best of his knowledge and belief, and such transmission shall be binding in the same manner and to the same extent as a signed document. The entry shall set forth such facts in regard to the importation as the Secretary may require and shall be accompanied by such invoices, bills of lading, certificates, and documents, or their electronically submitted equivalents, as are required by regulation.

"(e) PRODUCTION OF INVOICE.—The Secretary may provide by regulation for the production of an invoice, parts thereof, or the electronic equivalents thereof, in such manner and form, and under such terms and conditions, as the Secretary considers necessary.

"(f) STATISTICAL ENUMERATION.—The Secretary, the Secretary of Commerce, and the United States International Trade Commission shall establish from time to time for statistical purposes an enumeration of articles in such detail as in their judgment may be necessary, comprehending all merchandise imported into the United States and exported from the United States, and shall seek, in conjunction with statistical programs for domestic production and programs for achieving international harmonization of trade statistics, to establish the comparability thereof with such enumeration of articles. All import entries and export declarations shall include or have attached thereto an accurate statement specifying, in terms of such detailed enumeration, the kinds and quantities of all merchandise imported and exported and the value of the total quantity of each kind of article.

"(g) STATEMENT OF COST OF PRODUCTION.—Under such regulations as the Secretary may prescribe, the Customs Service may require a verified statement from the manufacturer or producer showing the cost of producing the imported merchandise, if the Customs Service considers such verification necessary for the appraisement of such merchandise.

"(h) ADMISSIBILITY OF DATA ELECTRONICALLY TRANSMITTED.—Any entry or other information transmitted by means of an authorized electronic data interchange system shall be admissible in any and all administrative and judicial proceedings as evidence of such entry or information.".

Mr. ROSTENKOWSKI (during the reading). Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the amendment in the nature of a substitute be considered as read and printed in the RECORD.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Illinois?

There was no objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the amendment in the nature of a substitute offered by the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. ROSTENKOWSKI].

The amendment in the nature of a substitute was agreed to.

The Senate bill was ordered to be read a third time, was read the third time, and passed, and a motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

KEWEENAW NATIONAL HISTORICAL PARK ESTABLISHMENT ACT

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill (S. 1664) to establish the Keweenaw National Historical Park, and for other purposes as amended.

The Clerk read as follows:

S. 1664

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. FINDINGS AND PURPOSES.

(a) FINDINGS.—The Congress finds that—

(1) The oldest and largest lava flow known on Earth is located on the Keweenaw Peninsula of Michigan. This volcanic activity produced the only place on Earth where large scale economically recoverable 97 percent pure native copper is found.

(2) The Keweenaw Peninsula is the only site in the country where prehistoric, aboriginal mining of copper occurred. Artifacts made from this copper by these ancient Indians were traded as far south as present day Alabama.

(3) Copper mining on the Keweenaw Peninsula pioneered deep shaft, hard rock mining, milling, and smelting techniques and advancements in related mining technologies later used throughout the world.

(4) Michigan Technological University, located in the copper district, was established in 1885 to supply the great demand for new technologies and trained engineers requested by the area's mining operations. Michigan Technological University possesses a wealth of both written and photographic historic documentation of the mining era in its archives.

(5) Michigan's copper country became a principal magnet to European immigrants during the mid-1800's and the cultural heritage of these varied nationalities is still preserved in this remarkable ethnic conglomerate.

(6) The corporate-sponsored community planning in Calumet, Michigan, as evidenced in the architecture, municipal design, surnames, foods, and traditions, and the large scale corporate paternalism was unprecedented in American industry and continues to express the heritage of the district.

(7) The entire picture of copper mining on Michigan's Keweenaw Peninsula is best represented by three components: the Village of Calumet, the former Calumet and Hecla Mining Company properties (including the Osceola #13 mine complex), and the former Quincy Mining Company properties. The Village of Calumet best represents the social, ethnic, and commercial themes. Extant Calumet and Hecla buildings best depict corporate paternalism and power, and the themes of extraction and processing are best represented by extant structures of the Quincy Mining Company.

(8) The Secretary of the Interior has designated two National Historic Landmark Districts in the proposed park area, the Calumet National Historic Landmark District and the Quincy Mining Company National Historic Landmark District.

(b) PURPOSES.—The purposes of this Act are—

(1) to preserve the nationally significant historical and cultural sites, structures, and districts of a portion of the Keweenaw Peninsula in the State of Michigan for the education, benefit, and inspiration of present and future generations; and

(2) to interpret the historic synergism between the geological, aboriginal, sociological, cultural technological, and corporate forces that relate the story of copper on the Keweenaw Peninsula.

SEC. 2. DEFINITIONS.

As used in this Act, the term—

(1) "Commission" means the Keweenaw Historic Preservation Advisory Commission established by section 9.

(2) "park" means the Keweenaw National Historical Park established by section 3(a)(1).

(3) "Secretary" means the Secretary of the Interior.

SEC. 3. ESTABLISHMENT AND ADMINISTRATION OF PARK.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT AND ADMINISTRATION.—(1) There is hereby established as a unit of the National Park System the Keweenaw National Historical Park in and near Calumet and Hancock, Michigan.

(2) The Secretary shall administer the park in accordance with the provisions of this Act, and the provisions of law generally applicable to units of the National Park System, including the Act entitled "An Act to establish a National Park Service, and for other purposes", approved August 25, 1916 (16 U.S.C. 1, 2–4), and the Act entitled "An Act to provide for the preservation of historic American sites, buildings, objects and antiquities of national significance, and for other purposes", approved August 21, 1935 (16 U.S.C. 461 et seq.).

(b) BOUNDARIES AND MAP.—(1) The boundaries of the park shall be as generally depicted on the map entitled "Keweenaw National Historical Park, Michigan", numbered NHP–KP/20012–B and dated June, 1992. Such map shall be on file and available for public inspection in the office of the National Park Service, Department of the Interior, Washington, District of Columbia, and the office of the village council, Calumet, Michigan.

(2) Within 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall publish in the Federal Register a detailed description and map of the boundaries established under paragraph (a)(1).

SEC. 4. ACQUISITION OF PROPERTY.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Subject to subsections (b) and (c), the Secretary is authorized to acquire lands, or interests therein, within the boundaries of the park by donation, purchase with donated or appropriated funds, exchange, or transfer.

(b) STATE PROPERTY.—Property owned by the State of Michigan or any political subdivision of the State may be acquired only by donation.

(c) CONSENT.—No lands or interests therein within the boundaries of the park may be acquired without the consent of the owner, unless the Secretary determines that the land is being developed, or is proposed to be developed in a manner which is detrimental to the natural, scenic, historic, and other values for which the park is established.

(d) HAZARDOUS SUBSTANCES.—The Secretary shall not acquire any lands pursuant to this Act if the Secretary determines that such lands, or any portion thereof, have become contaminated with hazardous substances (as defined in the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation and Liability Act (42 U.S.C. 9601)).

SEC. 5. COOPERATION BY FEDERAL AGENCIES.

(a) Any Federal entity conducting or supporting activities directly affecting the park shall—

(1) consult, cooperate, and, to the maximum extent practicable, coordinate its activities with the Secretary and the Commission;

(2) conduct or support such activities in a manner that—

(A) to the maximum extent practicable, is consistent with the standards and criteria established pursuant to the general management plan developed pursuant to section 6; and

(B) will not have an adverse effect on the resources of the park; and

(3) provide for full public participation in order to consider the views of all interested parties.

SEC. 6. GENERAL MANAGEMENT PLAN.

Not later than 3 fiscal years after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall prepare, in consultation with the Commission, and submit to Congress a general management plan for the park containing the information described in section 12(b) of the Act of August 18, 1970 (16 U.S.C. 1a-7(b)). Such plan shall interpret the technological and social history of the area, and the industrial complexes of the Calumet and Hecla, and Quincy Mining Companies, with equal emphasis.

SEC. 7. COOPERATIVE AGREEMENTS.

The Secretary, after consultation with the Commission, may enter into cooperative agreements with owners of property within the park of nationally significant historic or other cultural resources in order to provide for interpretive exhibits or programs. Such agreements shall provide, whenever appropriate, that—

(1) the public may have access to such property at specified, reasonable times for purposes of viewing such property or exhibits, or attending the programs established by the Secretary under this subsection; and

(2) the Secretary, with the agreement of the property owner, may make such minor improvements to such property as the Secretary deems necessary to enhance the public use and enjoyment of such property, exhibits, and programs.

SEC. 8. FINANCIAL AND TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary may provide to any owner of property within the park containing nationally significant historic or cultural resources, in accordance with cooperative agreements or grant agreements, as appropriate, such financial and technical assistance to mark, interpret, and restore non-Federal properties within the park as the Secretary determines appropriate to carry out the purposes of this Act, provided that—

(1) the Secretary, acting through the National Park Service, shall have right of access at reasonable times to public portions of the property covered by such agreement for the purpose of conducting visitors through such properties and interpreting them to the public; and

(2) no changes or alterations shall be made in such properties except by mutual agreement between the Secretary and the other parties to the agreements.

(b) MATCHING FUNDS.—Funds authorized to be appropriated to the Secretary for the purposes of this section shall be expended in the ratio of $1 of Federal funds for each $4 of funds contributed by non-Federal sources. For the purposes of this subsection, the Secretary is authorized to accept from non-Federal sources, and to utilize for purposes of this Act, any money so contributed. Donations of land, or interests in land, by the State of Michigan may be considered as a contribution from non-Federal sources for the purposes of this subsection.

SEC. 9. KEWEENAW NATIONAL HISTORICAL PARK ADVISORY COMMISSION.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT AND DUTIES.—There is established the Keweenaw National Historical Park Advisory Commission. The Commission shall—

(1) advise the Secretary in the preparation and implementation of a general management plan described in section 6;

(2) advise the Secretary on the development of and priorities for implementing standards and criteria by which the Secretary, pursuant to agreements referred to in sections 7 and 8, will provide financial as well as technical assistance to owners of non-Federal properties within the park;

(3) advise the Secretary on the development of rules governing the disbursal of funds for the development of non-Federal properties;

(4) advise the Secretary with respect to the selection of sites for interpretation and preservation by means of cooperative agreements pursuant to section 7;

(5) assist the Secretary in developing policies and programs for the conservation and protection of the scenic, historical, cultural, natural and technological values of the park which would complement the purposes of this Act;

(6) assist the Secretary in coordinating with local governments and the State of Michigan the implementation of the general management plan, and furthering the purposes of this Act;

(7) be authorized to carry out historical, educational, or cultural programs which encourage or enhance appreciation of the historic resources in the park, surrounding areas, and on the Keweenaw Peninsula; and

(8) be authorized to seek, accept, and dispose of gifts, bequests, or donations of money, personal property, or services, received from any source, consistent with the purposes of this Act and the park management.

(b)(1) The Commission may acquire real property, or interests in real property, to further the purposes of the Act by gift or devise; or, by purchase from a willing seller with money which was given or bequeathed to the Commission on the condition that such money would be used to purchase real property, or interests in real property, to further the purposes of this Act.

(2) For the purposes of section 170(c) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, any gift to the Commission shall be deemed to be a gift to the United States.

(3) Any real property or interest in real property acquired by the Commission shall be conveyed by the Commission to the National Park Service or the appropriate public agency as soon as possible after such acquisition, without consideration, and on the condition that the real property or interest in real property so conveyed is used for public purposes.

(4) The value of funds or property, or interests in property, conveyed to the National Park Service by the Commission may be considered as non-Federal, at the Commission's discretion.

(c) MEMBERSHIP.—

(1) COMPOSITION.—The Commission shall be composed of seven members appointed by the Secretary, of whom—

(A) two members shall be appointed from nominees submitted by the Calumet Village Council and the Calumet Township Board;

(B) one member shall be appointed from nominees submitted by the Quincy Township Board and the Franklin Township Board;

(C) one member shall be appointed from nominees submitted by the Houghton County Board of Commissioners;

(D) one member shall be appointed from nominees submitted by the Governor of the State of Michigan; and,

(E) two members who are qualified to serve on the Commission because of their familiarity with National Parks and historic preservation.

(2) CHAIRPERSON.—The chairperson of the Commission shall be elected by the members to serve a term of 3 years.

(3) VACANCIES.—A vacancy on the Commission shall be filled in the same manner in which the original appointment was made.

(4) TERMS OF SERVICE.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Each member shall be appointed for a term of 3 years and may be reappointed not more than three times.

(B) INITIAL MEMBERS.—Of the members first appointed under subsection (b)(1), the Secretary shall appoint—

(i) two members for a term of 1 year;

(ii) two members for a term of 2 years; and

(iii) three members for a term of 3 years.

(5) EXTENDED SERVICE.—A member may serve after the expiration of that member's term until a successor has taken office.

(6) MEETINGS.—The Commission shall meet at least quarterly at the call of the chairperson or a majority of the members of the Commission.

(7) QUORUM.—Five members shall constitute a quorum.

(d) COMPENSATION.—Members shall serve without pay. Members who are full-time officers or employees of the United States, the State of Michigan, or any political subdivision thereof shall receive no additional pay on account of their service on the Commission.

(e) TRAVEL EXPENSES.—While away from their homes or regular places of business in the performance of services for the Commission, members shall be allowed travel expenses, including per diem in lieu of subsistence, in the same manner as persons employed intermittently in the Government service are allowed expenses under section 5703 of title 5, United States Code.

(f) MAILS.—The Commission may use the United States mails in the same manner and under the same conditions as other departments and agencies of the United States.

(g) STAFF.—The Commission may appoint and fix the pay of such personnel as the Commission deems desirable. The Secretary may provide the Commission with such staff and technical assistance as the Secretary, after consultation with the Commission, considers appropriate to enable the Commission to carry out its duties, on a cost reimbursable basis. Upon request of the Secretary, any Federal agency may provide information, personnel, property, and services on a reimbursable basis, to the Commission to assist in carrying out its duties under this section. The Secretary may accept the services of personnel detailed from the State of Michigan or any political subdivision of the State and reimburse the State or such political subdivision for such services. The Commission may procure additional temporary and intermittent services under section 3109(b) of title 5 of the United States Code, with funds obtained under section 9(a)(6), or as provided by the Secretary.

(h) HEARINGS.—The Commission may, for the purpose of carrying out this Act, hold such hearings, sit and act at such times and places, take such testimony, and receive such evidence, as the Commission considers appropriate. The Commission may not issue subpoenas or exercise any subpoena authority.

SEC. 10. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.

(a) Except as provided in subsection (b), there are authorized to be appropriated such sums as may be necessary to carry out this Act, but not to exceed $5,000,000 for the acquisition of lands and interests therein, $25,000,000 for development, and $3,000,000 for financial and technical assistance to owners of non-Federal property as provided in section 8.

(b) There are authorized to be appropriated annually to the Commission to carry out its duties under this Act, $100,000 except that the Federal contribution to the Commission shall not exceed 50 percent of the annual costs to the Commission in carrying out those duties.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO] will be recognized for 20 minutes, and the gentleman from Michigan [Mr. DAVIS] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks, and include therein extraneous material on the Senate bill, S. 1664, now under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Minnesota?

There was no objection.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, S. 1664 is legislation to establish the Keweenaw National Historical Park on the Upper Peninsula of Michigan. This bipartisan legislation has been a longstanding interest of Senator CARL LEVIN, Congressman DALE KILDEE, and Congressman BOB DAVIS.

The Keweenaw Peninsula of Michigan was an important site for the development of the U.S. copper mining industry from the mid-1800's to the early 1900's. From 1867 until 1884, the Keweenaw region accounted for over 75 percent of all copper production in the United States. At times there were over 400 companies mining in the area. The boom continued until the early part of the 20th century, when the region was supplanted by the large copper mines in the western United States.

The village of Calumet was formed and prospered as part of the copper boom. Calumet was a true mining company town, dominated by the two major mining companies, the Calumet and Hecla Mining Co. and the Quincy Mining Co. Because of mining company dominance, corporate sponsored community planning was prevalent and is still evident today in the many old buildings found in the town. The need for a large mining work force also attracted a significant amount of immigrant labor and a dozen distinct ethnic groups formed in the community adding to the social and cultural diversity of the area.

S. 1664 as passed by the Senate would establish a historical park consisting of the mine shafts, smelting works and surface and administrative buildings of the Quincy Mining Co. and the commercial and residential area of the nearby village of Calument. The boundaries of the park are based on the Quincy and Calumet National Historic landmark districts. The bill also establishes a seven-member Keweenaw National Historical Park Advisory Commission to advise the Secretary on several issues including the preparation of a general management plan. The bill establishes limits on the amount of funds which could be spent on land acquisition and development. The bill also requires a 1 to 4 match of Federal to non-Federal funds for technical assistance to owners of historic properties within the park.

The Interior Committee has had this proposal under consideration for over 3 years and hearings were held by the subcommittee on National Parks and Public Lands in both the 101st and 102d Congresses. Following the subcommittee's 1989 hearing, Senator BUMPERS and I requested a suitability and feasibility study on the site from the National Park Service. That study was completed in February, 1991. The committee also delayed action pending the results of an Environmental Protection Agency study of the Torch Lake superfund site which is also located on the Keweenaw Peninsula.

S. 1664 was substantially amended in the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee. The revised bill is very similar to the bill submitted by the National Park Service. Although the Interior Committee did not markup the House version of this bill, the committee was consulted about the revisions to the Senate bill and the changes made to the bill are acceptable to the committee. The most important changes made were the prohibition on acquiring contaminated lands, the paring back of the duties and powers of the Commission to make the Commission advisory in nature, and placing an authorization ceiling placed on land acquisition, development and technical assistance. This substitute amendment substantially limits the potential costs of the park and ensures compatibility with Department of Interior guidelines concerning contaminated lands. It also resolved constitutional issues surrounding the spending powers of non-Federal commission members.

I am concerned though about a provision in the Senate bill allowing donations of land by the State of Michigan to be counted toward the non-Federal share of the match for financial and technical assistance for property owners. This provision was not in the National Park Service bill and it would not be a good precedent to give value to lands which the bill requires to be donated. I have discussed this provision with the sponsors of the bill and have assurances that we will correct this matter next year.

The Interior Committee also had some concern about this proposal because the National Park Service did not conduct a comparative study of other sites related to mining or extractive industries during its evaluation of the Keweenaw proposal. The National Park Service has requested funding to study two other sites related to mining in Alaska and Montana and these studies have not yet been completed. In response to the committee's question about the comparative suitability of different mining sites for inclusion in the national park system, the National Park Service replied:

> National Park Service planners who are familiar with both Calumet and the Kennicott site believe that Calumet is a far superior site in terms of telling the cooper mining story for a variety of reasons, including the social history and fabric that remains in Calumet, the wealth of technological advances that occurred in connection with the development of the upper Michigan copper mines, its accessibility to a larger number of Americans, and its importance in terms of the world production of copper ore.

The Committee received other testimony on the high value of the technological, historical, and cultural resources at the Keweenaw site. The committee is concerned about a proliferation of park proposals for various aspects of technological and industrial history and believes a national landmark theme study on this topic would be helpful to help identify the most significant, suitable and feasible sites related to our technological and industrial history. The labor history theme study currently underway may shed light on this important subject, but a separate study may be needed to ensure that only the best sites are included in the national park system. This is particularly important in a time of limited funds.

The committee also had concerns about hazardous wastes which could present a health or safety issue for park visitors or employees. The committee delayed action on the proposal for several years so that the results of the EPA study on the Torch Lake superfund site could be reviewed. The EPA testified before the subcommittee that there are no unacceptable human health risks posed by exposure to the sites which would be included in the boundaries of the park. The committee asked the National Park Service in the hearing and in followup questions about the potential risks to park visitors and employees and they stated that.

> Based on EPA studies, we believe the superfund sites pose minimal health risk to NPS employees and visitors, well within the bounds of acceptability.

The committee supports the prohibition on acquiring contaminated lands contained in the Senate bill and urges the National Park Service to be very careful in its implementation of this policy and in guaranteeing the safety of employees and visitors.

Mr. Speaker, the bill before us would preserve and interpret nationally significant historical resources which illustrate the development of the U.S. copper mining industry from the mid-1980's through the early 1990's. The bill would preserve those structures and sites for the benefit of present and future generations. The bill as passed by the Senate is reasonable in scope and consistent with precedents for park establishment. It has strong bipartisan support and I urge members to support the bill and send it to the President.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, this is a bill that I have worked on personally for over 6 years. I want to thank a lot of people, but I am going to do that for the record.

However, I want to thank Chairman VENTO for his work. A lot of people have worked on this, Laurie Bink on my staff, Senator LEVIN on the Senate side.

I just want to say this is an excellent bill and I am very pleased that we are going to pass it today.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Minnesota (Mr. VENTO) that the House suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill, S. 1664, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

INDIANA DUNES NATIONAL LAKESHORE ACCESS AND ENHANCEMENT ACT

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of the resolution House Resolution 605, which I send to the desk.

The Clerk read the resolution, as follows:

H. RES. 605

Resolved, That upon the adoption of this resolution the bill (H.R. 1216) to modify the boundaries of the Indiana Dunes National Lakeshore, and for other purposes, with the Senate amendment thereto, shall be considered to have been taken from the Speaker's table to the end that the Senate amendment thereto be, and the same is hereby, agreed to with amendments as follows:

Page 1, beginning on line 13, strike out "September 1991, and numbered 62680039–A" and insert in lieu thereof the following: "October 1992, and numbered 626–80,039–C".

Page 2, after line 3, strike out the line in the proposed table relating to the map dated September 1991 and insert the following:

"SEC. 7. UNITS VII–D AND I–M.".

"(b) Before acquiring lands or interests in lands in Unit I–M (as designated on the map referred to in the first section of this Act) the Secretary shall consult with the Commissioner of the Indiana Department of Transportation to determine what lands or interests in lands are required by the State of Indiana for improvements to State Road 49 and reconstruction and relocation of the interchange with State Road 49 and U.S. 20 so that the acquisition by the Secretary of lands or interests in lands in Unit I–M will not interfere with planned improvements to such interchange and State Road 49 in the area.".

Mr. VENTO (during the reading). Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that House Resolution 605 be considered as read and printed in the RECORD.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. BRUCE). Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Minnesota?

There was no objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection, the motion is agreed to.

Mr. DAVIS. Reserving the right to object, Mr. Speaker, I shall not object. I do so for the purpose of having the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. VENTO] explain the motion.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. DAVIS. I yield to the gentleman from Minnesota.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, House Resolution 605 is a resolution to provide for the concurrence by the House with amendments to the amendment of the Senate to H.R. 1216.

H.R. 1216 is a bill introduced by representative PETER VISCLOSKY to expand the boundaries of Indiana Dunes National Lakeshore in order to enhance park resources, improve access and promote efficient management of the lakeshore.

H.R. 1216 originally passed the House on July 15, 1991. The Senate considered the bill on July 29, 1992, and returned the bill to the House with an amendment.

The Senate made several technical changes to the bill as well as deleting three parcels that were included in the bill as passed by the House. The resolution before us would have the House accept all the Senate changes but one. This one change involves route 49 corridor properties. Discussions have been held between the House and Senate sponsors of this legislation and the House amendment today reflects the agreement of these parties on the route 49 corridor matter. Thus, I believe we can complete action on this worthy measure and send the bill quickly to the Senate and then the President for signature. I urge members to support this resolution so we can complete action on this compromise measure to expand the Indiana Dunes National Lakeshore.

Mr. VISCLOSKY. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, further reserving the right to object, I yield to the gentleman from Indiana.

Mr. VISCLOSKY. Mr. Speaker, I simply wish to express my support for the resolution.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation of objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. OBERSTAR].

The motion was agreed to.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

REQUEST FOR CONSIDERATION OF H.R. 6179, WILD AND SCENIC RIVER ACT AMENDMENTS

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Public Works and Transportation be discharged from further consideration of the bill (H.R. 6179) to amend the Wild and Scenic River Act and ask for its immediate consideration in the House.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Minnesota?

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, reserving the right to object, I ask the gentleman from Minnesota for an explanation.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. DAVIS. I yield to the gentleman from Minnesota.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, this is a measure that provides for a study of the Delaware—wild and scenic study of the Delaware River, a bill sent to the Senate. Actually it provides for recreation and scenic designation of parts of the Delaware. This is a study which has been agreed to by the Senate, but, in order to expedite the action of it, we need to take it up at this time because the House will obviously not be in session to respond.

So, Mr. Speaker, it is a study of the Delaware River.

Mr. DANNEMEYER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, under my reservation of objection, I yield to the gentleman from California [Mr. DANNEMEYER].

Mr. DANNEMEYER. Mr. Speaker, I just would like to ask if this is the study of possible wilderness for downtown Minneapolis.

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. DAVIS. I yield to the gentleman from Minnesota.

Mr. VENTO. No, we have other studies that we would like to do in Minneapolis, and specifically of St. Paul. The gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. SABO] probably would not approve of my meddling in Minneapolis.

Mr. DANNEMEYER. I object, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker pro tempore. Objection is heard.

RURAL ELECTRIFICATION ACT OF 1936 AMENDMENTS

Mr. DE LA GARZA. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to take from the Speaker's table the bill (H.R. 5954) to amend the Rural Electrification Act of 1936 to clarify the status of the rural telephone bank and its accounting policies, and for other purposes, with a Senate amendment thereto, and concur in the Senate amendment.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The Clerk read the Senate amendment, as follows:

Senate amendment:

SECTION 1. IMPROVEMENT OF HEALTH CARE SERVICES AND EDUCATIONAL SERVICES THROUGH TELECOMMUNICATIONS.

(a) Programs for Consortia in Qualified Local Exchange Service Areas.—Chapter 1 of subtitle D of title XXIII of the Food, Agriculture, Conservation, and Trade Act of 1990 (7 U.S.C. 950aaa et seq.) is amended by adding at the end the following new section:

"SEC. 2335A. SPECIAL HEALTH CARE AND DISTANCE LEARNING PROGRAM FOR QUALIFIED SERVICE AREAS.

"(a) Development of Consortia.—The Administrator shall encourage the development of consortia to provide health care services or educational services through telecommunications in rural areas of a qualified local exchange carrier service area. Each consortium shall be composed of—

"(1) a tertiary care facility, rural referral center, medical teaching institution, or educational institution accredited by the State;

"(2) any number of institutions that provide health care services or educational services; and

"(3) not less that three rural hospitals, clinics, community health centers, migrant health centers, local health departments, or similar facilities, or not less than three educational institutions accredited by the State.

"(b) Special Program for Qualified Local Exchange Carrier Service Areas.—

"(1) Regulations and special program.—Through regulations issued not later than 190 days after the date of enactment of this section, the Administrator shall establish a program under which qualified consortia described in subsection (a) located within qualified local exchange carrier service areas may apply to the Administrator for grants to support the costs of activities involved in the sending and receiving of information that will improve the delivery of health care services or educational services through telecommunications in rural areas.

"(2) Selection of grantees.—The Administrator shall—

"(A) establish application procedures;

"(B) review the applications submitted under this subsection in a timely manner; and

"(C) make grants in accordance with this subsection and with regulations issued by the Administrator.

"(3) Priorities.—

"(A) In general.—Priority for grants under this subsection shall be accorded applicants whose applications and plans demonstrate—

"(i) the greatest likelihood of successfully and efficiently carrying out the activities described in the application and the plan of the applicant;

"(ii) the greatest likelihood of improving health care services or educational services in the rural areas;

"(iii) coordination between local exchange carriers to carry out activities as described in the application; and

"(iv) unconditional financial support from each affected local community.

"(B) Geographic diversity.—In awarding grants, the Administrator shall seek to achieve geographic diversity among the grantees.

"(4) Maximum amount of grant.—The amount of each grant awarded under this subsection shall not exceed $1,500,000.

"(5) Distribution of grants.—Grants to a qualified consortium under this subsection shall be disbursed over a period of not more than 3 years.

"(6) Use of funds.—

"(A) In general.—Grants under this subsection may be used to support the costs of activities involving the sending and receiving of information to improve health care services or educational services in rural areas, including—

"(i) in the case of grants to improve health care services—

"(I) consultations between health care providers;

"(II) transmitting and analyzing x-rays, lab slides, and other images;

"(III) developing and evaluating automated claims processing, and transmitting automated patient records; and

"(IV) developing innovative health professions education programs;

"(ii) in the case of grants to improve educational service—

"(I) developing innovative education programs and expanding curriculum offerings;

"(II) providing continuing education to all members of the community;

"(III) providing means for libraries of educational institutions or public libraries to share resources;

"(IV) providing the public with access to State and national data bases;

"(V) conducting town meetings; and

"(VI) covering meetings of agencies of State government; and

"(iii) in all cases—

"(I) transmitting financial information; and

"(II) such other related activities as the Administrator considers to be consistent with the purposes of this section.

"(7) Limitation on acquisition of interactive telecommunications equipment.—Not more than 40 percent of the amount of any grant made under this subsection may be used to acquire interactive telecommunications end user equipment.

"(8) Limitation on use of consultants.—Not more than 5 percent of the amount of any grant made under this subsection may be used to employ or contract with any consultant or similar person.

"(9) Prohibitions.—Grants made under this subsection may not be used, in whole or in part, to establish or operate a telecommunications network or to provide any telecommunications services for hire.

"(c) Expedited Telephone Loans.—Local exchange carriers located in a qualified local exchange carrier service area shall be eligible to apply for expedited loans under the Rural Electrification Act of 1936 (7 U.S.C. 901 et seq.). The Administrator shall respond to a completed application for such a loan no later than 45 days after receipt. The Administrator shall notify the applicant in writing of its decision regarding each such application.

"(d) Definition.—As used in this section, the term 'qualified local exchange carrier service area' means the service area of a local telephone exchange carrier in which the local exchange carrier has a plan approved by the Administrator for upgrading and modernizing the rural telecommunications infrastructure of the service area. The plan shall—

"(1) provide for eliminating party line service within the local exchange carrier service area and for other improvements and modernization in rural telephone service;

"(2) provide for the enhancement of the availability of educational opportunities or the availability of improved medical care through telecommunications;

"(3) encourage and improve the use of telecommunications, computer networks, and related advanced technologies to provide educational and medical benefits to people in rural areas; and

"(4) provide for the achievement of the goals described in subparagraphs (A) through (C) not later than 10 years after the approval of the plan.".

(b) Extension of Chapter 1.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, chapter 1 of subtitle D of title XXIII of the Food, Agriculture, Conservation and Trade Act of 1990 (7 U.S.C. 950aaa et seq.), including the amendments made by this section, shall be effective until September 30, 1997.

(c) Allocation of Funds.—Section 2335(b) of the Food, Agriculture, Conservation, and Trade Act of 1990 (7 U.S.C. 950aaa-4) is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(8) Use of appropriated funds.—

"(A) In general.—Subject to subparagraph (B), the Administrator shall make available—

"(i) 50 percent of the funds made available pursuant to paragraph (3) for grants for end users that are consortia participating in the special program established under section 2335A; and

"(ii) 50 percent of the funds made available pursuant to paragraph (3) to provide funds for the programs, and end users participating in the programs, authorized by sections 2331 through 2335.

"(B) Release of funds.—Not earlier than April 1 and not later than May 1 of each year, the Administrator shall make such funds described in subparagraph (A) as remain unobligated, available for any purpose described in subparagraph (A).".

(d) Effect of Amendments.—The amendments made by this section shall not apply to funds appropriated for fiscal year 1993 to carry out subtitle D of title XXIII of the Food, Agriculture, Conservation, and Trade Act of 1990 (7 U.S.C. 950aaa et seq.) or require the revision of any regulation proposed to carry out such subtitle during fiscal year 1993.

Amend the title so as to read: "An Act to amend the Food, Agriculture, Conservation, and Trade Act of 1990 to improve health care services and educational services through telecommunications, and for other purposes.".

Mr. de la GARZA (during the reading). Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate amendment be considered as read and printed in the Record.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Texas?

There was no objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the initial request of the gentleman from Texas?

Mr. GUNDERSON. Mr. Speaker, reserving the right to object, I do so in order that the chairman might explain to the body what this is now, a refined, cut down, slimmed down, cleaned up version is acceptable to both sides.

Mr. DE LA GARZA. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. GUNDERSON. I yield to the gentleman from Texas.

Mr. DE LA GARZA. Mr. Speaker, H.R. 5954 represents a streamlined version of the provisions contained in H.R. 5237, to promote health care and educational services in rural areas through telecommunications.

The House has passed this provision on three previous occasions—by a record vote of 359 to 60 on August 5, 1992, on September 23 as an amendment to S. 1709 on a voice vote, and again on October 4 as H.R. 6124.

Mr. Speaker, rather than establish a new program as envisioned under H.R. 5237, the agreement worked out with the Senate will simply broaden a Rural Electrification Administration program authorized in title 23 of the 1990 Farm Act. The change in H.R. 5954 will allow the Rural Electrification Administration to make grants to help eligible education and medical consortia acquire distance learning and medical link programs.

A grant under this bill may not exceed $1.5 million, which is the same as was in H.R. 5237.

Mr. Speaker, this legislation encourages the use of telecommunications technology to better meet the education and health needs of our rural residents. Our Nation has an obligation to ensure that its rural citizens—particularly those living in more remote areas—have access to quality education and health care services and experts. This legislation will help make that possible.

I want to commend Congressman ENGLISH for his yeoman's work on this issue, and I urge passage of the legislation.

Mr. GUNDERSON. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation of objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the initial request of the gentleman from Texas?

There was no objection.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

AGRICULTURAL ADJUSTMENT ACT OF 1938 AMENDMENTS

Mr. DE LA GARZA. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to take from the Speaker's table the Senate bill (S. 3327) to amend the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938 to permit the acre-for-acre transfer of acreage allotments for certain commodities, and for other purposes, and ask for its immediate consideration in the House.

The Clerk read the title of the Senate bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Texas?

Mr. EMERSON. Mr. Speaker, reserving the right to object, I do not object. I do so to permit the distinguished chairman of the Committee on Agriculture to say whatever he will.

Mr. DE LA GARZA. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. EMERSON. I yield to the gentleman from Texas.

Mr. DE LA GARZA. Mr. Speaker, S. 3327 makes technical changes to section 318 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938 to permit the acre-for-acre transfer of acreage allotments for certain commodities.

Section 318 of the 1938 act provides the terms and conditions for the sale or lease of allotments. The provision has been implemented in a way that the transfers from certain producers have been adjusted downward during the transfer so that the transferee actually receives a smaller allotment than was sold by the producer.

S. 3327 ensures that all such acreage allotment transfers would be done on an acre-for-acre basis. This change will help eliminate the confusion for producers who wish to sell or lease their allotments and will facilitate the smooth transfer of these allotments.

This technical amendment simply provides that producers of different commodities will be subject to consistent rules with respect to the sale or lease of their allotments. Mr. Speaker, I urge passage of H.R. 3227.

Mr. EMERSON. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation of objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Texas?

There was no objection.

The Clerk read the Senate bill, as follows:

S. 3327

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. ACRE-FOR-ACRE TRANSFER OF CERTAIN ACREAGE ALLOTMENTS.

Section 318 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938 (7 U.S.C. 1314d) is amended by striking subsection (e) and inserting the following new subsection:

"(e) The transfer of an allotment or quota under this section shall be approved acre for acre.".

The Senate bill was ordered to be read a third time, was read the third time, and passed, and a motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

INTERNATIONAL NARCOTICS CONTROL ACT OF 1992

Mr. FASCELL. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Foreign Affairs be discharged from further consideration of the bill (H.R. 6187) to amend the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 with respect to international narcotics control programs and activities, and for other purposes.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Florida?

Mr. GILMAN. Mr. Speaker, reserving the right to object, I do not intend to object, but I ask the sponsor of the bill if he would explain the bill to our colleagues.

Mr. FASCELL. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. GILMAN. I yield to the gentleman from Florida.

Mr. FASCELL. Mr. Speaker, the House had adopted this bill in the main back on October 2 and tendered it for Senate action, but because of the present difficulties in the other body and because of the House's impending adjournment, we worked out a text in this bill with the interested Members in the other body, and it represents that kind of agreed upon text. So, we are sending this clean bill with the agreed upon text over to the other body which will obviate any further need to act.

Mr. GILMAN. Further reserving the right to object, Mr. Speaker, let me explain the bill further.

Mr. Speaker, I strongly support H.R. 6187 the International Narcotics Control Act of 1992. Congressman FEIGHAN, the chairman of our task force on International Narcotics Control deserves special credit for making this legislation a reality.

Chairman FEIGHAN, who has unfortunately decided to retire after the 102d Congress, has spent many years fighting international drug traffic. He was the first chairman of the task force from 1983 to 1985. He resumed his position as chairman last year. Throughout his 10 years in Congress, ED FEIGHAN has typified a legislator who cares about policy, about the personnel charged with carrying out policy, and who is willing to listen to and consider all points of view. I know I speak for many in saying that we will miss his leadership on counternarcotics and many other issues.

The House passed H.R. 6018 on September 29. This legislation includes only slight charges and deserves our support.

H.R. 6187 is the product of a joint effort to modify the Foreign Assistance Act to reflect changes in the international struggle against narcotics traffickers. The annual certification process is linked to the 1988 U.N. convention—a globally accepted set of criteria which holds great potential to make the fight against international narcotics traffic a truly multinational battle.

H.R. 6187 also requires increased reporting on money laundering and precursor chemical countries in recognition of their crucial role in the illicit drug traffic. The legislation requires the annual international narcotics control strategy report to discuss the status of the 1988 U.N. convention and narcotics related corruption in all countries which receive U.S. counter narcotics assistance. This modest requirement will help those of us charged with oversight to better evaluate the effectiveness of our antidrug aid.

H.R. 6187 provides flexibilities requested by the administration on issues ranging from aircraft titling to weapons and property acquisition. We have included certain technical provisions to address new or unanticipated situations. Throughout our deliberations, we have been guided by one principle: Whatever our differences with a particular counterdrug policy, there are many dedicated Americans from many agencies working overseas in difficult—and often dangerous—conditions who deserve the best support we can provide. I believe that—under Chairman FEIGHAN's leadership—we have produced legislation which will improve our international drug control efforts and which will receive broad, bipartisan support in Congress.

Mr. BROOMFIELD. Mr. Speaker, H.R. 6187, the International Narcotics Control Act of 1992, is an important bill which will strengthen our overseas counterdrug programs. The Committee on Foreign Affairs has worked on this legislation for almost 2 years.

I would like to commend Chairman FASCELL for his diligent efforts to improve our antidrug capabilities. Congressman ED FEIGHAN, chairman of our Task Force on International Narcotics Control, and Congressman BEN GILMAN, Vice chair of the task force, have worked for many months to bring this legislation to the floor. All of them have spent many hours over the last decade in trying to improve U.S. counternarcotics efforts.

H.R. 6187 is a slight modification of H.R. 6018 which passed the House unanimously on September 29, 1992.

H.R. 6187 is the result of compromise by all parties. I understand the administration does not object to passage of the bill. H.R. 6187 will solve many problems which have arisen in our overseas counternarcotics efforts. Significant flexibility is granted to the administration in a number of areas. H.R. 6187 expands the annual narcotics report—especially in the increasingly important areas of money laundering and precursor chemical traffic—and highlights the U.N. convention in the annual certification process.

I believe this legislation will help provide the tools for all Americans working to lessen the flow of illegal drugs into the United States. I urge my colleagues to support H.R. 6187.

Mr. GILMAN. Accordingly, Mr. Speaker, I urge our colleagues to support the measure, the International Narcotics Control Act of 1992, and I withdraw my reservation of objection.

The Clerk read the bill, as follows:

H.R. 6187

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

Sec. 12. Export-Import Bank financing of sales of defense articles or services.

SEC. 3. AUTHORIZATIONS OF APPROPRIATIONS.

Section 482(a)(1) of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 is amended by striking out "$115,000,000 for fiscal year 1990" and inserting in lieu thereof "$147,783,000 for fiscal year 1993 and $171,500,000 for fiscal year 1994".

SEC. 4. AMENDMENTS RELATING TO CERTAIN AUTHORITIES AND REQUIREMENTS.

(a) POLICY STATEMENT.—Section 481 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 is amended by striking out the section designation and section heading and subsection (a)(1) and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"SEC. 481. POLICY, GENERAL AUTHORITIES, COORDINATION, FOREIGN POLICE ACTIONS, DEFINITIONS, AND OTHER PROVISIONS.

"(a) POLICY AND GENERAL AUTHORITIES.—

"(1) STATEMENTS OF POLICY.—(A) International narcotics trafficking poses an unparalleled transnational threat in today's world, and its suppression is among the most important foreign policy objectives of the United States.

"(B) Under the Single Convention on Narcotic Drugs, 1961, and under the United Nations Convention Against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances, the parties are required to criminalize certain drug-related activities, provide appropriately severe penalties, and cooperate in the extradition of accused offenders.

"(C) International narcotics control programs should include, as priority goals, the suppression of the illicit manufacture of and trafficking in narcotic and psychotropic drugs, money laundering, and precursor chemical diversion, and the progressive elimination of the illicit cultivation of the crops from which narcotic and psychotropic drugs are derived.

"(D) The international community should provide assistance, where appropriate, to those producer and transit countries which require assistance in discharging these primary obligations.

"(E) The objective of the United States in dealing with the problem of international money laundering is to ensure that countries adopt comprehensive domestic measures against money laundering and cooperate with each other in narcotics money laundering investigations, prosecutions, and related forfeiture actions.

"(F) Effective international cooperation is necessary to control the illicit cultivation, production, and smuggling of, trafficking in, and abuse of narcotic and psychotropic drugs.".

(b) AUTHORITY TO CONCLUDE AGREEMENTS.—Section 481(a)(2) of that Act is amended by inserting ", including reciprocal maritime agreements," after "agreements".

(c) COORDINATION OF ALL UNITED STATES ANTINARCOTICS ASSISTANCE TO FOREIGN COUNTRIES.—Section 481(b) of that Act is amended to read as follows:

"(b) COORDINATION OF ALL UNITED STATES ANTINARCOTICS ASSISTANCE TO FOREIGN COUNTRIES.—

"(1) RESPONSIBILITY OF SECRETARY OF STATE.—Consistent with subtitle A of title I of the Anti-Drug Abuse Act of 1988, the Secretary of State shall be responsible for coordinating all assistance provided by the United States Government to support international efforts to combat illicit narcotics production or trafficking.

"(2) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION.—Nothing contained in this subsection or section 489(b) shall be construed to limit or impair the authority or responsibility of any other Federal agency with respect to law enforcement, domestic security operations, or intelligence activities as defined in Executive Order 12333.".

(d) MARITIME LAW ENFORCEMENT IN ARCHIPELAGIC WATERS.—Section 481(c)(4) of that Act is amended by inserting "or archipelagic waters" after "sea".

(e) PROCUREMENT OF WEAPONS AND AMMUNITION.—Section 482(b) of that Act is amended to read as follows:

"(b) PROCUREMENT OF WEAPONS AND AMMUNITION.—

"(1) PROHIBITION.—Except as provided in paragraph (2), funds made available to carry out this chapter shall not be made available for the procurement of weapons or ammunition.

"(2) EXCEPTIONS.—Paragraph (1) shall not apply with respect to funds for the procurement of—

"(A) weapons or ammunition provided only for the defensive arming of aircraft used for narcotics-related purposes, or

"(B) firearms and related ammunition provided only for defensive purposes to employees or contract personnel of the Department of State engaged in activities under this chapter, if, at least 15 days before obligating those funds, the President notifies the appropriate congressional committees in accordance with the procedures applicable to reprogramming notifications under section 634A.".

(f) REQUIREMENTS RELATING TO AIRCRAFT AND OTHER EQUIPMENT.—

(1) RETENTION OF TITLE.—Section 484 of that Act is amended to read as follows:

"SEC. 484. REQUIREMENTS RELATING TO AIRCRAFT AND OTHER EQUIPMENT.

"(a) RETENTION OF TITLE TO AIRCRAFT.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—(A) Except as provided in paragraph (2), any aircraft made available to a foreign country under this chapter, or made available to a foreign country primarily for narcotics-related purposes under any other provision of law, shall be provided only on a lease or loan basis.

"(B) Subparagraph (A) applies to aircraft made available at any time after October 27, 1986 (which was the date of enactment of the International Narcotics Control Act of 1986).

"(2) EXCEPTIONS.—(A) Paragraph (1) shall not apply to the extent that—

"(i) the application of that paragraph with respect to particular aircraft would be contrary to the national interest of the United States; and "(ii) the President notifies the appropriate congressional committees in accordance with the procedures applicable to reprogramming notifications under section 634A.

"(B) Paragraph (1) does not apply with respect to aircraft made available to a foreign country under any provision of law that authorizes property that has been civilly or criminally forfeited to the United States to be made available to foreign countries.

"(3) ASSISTANCE FOR LEASING OF AIRCRAFT.—(A) For purposes of satisfying the requirement of paragraph (1), funds made available for the 'Foreign Military Financing Program' under section 23 of the Arms Export Control Act may be used to finance the leasing of aircraft under chapter 6 of that Act.

"(B) Section 61(a)(3) of that Act shall not apply with respect to leases so financed; rather the entire cost of any such lease (including any renewals) shall be an initial, one time payment of the amount which would be the sales price for the aircraft if they were sold under section 21(a)(1)(B) or section 22 of that Act (as appropriate).

"(C) To the extent that aircraft so leased were acquired under chapter 5 of that Act, funds used pursuant to this paragraph to finance such leases shall be credited to the Special Defense Acquisition Fund under chapter 5 of that Act (excluding the amount of funds that reflects the charges described in section 21(e)(1) of that Act). The funds described in the parenthetical clause of the preceding sentence shall be available for payments consistent with sections 37(a) and 43(b) of that Act.".

(2) PERMISSIBLE USES OF AIRCRAFT AND OTHER EQUIPMENT.—Chapter 8 of part I of that Act is amended—

(A) by striking out the section designation and section heading of section 489;

(B) in subsection (a) of section 489, by striking out "IN GENERAL" and inserting in lieu thereof "PERMISSIBLE USES OF AIRCRAFT AND OTHER EQUIPMENT";

(C) in subsection (b) of section 489 by striking out "subsection (e)" and inserting in lieu thereof "section 489(a)";

(D) by redesignating subsections (a) and (b) of section 489 as subsections (b) and (c) of section 484 and inserting those subsections after subsection (a) of section 484 (as amended by paragraph (1) of this subsection); and

(E) by repealing subsections (c) and (d) of section 489.

(3) RECORDS OF AIRCRAFT USE.—Section 485 of that Act is amended by striking out "Secretary of State" both places it appears and inserting in lieu thereof "President".

(g) ACQUISITION OF REAL PROPERTY; CONSTRUCTION OF FACILITIES.—Section 488 of that Act is amended to read as follows:

"SEC. 488. LIMITATIONS ON ACQUISITION OF REAL PROPERTY AND CONSTRUCTION OF FACILITIES.

"(a) ACQUISITION OF REAL PROPERTY.—

"(1) PROHIBITION.—Funds made available to carry out this chapter may not be used to acquire (by purchase or other means) any land or other real property for use by foreign military, paramilitary, or law enforcement forces.

"(2) EXCEPTION FOR CERTAIN LEASES.—Paragraph (1) shall not apply to the acquisition of real property by lease of a duration not to exceed 2 years.

"(3) REPORT.—The Secretary of State shall provide to the Committee on Foreign Affairs of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Foreign Relations of the Senate within 30 days after the end of each quarter of the fiscal year a detailed report on all leases entered into pursuant to paragraph (2), including the cost and duration of such lease, a description of the property leased, and the purpose for which such lease was entered into.

"(b) CONSTRUCTION OF FACILITIES.—

"(1) LIMITATION.—Funds made available to carry out this chapter may not be used for construction of facilities for use by foreign military, paramilitary, or law enforcement forces unless, at least 15 days before obligating funds for such construction, the President notifies the appropriate congressional committees in accordance with procedures applicable to reprogramming notifications under section 634A.

"(2) EXCEPTION.—Paragraph (1) shall not apply to the construction of facilities which would require the obligation of less than $750,000 under this chapter.".

SEC. 5. ANNUAL REPORTING AND CERTIFICATION REQUIREMENTS.

(a) REVISION OF REQUIREMENTS FOR FISCAL YEARS 1993 AND 1994.—Chapter 8 of part I of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, as amended by the preceding section of this Act, is amended by adding at the end the following:

"SEC. 489. REPORTING REQUIREMENTS FOR FISCAL YEARS 1993 AND 1994.

"(a) INTERNATIONAL NARCOTICS CONTROL STRATEGY REPORT.—Not later than April 1 of each year, the President shall transmit to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and to the Committee on Foreign Relations of the Senate, a report containing the following:

"(1) For each country that received assistance under this chapter for either of the 2 preceding fiscal years, a report on the extent to which the country has—

"(A) met the goals and objectives of the United Nations Convention Against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances, including action on such issues as illicit cultivation, production, distribution, sale, transport, and financing, and money laundering, asset seizure, extradition, mutual legal assistance, law enforcement and transit cooperation, precursor chemical control, and demand reduction;

"(B) accomplished the goals described in an applicable bilateral narcotics agreement with the United States or a multilateral agreement; and

"(C) taken legal and law enforcement measures to prevent and punish public corruption, especially by senior government officials, that facilitates the production, processing, or shipment of narcotic and psychotropic drugs and other controlled substances, or that discourages the investigation or prosecution of such acts.

"(2)(A) A description of the policies adopted, agreements concluded, and programs implemented by the Department of State in pursuit of its delegated responsibilities for international narcotics control, including appropriate information on the status of negotiations between the United States and other countries on updated extradition treaties, mutual legal assistance treaties, precursor chemical controls, money laundering, and agreements pursuant to section 2015 of the International Narcotics Act of 1986 (relating to interdiction procedures for vessels of foreign registry).

"(B) Information on multilateral and bilateral strategies with respect to money laundering pursued by the Department of State, the Department of Justice, the Department of the Treasury, and other relevant United States Government agencies, either collectively or individually, to ensure the cooperation of foreign governments with respect to narcotics-related money laundering and to demonstrate that all United States Government agencies are pursuing a common strategy with respect to major money laundering countries. The report shall include specific detail to demonstrate that all United States Government agencies are pursuing a common strategy with respect to achieving international cooperation against money laundering and are pursuing a common strategy with respect to major money laundering countries, including a summary of United States objectives on a country-by-country basis.

"(3) The identity of those countries which are—

"(A) major illicit drug producing countries or major drug-transit countries as determined under section 490(h);

"(B) the significant direct or indirect sources of narcotics and psychotropic drugs and other controlled substances significantly affecting the United States;

"(C) major sources of precursor chemicals used in the production of illicit narcotics; or

"(D) major money laundering countries.

"(4) In addition, for each country identified pursuant to paragraph (3), the following:

"(A) A description of the plans, programs, and timetables adopted by such country, including efforts to meet the objectives of the United Nations Convention Against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances, and a discussion of the adequacy of the legal and law enforcement measures taken and the accomplishments achieved in accord with those plans.

"(B) Whether as a matter of government policy or practice, such country encourages or facilitates the illicit production or distribution of narcotic or psychotropic drugs or other controlled substances or the laundering of proceeds from illegal drug transactions; and whether any senior official of the government of such country engages in, encourages, or facilitates the illicit production or distribution of such drugs or substances, or the laundering of proceeds from illegal drug transactions.

"(5) In addition, for each country identified pursuant to paragraph (3)(A) or (3)(B), a detailed status report, with such information as can be reliably obtained, on the narcotic or psychotropic drugs or other controlled substances which are being cultivated, produced, or processed in or transported through such country, noting significant changes in conditions, such as increases or decreases in the illicit cultivation and manufacture of and traffic in such drugs and substances.

"(6) In addition, for those countries identified pursuant to paragraph (3)(C)—

"(A) which countries are parties to international agreements on a method for maintaining records of transactions of an established list of precursor and essential chemicals;

"(B) which countries have established a procedure by which such records may be made available to United States law enforcement authorities; and

"(C) which countries have enacted national chemical control legislation which would impose specific recordkeeping and reporting requirements for listed chemicals, establish a system of permits or declarations for imports and exports of listed chemicals, and authorize government officials to seize or suspend shipments of listed chemicals.

"(7) In addition, for those countries identified pursuant to paragraph (3)(D) the following:

"(A)(i) Which countries have financial institutions engaging in currency transactions involving international narcotics trafficking proceeds that include significant amounts of United States currency or currency derived from illegal drug sales in the United States or that otherwise significantly affect the United States;

"(ii) which countries identified pursuant to clause (i) have not reached agreement with the United States authorities on a mechanism for exchanging adequate records in connection with narcotics investigations and proceedings; and

"(iii) which countries identified pursuant to clause (ii)—

"(I) are negotiating in good faith with the United States to establish such a record-exchange mechanism, or

"(II) have adopted laws or regulations that ensure the availability to appropriate United States Government personnel and those of other governments of adequate records in connection with narcotics investigations and proceedings.

"(B) Which countries—

"(i) have ratified the United Nations Convention Against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances and are taking steps to implement that Convention and other applicable agreements and conventions such as the recommendations of the Financial Action Task Force, the policy directive of the European Community, the legislative guidelines of the Organization of American States, and other similar declarations; and

"(ii) have entered into bilateral agreements for the exchange of information on money-laundering with countries other than the United States.

"(C) Findings on each country's adoption of law and regulations considered essential to prevent narcotics-related money laundering. Such findings shall include whether a country has—

"(i) criminalized narcotics money laundering;

"(ii) required banks and other financial institutions to know and record the identity of customers engaging in significant transactions, including the recording of large currency transactions at thresholds appropriate to that country's economic situation;

"(iii) required banks and other financial institutions to maintain, for an adequate time, records necessary to reconstruct significant transactions through financial institutions in order to be able to respond quickly to information requests from appropriate government authorities in narcotics-related money laundering cases;

"(iv) required or allowed financial institutions to report suspicious transactions;

"(v) established systems for identifying, tracing, freezing, seizing, and forfeiting narcotics-related assets;

"(vi) enacted laws for the sharing of seized narcotics assets with other governments;

"(vii) cooperated, when requested, with appropriate law enforcement agencies of other governments investigating financial crimes related to narcotics; and

"(viii) addressed the problem on international transportation of illegal-source currency and monetary instruments.

The report shall also detail instances of refusals to cooperate with foreign governments, and any actions taken by the United States Government and any international organization to address such obstacles, including the imposition of sanctions or penalties.

"(b) Annual Reports on Assistance.—

"(1) In general.—At the time that the report required by subsection (a) is submitted each year, the Secretary of State, in consultation with appropriate United States Government agencies, shall report to the appropriate committees of the Congress on the assistance provided or proposed to be provided by the United States Government during the preceding fiscal year, the current fiscal year, and the next fiscal year to support international efforts to combat illicit narcotics production or trafficking.

"(2) Information to be included.—Each report pursuant to this subsection shall—

"(A) specify the amount and nature of the assistance provided or to be provided;

"(B) include, for each country identified in subsection (a)(3)(A), information from the Drug Enforcement Administration, the Customs Service, and the Coast Guard describing in detail—

"(i) the assistance provided or to be provided to such country by that agency, and

"(ii) the assistance provided or to be provided to that agency by such country, with respect to narcotic control efforts during the preceding fiscal year, the current fiscal year, and the next fiscal year; and

"(C) list all transfers, which were made by the United States Government during the preceding fiscal year, to a foreign country for narcotics control purposes of any property seized by or otherwise forfeited to the United States Government in connection with narcotics-related activity, including an estimate of the fair market value and physical condition of each item of property transferred.

"(c) Definitions.—As used in this section—

"(1) the term 'precursor chemical' has the same meaning as the term 'listed chemical' has under paragraph (33) of section 102 of the Controlled Substances Act (21 U.S.C. 902(33)); and

"(2) the term 'major money laundering country' means a country whose financial institutions engage in currency transactions involving significant amounts of proceeds from international narcotics trafficking.

"(d) Effective Dates of Sections.—This section applies only during fiscal years 1993 and 1994. Section 489A does not apply during those fiscal years.

"SEC. 489A. REPORTING REQUIREMENTS APPLICABLE AFTER SEPTEMBER 30, 1994.

"(a) International Narcotics Control Strategy Report.—

"(1) Requirement for report.—Not later than March 1 of each year, the President shall transmit to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and to the Committee on Foreign Relations of the Senate, a report on United States policy to establish and encourage an international strategy to prevent the illicit cultivation and manufacture of and traffic in narcotic and psychotropic drugs and other controlled substances.

"(2) Contents.—Each report pursuant to this subsection shall include the following:

"(A) A description of the policies adopted, agreements concluded, and programs implemented by the Department of State in pursuit of its delegated responsibilities for international narcotics control, including policy development, bilateral and multilateral funding and other support for international narcotics control projects, representations of the United States Government to international organizations and agencies concerned with narcotics control, training of foreign enforcement personnel, coordination of the international narcotics control activities of United States Government agencies, and technical assistance to international demand reduction programs.

"(B) A description of the activities of the United States in international financial institutions to combat the entry of narcotic and psychotropic drugs and other controlled substances into the United States for the fiscal year just ended, for the current fiscal year, and for the next fiscal year.

"(C) The identity of those countries which are the significant direct or indirect sources of narcotic and psychotropic drugs and other controlled substances significantly affecting the United States. For each such country, each report shall include the following:

"(i) A detailed status report, with such information as can be reliably obtained, on the narcotic or psychotropic drugs or other controlled substances which are being cultivated, produced, or processed in or transported through such country, noting significant changes in conditions, such as increases or decreases in the illicit cultivation and manufacture of and traffic in such drugs and substances.

"(ii) A description of the assistance under this chapter and the other kinds of United States assistance which such country received in the preceding fiscal year, which are planned for such country for the current fiscal year, and which are proposed for such country for the next fiscal year, with an analysis of the impact that the furnishing of each such kind of assistance has had or is expected to have on the illicit cultivation and manufacture of and traffic in narcotic and psychotropic drugs and other controlled substances in such country.

"(iii) A description of the plans, programs, and timetables adopted by such country for the progressive elimination of the illicit cultivation of narcotic and psychotropic drugs and other controlled substances, and a discussion of the adequacy of the legal and law enforcement measures taken and the accomplishments achieved in accord with these plans.

"(iv) A discussion of the extent to which such country has cooperated with United States narcotics control efforts through the extradition or prosecution of drug traffickers, and, where appropriate, a description of the status of negotiations with such country to negotiate a new or updated extradition treaty relating to narcotics offenses.

"(D) For each major illicit drug producing country for which the President is proposing to furnish United States assistance for the next fiscal year, a determination by the President of the maximum reductions in illicit drug production which are achievable during the next fiscal year. Each such determination shall be expressed in numerical terms, such as the number of acres of illicitly cultivated controlled substances which can be eradicated.

"(E) For each major illicit drug producing country which received United States assistance for the preceding fiscal year, the actual reductions in illicit drug production achieved by that country during such fiscal year.

"(F) Specific comments and recommendations by appropriate Federal agencies involved in drug enforcement, including the United States Customs Service and the Drug Enforcement Administration, with respect to the degree to which countries listed in the report have, during the preceding year, cooperated fully with such agencies (as described in section 490A(b)).

"(G) A description of the United States assistance for the preceding fiscal year which was denied, pursuant to section 490 or 490A, to each major illicit drug producing country and each major drug-transit country.

"(b) MIDYEAR REPORT.—Not later than September 1 of each year, the President shall transmit to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and to the Committee on Foreign Relations of the Senate, a complete and detailed midyear report on the activities and operations carried out under this chapter prior to such date. Such midyear report shall include the status of each agreement concluded prior to such date with other countries to carry out this chapter.

"(c) ANNUAL REPORTS ON ASSISTANCE.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—At the time that the report required by subsection (a) is submitted each year, the Secretary of State, in consultation with appropriate United States Government agencies, shall report to the appropriate committees of the Congress on the assistance provided by the United States Government during the preceding fiscal year to support international efforts to combat illicit narcotics production or trafficking.

"(2) INFORMATION TO BE INCLUDED.—Each report pursuant to this subsection shall—

"(A) specify the amount and nature of the assistance provided;

"(B) include, for each country which is a significant direct or indirect source of narcotic and psychotropic drugs and other controlled substances significantly affecting the United States, a section prepared by the Drug Enforcement Administration, a section prepared by the Customs Service, and a section prepared by the Coast Guard, which describes in detail—

"(i) the assistance provided or to be provided (as the case may be) to such country by that agency, and

"(ii) the assistance provided or to be provided (as the case may be) to that agency by such country, with respect to narcotic control efforts during the preceding fiscal year, the current fiscal year, and the next fiscal year; and

"(C) list all transfers, which were made by the United States Government during the preceding fiscal year, to a foreign country for narcotics control purposes of any property seized by or otherwise forfeited to the United States Government in connection with narcotics-related activity, including an estimate of the fair market value and physical condition of each item of property transferred.

"SEC. 490. ANNUAL CERTIFICATION PROCEDURES FOR FISCAL YEARS 1993 AND 1994.

"(a) WITHHOLDING OF BILATERAL ASSISTANCE AND OPPOSITION TO MULTILATERAL DEVELOPMENT ASSISTANCE.—

"(1) BILATERAL ASSISTANCE.—Fifty percent of the United States assistance allocated each fiscal year in the report required by section 653 for each major illicit drug producing country or major drug-transit country (as determined under subsection (h)) shall be withheld from obligation and expenditure, except as provided in subsection (b). This paragraph shall not apply with respect to a country if the President determines that its application to that country would be contrary to the national interest of the United States, except that any such determination shall not take effect until at least 15 days after the President submits written notification of that determination to the appropriate congressional committees in accordance with the procedures applicable to reprogramming notifications under section 634A.

"(2) MULTILATERAL ASSISTANCE.—The Secretary of the Treasury shall instruct the United States Executive Director of each multilateral development bank to vote, on and after April 1 of each year, against any loan or other utilization of the funds of their respective institution to or for any major illicit drug producing country or major drug-transit country (as determined under subsection (h)), except as provided in subsection (b). For purposes of this paragraph, the term 'multilateral development bank' means the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, the International Development Association, the Inter-American Development Bank, the Asian Development Bank, the African Development Bank, and the European Bank for Reconstruction and Development.

"(b) CERTIFICATION PROCEDURES.—

"(1) WHAT MUST BE CERTIFIED.—Subject to subsection (d), the assistance withheld from a country pursuant to subsection (a)(1) may be obligated and expended, and the requirement of subsection (a)(2) to vote against multilateral development bank assistance to a country shall not apply, if the President determines and certifies to the Congress, at the time of the submission of the report required by section 489(a), that—

"(A) during the previous year the country has cooperated fully with the United States, or has taken adequate steps on its own, to achieve full compliance with the goals and objectives established by the United Nations Convention Against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances; or

"(B) for a country that would not otherwise qualify for certification under subparagraph (A), the vital national interests of the United States require that the assistance withheld pursuant to subsection (a)(1) be provided and that the United States not vote against multilateral development bank assistance for that country pursuant to subsection (a)(2).

"(2) CONSIDERATIONS REGARDING COOPERATION.—In making the determination described in paragraph (1)(A), the President shall consider the extent to which the country has—

"(A) met the goals and objectives of the United Nations Convention Against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances, including action on such issues as illicit cultivation, production, distribution, sale, transport and financing, and money laundering, asset seizure, extradition, mutual legal assistance, law enforcement and transit cooperation, precursor chemical control, and demand reduction;

"(B) accomplished the goals described in an applicable bilateral narcotics agreement with the United States or a multilateral agreement; and

"(C) taken legal and law enforcement measures to prevent and punish public corruption, especially by senior government officials, that facilitates the production, processing, or shipment of narcotic and psychotropic drugs and other controlled substances, or that discourages the investigation or prosecution of such acts.

"(3) INFORMATION TO BE INCLUDED IN NATIONAL INTEREST CERTIFICATION.—If the President makes a certification with respect to a country pursuant to paragraph (1)(B), the President shall include in such certification—

"(A) a full and complete description of the vital national interests placed at risk if United States bilateral assistance to that country is terminated pursuant to this section and multilateral development bank assistance is not provided to such country; and

"(B) a statement weighing the risk described in subparagraph (A) against the risks posed to the vital national interests of the United States by the failure of such country to cooperate fully with the United States in combating narcotics or to take adequate steps to combat narcotics on its own.

"(c) LICIT OPIUM PRODUCING COUNTRIES.—The President may make a certification under subsection (b)(1)(A) with respect to a major illicit drug producing country, or major drug-transit country, that is a producer of licit opium only if the President determines that such country has taken adequate steps to prevent significant diversion of its licit cultivation and production into the illicit market, maintains production and stockpiles at levels no higher than those consistent with licit market demand, and prevents illicit cultivation and production.

"(d) CONGRESSIONAL REVIEW.—Subsection (e) shall apply if, within 45 calendar days after receipt of a certification submitted under subsection (b) at the time of submission of the report required by section 489(a), the Congress enacts a joint resolution disapproving the determination of the President contained in such certification.

"(e) DENIAL OF ASSISTANCE FOR COUNTRIES DECERTIFIED.—If the President does not make a certification under subsection (b) with respect to a country or the Congress enacts a joint resolution disapproving such certification, then until such time as the conditions specified in subsection (f) are satisfied—

"(1) funds may not be obligated for United States assistance for that country, and funds previously obligated for United States assistance for that country may not be expended for the purpose of providing assistance for that country; and

"(2) the requirement to vote against multilateral development bank assistance pursuant to subsection (a)(2) shall apply with respect to that country, without regard to the date specified in that subsection.

"(f) RECERTIFICATION.—Subsection (e) shall apply to a country described in that subsection until—

"(1) the President, at the time of submission of the report required by section 489(a), makes a certification under subsection (b)(1)(A) or (b)(1)(B) with respect to that country, and the Congress does not enact a joint resolution under subsection (d) disapproving the determination of the President contained in that certification; or

"(2) the President, at any other time, makes the certification described in subsection (b)(1)(B) with respect to that country, except that this paragraph applies only if either—

"(A) the President also certifies that—

"(i) that country has undergone a fundamental change in government, or

"(ii) there has been a fundamental change in the conditions that were the reason—

"(I) why the President had not made a certification with respect to that country under subsection (b)(1)(A), or

"(II) if he had made such a certification and the Congress enacted a joint resolution disapproving the determination contained in the certification, why the Congress enacted that joint resolution; or

"(B) the Congress enacts a joint resolution approving the determination contained in the certification under subsection (b)(1)(B).

Any certification under subparagraph (A) of paragraph (2) shall discuss the justification for the certification.

"(g) CONGRESSIONAL REVIEW PROCEDURES.—

"(1) SENATE.—Any joint resolution under this section shall be considered in the Senate in accordance with the provisions of section 601(b) of the International Security Assistance and Arms Export Control Act of 1976.

"(2) HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.—For the purpose of expediting the consideration and enactment of joint resolutions under this section, a motion to proceed to the consideration of any such joint resolution after it has been reported by the appropriate committee shall be treated as highly privileged in the House of Representatives.

"(h) DETERMINING MAJOR DRUG-TRANSIT AND MAJOR ILLICIT DRUG PRODUCING COUNTRIES FOR FISCAL YEARS 1993 AND 1994.—Not later than January 1 of each year, the President shall notify the appropriate committees of the Congress of which countries have been determined to be major drug-transit countries, and which countries have been determined to be major illicit drug producing countries, for purposes of this Act.

"(i) EFFECTIVE DATES OF SECTIONS.—This section applies only during fiscal years 1993 and 1994. During those fiscal years, section 490A does not apply and the definitions provided in section 481(e)(2) and (5) do not apply.

"SEC. 490A. ANNUAL CERTIFICATION PROCEDURES AFTER SEPTEMBER 30, 1994.

"(a) WITHHOLDING OF BILATERAL ASSISTANCE AND OPPOSITION TO MULTILATERAL DEVELOPMENT ASSISTANCE.—

"(1) BILATERAL ASSISTANCE.—Fifty percent of the United States assistance allocated each fiscal year in the report required by section 653 for each major illicit drug producing country or major drug-transit country shall be withheld from obligation and expenditure, except as provided in subsection (b).

"(2) MULTILATERAL ASSISTANCE.—The Secretary of the Treasury shall instruct the United States Executive Director of each multilateral development bank to vote, on and after March 1 of each year, against any loan or other utilization of the funds of their respective institution to or for any major illicit drug producing country or major drug-transit country, except as provided in subsection (b). For purposes of this paragraph, the term 'multilateral development bank' means the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, the International Development Association, the Inter-American Development Bank, the Asian Development Bank, the African Development Bank, and the European Bank for Reconstruction and Development.

"(b) CERTIFICATION PROCEDURE.—

"(1) WHAT MUST BE CERTIFIED.—Subject to subsection (d), the assistance withheld from a country pursuant to subsection (a)(1) may be obligated and expended, and the requirement of subsection (a)(2) to vote against multilateral development bank assistance to a country shall not apply, if the President determines and certifies to the Congress, at the time of the submission of the report required by section 489A(a), that—

"(A) during the previous year the country has cooperated fully with the United States, or has taken adequate steps on its own—

"(i) in satisfying the goals agreed to in an applicable bilateral narcotics agreement with the United States (as described in paragraph (2)) or a multilateral agreement which achieves the objectives of paragraph (2),

"(ii) in preventing narcotic and psychotropic drugs and other controlled substances produced or processed, in whole or in part, in such country or transported through such country, from being sold illegally within the jurisdiction of such country to United States Government personnel or their dependents or from being transported, directly or indirectly, into the United States,

"(iii) in preventing and punishing the laundering in that country of drug-related profits or drug-related moneys, and

"(iv) in preventing and punishing bribery and other forms of public corruption which facilitate the production, processing, or shipment of narcotic and psychotropic drugs and other controlled substances, or which discourage the investigation and prosecution of such acts; or

"(B) for a country that would not otherwise qualify for certification under subparagraph (A), the vital national interests of the United States require that the assistance withheld pursuant to subsection (a)(1) be provided and that the United States not vote against multilateral development bank assistance for that country pursuant to subsection (a)(2).

"(2) BILATERAL NARCOTICS AGREEMENT.—A bilateral narcotics agreement referred to in paragraph (1)(A)(i) is an agreement between the United States and a foreign country in which the foreign country agrees to take specific activities, including, where applicable, efforts to—

"(A) reduce drug production, drug consumption, and drug trafficking within its territory, including activities to address illicit crop eradication and crop substitution;

"(B) increase drug interdiction and enforcement;

"(C) increase drug treatment;

"(D) increase the identification of and elimination of illicit drug laboratories;

"(E) increase the identification of, and elimination of trafficking in, essential precursor chemicals for use in the illicit production of narcotic and psychotropic drugs and other controlled substances;

"(F) increase cooperation with United States drug enforcement officials; and

"(G) where applicable, increase participation in extradition treaties, mutual legal assistance provisions directed at money laundering, sharing of evidence, and other initiatives for cooperative drug enforcement.

"(3) REQUIREMENT FOR NARCOTICS AGREEMENT FOR CERTAIN COUNTRIES.—A country which in the previous year was designated as a major illicit drug producing country or a major drug-transit country may not be determined to be cooperating fully under paragraph (1)(A) unless it has in place a bilateral narcotics agreement with the United States or a multilateral agreement which achieves the objectives of paragraph (2).

"(4) INFORMATION TO BE INCLUDED IN CERTIFICATION.—If the President makes a certification with respect to a country pursuant to paragraph (1)(B), the President shall include in such certification—

"(A) a full and complete description of the vital national interests placed at risk if United States bilateral assistance to that country is terminated pursuant to this section and multilateral development bank assistance is not provided to such country; and

"(B) a statement weighing the risk described in subparagraph (A) against the risks posed to the vital national interests of the United States by the failure of such country to cooperate fully with the United States in combating narcotics or to take adequate steps to combat narcotics on its own.

"(5) LICIT OPIUM PRODUCING COUNTRIES.—The President may make a certification under paragraph (1)(A) with respect to a major illicit drug producing country, or major drug-transit country, that is a producer of licit opium only if the President determines that such country has taken adequate steps to prevent significant diversion of its licit cultivation and production into the illicit market, maintains production and stockpiles at levels no higher than those consistent with licit market demand, and prevents illicit cultivation and production.

"(c) MATTERS TO BE CONSIDERED.—In determining whether to make the certification required by subsection (b) with respect to a country, the President shall consider the following:

"(1) Have the actions of the government of that country resulted in the maximum reductions in illicit drug production which were determined to be achievable pursuant to section 489A(a)(2)(D)? In the case of a major illicit drug producing country, the President shall give foremost consideration, in determining whether to make the determination required by subsection (b)(1)(A), to whether the government of that country has taken actions which have resulted in such reductions.

"(2) Has that government taken the legal and law enforcement measures to enforce in its territory, to the maximum extent possible, the elimination of illicit cultivation and the suppression of illicit manufacturing of and trafficking in narcotic and psychotropic drugs and other controlled substances, as evidenced by seizures of such drugs and substances and of illicit laboratories and the arrest and prosecution of violators involved in the traffic in such drugs and substances significantly affecting the United States?

"(3) Has that government taken the legal and law enforcement steps necessary to eliminate, to the maximum extent possible, the laundering in that country of drug-related profits or drug-related moneys, as evidenced by—

"(A) the enactment and enforcement by that government of laws prohibiting such conduct;

"(B) that government entering into, and cooperating under the terms of, mutual legal assistance agreements with the United States governing (but not limited to) money laundering; and

"(C) the degree to which that government otherwise cooperates with United States law enforcement authorities on anti-money laundering efforts?

"(4) Has that government taken the legal and law enforcement steps necessary to eliminate, to the maximum extent possible, bribery and other forms of public corruption which facilitate the illicit production, processing, or shipment of narcotic and psychotropic drugs and other controlled substances, or which discourage the investigation and prosecution of such acts, as evidenced by the enactment and enforcement of laws prohibiting such conduct?

"(5) Has that government, as a matter of government policy or practice, encouraged or facilitated the illicit production or distribution of narcotic and psychotropic drugs and other controlled substances?

"(6) Does any senior official of that government engage in, encourage, or facilitate the illicit production or distribution of narcotic and psychotropic drugs and other controlled substances?

"(7) Has that government investigated aggressively all cases in which any member of an agency of the United States Government engaged in drug enforcement activities has been the victim, since January 1, 1985, of acts or threats of violence, inflicted by or with the complicity of any law enforcement or other officer of such country or any political subdivision thereof, and energetically sought to bring the perpetrators of such offense or offenses to justice?

"(8) Having been requested to do so by the United States Government, does that government fail to provide reasonable cooperation to lawful activities of United States drug enforcement agents, including the refusal of permission to such agents engaged in interdiction of aerial smuggling into the United States to pursue suspected aerial smugglers a reasonable distance into the airspace of the requested country?

"(9) Has that government made necessary changes in legal codes in order to enable law enforcement officials to move more effectively against narcotics traffickers, such as new conspiracy laws and new asset seizure laws?

"(10) Has that government expeditiously processed United States extradition requests relating to narcotics trafficking?

"(11) Has that government refused to protect or give haven to any known drug traffickers, and has it expeditiously processed extradition requests relating to narcotics trafficking made by other countries?

"(d) CONGRESSIONAL REVIEW.—Subsection (e) shall apply if, within 45 days of continuous session (within the meaning of section 601(b)(1) of the International Security Assistance and Arms Export Control Act of 1976) after receipt of a certification under subsection (b), the Congress enacts a joint resolution disapproving the determination of the President contained in such certification.

"(e) DENIAL OF ASSISTANCE FOR COUNTRIES DECERTIFIED.—If the President does not make a certification under subsection (b) with respect to a country or the Congress enacts a joint resolution disapproving such certification, then until such time as the conditions specified in subsection (f)(1) are satisfied—

"(1) funds may not be obligated for United States assistance for that country, and funds previously obligated for United States assistance for that country may not be expended for the purpose of providing assistance for that country; and

"(2) the requirement to vote against multilateral development bank assistance pursuant to subsection (a)(2) shall apply with respect to that country, without regard to the date specified in that subsection.

"(f) RECERTIFICATION.—

"(1) TIME OF RECERTIFICATION; CONGRESSIONAL ACTION.—Subsection (e) shall apply to a country described in that subsection until—

"(A) the President makes a certification under subsection (b) with respect to that country, and the Congress does not enact a joint resolution under subsection (d) disapproving the determination of the President contained in that certification; or

"(B) the President submits, at any other time, a certification described in subparagraph (A) or (B) of subsection (b)(1) with respect to such country, and the Congress enacts a joint resolution approving the determination of the President contained in that certification.

"(2) CONGRESSIONAL REVIEW PROCEDURES.—(A) Any joint resolution under this section shall be considered in the Senate in accordance with the provisions of section 601(b) of the International Security Assistance and Arms Export Control Act of 1976.

"(B) For the purpose of expediting the consideration and enactment of joint resolutions under this section, a motion to proceed to the consideration of any such joint resolution after it has been reported by the appropriate committee shall be treated as highly privileged in the House of Representatives.

"(g) DETERMINING MAJOR DRUG-TRANSIT AND MAJOR ILLICIT DRUG PRODUCING COUNTRIES AFTER SEPTEMBER 30, 1994.—

"(1) ESTABLISHMENT OF GUIDELINES.—For each calendar year, the Secretary of State, after consultation with the appropriate committees of the Congress, shall establish numerical standards and other guidelines for determining which countries will be considered to be major drug-transit countries under subparagraphs (A) and (B) of section 481(e)(5).

"(2) NOTICE TO CONGRESS OF PRELIMINARY STANDARDS.—Not later than September 1 of each year, the Secretary of State shall make a preliminary determination of the numerical standards and other guidelines to be used pursuant to paragraph (1) with respect to that year and shall notify the appropriate committees of the Congress of those standards and guidelines.

"(3) NOTICE TO CONGRESS OF PRELIMINARY DETERMINATIONS.—Not later than October 1 of each year, the Secretary of State shall notify the appropriate committees of the Congress of—

"(A) which countries have been determined to be major drug-transit countries for that year under the numerical standards and other guidelines developed pursuant to this subsection; and

"(B) which countries have been determined to be major illicit drug producing countries for that year.".

(b) DEFINITION OF UNITED STATES ASSISTANCE.—Paragraph (4) of section 481(i) of that Act is amended to read as follows:

"(4) the term 'United States assistance' means—

"(A) any assistance under this Act (including programs under title IV of chapter 2, relating to the Overseas Private Investment Corporation), other than—

"(i) assistance under this chapter,

"(ii) any other narcotics-related assistance under this part (including chapter 4 of part II), but any such assistance provided under this clause shall be subject to the prior notification procedures applicable to reprogrammings pursuant to section 634A of this Act,

"(iii) disaster relief assistance, including any assistance under chapter 9 of this part,

"(iv) assistance which involves the provision of food (including monetization of food) or medicine, and

"(v) assistance for refugees;

"(B) sales, or financing on any terms, under the Arms Export Control Act;

"(C) the provision of agricultural commodities, other than food, under the Agricultural Trade Development and Assistance Act of 1954; and

"(D) financing under the Export-Import Bank Act of 1945;".

SEC. 6. TECHNICAL, CONFORMING, AND OTHER AMENDMENTS; REPEAL OF OBSOLETE PROVISIONS.

(a) STATUTORY REFERENCES TO ANNUAL REPORTS, CERTIFICATIONS, AND DEFINITIONS.—After September 30, 1994, any reference in any provision of law to section 489 or 490 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 shall be deemed to be a reference to the corresponding provision of section 489A or 490A, respectively, unless the context requires otherwise. Any reference in any provision of law enacted before the date of enactment of this Act to section 481(e) or section 481(i) of that Act shall be deemed to be a reference to section 489 or section 481(e) (as amended by subsection (b)(3) of this section), respectively; and any reference in any provision of law enacted before the date of enactment of this Act to section 481(h) of that Act shall be deemed, as of October 1, 1992, to be a reference to section 490.

(b) TECHNICAL AND CONFORMING AMENDMENTS TO FOREIGN ASSISTANCE ACT.—Chapter 8 of part I of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 is amended as follows:

(1) Section 481(d)(3) is amended by striking out "subsection (e)" and inserting in lieu thereof "section 489(a)".

(2) Subsections (e), (f), (g), (h), (j), and (k) of section 481 are repealed.

(3) Subsection (i) of section 481 is amended by striking out "(i) As used in this section—" and inserting in lieu thereof "(e) DEFINITIONS.—Except as provided in sections 490(h) and (i) with respect to the definition of major illicit drug producing country and major drug-transit country, for purposes of this chapter and other provisions of this Act relating specifically to international narcotics matters—".

(4) Subsection (c) of section 482 is repealed, and subsection (d) of that section is redesignated as subsection (c).

(5) Section 486 is amended—

(A) in subsection (a), in the text preceding paragraph (1), by striking out "481(h)" and inserting in lieu thereof "490"; and

(B) in subsection (b), by striking out "(relating to foreign military sales financing)" and inserting in lieu thereof "(relating to the 'Foreign Military Financing Program')".

(6) Section 487(a)(1) is amended by striking out "(as defined in section 481(i)(3) of this Act)".

(c) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS TO EXPORT-IMPORT BANK ACT.—Section 2(b)(6) of the Export-Import Bank Act of 1945 is amended—

(1) in subparagraph (B)(iii), by striking out "481(h)(5)" and inserting in lieu thereof "490(e)"; and

(2) in subparagraph (C)(ii), by striking out "defined in section 481(i)" and inserting in lieu thereof "determined under section 490(h) or 481(e), as appropriate,".

(d) AMENDMENT TO 1989 DRUG ACT.—Section 3 of the International Narcotics Control Act of 1989 is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(j) CERTAIN FUNDING LIMITATIONS.—The dollar limitations specified in subsections (c)(1) and (d)(1) shall not apply after the date of enactment of this subsection.".

(e) REPEAL OF OBSOLETE PROVISIONS.—

(1) 1988 DRUG ACT.—All sections of the International Narcotics Control Act of 1988 (which is title IV of the Anti-Drug Abuse Act of 1988) are repealed except for sections 4001, 4306, 4308, 4309, 4501, 4702, and 4804. Section 4501(b) of that Act is amended by striking out "Section 4601 of this title" and inserting in lieu thereof "Section 489(b) of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961".

(2) 1986 DRUG ACT.—All sections of the International Narcotics Control Act of 1986 (which is title II of the Anti-Drug Abuse Act of 1986) are repealed except for sections 2001, 2010, 2015, 2018, and 2029.

SEC. 7. EXEMPTION OF NARCOTICS-RELATED MILITARY ASSISTANCE FOR FISCAL YEARS 1993 AND 1994 FROM PROHIBITION ON ASSISTANCE FOR LAW ENFORCEMENT AGENCIES.

(a) EXEMPTION.—For fiscal years 1993 and 1994, section 660 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 shall not apply with respect to—

(1) transfers of excess defense articles under section 517 of that Act;

(2) funds made available for the "Foreign Military Financing Program" under section 23 of the Arms Export Control Act that are used for assistance provided for narcotics-related purposes; or

(3) international military education and training under chapter 5 of part II of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 that is provided for narcotics-related purposes.

(b) NOTIFICATION TO CONGRESS.—At least 15 days before any transfer under subsection (a)(1) or any obligation of funds under subsection (a)(2) or (a)(3), the President shall notify the appropriate congressional committees in accordance with the procedures applicable to reprogramming notifications under section 634A of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961.

(c) COORDINATION WITH INTERNATIONAL NARCOTICS CONTROL ASSISTANCE PROGRAM.—Assistance provided pursuant to this section shall be coordinated with international narcotics control assistance under chapter 8 of part I of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961.

SEC. 8. WAIVER OF RESTRICTIONS FOR NARCOTICS-RELATED ECONOMIC ASSISTANCE.

For fiscal years 1992 through 1994, narcotics-related assistance under part I of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 may be provided notwithstanding any provision of law that restricts assistance to foreign countries (other than section 490(e) of that Act) if, at least 15 days before obligating funds for such assistance, the President notifies the appropriate congressional committees in accordance with the procedures applicable to reprogramming notifications under section 634A of that Act.

SEC. 9. TRANSFERS OF EXCESS DEFENSE ARTICLES FOR COUNTERNARCOTICS PURPOSES.

(a) CHANGES IN AUTHORITIES.—Section 517 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 is amended—

(1) in the section heading, by striking out "MILITARY CAPABILITIES OF CERTAIN MAJOR ILLICIT DRUG PRODUCING" and inserting in lieu thereof "COUNTERNARCOTICS CAPABILITIES OF CERTAIN";

(2) in subsection (a)(1), by striking out "(as defined in section 481(i)(2))" and inserting in lieu thereof "or a major drug-transit country";

(3) in subsection (b)—

(A) by inserting "and local law enforcement agencies" after "military forces";

(B) by striking out "with local law enforcement agencies" and inserting in lieu thereof "cooperatively"; and

(C) by striking out "(as defined in section 481(i)(3))";

(4) in subsection (d), by striking out "4601 of the International Narcotics Control Act of 1988" and inserting in lieu thereof "481(b) of this Act";

(5) in subsection (i), by striking out "30" and inserting in lieu thereof "15"; and

(6) by adding at the end the following:

"(j) LIMITATION ON USE OF OTHER AUTHORITIES TO TRANSFER EXCESS DEFENSE ARTICLES.—The transfer authority provided in sections 518 and 519 may not be exercised with respect to any major illicit drug producing country or major drug-transit country in Latin America or the Caribbean.

"(k) EXCESS COAST GUARD PROPERTY.—As used in this section, the term 'excess defense articles' shall be deemed to include excess property of the Coast Guard, and the term 'Department of Defense' shall be deemed, with respect to such excess property, to include the Coast Guard.".

(b) EXCLUSION OF CONSTRUCTION EQUIPMENT FROM DEFINITION OF EXCESS DEFENSE ARTICLES.—Section 644(g) of that Act is amended by inserting "(other than construction equipment, including tractors, scrapers, loaders, graders, bulldozers, dump trucks, generators, and compressors)" after "articles" the second place it appears.

SEC. 10. PARTICIPANTS IN INTERNATIONAL MILITARY EDUCATION AND TRAINING PROGRAMS.

Section 541 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 is amended—

(1) by inserting ", and may also include legislators," after "ministries of defense"; and

(2) by striking out "or (iii)" and inserting in lieu thereof "(iii) contribute to cooperation between military and law enforcement personnel with respect to counternarcotics law enforcement efforts, or (iv)".

SEC. 11. DEFINITION OF APPROPRIATE CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEES.

(a) FOREIGN ASSISTANCE ACT AMENDMENTS.—Section 481(e) of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, as amended by the preceding provisions of this Act, is amended—

(1) by striking out the period at the end of paragraph (5) and inserting in lieu thereof "; and"; and

(2) after paragraph (5) insert the following:

"(6) the term 'appropriate congressional committees' means the Committee on Foreign Affairs and the Committee on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Foreign Relations and the Committee on Appropriations of the Senate.".

(b) FREE-STANDING PROVISIONS OF THIS ACT.—As used in this Act, the term "appropriate congressional committees" has the definition given that term by section 481(e)(6) of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (as added by subsection (a) of this section).

SEC. 12. EXPORT-IMPORT BANK FINANCING OF SALES OF DEFENSE ARTICLES OR SERVICES.

(a) EXTENSION OF AUTHORITY.—Section 2(b)(6) of the Export-Import Bank Act of 1945 is amended by striking out "1992" in subparagraph (B)(vi) and inserting in lieu thereof "1997".

(b) ADDITIONAL CRITERIA FOR NATIONAL INTEREST WAIVER.—Section 2(b)(6)(D)(i) of that Act is amended by striking out "and" at the end of subclause (I), by redesignating subclause (II) as subclause (III), and by inserting after subclause (I) the following:

"(II) the President determines, after consultation with the Assistant Secretary of State for Human Rights and Humanitarian Affairs, that the purchasing country has complied with all restrictions imposed by the United States on the end use of any defense articles or services for which a guarantee or insurance was provided under subparagraph (B), and has not used any such defense articles or services to engage in a consistent pattern of gross violations of internationally recognized human rights; and".

(c) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—

(1) EXPORT-IMPORT BANK ACT.—Section 2(b)(6) of that Act is amended—

(A) in subparagraph (A), by striking out "designated" and all that follows through the end of the subparagraph and inserting in lieu thereof ", except as otherwise provided in subparagraph (B).";

(B) in subparagraph (B)—

(i) by striking out ", and section 32 of the Arms Export Control Act,"; and

(ii) in clause (v), by striking out "and services" and inserting in lieu thereof "or services";

(C) in subparagraph (D)(i)(III), as so redesignated by subsection (b) of this section, by striking out "determination has" and inserting in lieu thereof "determinations have"; and

(D) in subparagraph (D)(ii), by striking out "sentence" and inserting in lieu thereof "clause".

(2) ARMS EXPORT CONTROL ACT.—The Arms Export Control Act is amended by repealing section 32.

(d) AVOIDANCE OF DUPLICATIVE AMENDMENTS.—If an Act is enacted during 1992 entitled "An Act to reauthorize the Export-Import Bank of the United States" that contains amendments identical to amendments made by this section, the amendments contained in this section that are identical to the amendments contained in that Act shall not be effective.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed and read a third time, was read the third time, and passed, and a motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. BRUCE). The Chair will entertain 1-minute speeches.

TRIBUTE TO HON. WILLIAM E. DANNEMEYER

(Mr. BARTON of Texas asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. BARTON of Texas. Mr. Speaker, since we are at a lull here, I think it would be in order to say some kind words about our good friend from California, Congressman BILL DANNEMEYER, who has steadfastly fought the good fight for the conservative cause. I am not sure who is going to bring up the gold standard in the next Congress. I am not sure who is going to do the Subcommittee on Health of the Committee on Energy and Commerce and cause our subcommittee chairman, the honorable gentleman from California [Mr. WAXMAN], to lose a little bit more of his hair than he already has.

We are obviously on our side going to sincerely miss BILL DANNEMEYER, and I have a sneaky suspicion that our friends on the Democrat side will miss him, too.

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman will yield, I would just like to reiterate what the gentleman from Texas [Mr. BARTON] has said.

BILL DANNEMEYER came with me in the freshman class in 1978. I have watched his voting record for 14 years. Do you know the telling thing about his voting record? If everybody in this Congress had voted like BILL DANNEMEYER for these last 14 years, there would be no annual deficit. As a matter of fact, there would be no deficit at all.

Mr. Speaker, can you think how this economy would be roaring now if we had all voted like BILL DANNEMEYER?

BILL DANNEMEYER, God bless you.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I too want to echo what the gentleman from Texas [Mr. BARTON] has said and what the gentleman from New York [Mr. SOLOMON] has said. There are very few times you get people who truly serve with courage in the House of Representatives, someone who casts their vote based upon conscience, and BILL DANNEMEYER has certainly done that on a regular basis. He will be truly missed by those of us who have been his friend, who have been his political ally.

Mr. Speaker, I have a sneaky suspicion, like the gentleman from Texas [Mr. BARTON], that even the other side is going to miss his ability to articulate his conservative positions on the floor.

Mr. GILMAN. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman will yield, I too want to join in paying tribute to BILL DANNEMEYER. While we may not have agreed on many issues, BILL DANNEMEYER certainly did his homework and reminds us all of some very important concerns for our Nation.

We wish BILL good health and happiness in the days ahead.

Mr. MICHEL. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman will yield, let me echo the sentiments of the gentleman from New York [Mr. SOLOMON] with respect to our friend from California, BILL DANNEMEYER.

In our side, mired in the minority as we have been for, lo, these 38 years, we have had some of our official objectors and conscience folks around here for a number of years, people dating back to the days of H.R. Gross, Dr. Hall, and, yes, BOB WALKER serves in that role.

On any number of issues, BILL DANNEMEYER, on the very important Committee on Commerce, where there are so many goodies to be ladled out and so many concerns to be met, has been the conscience of the House and that committee on many, many occasions.

Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has made his mark here in Congress, and, BILL, we are going to miss you and obviously wish for you and your wife all the best after you leave this body. I am sure it will not be the end of things for you. You will be just as active in your home State of California.

We do wish you well.

TRIBUTE TO COMMITTEE AND LEADERSHIP STAFF

(Mr. DE LA GARZA asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. DE LA GARZA. Mr. Speaker, I wish to express, I think in behalf of all of us I am sure, our appreciation to all of the staff from all of the committees. Throughout the night we saw them working, standing behind their Members, and the staff from the leadership on both sides of the aisle, the Speaker, the majority leader.

The work gets done here, but there is an imprint left by those that work behind those of us that are the elected Members of this House and the appreciation and admiration for the great work they do.

So I would like to thank all of the staff from all of the committees and the leadership on both sides for their cooperation, their patience, in allowing us to do our duty as efficiently as we can with their help.

Thank you and bless you.

CONTINUING BANKING CRISIS DEMANDS ACTION

(Mr. VENTO asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I want to just sound a serious note of concern. As we wind up this session and leave, the morning's national press is carrying stories about the health of the banks in our country. They are pointing out in some detail what has been recognized and not thought out in public policy terms, and that is the continuing problem with the financial institutions of this country. In fact, the estimates this morning are that there are nearly 1,000 banks that will fail at a cost of $30 to $90 billion. In addition to that, the CBO has repeatedly indicated that there are anywhere from 500 to 700 savings and loans that are still experiencing difficulty.

Mr. Speaker, I raise that point today, again, and I think most of the Members are very concerned about this serious problem. We might hope for the best, but I think we ought to be pragmatic and realistic about the consequence of what is probable, and when we are back in session in 1993, those of us who may be reelected, we will have a serious problem to face yet again concerning banks and the S&L's.

Mr. Speaker, recently, taking testimony before the Committee on Banking, Finance and Urban Affairs with regard to the savings and loans, we found that nearly 1,000 savings and loans earn less than 2 percent on equity. Nobody is going to invest in those institutions and risk their investment for a 2-percent return.

I just raise these questions today, again, because I do not think it has received the type of media attention it deserves. The Bush administration, just like the Reagan administration, is in a state of denial as to the breadth of the problem.

We talk often about the shortcomings of financial institutions. We talk about the credit crunch. But the Bush administration regulators keep stating the problem is over, the crisis resolved. Such statements are election-year politics and bad policy. We really have to look very closely at bank and S&L assets.

Mr. Speaker, I would point out that while we talk often about shortcomings with the yield curve going down and the discount rate at 3 percent, this masks over significant problems that U.S. financial institutions are experiencing today. I fear that as the yield curve goes back up, the discount rate rises, we are going to witness banks and S&L's hitting a wall and suddenly the crisis so long denied will be upon the Nation.

Mr. Speaker, I hope we are all prepared and are thinking about this dilemma and planning our policy path fiscally and monetarily in the year ahead as we are addressing issues on the campaign trail in the month ahead. Surely, one reason the public is so concerned with Washington is that important issues and problems are not discussed until the crisis hits and panic and blame seem to be substituted for sound action.

TRIBUTE TO MEMBERS OF CONGRESS AND CONGRESSIONAL STAFF

(Mr. ALEXANDER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, for 24 years I have enjoyed the signal honor of representing the caring, hardworking, good people of the First Congressional District of Arkansas. Being their Representative in Congress has been a high personal honor while also meaningful and rewarding to me.

I want to take this time to thank all of the Members of Congress that I have served with over these years that have helped me create jobs in my district, provide more markets for our farmers and manufacturers, and to improve the quality of life of the people of north, northeast, and eastern Arkansas.

At no other time in my life have I been associated with so many talented people that have been committed to the causes that they represent. To all of you I owe a debt of gratitude.

I would like to also say thanks to my loyal and dedicated staff. The economic and social progress that we have made over two decades bridges the Old South and the new world order. The lives of our constituents are better because of you. Each of you has made a real difference to make the world a little better.

The staffs in Arkansas and in Washington have labored long and hard on weekends and holidays to set a standard of public service in Arkansas that is unmatched. To all of those who have served in recent and former years, thank you for being the best.

This tribute is incomplete if I fail to notice and say thanks to the staff in Congress. Nowhere do people work harder than they do as members of staffs in the Congress.

☐ 1050

Whether it is committee staff, congressional office staff, pages, those who man the cloakrooms, the Capitol Police, the waitresses and waiters in the House restaurant, the servers in the cafeteria, all deserve a word of gratitude.

We are blessed to serve a nation that has such a high degree of individual freedom, where people can express themselves openly by free speech, a free press, free elections to elect those who represent us in the U.S. House of Representatives.

I will conclude by paraphrasing the legendary former Speaker, Sam Rayburn. His thoughts and his words live here today.

The House of Representatives is a house of hope, where men and women from the farm and from the factory, from small towns and from cities, of all races, colors, and creeds, brown, black, white, and yellow, come to Washington in order to make life better for the people they represent. May Mr. Sam's dream continue to live in this House forever.

CANCER REGISTRIES AMENDMENT ACT

Mr. WAXMAN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to take from the Speaker's table the Senate bill (S. 3312) entitled "Cancer Registries Amendment Act," and ask for its immediate consideration.

The Clerk read the title of the Senate bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. BRUCE). Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?

Mr. DANNEMEYER. Mr. Speaker, reserving the right to object, I yield to the gentleman from California [Mr. WAXMAN] to explain how this matter will be handled.

Mr. WAXMAN. Mr. Speaker, this legislation is important in improving survival rates for Americans with cancer. It is a new step in understanding the nature and epidemiology of this disease. I believe all Members can be proud to support it.

I will, if there is no objection to taking up this legislation, have an amendment at the desk which will assure that no additional appropriation will be required for this implementation.

Mr. DANNEMEYER. Mr. Speaker, further reserving the right to object, it is my understanding that the amendment which the gentleman from California will offer to this legislation will have the result of funding this new authorization from existing appropriations, which means there will be no additional money appropriated for this purpose; is that right?

Mr. WAXMAN. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman will continue to yield, the gentleman is correct in the sense that we will allow the Secretary to fund this initiative without additional appropriations.

Mr. DANNEMEYER. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?

There was no objection.

The Clerk read the Senate bill, as follows:

S. 3312

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Cancer Registries Amendment Act".

SEC. 2. FINDINGS AND PURPOSE.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds that—

(1) cancer control efforts, including prevention and early detection, are best addressed locally by State health departments that can identify unique needs;

(2) cancer control programs and existing statewide population-based cancer registries have identified cancer incidence and cancer mortality rates that indicate the burden of cancer for Americans is substantial and varies widely by geographic location and by ethnicity;

(3) statewide cancer incidence and cancer mortality data, can be used to identify cancer trends, patterns, and variation for directing cancer control intervention;

(4) the American Association of Central Cancer Registries (AACCR) cites that of the 50 States, approximately 38 have established cancer registries, many are not statewide and 10 have no cancer registry; and

(5) AACCR also cites that of the 50 States, 39 collect data on less than 100 percent of their population, and less than half have adequate resources for insuring minimum standards for quality and for completeness of case information.

(b) PURPOSE.—It is the purpose of this Act to establish a national program of cancer registries.

SEC. 3. NATIONAL PROGRAM OF CANCER REGISTRIES.

Title III of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 241 et seq.) is amended by adding at the end the following new part:

"PART M—NATIONAL PROGRAM OF CANCER REGISTRIES

"SEC. 399H. NATIONAL PROGRAM OF CANCER REGISTRIES.

"(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary, acting through the Director of the Centers for Disease Control, may make grants to States, or may make grants or enter into contracts with academic or nonprofit organizations designated by the State to operate the State's cancer registry in lieu of making a grant directly to the State, to support the operation of population-based, statewide cancer registries in order to collect, for each form of in-situ and invasive cancer (with the exception of basal cell and squamous cell carcinoma of the skin), data concerning—

"(1) demographic information about each case of cancer;

"(2) information on the industrial or occupational history of the individuals with the cancers, to the extent such information is available from the same record;

"(3) administrative information, including date of diagnosis and source of information;

"(4) pathological data characterizing the cancer, including the cancer site, stage of disease (pursuant to Staging Guide), incidence, and type of treatment; and

"(5) other elements determined appropriate by the Secretary.

"(b) MATCHING FUNDS.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary may make a grant under subsection (a) only if the State, or the academic or nonprofit private organization designated by the State to operate the cancer registry of the State, involved agrees, with respect to the costs of the program, to make available (directly or through donations from public or private entities) non-Federal contributions toward such costs in an amount that is not less than 25 percent of such costs or $1 for every $3 of Federal funds provided in the grant.

"(2) DETERMINATION OF AMOUNT OF NON-FEDERAL CONTRIBUTION; MAINTENANCE OF EFFORT.—

"(A) Non-Federal contributions required in paragraph (1) may be in cash or in kind, fairly evaluated, including plant, equipment, or services. Amounts provided by the Federal Government, or services assisted or subsidized to any significant extent by the Federal Government, may not be included in determining the amount of such non-Federal contributions.

"(B) With respect to a State in which the purpose described in subsection (a) is to be carried out, the Secretary, in making a determination of the amount of non-Federal contributions provided under paragraph (1), may include only such contributions as are in excess of the amount of such contributions made by the State toward the collection of data on cancer for the fiscal year preceding the first year for which a grant under subsection (a) is made with respect to the State. The Secretary may decrease the amount of non-Federal contributions that otherwise would have been required by this subsection in those cases in which the State can demonstrate that decreasing such amount is appropriate because of financial hardship.

"(c) ELIGIBILITY FOR GRANTS.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—No grant shall be made by the Secretary under subsection (a) unless an application has been submitted to, and approved by, the Secretary. Such application shall be in such form, submitted in such a manner, and be accompanied by such information, as the Secretary may specify. No such application may be approved unless it contains assurances that the applicant will use the funds provided only for the purposes specified in the approved application and in accordance with the requirements of this section, that the application will establish such fiscal control and fund accounting procedures as may be necessary to assure proper disbursement and accounting of Federal funds paid to the applicant under subsection (a) of this section, and that the applicant will comply with the peer review requirements under sections 491 and 492.

"(2) ASSURANCES.—Each applicant, prior to receiving Federal funds under subsection (a), shall provide assurances satisfactory to the Secretary that the applicant will—

"(A) provide for the establishment of a registry in accordance with subsection (a);

"(B) comply with appropriate standards of completeness, timeliness, and quality of population-based cancer registry data;

"(C) provide for the annual publication of reports of cancer data under subsection (a); and

"(D) provide for the authorization under State law of the statewide cancer registry, including promulgation of regulations providing—

"(i) a means to assure complete reporting of cancer cases (as described in subsection (a)) to the statewide cancer registry by hospitals or other facilities providing screening, diagnostic or therapeutic services to patients with respect to cancer;

"(ii) a means to assure the complete reporting of cancer cases (as defined in subsection (a)) to the statewide cancer registry by physicians, surgeons, and all other health care practitioners diagnosing or providing treatment for cancer patients, except for cases directly referred to or previously admitted to a hospital or other facility providing screening, diagnostic or therapeutic services to patients in that State and reported by those facilities;

"(iii) a means for the statewide cancer registry to access all records of physicians and surgeons, hospitals, outpatient clinics, nursing homes, and all other facilities, individuals, or agencies providing such services to patients which would identify cases of cancer or would establish characteristics of the cancer, treatment of the cancer, or medical status of any identified patient;

"(iv) for the reporting of cancer case data to the statewide cancer registry in such a format, with such data elements, and in accordance with such standards of quality timeliness and completeness, as may be established by the Secretary;

"(v) for the protection of the confidentiality of all cancer case data reported to the statewide cancer registry, including a prohibition on disclosure to any person of information reported to the statewide cancer registry that identifies, or could lead to the identification of, an individual cancer patient, except for disclosure to other State cancer registries and local and State health officers;

"(vi) for a means by which confidential case data may in accordance with State law be disclosed to cancer researchers for the purposes of cancer prevention, control and research;

"(vii) for the authorization or the conduct, by the statewide cancer registry or other persons and organizations, of studies utilizing statewide cancer registry data, including studies of the sources and causes of cancer, evaluations of the cost, quality, efficacy, and appropriateness of diagnostic, therapeutic, rehabilitative, and preventative services and programs relating to cancer, and any other clinical, epidemiological, or other cancer research; and

"(viii) for protection for individuals complying with the law, including provisions specifying that no person shall be held liable in any civil action with respect to a cancer case report provided to the statewide cancer registry, or with respect to access to cancer case information provided to the statewide cancer registry.

"(d) RELATIONSHIP TO CERTAIN PROGRAMS.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—This section may not be construed to act as a replacement for or diminishment of the program carried out by the Director of the National Cancer Institute and designated by such Director as the Surveillance, Epidemiology, and End Results Program (SEER).

"(2) SUPPLANTING OF ACTIVITIES.—In areas where both such programs exist, the Secretary shall ensure that SEER support is not supplanted and that any additional activities are consistent with the guidelines provided for in subsection (c)(2)(C) and (D) and are appropriately coordinated with the existing SEER program.

"(3) TRANSFER OF RESPONSIBILITY.—The Secretary may not transfer administration responsibility for such SEER program from such Director.

"(4) COORDINATION.—To encourage the greatest possible efficiency and effectiveness of Federally supported efforts with respect to the activities described in this subsection, the Secretary shall take steps to assure the appropriate coordination of programs supported under this part with existing Federally supported cancer registry programs.

"(e) REQUIREMENT REGARDING CERTAIN STUDY ON BREAST CANCER.—In the case of a grant under subsection (a) to any State specified in section 399K(b), the Secretary may establish such conditions regarding the receipt of the grant as the Secretary determines are necessary to facilitate the collection of data for the study carried out under section 399C.

"SEC. 399I. PLANNING GRANTS REGARDING REGISTRIES.

"(a) IN GENERAL.—

"(1) STATES.—The Secretary, acting through the Director of the Centers for Disease Control, may make grants to States for the purpose of developing plans that meet the assurances required by the Secretary under section 399B(c)(2).

"(2) OTHER ENTITIES.—For the purpose described in paragraph (1), the Secretary may make grants to public entities other than States and to nonprofit private entities. Such a grant may be made to an entity only if the State in which the purpose is to be carried out has certified that the State approves the entity as qualified to carry out the purpose.

"(b) APPLICATION.—The Secretary may make a grant under subsection (a) only if an application for the grant is submitted to the Secretary, the application contains the certification required in subsection (a)(2) (if the application is for a grant under such subsection), and the application is in such form, is made in such manner, and contains such agreements, assurances, and information as the Secretary determines to be necessary to carry out this section.

"SEC. 399J. TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE IN OPERATIONS OF STATEWIDE CANCER REGISTRIES.

"The Secretary, acting through the Director of the Centers for Disease Control, may, directly or through grants and contracts, or both, provide technical assistance to the States in the establishment and operation of statewide registries, including assistance in the development of model legislation for statewide cancer registries and assistance in establishing a computerized reporting and data processing system.

"SEC. 399K. STUDY IN CERTAIN STATES TO DETERMINE THE FACTORS CONTRIBUTING TO THE ELEVATED BREAST CANCER MORTALITY RATES.

"(a) IN GENERAL.—Subject to subsections (c) and (d), the Secretary, acting through the Director of the National Cancer Institute, shall conduct a study for the purpose of determining the factors contributing to the fact that breast cancer mortality rates in the States specified in subsection (b) are elevated compared to rates in other States.

"(b) RELEVANT STATES.—The States referred to in subsection (a) are Connecticut, Delaware, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Rhode Island, Vermont, and the District of Columbia.

"(c) COOPERATION OF STATE.—The Secretary may conduct the study required in subsection (a) in a State only if the State agrees to cooperate with the Secretary in the conduct of the study, including providing information from any registry operated by the State pursuant to section 399H(a).

"(d) PLANNING, COMMENCEMENT, AND DURATION.—The Secretary shall, during each of the fiscal years 1993 and 1994, develop a plan for conducting the study required in subsection (a). The study shall be initiated by the Secretary not later than fiscal year 1994, and the collection of data under the study may continue through fiscal year 1998.

"(e) REPORT.—Not later than September 30, 1999, the Secretary shall complete the study required in subsection (a) and submit to the Committee on Energy and Commerce of the House of Representatives, and to the Committee on Labor and Human Resources of the Senate, a report describing the findings and recommendations made as a result of the study.

"SEC. 399L. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.

"(a) REGISTRIES.—For the purpose of carrying out this part, there are authorized to be appropriated $30,000,000 for each of the fiscal years 1993 through 1997. Out of any amounts appropriated for any such fiscal year, the Secretary may obligate not more than 25 percent for carrying out section 399I, and not more than 10 percent may be expended for assessing the accuracy, completeness and quality of data collected, and not more than 10 percent of which is to be expended under subsection 399J.

"(b) BREAST CANCER STUDY.—Of the amounts appropriated for the National Cancer Institute under subpart 1 of part C of title IV for any fiscal year in which the study required in section 399K is being carried out, the Secretary shall expend not less than $1,000,000 for the study.".

AMENDMENT OFFERED BY MR. WAXMAN

Mr. WAXMAN. Mr. Speaker, I offer an amendment.

The Clerk read as follows:

Amendment offered by Mr. WAXMAN: Page 14, line 6, strike "there are authorized to be appropriated" and insert in lieu thereof "the Secretary may use".

Page 14, line 8, strike "appropriated" and insert in lieu thereof "used".

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection, the amendment is agreed to.

Mr. SANDERS. Mr. Speaker, reserving the right to object, S. 3312, the Cancer Registries Amendment Act, was originally passed by both the House and the Senate as part of the NIH reauthorization conference report, H.R. 2507. It was passed by the Senate as a separate bill by unanimous consent last Friday, October 2.

This bill enables States to establish and/or upgrade their population-based cancer registries. It authorizes $30 million per year for 4 years in grants to States for this purpose. It would also launch a study of the Northeastern and mid-Atlantic States that are leading the Nation in breast cancer mortality, with $1 million in funding authorized.

The bill now has 117 cosponsors in the House, from both sides of the aisle. Groups supporting it include the Breast Cancer Coalition, the American Cancer Society, the congressional caucus on women's issues, and the American Association of Central Cancer Registries.

In the major article of the June 1992 issue of Reader's Digest, Dr. John H. Healey, chief of orthopedic surgery at Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center in New York City, called this bill "The cancer weapon America needs most." He said that "It could save thousands of lives and billions of dollars."

I urge passage of the Cancer Registries Amendment Act.

Mr. Speaker, further reserving the right to object, I yield to the gentleman from California [Mr. WAXMAN].

Mr. WAXMAN. Mr. Speaker, I want to commend the gentleman for authoring this legislation. It is an important bill. It will be worthwhile to find out more about cancer so that we can tackle this dreaded disease.

I think the gentleman has been most tenacious in getting us to focus on this issue, and I am so pleased that at this late date in the session we will be able to pass it.

Mr. SANDERS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to thank the gentleman for his excellent work and the gentleman from Michigan [Mr. DINGELL] and Senator LEAHY and everyone else.

Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation of objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. (Mr. ECKART). The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from California [Mr. WAXMAN].

The amendment was agreed to.

The Senate bill, as amended, was ordered to be read a third time, was read the third time, and passed, and a motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

AUTHORIZING FBI TO OBTAIN PHONE SUBSCRIBER INFORMATION

Mr. EDWARDS of California. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on the Judiciary be discharged from further consideration of the Senate bill (S. 3316) to amend title 18, United States Code, to authorize the Federal Bureau of Investigation to obtain certain telephone subscriber information, and ask for its immediate consideration in the House.

The Clerk read the title of the Senate bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?

Mr. FISH. Mr. Speaker, reserving the right to object, I do so for the purpose of asking the distinguished gentleman from California [Mr. EDWARDS] if he would explain the measure to the body.

I yield to the gentleman from California [Mr. EDWARDS].

Mr. EDWARDS of California. Mr. Speaker, This bill concerns the authority of the FBI to obtain information identifying certain telephone subscribers for use in foreign counterintelligence and international terrorism investigations.

The language in this bill was carefully negotiated with the FBI, to ensure that the needs of the FBI were met while at the same time protecting the privacy of telephone records.

The bill amends section 2709 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act [ECPA], 18 U.S.C., 2709, to require that a wire or electronic communication service provider give the FBI access, without a court order or subpoena, to information identifying certain telephone subscribers.

BACKGROUND

The adopting ECPA in 1986, Congress established certain privacy protections for subscriber records and other information held by telephone companies and other electronic communication service providers. Congress provided that the Government could obtain a subscriber's transactional records or other information from a telephone company without the subscriber's permission only pursuant to a subpoena, search warrant or court order where there is reason to believe that the information is relevant to a legitimate law enforcement inquiry. 18 U.S.C. 2703.

Congress created a limited exception to this rule for use in counterintelligence and international terrorism cases. In 18 U.S.C. 2709, Congress gave the FBI authority to compel production of identifying information and toll records with a so-called national security letter, signed by an FBI official without judicial review and without relevance to a criminal investigation, where the subscriber is believed to be a foreign power or agent of a foreign power, as defined in the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act. Foreign power includes international terrorist groups.

The FBI has concluded that the authority in section 2709 is, in one specific respect, too narrow. To illustrate the problem, the Bureau cites the case of a former employee of the U.S. Government who called a foreign embassy and offered to provide sensitive U.S. Government information. The conversation was monitored, but the former employee did not identify himself. The former employee subsequently met with representatives of the foreign nation and compromised highly sensitive information about U.S. intelligence capabilities. The FBI argues that if it had been able to trace the number from which the first call offering information was placed, it might have been able to identify the former employee sooner or prevent the loss of information.

However, under sections 2703 and 2709 as they were adopted in 1986, the FBI could not, without a subpoena or court order, obtain the identity of a subscriber, unless there was a reason to believe that the subscriber was a foreign power or agent of a foreign power. In the case described above, the FBI did not have reason to believe that the caller was a foreign agent. Instead, the caller appeared to be a possible volunteer to be an agent, and therefore did not meet the section 2709 standard.

In response to this limitation, the FBI asked Congress to expand the reach of section 2709, to allow the FBI certification to require phone companies to identify not only suspected agents of foreign powers but also persons who have been in contact with foreign powers or suspected agents of foreign powers. As originally proposed by the FBI, the amendment would have applied to any caller to a foreign diplomatic establishment and any caller to official foreign visitors such as scholars from government universities abroad. This was deemed by the committee to be too broad.

Exempt from the judicial scrutiny normally required for compulsory process, the national security letter is an extraordinary device. New applications are disfavored. However, after careful study, the committee concluded that a narrow change in section 2709 to meet the FBI's focused and demonstrated needs was justified. The provision reported by the committee is a modification of the language originally proposed by the FBI. It allows access where: First, there is a contact with a suspected intelligence officer or a suspected terrorist, or second, the circumstances of the conversation indicate, as they did in the case described above, that it may involve spying or an offer of information.

In addition to covering a future case like the one described above, this new authority would allow the FBI to identify subscribers in the following types of cases, cited by the FBI in justifying its need for this amendment:

First, persons whose phone numbers were listed in an address book seized from a suspected terrorist;

Second, all persons who call an embassy and ask to speak with a suspected intelligence officer; and

Third, all callers to the home of a suspected intelligence officer or the apartment of a suspected terrorist.

Section 2709 as enacted in 1986 used the phrase subscriber information and toll billing records information to describe the information that the FBI could obtain. Instead of subscriber information, the amendment here uses more specific terms: names, address, length of service. As used in this section, toll billing records consist of information maintained by a wire or electronic communication service provider identifying the telephone numbers called from a particular phone or attributable to a particular account for which a communication service provider might charge a service fee. The committee intends, and the FBI agrees, that the authority to obtain subscriber information and toll billing records under section 2709 does not require communications service providers to create records which they do not maintain in the ordinary course of business.

Section 1706(b) strengthens congressional oversight of the exercise of this authority by amending section 2709(e) to add a requirement that the FBI report on its use of the authority to both House and Senate Judiciary Committees as well as both intelligence committees. It is the committee's intent regarding this section that the FBI should, without identifying the subjects of pending investigations, inform the committees, as part of this report, of the facts and circumstances that are the basis for obtaining information concerning any domestic political organization or groups under section 2709.

Under section 2703(e), wire or electronic communication service providers who provide information in response to a court order, warrant, subpoena or certification under this chapter are protected from liability for such disclosure. The certification signed by the Director or the Director's designee under the section 2709(b) is a certification for purposes of section 2703(e).

SECTION-BY-SECTION ANALYSIS

The bill amends 18 U.S.C. 2709 by striking subsection (b) and inserting in lieu thereof a new subsection containing two paragraphs.

Paragraph one of the new section 2709(b) re-enacts the existing authority for FBI access to the name, address, length of service, and toll billing records of a person or entity when the Director or the Director's designee certifies in writing to the wire or electronic communication service provider to which the request is made that first, the information sought is relevant to an authorized foreign counterintelligence investigation; and second, there are specific and articulable facts giving reason to believe that the person or entity to whom the information sought pertains is a foreign power or an agent of a foreign power as defined in the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act.

Paragraph two of the new section 2709(b) authorizes the FBI Director or the Director's designee to obtain the name, address, and length of service of a person or entity if the Director or the Director's designee certifies in writing to the wire or electronic communications service provider to which the request is made that first, the information sought is relevant to an authorized foreign counterintelligence investigation; and second, there is reason to believe that communications facilities registered in the name of the person or entity have been used, through the services of such provider, in communication with an individual who is engaging or has engaged in international terrorism or clandestine intelligence activities that involve or may involve a violation of the criminal statutes of the United States, or a foreign power or an agent of a foreign power under circumstances giving reason to believe that the communication concerned international terrorism or clandestine intelligence activities.

The bill also adds the House and Senate Judiciary Committees to the oversight provision in section 2709(e).

Mr. FISH. Mr. Speaker, further reserving the right to object, I thank the gentleman from California very much.

Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation of objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?

There was no objection.

The Clerk read the Senate bill.

(Senate bill not available.)

The Senate bill was ordered to be read a third time, was read the third time, and passed, and a motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I have a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, am I correct that other now than commemoratives, we have, in fact, completed the legislative business that is known to the House and are prepared then to go to commemoratives and shut down the rest of the legislative calendar?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair is not fully prepared to answer, but it is the Chair's understanding that the commemoratives are now the next order of business for the House.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, and that the list of legislation that we knew of at least at this point has now been completed?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The list that we know of is completed, and the Chair reserves the right, of course, to recognize someone else who may have an additional item from that list.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, going a bit beyond a parliamentary inquiry, I would hope that we can get to a point of cold shutdown here fairly quickly, because it seems to me we have completed everything that I knew that was on any list. It would be helpful to be able, I think, to inform Members that we are not going to proceed further with legislative business.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will certainly draw the gentleman's remarks to the attention of the gentlemen seated in the front row.

NATIONAL CUSTOMER SERVICE WEEK

Mr. SAWYER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Post Office and Civil Service be discharged from further consideration of the Senate joint resolution (S.J. Res. 166) designating the week of October 4 through 10, 1992, as "National Customer Service Week," and ask for its immediate consideration.

The Clerk read the title of the Senate joint resolution.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Ohio?

Mr. RIDGE. Mr. Speaker, reserving the right to object, I know we have come to a part of today's program that everybody has been anticipating for the past 24 hours.

Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation of objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Ohio?

There was no objection.

The Clerk read the Senate joint resolution, as follows:

S.J. RES. 166

Whereas recognizing the value and importance of the customer drives the quality of customer service;

Whereas the high cost of attracting new customers today further emphasizes the need to keep existing customers through effective service;

Whereas when customer service is recognized as contributing to the profit of a company, the professional status of customer service continues to increase;

Whereas when customer service distinguishes successful companies that understand the importance and influence a customer has on success; and

Whereas excellent customer service contributes to the growth and success of every company: Now, therefore be it

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the week of October 4 through 10, 1992, is designated as "National Customer Service Week", and the President is authorized and requested to issue a proclamation calling on the people of the United States to observe the week with appropriate programs, ceremonies, and activities.

The Senate joint resolution was ordered to be read a third time, was read the third time, and passed, and a motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

WORLD POPULATION AWARENESS WEEK

Mr. SAWYER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unamious consent that the Committee on Post Office and Civil Service be discharged from further consideration of the joint resolution (H.J. Res. 458) designating the week of October 25, 1992, as "World Population Awareness Week," and ask for its immediate consideration.

The Clerk read the title of the joint resolution.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentlemen form Ohio.

There was no objection.

Mr. MOODY. Mr.Speaker, I would like to thank the chairman of the Subcommittee on Census and Population, Mr. SAWYER, and his staff for their work in getting World Population Awareness Week, House Joint Resolution 458, to the floor. I would also like to thank the 220 cosponsors of this resolution.

I am pleased to see the House pass this legislation which will designate October 25, 1992, as World Population Awareness Week. By recognizing this week we will help draw attention to and educate Americans about global population concerns. Hundreds of events took place throughout the country last year during World Population Awareness Week and many Governors proclaimed this week as a time for Americans to reflect upon the implications of rapid population growth, particularly in economically struggling parts of the world.

Through my experience working with CARE and the Peace Corps, I have seen firsthand how many problems in the developing world are directly linked to or further exacerbated by rapid population growth. Poor health, hunger, environmental degradation, urban deterioration, economic instability, and political unrest can all be results of rapid population growth.

When I went to Bangladesh with the Peace Corps in 1961, the population of that country—the same physical size as Wisconsin with a population of about 4 million—was 45 million. Today it has nearly 120 million people, living in a Malthusian world of starvation and environmental degradation.

My hope for World Population Awareness Week is that it will not only be a time to call attention to the expanding planet, but it will also be a time to renew our commitment to improving the lives of the people who suffer from the effects of rapid population growth. About 50 percent of the 10 million infant deaths and 25 percent of the 500,000 maternal deaths that occur each year could be prevented if voluntary means of child spacing and maternal health programs were expanded to meet minimal needs in developing countries. Many families in developing nations want family planning but lack either the information or the means to obtain it. Increasing population assistance is inexpensive, it saves lives, it improves the quality of life, and it is essential for those countries struggling with social, economic, and environmental problems.

World Population Awareness Week provides us with an opportunity to think about the effects of rapid population growth and to focus on policies that would improve the lives of the many people who would like to control the size and spacing of their own families.

Mr. GILMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of House Joint Resolution 458, designating the week starting October 25, 1992, as "World Population Awareness Week," I wish to commend the gentleman from Wisconsin, [Mr. MOODY], for introducing this measure.

Today we are faced with a population that is exceeding 5 billion presently and still growing at an unprecedented rate as we speak. Unfortunately, the greatest explosion of population is occurring in the poorest of countries of the world. It is these countries that are least able to provide even the most basis of services for their current citizens.

During the 102d Congress, we have increasingly focused our attention on the problems of global warming, rain forest deforestation, natural resource depletion, Third World Debt, and the dangers that population growth presents to the health and prosperity of the world and its people.

If the United States is to do something to address the pressing problems of today's planet, we must recognize the strain that rapid population growth places on the scarce resources of so many developing nations.

The demands of a growing population have contributed substantially to enormous environmental devastation and pose threats of even greater harm to many aspects of life. The developing world needs to be educated on maternal health programs and family planning in order to prevent unnecessary deaths, as well as curtail the booming population.

I have been a proud supporter of the legislation designating the week of October 25, 1992, as "World Population Awareness Week," and I am hopeful that we can educate ourselves as to better methods to save lives and our precious gem, Mother Earth.

H.J. RES. 458

Whereas in 1992 the population of the world exceeds 5,000,000,000 persons and is growing at an unprecedented rate of approximately 90,000,000 persons per year;

Whereas virtually all of this growth is occurring in the poorest countries, those countries least able to provide even basic services for their current citizens;

Whereas the demands of growing populations have contributed substantially to enormous environmental devastation and pose threats of even greater harm to the world;

Whereas one-half of the 10,000,000 infant deaths and one-quarter of the 500,000 maternal deaths that occur each year in the developing world could be prevented if voluntary child spacing and maternal health programs could be substantially expanded;

Whereas research reveals that one-half of the women of reproductive age in the developing world want to limit the size of their families but lack the means or ability to gain access to family planning;

Whereas for more than 20 years the global community has recognized that it is a fundamental human right for people to voluntarily and responsibly determine the number and spacing of their children and the United States has been a leading advocate of this right;

Whereas the demands of growing populations force many countries to borrow heavily and sell off their natural resources to cover the interest of their debt;

Whereas selling off natural resources in these circumstances often causes irretrievable losses, such as the destruction of the tropical rain forests at a rate of 50,000 acres per day;

Whereas the reliance of a rapidly growing world population on burning fuels is a critical factor in the emission of carbon dioxide into the atmosphere, which many scientists believe has already catalyzed a warming of the Earth's climate;

Whereas population is damaging the ozone layer to such an extent that within 40 years the ultraviolet light reaching our planet is expected to be up to 20 percent greater than it is today; and

Whereas in 1990 and 1991 the Congress designated and President Bush proclaimed "World Population Awareness Week" nationally, and in 1991 37 State governors proclaimed such week in their States, to call attention to the consequences of rapid population growth: Now, therefore, be it,

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the week beginning October 25, 1992, is designated as "World Population Awareness Week", and the President is authorized and requested to issue a proclamation calling upon the people of the United States to observe such week with appropriate programs, ceremonies, and activities.

The Clerk read the title of the joint resolution.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. (Mr. ECKART). Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Ohio?

There was no objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The joint resolution was ordered to be engrossed and read a third time, was read the third time, and passed, and a motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

NATIONAL MEDICAL STAFF SERVICES AWARENESS WEEK

Mr. SCHEUER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Post Office and Civil Service be discharged from further consideration of the joint resolution (H.J. Res. 399) designating the week beginning November 1, 1992, as "National Medical Staff Services Awareness Week," and ask for its immediate consideration.

The Clerk read the title of the joint resolution.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New York?

There was no objection.

Mr. DUNCAN. Mr. Speaker, this is a resolution in honor of all the certified medical staff coordinators all around the Nation. I appreciate very much the cosponsorship of this resolution by over half the Members of this body.

Mr. Speaker, as the sponsor of House Joint Resolution 399, I rise in strong support of this resolution. This resolution will help bring recognition to the thousands of men and women who have dedicated their lives to the enhancement and efficiency of health care services across our Nation.

Everyday, millions of Americans place themselves under the care of a physician in a hospital or other health care facilities. The process by which these doctors become affiliated with these health care organizations and the support they receive afterwards, is an important responsibility of one of the fastest growing professions within the nation's health care industry.

Medical staff services professionals play a vital role in credentialing physicians and serving as a liaison between the medical staff and the hospital administration.

It is very appropriate for the Congress of the United States to publicly and enthusiastically recognize and honor these outstanding individuals for their contribution to the quality of life in our country.

I encourage all members to join me in supporting House Joint Resolution 399, declaring the week of November 1, 1992, as "National Medical Staff Services Awareness Week," so that we can demonstrate our support for these dedicated Americans.

The Clerk read the joint resolution as follows:

H.J. RES. 399

Whereas there are more than 2,600 certified medical staff coordinators across the United States whose purpose is to enhance the professionalism and efficiency of health care in the United States;

Whereas the health care industry, especially hospital and medical staff personnel, has experienced tremendous change and challenges in recent years;

Whereas the role of medical staff services personnel has become essential to effective health care management;

Whereas complex legal, financial, and regulatory requirements have greatly increased the need for expanded administration of medical staff functions;

Whereas encouraging professional development for medical staff services personnel is essential for effective, productive, and competent hospital and medical staffs;

Whereas, in 1978, dedicated individuals organized to recognize and support the vitally important work of the medical staff services profession; and

Whereas a need exists to increase recognition of the valuable and important role of the medical staff services profession across the United States: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the week beginning November 1, 1992, is designated as "National Medical Staff Services Awareness Week", and the President is authorized and requested to issue a proclamation calling on the people of the United States to observe the week with appropriate programs, ceremonies, and activities.

The joint resolution was ordered to be engrossed and read a third time, was read the third time, and passed, and a motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

NATIONAL WOMEN VETERANS RECOGNITION WEEK

Mr. SAWYER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Post Office and Civil Service be discharged from further consideration of the Senate joint resolution (S.J. Res. 309) designating the week beginning November 8, 1992, as "National Women Veterans Awareness Week", and ask for its immediate consideration.

The Clerk read the title of the Senate joint resolution.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Ohio?

There was no objection.

Mr. GILMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of House Joint Resolution 495, which designates the week beginning November 8, 1992, as "National Women Veterans Recognition Week."

I would also like to commend the gentleman from Florida [Mr. BILIRAKIS] for introducing this important legislation.

As you may know, the Department of Veterans Affairs currently estimates that there are more than 1.2 million women veterans in this country, representing 4.2 percent of the total veteran population.

Women have played a vital role in our Nation's armed services. Official military participation for women began in 1901 with the formation of the Army Nurse Corps and was followed in 1903 with the formation of the Navy Nurse Corps.

During World War I, 13,000 women were enlisted by the Navy as telephone operators, clerical workers, typists, and stenographers. During World War II, the number of enlisted women in all four services was approximately 350,000. Additionally, women continued to play an active role in Korea and Vietnam.

Mr. Speaker, it is time for Congress to recognize the valuable contributions that women veterans have made throughout our Nation's history.

More recently, the contributions that our women veterans made during Desert Storm were vital. They served in a wide variety of jobs, such as: pilots, truck drivers, cargo handlers, intelligence specialists, flight controllers, communications experts, and ground-crew chiefs. It is time for our Nation to learn more about the important role women have played in our Armed Forces, and to express our gratitude to them for that service.

Accordingly, thus, I urge my colleagues to join with me in supporting this important resolution.

Mr. BILIRAKIS. As the sponsor of House Joint Resolution 495 which designates the week of November 8th as "National Women Veterans recognition week," I wish to thank Chairman SAWYER and the ranking minority member, TOM RIDGE, for their assistance and leadership in bringing this resolution to the floor.

In 1984, I sponsored the first piece of legislation introduced in Congress that called for national recognition of female veterans. At that time, I was surprised and disappointed that such recognition had not been given before. I am pleased Congress and the President have approved National Women Veterans Recognition Week every year since I initiated the endeavor.

I continue to sponsor National Women Veterans Recognition Week in order to honor the Women who have served in the Armed Forces and to increase public awareness of their significant contributions to the defense of our Nation. The VA estimates that there are more than 1.2 million women veterans in this country. These veterans comprise 4.2 percent of the total veteran population. I am proud to report that approximately 88,000 women veterans reside in my home State of Florida.

Although official female uniformed military participation began with the formation of the Army Nurse Corps in 1901, women have contributed to national defense in a variety of ways since our country was founded. In every U.S. war before the 20th century, small numbers of women disguised themselves as men in order to serve in combat.

World War II marked a turning point in the history of women in the military. A total of 350,000 women served in the four services during the conflict. Employed in virtually every occupation outside of direct combat, they performed their duties admirably. The many military women who were stationed overseas endured the same arduous living conditions as men. Additionally, 88 women were held as prisoner of war by the Japanese for more than 3 years.

Interestingly, 2d Lt. Reba Whittle Tobiason was the only American woman taken captive by Nazi Germany. She endured 4 months of imprisonment in German territory at Stalag 9c. After her release, she struggled with the U.S. Government bureaucracy to be officially recognized as a former prisoner of war. By the time of her death in 1981, the Government had finally acknowledged her status.

In 1947–48, Congress recognized the valuable service of women during World War II by granting them active duty status in the regular Army, Navy, Marine Corps, and Air Force. Women continued to play an active role in Korea and Vietnam. In 1975, Congress further recognized the important contributions of women by requiring the service academies to admit women. In 1980, the first women cadets graduated.

Although women are officially excluded from combat duty, the Persian Gulf War marked the first time women, other than nurses, were deployed to a combat area. During operations Desert Shield and Desert Storm, military women responded well to this new challenge.

Working next to male personnel, women often performed dangerous tasks such as piloting some of the 300 helicopters that airlifted men and equipment inside Iraqi territory. Female military personnel sustained 13 deaths during the operations and two women were taken prisoner by Iraqi forces.

Despite the continuous service of women throughout the history of our Nation, we have not always recognized their tremendous contributions, nor have we paid attention to their needs as veterans.

It is my hope that National Women Veterans Recognition Week will highlight the special needs of women veterans, particularly in the areas of health care, employment, and readjustment problems. Of greatest importance is to increase women veterans awareness of the availability of VA benefits and services for which they are eligible. Although much has been accomplished in the past several years, women veterans are still less likely than their male counterparts to use veterans benefits such as VA Health Care and the Home Loan Guarantee Program.

National Women Veterans Recognition Week is a time for the country to become better acquainted with the service of women veterans and to express our gratitude to them for that service. However, it is also time for women veterans themselves to remember their years in uniform and take pride in the many contributions they have made to the security and well-being of our country.

As new windows of opportunity open for women in the military, there will be an increasing number of female veterans eligible for health care and other benefits. It is incumbent upon us to see that those services are available to them.

In closing, I wish to thank both the women's organizations and veterans organizations who worked so diligently and the House Members who cosponsored this measure.

The Senate has already passed a companion resolution honoring our women veterans. It is my hope that we can act quickly so that the President can sign the proclamation in time to honor these brave and honorable women veterans.

The Clerk read the Senate joint resolution as follows:

S.J. Res. 309

Whereas 1992 marks the 50th anniversary of the establishment of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps, the Women Accepted for Voluntary Emergency Service, the Women Air Force Service Pilots, and the Women's Reserve of the Coast Guard, in which more than 400,000 women served during World War II;

Whereas there are more than 1,200,000 women veterans in the United States representing 4.6 percent of the total veteran population;

Whereas the number of women serving in the United States Armed Forces and the number of women veterans continue to increase;

Whereas women veterans have contributed greatly to the security of the United States through honorable military service, often involving great hardship and danger;

Whereas women are performing a wider range of tasks in the United States Armed Forces, as demonstrated by the participation of women in the military actions taken in Panama and the Persian Gulf region;

Whereas the special needs of women veterans, especially in the area of health care, have often been overlooked or inadequately addressed by the Federal Government;

Whereas the lack of attention to the special needs of women veterans has discouraged or prevented many women veterans from taking full advantage of the benefits and services to which they are entitled; and

Whereas designating a week to recognize women veterans with help both to promote important gains made by women veterans and to focus attention on the special needs of women veterans: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the week beginning November 8 1992, is designated as "National Women Veterans Recognition Week" and the President is authorized and requested to issue a proclamation calling upon the people of the United States to observe that week with appropriate ceremonies and activities.

The Senate joint resolution was ordered to be read a third time, was read the third time, and passed, and a motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

VIETNAM VETERANS MEMORIAL 10TH ANNIVERSARY DAY

Mr. SAWYER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Post Office and Civil Service be discharged from further consideration of the Senate joint resolution (S.J. Res. 318) designating November 13, 1992, as "Vietnam Veterans Memorial Tenth Anniversary Day," and ask for its immediate consideration.

The Clerk read the title of the Senate joint resolution.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Ohio?

Mr. RIDGE. Mr. Speaker, we strongly support this measure. I have no objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Ohio?

There was no objection.

Mr. GILMAN. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to rise in support of S.J Res. 318, legislation to designate November 13, 1992, as "Vietnam Veterans Memorial 10th Anniversary Day."

I would also like to commend my good friend and champion of veterans, the distinguished chairman of the Veterans' Committee, [Mr. MONTGOMERY] for introducing this important measure.

Mr. Speaker, the Vietnam Veterans Memorial is the most visited monument in Washington. November 13, 1992, will make the 10th anniversary of the formal dedication of this memorial.

The Vietnam Veterans Memorial is a tribute to those who sacrificed their lives in Vietnam to protect our Nation. Therefore, it is essential that we commemorate this important day with the appropriate ceremonies that our Nation's Vietnam veterans deserve.

Accordingly, I urge my colleagues to join with me in supporting this important resolution.

The Clerk read the Senate joint resolution as follows:

S. J. RES. 318

Whereas on November 13, 1982, the Vietnam Veterans Memorial was dedicated in honor and recognition of the men and women of the Armed Forces of the United States who served in the Vietnam War, particularly those who gave their lives or who remain missing;

Whereas the Vietnam Veterans Memorial, located on a site in West Potomac Park in the District of Columbia near the Lincoln Memorial as authorized by Public Law 96-297, was constructed with funds raised entirely from private sources;

Whereas this memorial, bearing the names of 58,183 men and women, has become the most visited memorial in the Nation's capital;

Whereas November 13, 1992, marks the 10th anniversary of the Vietnam Veterans Memorial, a milestone which will be observed during 1992 through educational seminars, a reading of the names on the Wall, veterans reunions, and other appropriate events;

Whereas this anniversary offers an opportunity for the entire country to reflect on the Vietnam Veterans Memorial and its role in healing the Nation's wounds from the Vietnam era; and

Whereas the anniversary will enable new generations to discuss lessons learned in the decade since the Memorial's dedication: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That November 13, 1992, is designated as "Vietnam Veterans Memorial 10th Anniversary Day", and the President is authorized and requested to issue a proclamation calling on the people of the United States to observe the day with appropriate ceremonies and activities.

The Senate joint resolution was ordered to be read a third time, was read the third time, and passed, and a motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

WORLD AIDS DAY

Mr. SAWYER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Post Office and Civil Service be discharged from further consideration of the joint resolution (H.J. Res. 538) to designate December 1, 1992, as "World AIDS Day," and ask for its immediate consideration.

The Clerk read the title of the joint resolution.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Ohio?

There was no objection.

Mr. GILMAN. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to rise in support of House Joint Resolution 538, legislation to designate December 1, 1992, as "World AIDS Day."

I would also like to commend the gentleman from Washington [Mr. MCDERMOTT] for introducing this important legislation.

Mr. Speaker, the World Health Organization has designated December 1, 1992, as "World AIDS Day"; a day for the exchange of information, education, and caring for the victims of AIDS.

The number of persons infected with the human immunodeficiency virus and likely to develop AIDS has reached an all time high. There are approximately 1 to 1.5 million HIV infected persons in the United States. Without treatment, about 50 percent of these people will develop AIDS within 10 years of becoming infected with HIV, and another 40 percent or more will develop other clinical illnesses associated with the HIV infection.

AIDS is affecting each and every one of us by creeping into our circle of family and friends. By the end of 1993, a projected total of 390,000 to 480,000 cases of AIDS will be diagnosed in the United States and 285,000 to 340,000 people will have died from this terrible disease. It is essential that we not only find ways to cure this disease, but to find ways to treat HIV/AIDS victims with love and compassion.

The number of AIDS cases that occur simply because individuals did not know how to take simple steps to prevent this tragic affliction is too high.

Education, increased dissemination of the information, and understanding will help to combat this epidemic. While these concepts are no panacea for the vast problems of AIDS, they are a step in the right direction.

Accordingly, Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to join in adopting this resolution and to commit ourselves to provide substantial support for expanded medical research to combat this scourge on our society.

The Clerk read the joint resolution, as follows:

H.J. RES. 538

Whereas infection with the Human Immunodeficiency Virus (HIV) and the incidence of Acquired Immunodeficiency Syndrome (AIDS) have become a global problem of urgent proportions, with an estimated 1,000,000 AIDS cases and more than 12,000,000 HIV infections;

Whereas 5,000 individuals worldwide are infected with HIV every day and more than 400,000,000 men, women, and children will be infected with HIV by the year 2000;

Whereas 1,000,000 children have been born infected with HIV and as many as 15,000,000 children around the world will be orphaned by AIDS by the year 2000;

Whereas education and increased public awareness are the cornerstone of AIDS prevention activities;

Whereas the World Health Organization, in concert with governmental and nongovernmental organizations around the world, has accepted responsibility to safeguard the health of all individuals and control the spread of HIV infection through national policies and programs;

Whereas the worldwide action necessary to stop this global epidemic must continue without compromising the medical, ethical, socioeconomic, cultural and psychological well-being of HIV-infected individuals and individuals with AIDS or slowing the momentum that has allowed those engaged in the struggle to close in on the challenges posed by HIV and AIDS;

Whereas the World Summit of Ministers of Health on AIDS Prevention in 1988 recognized that the widest possible dissemination and exchange of information and educational messages is vital to the success of AIDS prevention programs and thus pledges to open fully channels of communication in each society by creating the basis for the declaration of a World AIDS Day as a day of information, education, and action on AIDS;

Whereas the first World AIDS Day on December 1, 1988, brought messages about the need of action, compassion, and understanding about AIDS to every country in the world;

Whereas the United States House of Representatives commemorated World AIDS Day in 1991, with the theme of "Sharing the Challenge," which underscored the global nature of the HIV/AIDS epidemic and recognized that awareness can be achieved only by pooling the efforts, resources, and imagination of all individuals; and

Whereas the theme of World AIDS Day, 1992, "AIDS: A Community Commitment," is inspired by countless examples of communities, such as neighborhoods, schools, private businesses, and family and friends, rising to the AIDS challenge and hopes to draw on the initiative and caring of communities to help combat the spread of HIV/AIDS: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and the House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That December 1, 1992, is designated "World AIDS Day." The President is authorized and requested to issue a proclamation calling upon the people of the United States to observe such day with appropriate programs, ceremonies, and activities with a special focus on the pivotal role of the community in combatting HIV/AIDS.

The joint resolution was ordered to be engrossed and read a third time, was read the third time, and passed, and a motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

NATIONAL WALKING WEEK

Mr. SAWYER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Post Office and Civil Service be discharged from further consideration of the joint resolution (H.J. Res. 547) designating May 2, 1993, through May 8, 1993, as "National Walking Week," and ask for its immediate consideration.

The Clerk read the title of the joint resolution.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Ohio?

Mr. RIDGE. Mr. Speaker, since there were 218-plus cosponsors on this measure, we have no objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Ohio?

There was no objection.

Mr. RITTER. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of House Joint Resolution 547 to designate the week of May 2–8, 1992, as "National Walking Week."

I introduced this legislation on August 12 of this year and in less than 2 months, it has the direct support of 231 cosponsors.

The Coalition to Make America Walkable, which strongly supports this resolution, seeks to promote walking as an enjoyable, effective means of exercise and to encourage communities to look at their own transportation system and improve upon them with walkers' needs in mind.

The founding members of the coalition are employees of Rodale Press of Emmaus, PA, publishers of Prevention magazine which has a readership of 9 million in North America. Rodale Press also publishes books and magazines such as Runners World, Men's Health, Backpacker, and Bicycling.

As you probably know, trends in construction of roads and highways have made it very difficult for walkers and cyclists to get around, particularly in suburban areas. This is a shame, when you consider that walking is now being widely recognized as the safest and most economic form of exercise.

Recent research, including work being done at the Centers for Disease Control, strongly suggests that regular walking promotes good health in a number of ways. A healthier heart, lower blood pressure, lower cholesterol and weight control, and prevention of osteoporosis are just some of the benefits from walking.

I am confident that providing safe and enjoyable walkways will go a long way toward alleviating some of America's biggest health challenges.

According to a recent Louis Harris poll, 72 percent of all Americans would like a local community-based plan that makes walking an integral part of their area's transportation system. And 59 percent of all respondents would walk outdoors or walk more often if there were safe, designated paths or walkways.

More people walking more often may help control our Nation's escalating health care costs by improving peoples' general physical health.

It is no coincidence that the week that has been selected—the first week of May—falls in National Fitness Month.

It is my hope that celebration of a National Walking Week will draw attention to the need to make the streets and roadways of America amenable to safe and enjoyable walking.

I urge you to help make America a better place to walk by supporting this effort to establish a National Walking Week.

The Clerk read the joint resolution, as follows:

H.J. RES. 547

Whereas medical authorities have established that walking—

(1) powerfully protects against high blood pressure, cholesterol problems, and other factors that can contribute to heart disease;

(2) protects against adult onset (Type II) diabetes;

(3) builds strong bones and protects against osteoporosis, the weak-bone disease that afflicts millions of older women;

(4) probably offers protection against several forms of cancer that are believed to be preventable through regular and moderate exercise; and

(5) is a safe and dependable way for millions of overweight people to lose weight without stringent dieting;

Whereas the failure to regular exercise such as walking has been identified as the single greatest risk factor for heart disease;

Whereas the designation of "National Walking Week" will help promote the issue of pedestrian access and safety;

Whereas areas of America are becoming inaccessible or unsafe for walkers, so the benefits of the activity are being blocked;

Whereas people should be able to walk anywhere in their community, within reason; and

Whereas walking encourages community spirit and safety: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That May 2, 1993, through May 8, 1993, is designated as "National Walking Week". The President is authorized and requested to issue a proclamation calling upon the people of the United States to observe the week with appropriate ceremonies and activities.

The joint resolution was ordered to be engrossed and read a third time, was read the third time, and passed, and a motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

NATIONAL EDUCATION FIRST WEEK

Mr. SAWYER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Post Office and Civil Service be discharged from further consideration of the joint resolution (H.J. Res. 543) designating November 30, 1992, through December 6, 1992, as "National Education First Week," and ask for its immediate consideration.

The Clerk read the title of the joint resolution.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Ohio?

There was no objection.

Mr. FAZIO. Mr. Speaker, it is no secret that our educational system is in crisis. Our educators, parents, community leaders, and business people have been mourning the fact that our young adults lack the basic skills and training that they need to be productive workers in today's world.

Today, those of our young people who do not finish high school are qualified for about 40 percent of all available jobs. By the year 2000, not only will those who do not finish high school qualify for only 14 percent of what is out there in the job market, but a high school graduate with no additional skills will also not be able to compete.

House Joint Resolution 543 designates the week of November 30 through December 6, 1992, as "National Education First Week." This commemorative gives us an opportunity to use the media for raising political and public awareness of the importance of education and for stimulating students' interest in their own education.

During National Education First Week, cable and broadcast networks will carry programming and public service messages stressing the importance roles that school readiness, family involvement and self-esteem play in educational achievement for students of all ages, from all backgrounds. With additional strong support from radio broadcasters, television syndicators and the print media, National Education First Week 1992 has the potential to be the most effective public outreach effort to date in sounding the alarm on the state of education in America.

America's economic health depends on our ability to adequately educate all of our children. This media campaign can serve as a catalyst for possible grassroots and legislative solutions, moving us a step closer toward meeting this challenge.

I extend my appreciation to my California colleagues, Mr. MOORHEAD and Mr. BERMAN, for their support in bringing this measure to the floor, and urge my colleagues on both sides of the aisle to support its final passage.

The Clerk read the joint resolution, as follows:

H.J. RES. 543

Whereas the future economic success and democratic vitality of the United States depend primarily on the Nation's ability to provide a world class education from kindergarten through 12th grade;

Whereas all people of the United States have the right to a fulfilling, free, and safe elementary and secondary education that will enable them to be productive, skilled, and literate citizens;

Whereas the United States faces an unprecedented education crisis in which students fail to graduate from high school at a rate of 3,000 students a day (or more than 1,000,000 students a year) for the general population, and 46 percent for Black and Hispanic students;

Whereas 26,000,000 people in the United States are functionally illiterate, and only 40 percent of the Nation's students are able to solve math problems requiring 2 or more steps;

Whereas international competitors are outpacing the United States in preparing their students for the 21st century, as evidenced by data indicating that a Japanese student spends 30 percent more time in school than a student in the United States and that Japan has a literacy rate of almost 98 percent;

Whereas the education crisis of the United States places great strains on the Nation's economic, social, and political fabric, as evidenced by data indicating that 80 percent of prisoners are high school dropouts, 77 percent of college graduates (but only 37 percent of individuals with not more than an 8th grade education) voted in the 1988 presidential election, and only 3 percent of the Nation's high school graduates can understand distinctions among employee benefits plans;

Whereas the Nation's education crisis has reached such damaging proportions that only a coordinated, long-term effort by all sectors of the United States, including business, government, media, labor, and educators, can adequately address the challenge;

Whereas the media, including the television networks, the motion picture studios, and the cable television networks, are powerful tools to influence and arouse the public to a better understanding of the scope and severity of the education crisis, as well as to potential grassroots and legislative solutions to the crisis;

Whereas the commitment of the television networks to promote "Education First Week" represents the single greatest commitment of broadcast resources in the history of the television medium to address a national problem; and

Whereas "Education First Week" presents a unique opportunity to mobilize national and local political and public awareness through the media and is a significant step in confronting the Nation's education crisis: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That November 30, 1992, through December 6, 1992, is designated as "National Education First Week", and the President is authorized and requested to issue a proclamation calling on the people of the United States to observe the week with appropriate ceremonies and activities.

The joint resolution was ordered to be engrossed and read a third time, was read the third time, and passed, and a motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

AMERICAN WINE APPRECIATION WEEK

Mr. SAWYER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Post Office and Civil Service be discharged from further consideration of the joint resolution (H.J. Res. 489) designating February 21 through 27, 1993, as "American Wine Appreciation Week," and ask for its immediate consideration.

The Clerk read the title of the joint resolution.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Ohio?

Mr. RIDGE. Mr. Speaker, reserving the right to object, I simply want to acknowledge the good work of my colleagues from California; first of all, Mr. FRANK RIGGS, who is the chief cosponsor of this measure, along with his colleague, VIC FAZIO. They have the required number of signatures.

Mr. FAZIO. Mr. Speaker, wine has been a part of the human diet for over 7,000 years. In America, since the early days of Thomas Jefferson, the American wine industry has steadily grown to become a major domestic industry.

Today, wine is produced in 43 States in the Union. The American wine industry earns over $8 billion in sales each year and supports more than 200,000 jobs nationwide. Even though the American wine industry is a relative newcomer to the art of winemaking, it now produces some of the finest wines in the world.

Because of the importance of the American wine industry to our Nation's history, culture and economy, we are today considering House Joint Resolution 489 to declare February 21 through 27, 1993 as "American Wine Appreciation Week."

I want to thank the gentleman from California [Mr. RIGGS] and the gentleman from New York [Mr. HORTON] for their help and assistance in bringing this resolution to the floor. The wine industry is clearly important to each of our States and I commend them for their efforts. I also want to thank Chairman SAWYER and his committee for their help in support of House Joint Resolution 489.

Mr. Speaker, American wine vintners and grape and fruit growers comprise a very important domestic industry. I urge my colleagues to honor and support this industry by supporting American Wine Appreciation Week.

Mr. RIDGE. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation of objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Ohio?

There was no objection.

The Clerk read the joint resolution, as follows:

H.J. RES. 489

Whereas wine was produced by our Founding Fathers, including Thomas Jefferson, and winegrape growing and wine production in the United States continue today as a significant agricultural industry in 43 of the States;

Whereas the history of winegrape growing in the world dates back over 7,000 years and it continues as a proud tradition nurtured by the small farmer in all regions of the United States;

Whereas this agricultural industry is comprised of thousands of family-owned farms, many of which are passed on from generation to generation, sustaining responsible preservation of our agricultural resources;

Whereas more than 1,300 wineries and over 8,000 grape and fruit growers around the country work cooperatively to create wine;

Whereas over 85 percent of all wine consumed in the United States is produced by United States winemakers;

Whereas the direct economic impact of the United States wine industry is estimated to account for over $8,000,000,000 in sales annually, including the support of over 200,000 jobs as well as $1,000,000,000 in governmental taxes and fees;

Whereas the United States wine industry contributes to our quality of life by its ongoing contributions to organizations and associations in the health, civic, and educational sectors of the country;

Whereas acclaim for wine produced in the United States has grown internationally for many years and these products account for an increasing percentage of United States exports, helping to reduce the United States trade deficit;

Whereas wine, consumed in moderation, enhances the appetite and provides delicious accompaniment to all types of regional cuisine in the United States, enriching the quality of life for the citizenry of the United States; and

Whereas wine has fulfilled a valued role in a wide variety of the cultural, religious, and familial traditions of the United States: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

That—

(1) the Congress commends the winegrape and fruit growers and vintners of the United States for the production of such high quality agricultural products; and

(2) February 21, 1993, through February 27, 1993, is designated as "American Wine Appreciation Week". The President is authorized and requested to issue a proclamation calling upon the people of the United States to observe the week with appropriate programs, ceremonies, and activities.

The joint resolution was ordered to be engrossed and read a third time, was read the third time, and passed, and a motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

NATIONAL LAW ENFORCEMENT TRAINING WEEK

Mr. SAWYER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Post Office and Civil Service be discharged from further consideration of the Senate joint resolution (S.J. Res. 304) designating January 3 through 9, 1993, as "National Law Enforcement Training Week," and ask for its immediate consideration.

The Clerk read the title of the joint resolution.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Ohio?

Mr. RIDGE. Mr. Speaker, reserving the right to object, I do so simply to acknowledge the good work of our colleague, the gentlewoman from Nevada, BARBARA VUCANOVICH, who is the chief sponsor of this resolution.

Mrs. VUCANOVICH. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of Senate Joint Resolution 304, which is the companion to the resolution I introduced in the House to designate the week beginning January 3, 1993, as "National Law Enforcement Training Week." I would like to thank my colleagues on both sides of the aisle who have joined me in cosponsoring this legislation to recognize the often unsung individuals enforcement officials and to educate the public of the skill with which they carry out their craft.

In an era in which criminal activity has become increasingly violent and sophisticated, maintaining the safety of a free society is one that demands an unprecedented level of skill and professionalism. The difficult task of enforcing the law mandates an uncompromised commitment to securing the best available training for our law enforcement officials. In recognition of this fact, I introduced House Joint Resolution 530, and am pleased that we were able to obtain over 218 cosponsors for the resolution.

The riots in Los Angeles and in several other cities around the country have highlighted the need for professional and efficient law enforcement officers. House Joint Resolution 530 and Senate Joint Resolution 304 seek to emphasize the irreplaceable role that proper training and law enforcement techniques play in the protection of individual rights and liberties. These resolutions also pay special attention to heightening awareness among the youth of the Nation of the importance that law enforcement training holds in maintaining the security of the Nation.

Mr. Speaker, I am pleased that the House is approving this resolution to recognize those who contribute greatly to effective law enforcement in the United States.

Mr. GILMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in strong support of House Joint Resolution 530 designating the week beginning January 1993 as "National Law Enforcement Training Week." I wish to commend the gentlewoman from Nevada [Mrs. VUCANOVICH] for introducing this legislation.

Our Nation is fortunate to have 500,000 law enforcement officers who work to protect our safety each and every day. These brave men and women fight drug pushers, violent criminals, and others who seek to disturb the lives of law-abiding citizens. Law enforcement is a dangerous job. In the past 10 years, more than 1,500 law enforcement officers have been killed in the line of duty. Every 57 hours, an officer loses his or her life while protecting the American public from crime; 200,000 officers have been injured on the job in the last 10 years, and 600,000 have been assaulted.

Law enforcement training is crucial for the safety of our officers and the citizens of our towns and cities. It is our duty to honor those selfless individuals who risk their lives daily for our protection. Further, it is in the best interests of our National to encourage our young people to recognize the importance of law enforcement in America.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to join me in support of this important legislation.

Mr. RIDGE. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation of objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Ohio?

There was no objection.

The Clerk read the Senate joint resolution, as follows:

S.J. RES. 304

Whereas law enforcement training and the sciences related to law enforcement are critical to the immediate and long-term safety and well-being of this Nation because law enforcement professionals provide service and protection to citizens in all sectors of society;

Whereas law enforcement training is a critical component of national efforts to protect the citizens of this Nation from violent crime, to combat the malignancy of illicit drugs, and to apprehend criminals who commit personal, property, and business crimes;

Whereas law enforcement training serves the hard working and law abiding citizens of this Nation;

Whereas it is essential that the citizens of the Nation be able to enjoy an inherent right of freedom from fear and learn of the significant contributions that law enforcement trainers have made to assure such right;

Whereas it is vital to build and maintain a highly trained and motivated law enforcement work force that is educated and trained in the skills of law enforcement and the sciences related to law enforcement in order to take advantage of the opportunities that law enforcement provides;

Whereas it is in the national interest to stimulate and encourage the youth of this Nation to understand the significance of law enforcement training to the law enforcement profession and to the safety and security of all citizens;

Whereas it is in the national interest to encourage the youth of this Nation to appreciate the intellectual fascination of law enforcement training; and

Whereas it is in the national interest to make the youth of this Nation aware of career options available in law enforcement and disciplines related to law enforcement: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That January 3, 1993, through January 9, 1993, is designated as "National Law Enforcement Training Week". The President is authorized and requested to issue a proclamation calling upon the people of the United States to observe such week with appropriate exhibits, ceremonies, and activities, including programs designed to heighten the awareness of all citizens, particularly the youth of this Nation, of the importance of law enforcement training and related disciplines.

The Senate joint resolution was ordered to be read a third time, was read the third time, and passed, and a motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

NATIONAL OCCUPATIONAL THERAPY DAY

Mr. SAWYER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Post Office and Civil Service be discharged from further consideration of the joint resolution (H.J. Res. 471) designating September 16, 1992, as "National Occupational Therapy Day," and ask for its immediate consideration.

The Clerk read the title of the joint resolution.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. It there objection to the request of the gentleman from Ohio?

Mr. RIDGE. Mr. Speaker, reserving the right to object, I do so in order to yield to the gentleman from Ohio [Mr. SAWYER].

Mr. SAWYER. Mr. Speaker, I thank my friend from Pennsylvania for yielding to me.

Mr. Speaker, as the 102d Congress draws to a close, I want to take this opportunity to say a few words about the outstanding work of the gentleman from Pennsylvania, TOM RIDGE, who has served as the ranking member of the Subcommittee on Census and Population for the past 4 years.

I don't think a chairman in this body could have asked for a more sincere, knowledgeable, and hard working partner to carry out the enormously important, if often arcane, oversight of the Federal statistical system.

Our oversight of the 1990 census could have been clouded by political debate and efforts to secure partisan advantage. It wasn't.

TOM RIDGE and I focused our attention on ways to improve the conduct of the census and the accuracy of the results.

Even on issues where we disagreed, our differences were discussed openly, honestly, and professionally. We recognized our differences and sought to highlight the areas of common ground.

TOM, I am enormously grateful for our mutual appreciation of the importance of useful, accurate, and timely information.

I hope we have the opportunity to work together often in the next Congress.

□ 1110

Mr. RIDGE. Continuing my reservation of objection, if Members will indulge me, I want to also take this opportunity after 4 years of working as the ranking minority member on this subcommittee, and working with my good friend from Ohio, TOM SAWYER, to say that this procedure, the commemorative procedure is one that brings us to the floor on many occasions, and we pass through it rather quickly. Four years ago we decided we were going to require all of our colleagues to get 218 cosponsors. We have stuck to that rule fairly closely during these 4 years, and it has not been easy. I certainly appreciate his willingness to set that standard and live by it.

Also, more importantly, when we did the work of this body dealing with the 1990 census, subsequent to the completion of that census, and prepared and began to look at the 1992 census, I found with my good friend a sincere commitment to seeing to it that what we did was done in as effective a way as possible. This man, TOM SAWYER, has spent countless hours, hundreds of hours working to see to it that the statistical accumulation that is so essential to not only how this body operates, but other levels of Government operate was done as fairly and openly and as properly as possible.

It has been a joy and a pleasure to work with him. He has been a true friend, and I just want to tip my hat to him, and tell him thanks, not only for the friendship and the leadership. I think it is unlikely during the next Congress that we will be doing these commemoratives, but I too look forward to the opportunity to work with the gentleman on other measures, hopefully in the 103d Congress. Thanks, TOM. I enjoyed working with you and I have enjoyed the experience.

Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation of objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. ECKART). Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Ohio?

There was no objection.

The Clerk read the joint resolution, as follows:

H.J. RES. 471

Whereas occupational therapy is a health and rehabilitation profession whose practitioners help to restore the highest quality of productive life to individuals recovering from illnesses or injuries;

Whereas practitioners of occupational therapy help individuals cope with developmental disabilities, psychosocial difficulties, or changes resulting from the aging process;

Whereas practitioners of occupational therapy in the United States treat more than 7,500,000 children and adults annually in a variety of settings, including hospitals, nursing facilities, outpatient rehabilitation facilities, psychiatric facilities, community mental health centers, private and public schools, and through independent practices and home health agencies;

Whereas practitioners of occupational therapy served the United States with great distinction from World War I to Operation Desert Storm by providing a wide variety of rehabilitation services to wounded members of the armed forces of the United States and by developing programs with the armed services to train additional occupational therapists;

Whereas the American Occupational Therapy Association, which was founded in 1917, is the oldest allied health professional society in the United States;

Whereas the membership of the American Occupational Therapy Association includes more than 45,000 occupational therapists, occupational therapy assistants, and students of occupational therapy from all of the 50 States of the United States, the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, and 65 foreign countries; and

Whereas 1992 marks the 75th anniversary of the founding of the American Occupational Therapy Association: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That September 16, 1992, is designated as "National Occupational Therapy Day", and the President is authorized and requested to issue a proclamation calling on the people of the United States to observe the day with appropriate ceremonies and activities.

AMENDMENT OFFERED BY MR. SAWYER

Mr. SAWYER. Mr. Speaker, I offer an amendment.

The Clerk read as follows:

Amendment offered by Mr. SAWYER: On page 2, line 3, strike "September 16, 1992," and insert "October 14, 1992."

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Ohio [Mr. SAWYER].

The amendment was agreed to.

The joint resolution was ordered to be engrossed and read a third time, was read the third time, and passed.

TITLE AMENDMENT OFFERED BY MR. SAWYER

Mr. SAWYER. Mr. Speaker, I offer an amendment to the title.

The Clerk read as follows:

Title amendment offered by Mr. SAWYER: AMEND THE TITLE SO AS TO READ: "JOINT RESOLUTION DESIGNATING OCTOBER 14, 1992, AS 'NATIONAL OCCUPATIONAL THERAPY DAY'.".

The title amendment was agreed to.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. SAWYER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on the several joint resolutions just considered and passed.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Ohio?

There was no objection.

CONGRATULATING COLLEGE OF WILLIAM AND MARY IN VIRGINIA ON 300TH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. SAWYER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Education and Labor be discharged from further consideration of the resolution (H. Res. 524) expressing the sense of the House of Representative to commend and congratulate the College of William and Mary in Virginia on the occasion of the 300th anniversary of its founding.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Ohio?

Mr. BATEMAN. Mr. Speaker, reserving the right to object, I am the chief sponsor of this resolution along with all of my colleagues from the Virginia delegation and our colleague, Mr. MOLLOHAN of West Virginia, a fellow alumnus of the College of William and Mary.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to commend my colleagues on the House Education and Labor Committee, especially the chairman, Mr. FORD, for bringing this resolution before the House for its consideration today.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of House Resolution 524 which I introduced earlier this year along with the entire Virginia congressional delegation and my fellow alumnus Representative ALAN B. MOLLOHAN of West Virginia. House Resolution 524 expresses that it is the sense of the House of Representatives to commend and congratulate the College of William and Mary in Virginia as it prepares to observe the 300th anniversary of its founding on February 8, 1993. I believe it is highly appropriate for this body to recognize this exceptional public institution of higher learning which has such a truly distinctive place in our country's educational and national heritage.

On February 8, 1693, King William III and Queen Mary II of England granted a royal charter to "establish a certain place of universal study within our Colony of Virginia * * * (that) shall for ever be called * * * the College of William and Mary in Virginia." The second oldest institution of higher learning in the United States, William and Mary was established in Middle Plantation, now Williamsburg, as an intellectual haven in the wilderness of the New World. From its royal roots to its current status today as one of the Nation's finest small public universities, William and Mary has been making history.

During its first hundred years, the College of William and Mary educated so many of our Nation's early leaders that it is known by many as the "Alma Mater of a Nation." In fact, the college was the intellectual crucible which forged the minds of those who led the American Revolution and later created our present form of Government.

William and Mary alumnus Thomas Jefferson authored and signed the Declaration of Independence which also was signed by alumni George Wythe, Benjamin Harrison, Carter Braxton, and Thomas Nelson, Jr. George Wythe, an eminent legal scholar and law professor at the college, participated in the Constitutional Convention. Three of the college's Virginia graduates, Thomas Jefferson, James Monroe and John Tyler, went on to be elected President of the United States, and their fellow William and Mary alumnus John Marshall guided the development of the Supreme Court and the judicial branch of Government during his tenure as Chief Justice. Another of our Nation's Founding Fathers, George Washington, was serving as the college's first American chancellor when he was elected our country's first President. Today, the college's chancellor is retired Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, Warren E. Burger.

As the Nation's second oldest institution of higher learning, William and Mary has established a distinguished list of educational firsts or priorities. These priorities have set a standard of quality and excellence for liberal arts education that has been emulated by colleges and universities nationwide.

Among its many contributions to American education, the college is credited with establishing the first honor system in the country and founding Phi Beta Kappa in 1776, America's first and foremost scholastic fraternity. Thomas Jefferson, as Governor of Virginia, proposed the sweeping reorganization which united the college's faculties of medicine, law and the arts in 1779, making William and Mary America's first true university and the first to institute an elective course of study for its students. A complete list of the college's priories is affixed to the wall of the historic Sir Christopher Wren Building—North America's oldest academic building in continuous use as a classroom.

PRIORITES OF THE COLLEGE OF WILLIAM AND MARY

First college in the United States in its antecedents, which go back to the college proposed at Henrico, 1619. Second to Harvard University in actual operation.

First college to receive its charter from the Crown under the Seal of the Privy Council, 1693. Hence it was known as "their Majesties Royal College of William and Mary."

First and only American college to receive a coat-of-arms from the College of Heralds, 1694.

First college in the United States to have a full faculty consisting of a President, six professors, usher, and writing master, 1729.

First college to confer medallic prizes: the gold medals donated by Lord Botetourt in 1771.

First college to establish an intercollegiate fraternity, Phi Beta Kappa, December 5, 1776.

First college to have the elective system of study, 1779.

First college to have the honor system, 1779.

First college to have a school of modern languages, 1779.

First college to offer professional training in law, 1779.

First college to teach political economy, 1784.

First college to have a school of modern history, 1803.

First college to have a course in the fine arts.

While William and Mary is dedicated to preserving its truly historic legacy, it also is a forward-looking institution of higher learning eager to meet the challenges of the future. Through revolution and civil war, peace and prosperity, the college has accommodated the changing needs of students, faculty, the Commonwealth and the Nation. As it prepares to embark upon its fourth century, moreover, I am confident that the college will continue to be guided and well-served by its unwavering commitment to undergraduate liberal arts education as a foundation of a free and democratic society.

As House Resolution 524 clearly illustrates, the history of the College of William and Mary in Virginia constitutes a significant part of the history of the United States. Indeed, the college has played a leading role not only in cultivating the minds of some of America's most visionary and respected leaders, but in fostering the very ideals and system by which this country has sought to educate its citizenry.

For all of these reasons, the 300th anniversary of the college's founding is an occasion in which all Americans can take pride and satisfaction. While several major conferences and in array of programs in the arts, sciences, and humanities will take place at the college next year as part of its tercentenary celebration, I believe this anniversary provides every American with a rare opportunity both to reflect upon our Nation's heritage and to recognize one of this country's most distinguished institutions of public learning.

Let me conclude by saying that it has been truly a personal privilege for me, as an alumnus of the college, to offer this William and Mary resolution for consideration by the House of Representatives. I have enjoyed working on this project with William and Mary's presidents, faculty, students, friends, and its alumni—many of whom are continuing the college's tradition of public service throughout our Nation's Capital. I also have been proud to serve on the college's Tercentenary Observance Commission with my colleagues from the U.S. Senate, Mr. WARNER and Mr. ROBB. They introduced a resolution identical to mine that received the unanimous approval of the Senate on September 22, 1992.

Mr. Speaker, it is with particular satisfaction that I now urge my colleagues to support House Resolution 524 to commend and congratulate the College of William and Mary in Virginia on the occasion of its 300th anniversary, to recognize the many contributions it has made to the well-being of the people of Virginia and the United States, and to express the desire of the House of Representatives to see the College of William and Mary in Virginia continue to grow and prosper in the centuries yet to come.

Mr. MOLLOHAN. Mr. Speaker, as an alumnus of the College of William and Mary, it is with great pleasure that I offer my strong support to the resolution offered by the gentleman from Virginia.

It has been said, Mr. Speaker, that receiving an education is among the most humbling of experiences. This certainly is true. It is only when one begins to study and learn that one can appreciate the depth of knowledge of our greatest scholars, statesmen, and scientists.

For three centuries, the college in the town of Williamsburg, VA, has humbled generation after generation of students by introducing them to the wisdom that we, as a people, have accumulated. Generations also have been humbled by the accomplishments of the school's distinguished alumni. As an undergraduate at the College of William and Mary, I was awed by the thought that I was studying at the same institution which had schooled so many men of great stature. Thomas Jefferson, James Monroe, John Tyler, John Marshall. The list goes on.

Mr. Speaker, it is fitting that on the occasion of the 300th anniversary of the founding of the College of William and Mary, we commemorate the role it has played in educating such prominent figures in American history, and celebrate the tremendous contributions that these individuals have made to our Nation. It is proper, too, that we observe the achievements of men and women whose names do not only grace the pages of history books, but who also have applied an education received at William and Mary for the benefit of our society. Those who have pursued successful careers in teaching, science, the arts, law, social work, business, and Government service, to name but a few.

The College of William and Mary has been termed "the Alma Mater of a Nation" in recognition of its role in educating early American leaders. I believe the college continues to earn that title by providing its students with a quality education which they can apply to the challenges before our society, at every level.

I join my colleagues in commending the College of William and Mary on this milestone, and extend my best wishes for its continued success in serving educational needs of our Nation.

Mr. BATEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation of objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Ohio?

There was no objection.

The Clerk read the resolution, as follows:

H. RES. 524

Whereas, throughout their history, the people of the United States have recognized that an educated citizenry is important to a democracy, and to that end have supported universal education as well as the development of centers of advanced learning for the benefit of the general welfare;

Whereas, on February 8, 1693, a royal charter was granted by King William III and Queen Mary II of England to found and establish "a certain place of universal learning" in the "good arts and sciences" to be known forever as the College of William and Mary in Virginia;

Whereas, on December 4, 1779, after the United States gained its independence, Thomas Jefferson, then Governor of the Commonwealth of Virginia and a former student of the College of William and Mary, led an effort to reorganize the curriculum of the College of William and Mary which resulted in the creation of the first elective system of study in the United States, the establishment of an honor system that remains an integral part of the College of William and Mary today, and the creation of the first Chair of Law in the United States;

Whereas the students of the College of William and Mary, the second oldest institution of higher learning in the United States, have contributed to the general welfare for three centuries, so that it has accurately been said that the history of the College of William and Mary forms a significant part of the history of the United States;

Whereas among the distinguished alumni of the College of William and Mary are three Presidents of the United States, Thomas Jefferson, James Monroe, and John Tyler; Chief Justice John Marshall and three Associate Justices of the United States; more than thirty United States Senators; more than sixty Members of the House of Representatives; eight members of Presidential cabinets; twenty-seven Governors of ten States; and countless other public officials and leaders in business, industry, military service, science, and the arts;

Whereas the College of William and Mary and the town of Williamsburg have flourished together, fulfilling a prediction made in 1699 that "the College will help make the Town", and together constituting an historical treasure to be enjoyed and appreciated by the people of the United States and the world;

Whereas in the past twenty-five years the College of William and Mary has established itself as a modern university with distinctive graduate programs and as a leader in higher education, while never wavering from its commitment to undergraduate liberal arts education as a foundation of a free society; and

Whereas, as the College of William and Mary prepares to embark upon its fourth century, it continues to educate men and women to be productive citizens in both public and private pursuits and to adapt its course of studies to the growing needs of the community and the Nation: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That it is the sense of the House of Representatives to commend and congratulate the College of William and Mary in Virginia on the occasion of its three hundredth anniversary, to recognize the many contributions it has made to the well-being of the people of Virginia and the United States, and to express the hope of the people of the United States that the College of William and Mary will continue to grow and prosper in the centuries yet to come.

The resolution was agreed to.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

REQUEST TO CONSIDER H.R. 6186, JEMEZ NATIONAL RECREATION AREA

Mr. VENTO. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to take from the Speaker's table the bill (H.R. 6186) to establish the Jemez National Recreation Area in the State of New Mexico, and for other purposes, and ask for its immediate consideration in the House.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Minnesota?

Mr. DANNEMEYER. Mr. Speaker, I object.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Objection is heard.

RETIREMENT OF CONGRESSMAN BRIAN DONNELLY

(Mr. NEAL of Massachusetts asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. NEAL of Massachusetts. Mr. Speaker, when BRIAN DONNELLY announced in March that he would not seek reelection to an eighth term in the U.S. House of Representatives it took most of his colleagues by surprise. Since his election in 1978, he had faced no opposition, and his reelection to the House every 2 years had become a formality. But after lengthy discussions with his family, and following the retirement of his close friend, DENNIS ECKART, BRIAN DONNELLY decided to return to his hometown of Dorchester and begin a new career.

If you want to know what type of person BRIAN DONNELLY is, listen to his reason for retiring. Last March, he said, "my son and daughter are at a time in their lives when they deserve more than a part-time father. I can no longer reconcile spending a few hours every weekend with my children and missing important events in their young lives, and as acceptable to what my fatherly responsibilities demand." I think that statement, more than any other, offers us a real insight into BRIAN DONNELLY'S character.

While I respected his decision to retire, I can also say that it brought some sadness. Not only is he one of my closest friends in Washington, but he is one of the brightest Members serving in the House of Representatives. His outspoken leadership on the Ways and Means Committee, on Health Care issues, and on Irish affairs will be truly missed by each one of his colleagues. I for one will also miss his candor, insight, and sense of humor.

For the past 14 years BRIAN DONNELLY served the people of the 11th District with distinction and class. His decision to retire from the House and spend more time with his family is, in my opinion, consistent with his character. I was honored to serve with BRIAN for two terms in the Congress, I am proud to call him a close friend. On this, his day of retirement, I wish him, his wife, Virginia, and their two young children the very best in the years ahead.

TRIBUTE TO MARTY RUSSO

(Mr. PANETTA asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. PANETTA. Mr. Speaker, I, too, want to join with the gentleman in paying tribute to BRIAN DONNELLY as a member of the Ways and Means Committee, but I also want to pay tribute to another member of the Ways and Means Committee who is not only a dear friend and a roommate, but an outstanding legislator, and that is MARTY RUSSO from Illinois. He is somebody I think all of us recognize as an outstanding whip, somebody who you always turned to when you wanted to get some legislation through the Congress. He was one of the most effective whips we have on the Democratic side.

He was also an outstanding member of the Ways and Means Committee, and someone who has been very involved in health care legislation.

But more importantly, he has been a dear friend. In Italian "paisano" means somebody who is more than a friend, and he has been a paisano not only to me, but I think to the House of Representatives.

Mr. BARTON of Texas. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. PANETTA. I am pleased to yield to the gentleman from Texas.

Mr. BARTON of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I thank the distinguished gentleman from California for yielding. I would also like to say that Congressman RUSSO is one of the toughest outs on the Democratic baseball team. And we are glad to see he is retiring, because I think the last 3 years we have only got him out once or twice. So we are going to miss him in the congressional baseball game.

Mr. PANETTA. I thank the gentleman.

TRIBUTE TO THE HONORABLE DANTE FASCELL

(Mr. HOYER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. HOYER. Mr. Speaker, I join my colleagues in this fitting tribute to a much respected colleague and dear friend, DANTE FASCELL, as he concludes a distinguished congressional career spanning more than three decades. From the midst of the cold war to the fall of the Berlin Wall, DANTE has demonstrated an unwavering dedication to principles and commitment to upholding human rights.

Through his outstanding leadership, uncommon energy, and moral instinct he has helped shape U.S. foreign policy for more than a quarter century. My friend and colleague has honored this body with his service to the people of Florida, to the people of this country and to the thousands of individuals imprisoned and silenced by totalitarian governments. His is a career that few ever achieve but all envy.

Over the years, Chairman FASCELL has distinguished himself in numerous foreign policy fields including arms control, development assistance, and human rights. It would take much longer then I have to list all of his accomplishments in these particular fields. So I will focus on the CSCE which among a very select few, DANTE FASCELL has helped set the stage, tone and agenda.

He served as chairman of the Commission on Security and Cooperation in Europe for 8 years, from 1976 to 1985, and has remained an active member ever since. Critics at home opposed the establishment of the Commission for various reasons. Undaunted, DANTE was determined to prove that the Congress could and should play an active role in pressing human rights concerns abroad.

When the Soviet Union and other Warsaw pact countries denied him visas to travel to their countries to monitor human rights conditions shortly after the Commission was established, he took his concerns to key capitals in Western Europe in an effort to build support for promotion of human rights within the CSCE. He believed that the value of the Helsinki process would be reflected to the degree that human rights took its place center stage in international relations.

Shortly after the signing of the Helsinki Final Act, he observed that:

> One of the most significant aspects of the Final Act is that it carved a place on the international agenda for those questions of human rights which matter enormously to individuals but which have been slighted by their governments in dealing with one another.

With energy and determination he championed the cause of those denied their human rights and fundamental freedoms. Chairman FASCELL was attacked in the Soviet press and elsewhere for his human rights activities. Undeterred, he continued to speak out. He used every available opportunity to raise the cases of the well-known and the unknown alike. In the process he brought prestige and prominence to the work of the Helsinki Commission. He worked to develop better relations between the Commission and the Department of State on areas of common interest. Under his chairmanship the Commission developed into a widely respected organization and key player in the CSCE process.

DANTE FASCELL has played an active and leading role in the Helsinki process from the very difficult and dark days following the signing of the Helsinki Final Act to the present.

He served as cochairman of the U.S. delegations to the Belgrade and Madrid CSCE followup meetings. More recently, he was instrumental in the establishment of the CSCE Parliamentary Assembly, a body bringing together parliamentarians from the 52 CSCE participating States. He has served as chairman of the U.S. delegation to the assembly.

As the current chairman of the Helsinki Commission, I can attest to DANTE'S outstanding achievements in the human rights field. In a speech before a human rights group in late 1977, he observed that "we have started down a long road." DANTE FASCELL has been there every step of the way a long that long and often difficult road. But the journey is not yet complete.

I am very pleased that Chairman FASCELL has been nominated to serve as a human rights expert under the Human Dimension Mechanism of the CSCE to assist in resolving specific human rights problems. Few could do a better job.

Mr. Speaker, it is with great admiration and much affection that I commend this dear friend and distinguished colleague for his past work which will live on through many generations.

I wish him and Jeanne-Marie the very best for the future.

And on behalf of the thousands who have benefited from his strong moral force in this body and in U.S. foreign policy, I say thank you, thank you Chairman FASCELL. You have made a difference in our lives.

Mr. SMITH of Florida. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. HOYER. I yield to my friend, the gentleman from Florida.

Mr. SMITH of Florida. Mr. Speaker, I appreciate the gentleman's remarks. I want to join in and associate myself with those remarks.

As my friend, and as my next-door neighbor in the congressional district, DANTE FASCELL has been my mentor in this body for many years. I am sorry that he is leaving, although we are leaving together, because the United States and the country are losing a great American, and a great Congressman.

I appreciate the gentleman taking the time to say so.

Mr. HOYER. I thank the gentleman for his contribution.

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to join with other Members of the House in honoring our good friend and colleague, Representative DANTE FASCELL.

For 38 years, DANTE has worked diligently for the benefit of the people of Florida, the people of this Nation, and the integrity of this institution. Throughout his term of service, he has played an instrumental role in the development and passage of many of the most important bills passed by the Congress in the last half of the 20th century.

On the domestic front, among his many contributions are helping to create the Department of Housing and Urban Development and the Department of Education. He also led the successful effort to establish a national marine sanctuary to protect the fragile ecosystem of the area around the Florida Keys, preserving a national treasure for generations to enjoy.

DANTE is a tenacious fighter with a strong appreciation for the Constitution. He has worked hard and against strong odds to preserve the balance of powers by fighting for Congress' rightful role in the realm of foreign policy. DANTE is without equal in his commitment to keeping Congress involved in the foreign policy process. Without him, for example, we would not have the War Powers Act.

He has also contributed enormously to the integrity of this institution. In 1973, the Democratic Caucus adopted his amendment requiring congressional committee sessions to be open to the public, unless the members of the committee voted in public to close the session. He then moved on, successfully, to insist on the opening of House-Senate conferences. And, believing ardently that the functionings of Government by and for the people should be open to the people, he helped to pass the law to open executive agency meetings.

DANTE'S passion for the democratic system has stretched well beyond the borders of this country. During his tenure in Congress, many of the major foreign policy events that will shape the 21st century world have taken place. Throughout these events, DANTE has always stood firmly for the course of action he believed would strengthen democratic movements.

DANTE'S retirement will have an impact on the quality of national debate and policy. At the same time, it will have an impact on those of us continuing to serve in this institution. I will miss DANTE and wish him the best in all of his new endeavors.

Mr. HUGHES. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to our esteemed colleague DANTE FASCELL of Florida. After 38 years of service to this House, DANTE, one of our most experienced leaders and valued friends, will be retiring.

DANTE is a fine legislator with an excellent record of accomplishment. He has served the 19 district of Florida and this House with great distinction.

Through this admirable work as chairman, the House Foreign Affairs Committee has regained a prominent position in U.S. foreign policy development. In spearheading the House efforts to create a new, strong foreign aid bill, DANTE demonstrated his leadership and consensus building abilities.

As a fellow member of the Select Committee on Narcotics Abuse and Control, I have had the opportunity to work with DANTE to attempt to control the tide of illegal substances entering this country. His tireless efforts deserve our greatest praise.

It is with sadness that I bid farewell to my friend and colleague, but also with best wishes for success in all of his future endeavors.

Mr. PAYNE of New Jersey. Mr. Speaker, as a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, I rise to join in this tribute to our distinguished chairman, DANTE FASCELL.

Since my appointment to the Committee on Foreign Affairs Committee in my freshman term, I have always found Chairman FASCELL to be accessible, considerate, and fair.

His many years of experience have given him a unique perspective on both domestic and international issues.

Before coming to Congress, Chairman FASCELL distinguished himself through military service, through his legal expertise, and through his work as a State representative.

Since his election to Congress in 1954, Chairman FASCELL has been actively involved in a number of major issues. On the Foreign Affairs Committee, he serves also as chairman of the subcommittee on Arms Control, International Security and Scientific Affairs.

He was vice chairman of the House Committee to Investigate Covert Arms Transactions to Iran, and he is a member and former Chairman of the Commission on Security and Cooperation in Europe. With the exciting changes that have taken place around the globe in recent years as formerly oppressed nations embrace democracy, Chairman FASCELL has been able to see the fruits of his labor.

I also serve with Chairman FASCELL on the Select Committee on Narcotics Abuse and Control. We share an interest in eradicating the scourge of illegal drugs, whether it be in my home district of New Jersey or his area in Florida, and Chairman FASCELL has worked diligently toward that goal.

He has left is mark both in foreign and domestic affairs. Chairman FASCELL was involved in such important domestic endeavors as the creation of the Department of Housing and Urban Development. He recognized the importance of helping people meet basic housing needs in order to give their lives dignity and hope.

Mr. Speaker, I know that our chairman will remain active, both at home and in the international community. Although he is leaving this institution, we look forward to his continued input and counsel. Along with my colleagues, I extent my very warmest wishes to Chairman FASCELL as he goes on to meet new challenges in his life.

Mr. BERMAN. Mr. Speaker, it is with a measure of sadness that I rise today to salute my chairman, my colleague, my teacher, and my friend—DANTE FASCELL. I will miss him sorely.

Since I was first elected to Congress and began to serve on the Foreign Affairs Committee, DANTE has been an inspiration and guide.

Throughout his tenure in Congress, DANTE has sought to shape this country's approach to arms control by leading the fight to implement a comprehensive arms control policy.

In his capacity as chairman of the Arms Control Subcommittee, DANTE and I have worked closely together on arms control issues and he has recognized, more than most, the central importance of demilitarization to global peace and prosperity.

In 1961, at the height of the cold war, when the threat of nuclear annihilation was real and immediate for millions of people, DANTE was instrumental in creating the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency. His work put the issue firmly on the front burner of U.S. foreign policy and set the stage for the historic arms limitation and testing agreements of that era.

Throughout the years of the Reagan arms buildup DANTE was among a very few alerting the Congress and the public to the detrimental impact of this policy.

As far back as 1984, DANTE issued a report on the alarming cost and the adverse arms control implications for the strategic defense initiative—star wars. Even as the administration continues to find new justifications for this unneeded project, DANTE continues to point out that the best defense against ballistic missile threats is to strengthen the nonproliferation regime.

DANTE has been equally astute in recognizing the arms control challenges of the post-cold war era.

He has been a leader in urging the replacement of the conventional arms race with an international policy of arms restraint. This effort culminated with the enactment, in October 1991, of legislation calling for the establishment of a multilateral arms restraint regime with the other major supplier countries. Unfortunately, despite high sounding rhetoric, the administration has failed to live up to the goal of limiting arms sales to such volatile regions as the Middle East.

As he has worked for nonproliferation around the world, DANTE and I have worked closely together to restrict access to chemical and biological weapons as well as advanced military technology by particularly dangerous regimes such as Iran and Iraq.

Most recently, DANTE was among the first to recognize the importance of linking assistance to Russia and the other Republics of the former Soviet Union to the orderly and verifiable demilitarization of our former adversary and global arms supplier. He was instrumental in authorizing almost $1 billion to destroy and control the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction by the Republics of the former Soviet Union.

Mr. Speaker, the Nation owes a great debt to DANTE FASCELL. I wish him well in all his future endeavors.

Mr. PANETTA. Mr. Speaker, I would like to join in the tributes to the most honorable and distinguished chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee, DANTE FASCELL, who is retiring this year after 38 years of service in the House. I have had the pleasure of getting to know and working with DANTE the past 15 years of his long and venerable congressional career. DANTE's service has special meaning for me, as he has been not just the chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee and a leading Member of Congress on other issues, but also a leader of the Italian-American community, particularly in the Congress.

DANTE is known for his affable manner, but this congeniality belies a quick mind of sound judgment. His experience and skills as a leader and conciliator are renowned on and off the Hill, and DANTE got a lot done not just for the good people of southern Florida, but for the American people and our natural resources as well. From his championship of the National Marine Sanctuary Program to his stewardship of Florida's Everglades and Keys, DANTE has been a key leader in the struggle to protect our Nation's coastal regions.

In his work, DANTE has performed his office with consummate skill and tact. He is a true legislative craftsman, rarely taking time to boast of his accomplishments but prodigious in his output year after year. DANTE has also been a generous, patriotic, and devoted colleague of all of us, devoted to the people of Florida, to the Nation and to his family.

His accomplishments as chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee are innumerable, but I would like to take special note of several aspects of his long and successful tenure at the helm of that important panel. DANTE is a man of global vision, and as the chairman of the Committee on Foreign Affairs, he has protected the Congress' jurisdiction on many aspects of national security even as he has worked closely with House, Senate and administration leaders during times of crisis to resolve major policy questions. In particular, DANTE has distinguished himself as a champion of the War Powers Resolution and the Congress' constitutional prerogative in the authorization of commitment of American troops to war.

DANTE has devoted 45 years to his service in the public trust, and his legacy includes more than legislation alone. We will not soon forget DANTE'S example of character, wisdom, his love of life, and his earnest desire to serve his fellow Americans. DANTE FASCELL, you've been a good friend of mine and a great Congressman, and I pay tribute to your years and years of hard work tonight. May you have a long and fulfilling retirement.

Mr. GREEN of New York. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to our colleague and esteemed chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, DANTE B. FASCELL, who is retiring at the close of this Congress after 38 years of public service.

I should like to thank our colleague, the gentleman from Texas [Mr. BROOKS] for sponsoring tonight's special order in DANTE'S honor.

Our colleague from Florida has been a wonderful and charismatic leader on the House Foreign Affairs Committee. As a member of the House Subcommittee on Foreign Operations, I have worked closely with the gentleman from Florida and have found him to exemplify what public service and integrity are all about. As a result of his tireless efforts, Congress has played a direct role in the formulation of U.S. foreign policy.

At this time, I should like to offer DANTE my very best upon his retirement. He has gained the deserved respect of all of those who have had the pleasure of working with him in this body. I know that our colleagues join me in thanking him for his dedication to the State of Florida as well as the Nation as a whole.

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, DANTE FASCELL is my oldest and best friend in the Congress. I have known DANTE and Jeanne-Marie for 40 years. I served with him in the Florida Legislature, counseled with him while seeking election to my first term here in the Congress, got his ideas on how to organize and run a congressional office, and have followed his work and leadership as chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee.

DANTE, as we all know, is a unique personality. He is full of high ideals, great energy, friendship and love. And he is a legislative craftsman.

Jeanne-Marie is an integral part of a wonderful husband-wife team. She is so nice, so thoughtful, and so intelligent. Martha and I have spent many happy hours—indeed, happy days—with the Fascells. We are going to miss them, but we will never forget them.

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, this is yet another one of those occasions that leave Members with a profound sense of ambivalence.

We look forward to having the opportunity of paying tribute to an esteemed colleague and friend, while at the same time we are filled with regret at the circumstance that makes just such an opportunity possible.

Today, of course, we are saying goodbye to DANTE FASCELL. It can rightly be said that few Members of Congress have ever had so great an impact on the times in which they served than did DANTE FASCELL.

Whenever future generations talk about the giants of Congress, they will be talking about our friend, DANTE. Whatever DANTE may lack in physical stature, he has more than made up for in leadership stature. His intellect, his tenacity, his burning desire to see the free world prevail in the great struggle of our time—all of these things set DANTE FASCELL apart as a man of uncommon distinction.

And I must say, as the ranking minority member of the Rules Committee, that I have always admired DANTE'S mastery of the rules. He learned early how this place works, and I greatly respect him for it.

Some Members have focused on DANTE'S many achievements in the field of domestic legislation. By contrast, I came to know DANTE best because of his interest in Foreign Affairs. And, Indeed, I served with him on the Foreign Affairs Committee—and for five of those years I served under his chairmanship.

Singling out his most important accomplishment is very difficult—there are so many things to choose from. But one thing that springs quickly to my mind is DANTE'S long championship of the National Endowment for Democracy.

There came a time in the protracted struggle known as the cold war when the free world in general, and the United States in particular, lost sight of the need to wage a positive, proactive campaign of ideas. We simply were not telling our story—or selling our ideas—to the people who were trapped behind the Iron Curtain and elsewhere.

This is when DANTE FASCELL entered the breach. He was instrumental in establishing the National Endowment for Democracy—and he has been indispensable in keeping it going. The endowment's work is still unfinished. But the tide of history is clearly running in favor of freedom, and so much has already happened.

When DANTE FASCELL was first elected to Congress, a worker's revolt in East Germany had recently been crushed and Orthodox Stalinism still held sway in the Soviet Union. Today, as DANTE prepares to leave Congress, East Germany, Stalinism, and all of the other trappings of Soviet communism are gone. The Warsaw Pact and the Soviet Union itself have disintegrated. Freedom—not communism—is everywhere on the march.

In his long congressional career, DANTE FASCELL made signal contributions to winning the cold war. And, somehow, I have the suspicion that he is going to be just as busy in retirement as he was in Congress. I hope so.

To you, DANTE, and to Jeanne-Marie, I extend best wishes for a happy and prosperous retirement. Come back and see us, too. The wit and wisdom of DANTE FASCELL will always be in demand here in Washington.

Mr. HORTON. Mr. Speaker, I want to pay tribute to DANTE FASCELL who will be retiring from the Congress at the end of the year. DANTE FASCELL has served this Nation with distinction as a Member of this body for 38 years.

DANTE FASCELL is one of the finest Members I have ever had the privilege of serving with. He is a true friend and an outstanding statesman. My wife Nancy and I have had both the privilege and pleasure of traveling with DANTE and his lovely wife Jeanne-Marie on countless foreign trips to locations such as London, Venice, and Vienna, in connection with our work on the North Atlantic Assembly and the United States-Canada Interparliamentary Group.

As you know, the North Atlantic Assembly is a panel of legislators from all the NATO countries and focuses on security issues of concern to NATO members. Similarly, the United States-Canada Interparliamentary Group is composed of Members from the Congress and the Canadian Parliament and focuses on border, trade, and security issues, as well as other items of mutual concern. DANTE FASCELL worked extensively on both panels, which have enabled many Members to be more effective legislators.

Nancy and I have even spent time in DANTE'S district when we had the opportunity to travel to Key West, FL. While there, we had the fortune of witnessing first hand many of the projects which DANTE helped bring to his district. It was evident to us that DANTE is held in high regard by his constituents. Knowing DANTE, and the kind of person that he is, we were not surprised by how much his constituents admire and respect him.

As chairman, DANTE has demonstrated tremendous leadership of the House Foreign Affairs Committee. His cool headed, bipartisan approach to foreign affairs has been the hallmark of this chairmanship. He worked very closely with Republicans and Democrats alike and has earned the respect and affection of members from both parties. His leadership will certainly be missed.

And although it is fashionable in some circles to denigrate this institution and its Members, and colleagues who remain behind and our successors would do well to look to the career of DANTE FASCELL as one to emulate. The essence of the Congress is for Members of different views to come together to discuss the issues, hash out the differences, and forge public policy that incorporates the best elements of the varying positions. DANTE FASCELL was a leader in that regard.

My wife Nancy joins me in extending our best wishes to DANTE FASCELL, Jeanne-Marie and their family. We wish them the best of luck in all of their future endeavors.

Mr. REGULA. I am pleased to join in this special order to recognize the accomplishments and contributions of a dedicated American, DANTE FASCELL. Others have detailed his multitude of legislative initiatives and successes during his 38 years as a leader in this body.

On a personal note as a member of the North Atlantic Assembly delegation from the House, I have admired his leadership in articulating to our assembly colleagues from the other 15 nations making up NATO the positions vital to the U.S. role in this organization.

The respect he commanded among the NATO delegates enhanced greatly the impact of U.S. policies.

DANTE leaves this body with the respect of his colleagues and with the goodwill of many friends.

Mary joins me in wishing DANTE and Jeanne good health and a life with new challenges.

Mr. BENNETT. Mr. Speaker, this country, next year and in years to come, will greatly miss the presence in Congress of Congressman DANTE FASCELL. DANTE has given our Nation and the international community of nations level-headed, thoughtful, and compassionate leadership. Without him at the helm in this difficult field of endeavor we could easily have had unneeded wars and tragedies; with him at the helm we developed great international friends and peace.

On a personal note no one in Congress is more beloved and respected. We all wish for him and his lovely wife Jeanne-Marie all happiness and fulfillment in their less stressful future.

Mr. RUSSO. Mr. Speaker, when DANTE FASCELL arrived in Congress, Dwight Eisenhower was President, we were only a few years out of a war in Korea, and the Berlin Wall was yet to be built. Time has marched right along since those relatively calm days of the 1950's, bringing events of a magnitude to reshape the world and our view of it, and DANTE has marched right along with history, reshaping the course of that history through his work in the U.S. Congress.

I can only imagine what DANTE'S accumulated files look like, considering the extent of his involvement in so many major issues through several decades, and his active leadership on the world stage. An archivist could study the course of legislative initiatives brought to fruition on subjects ranging from sunshine in government to housing, and could chart the course of democracy and human rights by reviewing hearings from his work as chairman of the Commission on Security and Cooperation in Europe and as chairman of the Committee on Foreign Affairs.

This leader's departure is a loss for the Congress and the Nation. And, in terms of his great accomplishments, I want the distinguished gentleman from Florida to know this before he departs: Just before I head out the door, I'll vote for the last foreign aid bill—and that's because of you DANTE. All my best wishes for the future to a great legislator and a great friend.

Mr. ANNUNZIO. Mr. Speaker, I rise to join my colleagues in recognizing Congressman DANTE FASCELL of the 19th District of Florida for his 38 years of outstanding service in the House of Representatives.

It is extremely difficult to capsulize the impact that Mr. FASCELL has had on the foreign policy of this Nation; he has been a member of the Committee on Foreign Affairs since 1957, longer than most of us have served in this House. As a member of the House delegation to the North Atlantic Assembly, which he leads as chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee, I have witnessed the diplomacy and skill that he used in restoring the ability of the Foreign Affairs Committee in crafting this country's foreign policy. He also currently chairs the Subcommittee on Arms Control, International Security and Science. He has had a major hand in passing the War Powers Act of 1970, the INF Treaty, and the more recent resolution authorizing the use of force against Iraq.

While his dedication to foreign affairs has been the dominant focus of his congressional career, some of his other legislation also has had far-reaching effects, including the Government in the Sunshine Act, and the establishment of the National Endowment for Democracy. For his district on the tip of southern Florida, he established the Marine Sanctuary around the Florida Keys, and has vigorously opposed offshore oil drilling. Because of his deep concern over escalating illicit drug traffic, he sought and obtained an assignment to the Select Committee on Narcotics Abuse and Control, where he has made numerous contributions aimed at halting this traffic.

Congressman FASCELL leaves a great legacy of legislative accomplishments when he retires at the conclusion of this Congress. I congratulate him and wish for him a healthy, happy and well-deserved retirement.

Mr. MONTGOMERY. Mr. Speaker, I want to join my colleague from Texas in this special order to pay tribute to the gentleman form Florida, DANTE FASCELL. DANTE has been a member of the Foreign Affairs Committee since 1957 and its chariman since 1984. He has been one of the leaders in helping shape foreign policy issues over the years and has counseled Presidents on both sides of the aisle.

I think he has been an outstanding committee chairman on a committee that includes Members of Congress with very diverse opinions on the issues. It has not been an easy job, but he has handled it with great skill. Our colleague has made a tremendous contribution to the cause of democracy and human rights around the world and we are certainly going to miss his leadership and his experience in this Chamber.

I also want to acknowledge the help he has always given me on veterans issues over the years. He was a World War II veteran and has always been so supportive of programs to help improve the services and benefits for the men and women who have served our country.

I wish all the best to our colleague. He is a gentlemen in every respect and we will miss him.

Mr. YATRON. Mr. Speaker, I rise to pay special tribute to my very good friend and colleague, DANTE B. FASCELL, who is retiring after 38 years of distinguished service in the House.

I have had the privilege of serving with Congressman FASCELL on the House Foreign Affairs Committee during my 24 years in Congress, the last 10 of which DANTE was chairman.

DANTE's extraordinary leadership of the committee helped to successfully guide the Congress and the American people through some of the most difficult foreign policy crises to ever confront the Nation.

His legislative accomplishments in international relations were unparalleled and his wise counsel on important national security issues was sought by eight Presidents and their Secretaries of State. DANTE promoted human rights around the world long before it was the popular thing to do.

We live in a far more stable and secure world because of DANTE FASCELL. DANTE has earned the distinction of being called a statesman.

I am proud to have served under Chairman DANTE FASCELL. I am even prouder to call him my friend.

Mr. HUTTO. Mr. Speaker, one of the most outstanding Members of the House is retiring from this body at the end of the 102d Congress. Congressman DANTE FASCELL has served in the Congress since 1954 and has built an enviable record during these 38 years of service.

DANTE started his political career by being elected to the Florida House of Representatives in 1950. After two terms in that body he was elected to the Congress and has proven himself to be one of Florida's finest ever representatives in Congress. He is well known as an expert on foreign affairs and as chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee he is respected by everyone for his able leadership.

DANTE FASCELL is a true American patriot. A reasonable person, he is able to bring together competing factions in a consensus for the best interest of the Nation. Since becoming the chairman of this important committee in 1984, Congressman FASCELL has been able to steer to passage foreign affairs authorization bills that have been unable to get passage in previous years.

Though foreign affairs is his forte, he is knowledgeable on many issues. His support of human rights and his concern and compassion for people has been a source of hope and help for many thousands, perhaps millions of people. DANTE has been a popular Congressman for his south Florida district and seldom has serious opposition for reelection. Though his district has been radically changed in the recent reapportionment there is no question that he could have returned to the House had he chosen to do so.

DANTE, who is a graduate of the University of Miami, is a big booster of the Miami Hurricanes football team and in recent years, of course, he has great reason to rejoice as his team has run up a number of national football championships. On a personal note, it is good to know that DANTE has learned to relax by taking up golf again recently after laying off the game for many years. It was fun playing with him in the recent Congressional Golf Tournament and though DANTE will probably be looking for other things to do, I do not believe that he is yet ready to join the professional golf tour. Just kidding, DANTE, you play a pretty mean game and I encourage you to play a lot of golf when you leave Congress.

We will all miss DANTE FASCELL and Nancy and I wish to extend our very best wishes to DANTE and Jeanne-Marie and wish them Godspeed in their retirement.

Mr. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to take this opportunity to pay tribute to my colleague and dear friend, Congressman DANTE FASCELL, who is retiring at the end of this year.

DANTE was elected to the 84th Congress in 1954 after serving two terms as a Florida State Representative. DANTE and I have served together in the House since the late 1950's, and I have always admired his dedication to his constituents and to his work as chairman of the Committee on Foreign Affairs. DANTE has proven to be an outstanding leader in the enactment of major domestic and international legislation.

My friend, DANTE, has demonstrated his steadfast commitment to the people and environment of southern Florida throughout his four decades in Congress. In the 1960's, he was crucial in the establishment of a drug enforcement administration office in Miami and the designation of the Port of Miami as a major shipping facility. DANTE's record on conservation of Florida's natural beauty is impressive as well. He has continuously obtained preservation rights for the State's Everglades and Biscayne National Parks and in 1990, he authored legislation establishing the Florida Keys National Marine Sanctuary.

DANTE has demonstrated his skill and knowledge in the international arena. He has proven himself to be a champion of democracy and strong advocate of human rights. As a member of the Committee on Foreign Affairs since 1957, and its chairman since 1984, he has demonstrated his leadership in virtually every major foreign policy issue. By Presidential appointment, he served as a member of the U.S. delegation to the 24th General Assembly of the United Nations in 1969, and later served on the U.S. delegation to the CSCE Conferences in Belgrade and Madrid.

Among his most significant legislative accomplishments are the War Powers Act of 1970, the creation of the Federal Government in the Sunshine Act and the establishment of the national endowment for democracy. DANTE has been a tireless advocate for nuclear nonproliferation, and as chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, he was responsible for landmark legislation giving Congress the authority to review all major arms sales abroad. His leadership in foreign affairs is recognized worldwide. Over the years, we have worked well together in resolving numerous controversial issues demanding the steady hand and cool head of a leader like DANTE.

DANTE FASCELL's leadership and commitment to pubic service will be missed by all. I have nothing but the greatest respect for my colleague and dear friend, and I would like to thank him profusely for his years of devotion to his constituents and to the citizens of the United States.

Mr. HOUGHTON. Mr. Speaker, it's been a long night, and I won't take much time. But I did want to take a moment to express my appreciation to DANTE FASCELL. I served under him on Foreign Affairs and have benefited from his wisdom and counsel on a variety of projects. In a nutshell, Mr. Speaker, he's one of the best.

A man once told me that there were three kinds of people in life—the destroyers, who purposely went out of their way to create trouble; the free riders, who simply got along by getting along and left the work to others; and finally, the movers and shakers, the life producers who know that life, as G.K. Chesterton used to say, has to be fought for every minute of every day.

Chairman FASCELL is a life-producer. In a town often accused of fast talk and mixed signals, he is straightforward. He gets the job done. Period. No flash. No showboating. No ego. Just good, solid work that makes the difference. The Congress has been lucky to have him serve; I've been lucky to know him; and we are all better for the standard he has set.

May we all follow where he has so ably led the way.

Mr. BEREUTER. Mr. Speaker, on the day that he announced his retirement, the lead editorial in one of the leading newspapers in this Member's home State of Nebraska was on DANTE FASCELL's departure from this body. This was extraordinary, Mr. Speaker, for several reasons. First, Lincoln, NE, is 1,500 miles from Miami and, as a rule, Nebraskans are not overly interested in the electoral politics of Florida. Second, it may come as a surprise to many of my colleagues, but seems to be an undercurrent of resentment toward incumbents, and one would think that in an era of term limit referendums that the departure of someone who has served for 38 years might be a welcome sign.

And yet, the lead editorial in that day's Lincoln Journal read: "House Lion Walks Away." The editorial correctly noted that Chairman FASCELL is "a gentleman who has done lasting service for the Nation. Even some Republicans, appreciative of FASCELL's human skills and superb legislative craftsmanship, will miss him." Such is the stature of DANTE B. FASCELL that his departure can provoke such a profound sense of loss, not just for Florida, but for the Nation.

Mr. Speaker, in a demonstration of the inate wisdom and sound judgement of Nebraskans, this Member inserts the May 29, 1992, editorial from the Lincoln Journal, a sincere tribute to DANTE FASCELL, at this point in my statement.

[From the Lincoln Journal, May 29, 1992]

HOUSE LION WALKS AWAY

Dante Fascell's unexpected decision to call it quits after 38 years in the House of Representatives carries a greater national importance than simply driving still higher—to 65—the number of current House members not coming back in January.

The Miami congressman is the biggest lion, thus far, to walk away from the Potomac's riverbank jungle.

He is also a gentleman who has done lasting services for the nation. Even some Republicans, appreciative of Fascell's human skills and superb legislative craftsmanship, will miss him.

Relatively unaffected by the bad check scandal, Fascell, 75, does not leave the House Foreign Affairs Committee chairmanship with a sense of maximum satisfaction. Frustration in dealing with two consecutive Republican presidents obsessed with foreign policy as they alone wanted to shape it is more the story. That, and coping with a contentious South Florida congressional redistricting.

The departure of both Fascell and the committee's ranking Republican, William Broomfield of Michigan, momentarily drains some stature from the panel. But not a massive amount.

The extraordinary Rep. Lee Hamilton, D-Ind., assuming his re-election, will become chairman. Tough-minded Hamilton is much respected on both sides of the aisle.

Quietly, cogently, Hamilton will not allow either the Senate or the next administration to dominate decision-making in dealing with the rest of the world. On that you can make book—although Hamilton may not be quite as intuitively sensitive as Fascell to hemispheric relations nuances.

DANTE FASCELL'S tenure as chairman of the Committee on Foreign Affairs has truly been a remarkable period. With issues related to Central America, South Africa, the PRC, Iran, and Iraq, our meetings were rarely dull. On many of these issues the committee has found itself deeply divided.

Yet Chairman FASCELL always led the committee in a fair and even handed manner. He always permitted full minority participation in the debate, and worked whenever possible to craft a bipartisan foreign policy.

With the collapse of the Warsaw Pact and the former Soviet Union, DANTE'S legislative skills have been put to a severe test. But in response, in 1989, Chairman FASCELL was the principle motivator behind the SEED Act, the legislation that seeks to promote democracy and free markets in Eastern Europe. And, in just the past few days, together he and the committee's outstanding ranking Republican, the gentleman from Michigan [Mr. BROOMFIELD], led this body in the passage of the Freedom Support Act that will come to the aid of the former Soviet Republics and yield great peace and economic benefits to the United States of America. As someone who has been deeply interested and involved in this legislation, this Member can unequivocally attest that this historic legislation would not have been possible were it not for the efforts of DANTE B. FASCELL in working with Democrats, Republicans, and the Bush administration.

There surely are many initiatives in which Chairman FASCELL can no doubt take pride. I would suspect that his longstanding efforts to promote democracy and human rights would be high on that list. We now see free and fair elections taking place in countries where, in previous years, such elections were inconceivable. Democracy has taken root in longstanding military dictatorships such as Chile, Uruguay, and Argentina. Elections have brought a peaceful conclusion to civil wars that ravaged Nicaragua, El Salvador, the Western Sahara, and Angola. Throughout Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union, fledgling political parties are taking root. Across the globe, democracy is taking root. And the United States is able to assist in this wave of elections because, in important part, Chairman FASCELL has the vision to be the leader in creating the national endowment for democracy.

Mr. Speaker, all of us have our own favorite "DANTE FASCELL" story. Indeed, everyone who has ever been associated with the Congress of the United States has a DANTE FASCELL story, from the garage attendants with whom he is known to sit down for a cup of coffee, to the long list of Speakers who have depended upon DANTE. His friends and admirers are as extraordinary in number as are his achievements.

Mr. Speaker, while I wish Chairman FASCELL and his charming, very supportive, and lovely wife, JEANNIE-MARIE, all the best in the years ahead, this body will surely miss him. His deep knowledge on foreign affairs and national security matters, his strong leadership, his bipartisan approach to foreign policy, his warm and friendly manner, his candor, and his humor will all be deeply missed.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. HOYER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on the subject of my 1-minute speech.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Maryland?

There was no objection.

TRIBUTE TO THE HONORABLE BRIAN DONNELLY

(Mr. MOAKLEY asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. MOAKLEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to say farewell to an outstanding member of the Massachusetts delegation, my congressional neighbor and great friend, BRIAN DONNELLY. BRIAN and I have worked together closely on many issues facing our very similar constituencies since 1979. We have shared the Dorchester neighborhood within the city of Boston for the past 14 years.

During those seven Congresses, I have seen BRIAN mature into a seasoned, caring, capable, and dedicated public servant. Massachusetts' 11th District has been well served in having BRIAN DONNELLY represent its interests in Washington and his imprimatur on the district, the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and the Nation will long be felt.

Congressional redistricting in the Commonwealth has dictated that 1992 will be the 11th District's last year to send a Representative to Washington. Its history began with John Adams and ended with BRIAN DONNELLY. In my book, that's pretty fair company.

In my mind, BRIAN DONNELLY embodies the concept of public service. His entire career, even in the years before his congressional career began, centered around the concept of service—teaching, coaching, and mentoring.

His legislative career in Washington, as a senior member of the Ways and Means Committee, a former member of the Budget Committee, and as a whip in the House democratic leadership allowed him the opportunity to invest his time and expertise in policy areas that had direct implications on the quality of people's lives.

BRIAN's leadership in the catastrophic health care debate in 1989 is legendary. Faced with senior citizen opposition to the bill after its passage, BRIAN diligently and effectively made the case for its repeal.

BRIAN'S sensitivity to the needs of seniors in Quincy, Dorchester, and Brockton led him to mount a challenge which resulted in national headlines for BRIAN and financial savings and better health care for seniors throughout the Nation. BRIAN also made a mark in crafting legislation in the always difficult world of immigration law. DONNELLY'S district, it is said, is the most Irish in all of America. Indeed, the number of first and second generation Irish in the 11th is said to almost equal the population of Dublin.

In the wake of civil unrest in Ireland, with violent confrontations becoming a daily occurrence, BRIAN was instrumental in shaping legislation overhauling immigration policy with respect to Ireland. Donnelly visas have made BRIAN DONNELLY a household name throughout all of Ireland.

BRIAN'S work in processing Massachusetts' case in keeping the Quincy Shipyard open and functioning is also a hallmark of his tenure in Congress. There were those who said it could not be done and that it was not worth the fight; that Quincy had worn out its usefulness, worn out its welcome. But BRIAN fought the good fight and literally left no stone unturned as he pressed the shipyard and Massachusetts' case with the Navy Department and the administration. For that, he deserves the thanks of all of southeastern Massachusetts.

Above and beyond all of this, I'll miss B.D., as everyone calls BRIAN on a daily and personal basis. His humor, his sarcasm, his acute vote-counting ability are attributes not often found to such a degree in this Chamber.

I look forward to working with BRIAN often in the months and years ahead in whatever paths BRIAN'S career takes him. His talents, compassion, motivation, and drive will certainly find a nest soon and wherever that may be, I wish him all the best.

Mr. MAVROULES. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to a dear friend and fellow colleague from Massachusetts, BRIAN DONNELLY. for 14 years he has served with distinction in the House, faithfully serving the people of the 11th District.

Certainly, his list of accomplishments for the Bay State is worthy of praise. A fine example of his drive and dedication can clearly be seen by his efforts on health care issues, particularly as they impact the people of Massachusetts. Here in the House, BRIAN has strived to see a comprehensive health care policy enacted, so all Americans can receive the health care that should be the right of every citizen. Throughout his career, he has approached the most difficult and complex issues with the highest level of integrity.

It saddens me to see BRIAN leave, but I know he will succeed in all his future endeavors. Mr. Speaker, I truly wish to extend my heartfelt gratitude for all his work and send my best wishes to BRIAN and his family.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. MOAKLEY. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on the subject of my 1-minute of today.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. ECKART). Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Massachusetts?

There was no objection.

TELEPHONE DISCLOSURE AND DISPUTE RESOLUTION ACT

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the Energy and Commerce Committee be discharged from consideration of the bill (H.R. 6191) to protect the public interest in the future development of pay-per-call technology by providing for the regulation and oversight of the applications and growth of the pay-per-call industry, and for other purposes, and ask for its immediate consideration.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Washington?

Mr. LENT. Mr. Speaker, reserving the right to object, I do so to yield to the gentleman from Washington to give him an opportunity to respond to this question: Is this new H.R. 6191 the same language of the bill the House previously approved; namely, S. 1579, with the substituted text of H.R. 3490?

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. LENT. Further reserving the right to object, I am happy to yield to the gentleman from Washington.

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, it is.

Mr. LENT. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

Mr. SWIFT. If the gentleman would yield further, with amendments agreed to by the Senate.

Mr. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. LENT. Further reserving the right to object, I am happy to yield to the gentleman from Michigan.

Mr. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, I just wanted to observe that this is probably the last time I will deal with the gentleman officially on the floor of the House of Representatives.

He has been my dear friend, an outstanding Member of this body, and I shall miss him; I believe the House will miss him, and I wish him good luck, good health, good fortune and Godspeed.

Mr. LENT. Mr. Speaker, this will be the last bill upon which I will work, and I'd like to take this opportunity to express my gratitude and appreciation to the many people who have given their assistance throughout my 22 years in Congress. First, I'd like to thank my colleagues for their friendship, and in particular, I want to pay tribute to Chairman JOHN DINGELL, who I have found to be a tough negotiator, skillful legislator, and warm and decent human being.

I also want to thank my staff on the Energy and Commerce Committee, because my successes have in large part been due to their expertise, intelligence, and hard work, and I want to single out Minority Staff Director and Chief Counsel Margaret Durbin for her unflagging dedication and loyalty.

Lastly, I want to thank my personal staff, with whom I have worked side by side, sharing both good times and bad. I do not hesitate in stating that I have been privileged to have the finest staff of any Member of this body, and I will always treasure the memory of my association with them.

My colleagues in the House, it is fitting that I end my congressional career with the passage of this bill, for in a small way it encapsulates what I have tried to do here. After long preparation, a bill was introduced, taken to committee and to the floor. After lengthy negotiations, a bill—a good bill—is before this House, which will be sent to the President, who will sign it into law.

The result of the work, the time, and the effort is a bill of which I am personally proud. Likewise, I am proud of my efforts in this House, and I hope that the work I have done will bring greater prosperity and freedom to the people I have been privileged to serve.

So thank you, my friends. I wish you health and success in the years to come, and I hope that whatever may transpire in the future, you may always consider me your friend as well.

Mr. Speaker, with that, I could hardly do other than withdraw my reservation of objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Washington?

Mr. COX of California. Mr. Speaker, reserving the right to object, earlier in the proceedings, several name bills were taken up by the House. Inadvertently, a name bill that had passed our Chamber earlier was not passed separately so that it could be referred to the other body and kept at the desk. I would like the opportunity to introduce that bill by unanimous consent.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. At this point in the proceedings, that motion, that unanimous-consent request, is not in order. The Chair will return to the gentleman after the disposition of this unanimous-consent request and may recognize him for that purpose, but it is not in order at this time.

Mr. COX of California. I understand, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will return to him for possible recognition as soon as the Chair can conclude this matter.

Mr. SLATTERY. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 6191, legislation that will establish important and necessary regulation of 900 number telephone services. I commend Representative SWIFT for his diligent work on this issue in the 102d Congress.

I want to bring to the attention of my colleagues, however, a provision included in title IV of this legislation that will lead to the allocation of radio spectrum for advanced utility metering technology. I want to express my appreciation to Energy and Commerce Committee Chairman JOHN DINGELL and Telecommunications and Finance Subcommittee Chairman ED MARKEY for their assistance in adding this provision to H.R. 6191.

This language is intended to provide for an expeditious investigation by the Department of Commerce, in conjunction with the Department of Energy, to determine that the application of automated utility meter technology is essential to the public interest in terms of energy and water conservation, public safety, and economic development.

Congress finds that the demonstration of this technology through the use of dedicated radio frequency spectrum will allow utilities to remotely read meters and assist utility customers in efficiently managing their energy and water needs in a timely fashion. Furthermore, application of this technology would enhance utility capability to respond to natural disasters including, but not limited to, earthquakes, hurricanes, tornadoes, and floods.

Congress further finds that the allocation of spectrum for the demonstration of this technology will provide the basis for the spawning of new and related technologies, and the creation of new industries with attendant employment growth. Congress also finds that the public interest will be well-served through this demonstration because it will present the opportunity for commercial and residential customers to exercise the necessary flexibility in determining their own respective energy needs.

Congress recognizes that other countries, such as Great Britain, have allocated radio frequency spectrum dedicated to the use of innovative utility communications services and equipment. Accordingly, our Nation can ill afford to fall behind in the development, testing, and utilization of this technology.

Mr. MARKEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 6191, the Telephone Disclosure and Dispute Resolution Act. This legislation reflects an agreement with the Senate on a compromise between H.R. 3490 and S. 1579, and needs to be passed at this point due to the parliamentary position in the other body. This bill provides for the first comprehensive set of regulations to protect an unsuspecting consumer from the unscrupulous or fraudulent actions of some 900 number service providers. The legislation will give the Federal Communications Commission and the Federal Trade Commission the tools they need to deal with the consumer complaints and confusion surrounding the 900 number industry.

Because 900 number pay-per-call services are so easily accessed through the use of the telephone, I believe the technology has the potential to bring to homes and businesses across the country the benefits of the information age. Yet, as is often the case with many new and rapidly expanding industries, problems have emerged that need Government guidance and regulation in order to protect consumers as well as the integrity of the Nation's telecommunications network.

The clear, constructive guidelines contained in this legislation will go a long way in restoring consumer confidence in the industry and in burnishing the tarnished image of honest, legitimate providers of 900 services who have been adversely affected by pay-per-call's renegade providers.

The legislation requires a preamble message for all 900 services that will avail callers of the opportunity to hear the total cost or cost per minute of the service as well as the right to hang up without incurring a charge for the call. It prevents telephone subscribers from having their local telephone service disconnected for nonpayment of separate 900 number charges. It requires that advertisements for 900 services clearly display and disclose the price of the calls and also prevents toll-free 800 numbers from being used to transfer callers to pay-per-call 900 number services. Finally, it ensures that consumers have a place to turn when they have a dispute over a bill for 900 services.

In addition, H.R. 6191 also contains a provision regarding the interception of cellular telecommunications. This provision is substantially the same as a provision I sponsored last year that was included in H.R. 1674, the FCC reauthorization measure, which passed the House on September 26, 1991. The Electronic Communications Privacy Act [ECPA] makes it illegal to intercept cellular telephone conversations, ensuring users of cellular telephones the same degree of Federal protection accorded those who use traditional wire telephone service. Cellular telephone users have an exception and a right to privacy, and this right is presently being threatened by a host of Listening Toms who surreptitiously scan the airwaves searching for conversations using special radio scanning equipment. The provision included in the bill updates the FCC's equipment certification process to bring it in line with the Privacy Act by restricting the manufacture of new radio scanners so that this equipment could not be used for illegal eavesdropping and interception of cellular frequencies. This amendment, of course, would not affect any scanner that is already in use.

I will submit the section pertaining to cellular privacy from the House Energy and Commerce Committee report on H.R. 1674 that pertain to this section be included as part of my statement. I'd also like to briefly clarify one part of the report by saying that scanners manufactured or imported in violation of FCC rules promulgated under this provision are subject to forfeitures under section 503.

The bill also contains a provision that would encourage the use of wireless communications to help conserve energy and increase efficiency. This provision provides an excellent example of how we can use telecommunications to solve our Nation's many problems. This provision has widespread support among the Members.

Again, this is carefully constructed, bipartisan legislation that deserves the support of all the Members.

I'd like to commend Congressman SWIFT for his work on this legislation as well as Congressmen RINALDO and RITTER for their support and contributions to the final product. As always the chairman of the full Energy and Commerce Committee, Mr. DINGELL, deserves tremendous credit for guiding this legislation through the Congress, legislation which is the product of two Energy and Commerce Subcommittees. I'd also like to commend the work of Congressman GORDON who has been a real force behind this legislation.

SECTION 9. INTERCEPTION OF CELLULAR TELECOMMUNICATIONS

The Committee finds that scanning receivers continue to be manufactured with the capability of monitoring the frequencies allocated to cellular telephone service. Such equipment enables users to violate the provisions of the 1986 Electronic Communications Privacy Act (ECPA), which extends Federal privacy protections to cellular telephone users. Equally disturbing, even equipment that blocks out cellular calls can often be easily modified to receive cellular transmissions, often by cutting a single wire. Moreover, the Committee has received numerous examples of "how-to" manuals for modifying scanners so that they can be used to eavesdrop on cellular calls. The Committee has obtained copies of advertisements for scanners that do not block out the cellular frequencies or that pitch easy restoration of such frequencies. This amendment is intended to address these ongoing problems, and bring the Commission's certification process in line with ECPA.

Section 8 of the bill amends the Communications Act of 1934 by adding a new subsection (d) to section 302. Subsection 302(d) requires the Commission to promulgate regulations denying equipment authorization under Part 15 (or any other part) of the Commission's rules for any scanning receiver that can (1) receive transmissions in the cellular frequencies; (2) readily be altered to receive such transmissions; or (3) be equipped with a decoder that can convert cellular transmissions to analog voice audio. The bar on scanners equipped with digital-to-analog converters that work in the cellular bands is intended to ensure that the additional privacy protection afforded by the conversion of cellular systems from analog to digital transmission is not undermined. Any question of whether such a receiver complies with those regulations shall be determined by the Commission.

Subsection 302(d)(2) prohibits the manufacture or importation of scanning receivers with the prohibited capabilities beginning one year after the effective date of the regulations required under subsection 302(d)(1). Subsection 302(d)(2) does not bar the sale or use of non-complying scanning receivers, since the Committee expects that the stock of new non-complying scanners available for sale or use will diminish rapidly once the regulations are adopted. The Committee takes note that this subsection contrasts with subsection 302 (a) and (b), which do bar the sale or use of certain radio frequency devices. As such, the section 510 enforcement powers, which apply to violations of section 302, would not be applicable to scanners other than those manufactured or imported subsequent to adoption of regulations required by this section. Subsection 302(b) applies to scanning receivers only to the extent that they fail to comply with the Commission's rules governing their interference potential.

For a number of years, several manufacturers have blocked voluntarily the reception of cellular frequencies in their scanning receivers. Additionally, some have refused to repair modified equipment that is returned for service, or have restored such equipment to its original configuration. However, methods of converting equipment have been devised and distributed by third parties. The Committee believes that as long as the equipment complies with the Commission's regulations adopted pursuant to subsection 302(d)(1), there shall be no liability under this section for manufacturers due to the actions of third parties.

Mr. COX of California. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my reservation of objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Washington?

There was no objection.

The Clerk read the bill, as follows:

H.R. 6191

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE, FINDINGS.

(a) SHORT TITLE.—This Act may be cited as the "Telephone Disclosure and Dispute Resolution Act".

(b) FINDINGS.—The Congress finds the following:

(1) The use of pay-per-call services, most commonly through the use of 900 telephone numbers, has grown exponentially in the past few years into a national, billion-dollar industry as a result of recent technological innovations. Such services are convenient to consumers, cost-effective to vendors, and profitable to communications common carriers.

(2) Many pay-per-call businesses provide valuable information, increase consumer choices, and stimulate innovative and responsive services that benefit the public.

(3) The interstate nature of the pay-per-call industry means that its activities are beyond the reach of individual States and therefore requires Federal regulatory treatment to protect the public interest.

(4) The lack of nationally uniform regulatory guidelines has led to confusion for callers, subscribers, industry participants, and regulatory agencies as to the rights of callers and the oversight responsibilities of regulatory authorities, and has allowed some pay-per-call businesses to engage in practices that abuse the rights of consumers.

(5) Some interstate pay-per-call businesses have engaged in practices which are misleading to the consumer, harmful to the public interest, or contrary to accepted standards of business practices and thus cause harm to the many reputable businesses that are serving the public.

(6) Because the consumer most often incurs a financial obligation as soon as a pay-per-call transaction is completed, the accuracy and descriptiveness of vendor advertisements become crucial in avoiding consumer abuse. The obligation for accuracy should include price-per-call and duration-of-call information, odds disclosure for lotteries, games, and sweepstakes, and obligations for obtaining parental consent from callers under 18.

(7) The continued growth of the legitimate pay-per-call industry is dependent upon consumer confidence that unfair and deceptive behavior will be effectively curtailed and that consumers will have adequate rights of redress.

(8) Vendors of telephone-billed goods and services must also feel confident in their rights and obligations for resolving billing disputes if they are to use this new marketplace for the sale of products of more than nominal value.

TITLE I—CARRIER OBLIGATIONS AND CONSUMER RIGHTS CONCERNING PAY-PER-CALL TRANSACTIONS

SEC. 101. AMENDMENT TO COMMUNICATIONS ACT OF 1934.

Title II of the Communications Act of 1934 is amended by adding at the end thereof the following new section:

"SEC. 228. REGULATION OF CARRIER OFFERING OF PAY-PER-CALL SERVICES.

"(a) PURPOSE.—It is the purpose of this section—

"(1) to put into effect a system of national regulation and review that will oversee interstate pay-per-call services;

"(2) to recognize the Commission's authority to prescribe regulations and enforcement procedures and conduct oversight to afford reasonable protection to consumers of pay-per-call services and to assure that violations of Federal law do not occur.

"(b) GENERAL AUTHORITY FOR REGULATIONS.—The Commission by regulation shall, within 270 days after the date of enactment of this section, establish a system for oversight and regulation of pay-per-call services in order to provide for the protection of consumers in accordance with this Act and other applicable Federal statutes and regulations. The Commission's final rules shall—

"(1) include measures that provide a consumer of pay-per-call services with adequate and clear descriptions of the rights of the caller;

"(2) define the obligations of common carriers with respect to the provision of pay-per-call services;

"(3) include requirements on such carriers to protect against abusive practices by providers of pay-per-call services;

"(4) identify procedures by which common carriers and providers of pay-per-call services may take affirmative steps to protect against nonpayment of legitimate charges; and

"(5) require that any service described in subparagraphs (A) and (B) of subsection (i)(1) be offered only through the use of certain telephone number prefixes and area codes.

"(c) COMMON CARRIER OBLIGATIONS.—Within 270 days after the date of enactment of this section, the Commission shall, by regulation, establish the following requirements for common carriers:

"(1) CONTRACTUAL OBLIGATIONS TO COMPLY.—Any common carrier assigning to a provider of pay-per-call services a telephone number with a prefix or area code designated by the Commission in accordance with subsection (b)(5) shall require by contract or tariff that such provider comply with the provisions of titles II and III of the Telephone Disclosure and Dispute Resolution Act and the regulations prescribed by the Federal Trade Commission pursuant to those titles.

"(2) INFORMATION AVAILABILITY.—A common carrier that by tariff or contract assigns a telephone number with a prefix or area code designated by the Commission in accordance with subsection (b)(5) to a provider of a pay-per-call service shall make readily available on request to Federal and State agencies and other interested persons—

"(A) a list of the telephone numbers for each of the pay-per-call services it carries;

"(B) a short description of each such service;

"(C) a statement of the total cost or the cost per minute and any other fees for each such service;

"(D) a statement of the pay-per-call service's name, business address, and business telephone; and

"(E) such other information as the Commission considers necessary for the enforcement of this section and other applicable Federal statutes and regulations.

"(2) COMPLIANCE PROCEDURES.—A common carrier that by contract or tariff assigns a telephone number with a prefix or area code designated by the Commission in accordance with subsection (b)(5) to a provider of pay-per-call services shall terminate, in accordance with procedures specified in such regulations, the offering of a pay-per-call service of a provider if the carrier knows or reasonably should know that such service is not provided in compliance with title II or III of the Telephone Disclosure and Dispute Resolution Act or the regulations prescribed by the Federal Trade Commission pursuant to such titles.

"(3) SUBSCRIBER DISCONNECTION PROHIBITED.—A common carrier shall not disconnect or interrupt a subscriber's local exchange telephone service or long distance telephone service because of nonpayment of charges for any pay-per-call service.

"(4) BLOCKING AND PRESUBSCRIPTION.—A common carrier that provides local exchange service shall—

"(A) offer telephone subscribers (where technically feasible) the option of blocking access from their telephone number to all, or to certain specific, prefixes or area codes used by pay-per-call services, which option—

"(i) shall be offered at no charge (I) to all subscribers for a period of 60 days after the issuance of the regulations under subsection (b), and (II) to any subscriber who subscribes to a new telephone number until 60 days after the time the new telephone number is effective; and

"(ii) shall otherwise be offered at a reasonable fee; and

"(B) offer telephone subscribers (where the Commission determines it is technically and economically feasible), in combination with the blocking option described under subparagraph (A), the option of presubscribing to or blocking only specific pay-per-call services for a reasonable one-time charge.

The regulations prescribed under subparagraph (A)(i) of this paragraph may permit the costs of such blocking to be recovered by contract or tariff, but such costs may not be recovered from local or long-distance ratepayers. Nothing in this subsection precludes a common carrier from filing its rates and regulations regarding blocking and presubscription in its interstate tariffs.

"(5) VERIFICATION OF CHARITABLE STATUS.—A common carrier that assigns by contract or tariff a telephone number with a prefix or area code designated by the Commission in accordance with subsection (b)(5) to a provider of pay-per-call services that the carrier knows or reasonably should know is engaged in soliciting charitable contributions shall obtain from such provider proof of the tax exempt status of any person or organization for which contributions are solicited.

"(6) BILLING FOR 800 CALLS.—A common carrier shall prohibit by tariff or contract the use of any 800 telephone number, or other telephone number advertised or widely understood to be toll free, in a manner that would result in—

"(A) the calling party being assessed, by virtue of completing the call, a charge for the call;

"(B) the calling party being connected to a pay-per-call service;

"(C) the calling party being charged for information conveyed during the call unless the calling party has a preexisting agreement to be charged for the information or discloses a credit or charge card number during the call; or

"(D) the calling party being called back collect for the provision of audio information services or simultaneous voice conservation services.

"(d) BILLING AND COLLECTION PRACTICES.—The regulations required by this section shall require that any common carrier that by tariff or contract assigns a telephone number with a prefix or area code designated by the Commission in accordance with subsection (b)(5) to a provider of a pay-per-call service and that offers billing and collection services to such provider—

"(1) ensure that a subscriber is not billed—

"(A) for pay-per-call services that such carrier knows or reasonably should know was provided in violation of the regulations issued pursuant to title II of the Telephone Disclosure and Dispute Resolution Act; or

"(B) under such other circumstances as the Commission determines necessary in order to protect subscribers from abusive practices;

"(2) establish a local or a toll-free telephone number to answer questions and provide information on subscribers' rights and obligations with regard to their use of pay-per-call services and to provide to callers the name and mailing address of any provider of pay-per-call services offered by the common carrier;

"(3) within 60 days after the issuance of final regulations pursuant to subsection (b), provide, either directly or through contract with any local exchange carrier that provides billing or collection services to the common carrier, to all of such common carrier's telephone subscribers, to all new subscribers, and to all subscribers requesting service at a new location, a disclosure statement that sets forth all rights and obligations of the subscriber and the carrier with respect to the use and payment for pay-per-call services, including the right of a subscriber not to be billed and the applicable blocking option; and

"(4) in any billing to telephone subscribers that includes charges for any pay-per-call service—

"(A) display any charges for pay-per-call services in a part of the subscriber's bill that is identified as not being related to local and long distance telephone charges;

"(B) for each charge so displayed, specify, at a minimum, the type of service, the amount of the charge, and the date, time, and duration of the call; and

"(C) identify the toll-free number established pursuant to paragraph (2).

"(e) LIABILITY.—

"(1) COMMON CARRIERS NOT LIABLE FOR TRANSMISSION OR BILLING.—No common carrier shall be liable for a criminal or civil sanction or penalty solely because the carrier provided transmission or billing and collection for a pay-per-call service unless the carrier knew or reasonably should have known that such service was provided in violation of a provision of, or regulation prescribed pursuant to, title II or III of the Telephone Disclosure and Dispute Resolution Act or any other Federal law. This paragraph shall not prevent the Commission from imposing a sanction or penalty on a common carrier for a violation by that carrier of a regulation prescribed under this section.

"(2) CIVIL LIABILITY.—No cause of action may be brought in any court or administrative agency against any common carrier or any of its affiliates on account of any act of the carrier or affiliate to terminate any pay-per-call service in order to comply with the regulations prescribed under this section, title II or III of the Telephone Disclosure and Dispute Resolution Act, or any other Federal law unless the complainant demonstrates that the carrier or affiliate did not act in good faith.

"(f) SPECIAL PROVISIONS.—

"(1) CONSUMER REFUND REQUIREMENTS.—The regulations required by subsection (d) shall establish procedures, consistent with the provisions of titles II and III of the Telephone Disclosure and Dispute Resolution Act, to ensure that carriers and other parties providing billing and collection services with respect to pay-per-call services provide appropriate refunds to subscribers who have been billed for pay-per-call services pursuant to programs that have been found to have violated this section or such regulations, any provision of, or regulations prescribed pursuant to, title II or III of the Telephone Disclosure and Dispute Resolution Act, or any other Federal law.

"(2) RECOVERY OF COSTS.—The regulations prescribed by the Commission under this section shall permit a common carrier to recover its cost of complying with such regulations from providers of pay-per-call services, but shall not permit such costs to be recovered from local or long distance ratepayers.

"(3) RECOMMENDATIONS ON DATA PAY-PER-CALL.—The Commission, within one year after the date of enactment of this section, shall submit to the Congress the Commission's recommendations with respect to the extension of regulations under this section to persons that provide, for a per-call charge, data services that are not pay-per-call services.

"(g) EFFECT ON OTHER LAW.—

"(1) NO PREEMPTION OF ELECTION LAW.—Nothing in this section shall relieve any provider of pay-per-call services, common carrier, local exchange carrier, or any other person from the obligation to comply with Federal, State, and local election statutes and regulations.

"(2) CONSUMER PROTECTION LAWS.—Nothing in this section shall relieve any provider of pay-per-call services, common carrier, local exchange carrier, or any other person from the obligation to comply with any Federal, State, or local statute or regulation relating to consumer protection or unfair trade.

"(3) GAMBLING LAWS.—Nothing in this section shall preclude any State from enforcing its statutes and regulations with regard to lotteries, wagering, betting, and other gambling activities.

"(4) STATE AUTHORITY.—Nothing in this section shall preclude any State from enacting and enforcing additional and complementary oversight and regulatory systems or procedures, or both, so long as such systems and procedures govern intrastate services and do not significantly impede the enforcement of this section or other Federal statutes.

"(5) ENFORCEMENT OF EXISTING REGULATIONS.—Nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit the Commission from enforcing regulations prescribed prior to the date of enactment of this section in fulfilling the requirements of this section to the extent that such regulations are consistent with the provisions of this section.

"(h) EFFECT ON DIAL-A-PORN PROHIBITIONS.—Nothing in this section shall affect the provisions of section 223 of this Act.

"(i) DEFINITION OF PAY-PER-CALL SERVICES.—For purposes of this section—

"(1) The term 'pay-per-call services' means any service—

"(A) in which any person provides or purports to provide—

"(i) audio information or audio entertainment produced or packaged by such person;

"(ii) access to simultaneous voice conversation services; or

"(iii) any service, including the provision of a product, the charges for which are assessed on the basis of the completion of the call;

"(B) for which the caller pays a per-call or per-time-interval charge that is greater than, or in addition to, the charge for transmission of the call; and

"(C) which is accessed through use of a 900 telephone number or other prefix or area code designated by the Commission in accordance with subsection (b)(5).

"(2) Such term does not include directory services provided by a common carrier or its affiliate or by a local exchange carrier or its affiliate, or any service the charge for which is tariffed, or any service for which users are assessed charges only after entering into a presubscription or comparable arrangement with the provider of such service.".

SEC. 102. TECHNICAL AMENDMENT.

Section 3(c) of the Telephone Consumer Protection Act of 1991 is amended by striking "section 228" and inserting "section 227".

TITLE II—REGULATION OF UNFAIR AND DECEPTIVE ACTS AND PRACTICES IN CONNECTION WITH PAY-PER-CALL SERVICES

SEC. 201. FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION REGULATIONS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—

(1) ADVERTISING REGULATIONS.—The Commission shall prescribe rules in accordance with this subsection to prohibit unfair and deceptive acts and practices in any advertisement for pay-per-call services. Such rules shall require that the person offering such pay-per-call services—

(A) clearly and conspicuously disclose in any advertising the cost of the use of such telephone number, including the total cost or the cost per minute and any other fees for that service and for any other pay-per-call service to which the caller may be transferred;

(B) in the case of an advertisement which offers a prize or award or a service or product at no cost or for a reduced cost, clearly and conspicuously disclose the odds of being able to receive such prize, award, service, or product at no cost or reduced cost, or, if such odds are not calculable in advance, disclose the factors determining such odds;

(C) in the case of an advertisement that promotes a service that is not operated or expressly authorized by a Federal agency but that provides information on a Federal program, include at the beginning of such advertisement a clear disclosure that the service is not authorized, endorsed, or approved by any Federal agency;

(D) shall not direct such advertisement at children under the age of 12, unless such service is a bona fide educational service;

(E) in the case of advertising directed primarily to individuals under the age of 18, clearly and conspicuously state in such advertising that such individual must have the consent of such individual's parent or legal guardian for the use of such services;

(F) be prohibited from using advertisements that emit electronic tones which can automatically dial a pay-per-call telephone number;

(G) ensure that, whenever the number to be called is shown in television and print media advertisements, the charges for the call are clear and conspicuous and (when shown in television advertisements) displayed for the same duration as that number is displayed;

(H) in delivering any telephone message soliciting calls to a pay-per-call service, specify clearly, and at no less than the audible volume of the solicitation, the total cost and the cost per minute and any other fees for that service and for any other pay-per-call service to which the caller may be transferred; and

(I) not advertise an 800 telephone number, or any other telephone number advertised or widely understood to be toll free, from which callers are connected to an access number for a pay-per-call service.

(2) PAY-PER-CALL SERVICE STANDARDS.—The Commission shall prescribe rules to require that each provider of pay-per-call services—

(A) include in each pay-per-call message an introductory disclosure message that—

(i) describes the service being provided;

(ii) specifies clearly and at a reasonably understandable volume the total cost or the cost per minute and any other fees for that service and for any other pay-per-call service to which the caller may be transferred;

(iii) informs the caller that charges for the call begin at the end of the introductory message;

(iv) informs the caller that parental consent is required for calls made by children; and

(v) in the case of a pay-per-call service that is not operated or expressly authorized by a Federal agency but that provides information on any Federal program, a statement that clearly states that the service is not authorized, endorsed, or approved by any Federal agency;

(B) enable the caller to hang up at or before the end of the introductory message without incurring any charge whatsoever;

(C) not direct such services at children under the age of 12, unless such service is a bona fide educational service;

(D) stop the assessment of time-based charges immediately upon disconnection by the caller;

(E) disable any bypass mechanism which allows frequent callers to avoid listening to the disclosure message described in subparagraph (A) after the institution of any price increase and for a period of time sufficient to give such frequent callers adequate and sufficient notice of the price change;

(F) be prohibited from providing pay-per-call services through an 800 number or other telephone number advertised or widely understood to be toll free;

(G) be prohibited from billing consumers in excess of the amounts described in the introductory message and from billing for services provided in violation of the rules prescribed by the Commission pursuant to this section;

(H) ensure that any billing statement for such provider's charges shall—

(i) display any charges for pay-per-call services in a part of the consumer's bill that is identified as not being related to local and long distance telephone charges; and

(ii) for each charge so displayed, specify, at a minimum, the type of service, the amount of the charge, and the date, time, and duration of the call;

(I) be liable for refunds to consumers who have been billed for pay-per-call services pursuant to programs that have been found to have violated the regulations prescribed pursuant to this section or title III of this Act or any other Federal law; and

(J) comply with such additional standards as the Commission may prescribe to prevent abusive practices.

(3) ACCESS TO INFORMATION.—The Commission shall by rule require a common carrier that provides telephone services to a provider of pay-per-call services to make available to the Commission any records and financial information maintained by such carrier relating to the arrangements (other than for the provision of local exchange service) between such carrier and any provider of pay-per-call services.

(4) EVASIONS.—The rules issued by the Commission under this section shall include provisions to prohibit unfair or deceptive acts or practices that evade such rules or undermine the rights provided to customers under this title, including through the use of alternative billing or other procedures.

(5) EXEMPTIONS.—The regulations prescribed by the Commission pursuant to paragraph (2)(A) may exempt from the requirements of such paragraph—

(A) calls from frequent callers or regular subscribers using a bypass mechanism to avoid listening to the disclosure message required by such regulations, subject to the requirements of paragraph (2)(E); or

(B) pay-per-call services provided at nominal charges, as defined by the Commission in such regulations.

(6) CONSIDERATION OF OTHER RULES REQUIRED.—In conducting a proceeding under this section, the Commission shall consider requiring, by rule or regulation, that providers of pay-per-call services—

(A) automatically disconnect a call after one full cycle of the program; and

(B) include a beep tone or other appropriate and clear signal during a live interactive group program so that callers will be alerted to the passage of time.

(7) SPECIAL RULE FOR INFREQUENT PUBLICATIONS.—The rules prescribed by the Commission under subparagraphs (A) and (G) of paragraph (1) may permit, in the case of publications that are widely distributed, that are printed annually or less frequently, and that have an established policy of not publishing specific prices, advertising that in lieu of the cost disclosures required by such subparagraphs, clearly and conspicuously disclose that use of the telephone number may result in a substantial charge.

(8) TREATMENT OF RULES.—A rule issued under this subsection shall be treated as a rule issued under section 18(a)(1)(B) of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 57a(a)(1)(B)).

(b) RULEMAKING.—The Commission shall prescribe the rules under subsection (a) within 270 days after the date of enactment of this Act. Such rules shall be prescribed in accordance with section 553 of title 5, United States Code.

(c) ENFORCEMENT.—Any violation of any rule prescribed under subsection (a) shall be treated as a violation of a rule respecting unfair or deceptive acts or practices under section 5 of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 45). Notwithstanding section 5(a)(2) of such Act (15 U.S.C. 45(a)(2)), communications common carriers shall be subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission for purposes of this title.

SEC. 202. ACTIONS BY STATES.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Whenever an attorney general of any State has reason to believe that the interests of the residents of that State have been or are being threatened or adversely affected because any person has engaged or is engaging in a pattern or practice which violates any rule of the Commission under section 201(a), the State may bring a civil action on behalf of its residents in an appropriate district court of the United States to enjoin such pattern or practice, to enforce compliance with such rule of the Commission, to obtain damages on behalf of their residents, or to obtain such further and other relief as the court may deem appropriate.

(b) NOTICE.—The State shall serve prior written notice of any civil action under subsection (a) upon the Commission and provide the Commission with a copy of its complaint, except that if it is not feasible for the State to provide such prior notice, the State shall serve such notice immediately upon instituting such action. Upon receiving a notice respecting a civil action, the Commission shall have the right (1) to intervene in such action, (2) upon so intervening, to be heard on all matters arising therein, and (3) to file petitions for appeal.

(c) VENUE.—Any civil action brought under this section in a district court of the United States may be brought in the district wherein the defendant is found or is an inhabitant or transacts business or wherein the violation occurred or is occurring, and process in such cases may be served in any district in which the defendant is an inhabitant or wherever the defendant may be found.

(d) INVESTIGATORY POWERS.—For purposes of bringing any civil action under this section, nothing in this Act shall prevent the attorney general from exercising the powers conferred on the attorney general by the laws of such State to conduct investigations or to administer oaths or affirmations or to compel the attendance of witnesses or the production of documentary and other evidence.

(e) EFFECT ON STATE COURT PROCEEDINGS.—Nothing contained in this section shall prohibit an authorized State official from proceeding in State court on the basis of an alleged violation of any general civil or criminal antifraud statute of such State.

(f) LIMITATION.—Whenever the Commission has instituted a civil action for violation of any rule or regulation under this Act, no State may, during the pendency of such action instituted by the Commission, subsequently institute a civil action against any defendant named in the Commission's complaint for violation of any rule as alleged in the Commission's complaint.

(g) ACTIONS BY OTHER STATE OFFICIALS.—

(1) Nothing contained in this section shall prohibit an authorized State official from proceeding in State court on the basis of an alleged violation of any general civil or criminal statute of such State.

(2) In addition to actions brought by an attorney general of a State under subsection (a), such an action may be brought by officers of such State who are authorized by the State to bring actions in such State for protection of consumers and who are designated by the Commission to bring an action under subsection (a) against persons that the Commission has determined have or are engaged in a pattern or practice which violates a rule of the Commission under section 201(a).

SEC. 203. ADMINISTRATION AND APPLICABILITY OF TITLE.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Except as otherwise provided in section 202, this title shall be enforced by the Commission under the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 41 et seq.). Consequently, no activity which is outside the jurisdiction of that Act shall be affected by this Act, except for purposes of this title.

(b) ACTIONS BY THE COMMISSION.—The Commission shall prevent any person from violating a rule of the Commission under section 201 in the same manner, by the same means, and with the same jurisdiction, powers, and duties as though all applicable terms and provisions of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 41 et seq.) were incorporated into and made a part of this title. Any person who violates such rule shall be subject to the penalties and entitled to the privileges and immunities provided in the Federal Trade Commission Act in the same manner, by the same means, and with the same jurisdiction, power, and duties as though all applicable terms and provisions of the Federal Trade Commission Act were incorporated into and made a part of this title.

SEC. 204. DEFINITIONS.

For purposes of this title:

(1) The term "pay-per-call services" has the meaning provided in section 228 of the Communications Act of 1934.

(2) The term "attorney general" means the chief legal officer of a State.

(3) The term "State" means any State of the United States, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the Northern Mariana Islands, and any territory or possession of the United States.

(4) The term "Commission" means the Federal Trade Commission.

TITLE III—BILLING AND COLLECTION

SEC. 301. REGULATIONS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—

(1) RULES REQUIRED.—The Commission shall, in accordance with the requirements of this section, prescribe rules establishing procedures for the correction of billing errors with respect to telephone-billed purchases. The rules prescribed by the Commission shall also include provisions to prohibit unfair or deceptive acts or practices that evade such rules or undermine the rights provided to customers under this title.

(2) SUBSTANTIAL SIMILARITY TO CREDIT BILLING.—The Commission shall promulgate rules under this section that impose requirements that are substantially similar to the requirements imposed, with respect to the resolution of credit disputes, under the Truth in Lending and Fair Credit Billing Acts (15 U.S.C. 1601 et seq.).

(3) TREATMENT OF RULE.—A rule issued under paragraph (1) shall be treated as a rule issued under section 18(a)(1)(B) of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 57(a)(1)(B)).

(b) RULEMAKING SCHEDULE AND PROCEDURE.—The Commission shall prescribe the rules under subsection (a) within 270 days after the date of enactment of this Act. Such rules shall be prescribed in accordance with section 553 of title 5, United States Code.

(c) ENFORCEMENT.—Any violation of any rule prescribed under subsection (a) shall be treated as a violation of a rule under section 5 of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 45) regarding unfair or deceptive acts or practices. Notwithstanding section 5(a)(2) of such Act (15 U.S.C. 45(a)(2)), communications common carriers shall be subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission for purposes of this title.

(d) CORRECTION OF BILLING ERRORS AND CORRECTION OF CREDIT REPORTS.—In prescribing rules under this section, the Commission shall consider, with respect to telephone-billed purchases, the following:

(1) The initiation of a billing review by a customer.

(2) Responses by billing entities and providing carriers to the initiation of a billing review.

(3) Investigations concerning delivery of telephone-billed purchases.

(4) Limitations upon providing carrier responsibilities, including limitations on a carrier's responsibility to verify delivery of audio information or entertainment.

(5) Requirements on actions by billing entities to set aside charges from a customer's billing statement.

(6) Limitations on collection actions by billing entities and vendors.

(7) The regulation of credit reports on billing disputes.

(8) The prompt notification of credit to an account.

(9) Rights of customers and telephone common carriers regarding claims and defenses.

(10) The extent to which the regulations should diverge from requirements under the Truth in Lending and Fair Credit Billing Acts in order to protect customers, and in order to be cost effective to billing entities.

SEC. 302. RELATION TO STATE LAWS.

(a) STATE LAW APPLICABLE UNLESS INCONSISTENT.—This title does not annul, alter, or affect, or exempt any person subject to the provisions of this title from complying with, the laws of any State with respect to telephone billing practices, except to the extent that those laws are inconsistent with any provision of this title, and then only to the extent of the inconsistency. The Commission is authorized to determine whether such inconsistencies exist. The Commission may not determine that any State law is inconsistent with any provision of this chapter if the Commission determines that such law gives greater protection to the consumer.

(b) REGULATORY EXEMPTIONS.—The Commission shall by regulation exempt from the requirements of this title any class of telephone-billed purchase transactions within any State if it determines that under the law of that State that class of transactions is subject to requirements substantially similar to those imposed under this chapter or that such law gives greater protection to the consumer, and that there is adequate provision for enforcement.

SEC. 303. ENFORCEMENT.

The Commission shall enforce the requirements of this title. For the purpose of the exercise by the Commission of its functions and powers under the Federal Trade Commission Act, a violation of any requirement imposed under this title shall be deemed a violation of a requirement imposed under that Act. All the functions and powers of the Commission under that Act are available to the Commission to enforce compliance by any person with the requirements imposed under this title, irrespective of whether that person is engaged in commerce or meets any other jurisdictional tests in that Act. The Commission may prescribe such regulations as are necessary or appropriate to implement the provisions of this title.

SEC. 304. DEFINITIONS.

As used in this title—

(1) The term "telephone-billed purchase" means any purchase that is completed solely as a consequence of the completion of the call or a subsequent dialing, touch tone entry, or comparable action of the caller. Such term does not include—

"(A) a purchase by a caller pursuant to a preexisting agreement with the vendor;

(B) local exchange telephone services or interexchange telephone services or any service that the Federal Communications Commission determines, by rule—

(i) is closely related to the provision of local exchange telephone services or interexchange telephone services; and

(ii) is subject to billing dispute resolution procedures required by Federal or State statute or regulation; or

(C) the purchase of goods or services which is otherwise subject to billing dispute resolution procedures required by Federal statute or regulation.

(2) A "billing error" consists of any of the following:

(A) A reflection on a billing statement for a telephone-billed purchase which was not made by the customer or, if made, was not in the amount reflected on such statement.

(B) A reflection on a billing statement of a telephone-billed purchase for which the customer requests additional clarification, including documentary evidence thereof.

(C) A reflection on a billing statement of a telephone-billed purchase that was not accepted by the customer or not provided to the customer in accordance with the stated terms of the transaction.

(D) A reflection on a billing statement of a telephone-billed purchase for a call made to an 800 or other toll free telephone number.

(E) The failure to reflect properly on a billing statement a payment made by the customer or a credit issued to the customer with respect to a telephone-billed purchase.

(F) A computation error or similar error of an accounting nature on a statement.

(G) Failure to transmit the billing statement to the last known address of the customer, unless that address was furnished less than twenty days before the end of the billing cycle for which the statement is required.

(H) Any other error described in regulations prescribed by the Commission pursuant to section 553 of title 5, United States Code.

(3) The term "Commission" means the Federal Trade Commission.

(4) The term "providing carrier" means a local exchange or interexchange common carrier providing telephone services (other than local exchange services) to a vendor for a telephone-billed purchase that is the subject of a billing error complaint.

(5) The term "vendor" means any person who, through the use of the telephone, offers goods or services for a telephone-billed purchase.

(6) The term "customer" means any person who acquires or attempts to acquire goods or services in a telephone-billed purchase.

TITLE IV—MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

SEC. 401. PROPOSAL FOR DEMONSTRATING THE POTENTIAL OF INNOVATIVE COMMUNICATIONS EQUIPMENT AND SERVICES.

(a) DEMONSTRATION PROPOSAL.—Within 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Assistant Secretary of Energy for Conservation and Renewable Energy, in consultation with the Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Communications and Information, shall submit to Congress a proposal for demonstrating the ability of new and innovative communications equipment and services to further the national goals of conserving energy and protecting public health and safety.

(b) FACTORS TO BE ADDRESSED.—The demonstration proposal required by subsection (a) shall address—

(1) the feasibility of using communications technologies to read meters from remote locations;

(2) the feasibility of managing the consumption of electrical power and natural gas by residences and businesses, thereby reducing the demand for new and additional sources of energy, and controlling the cost of providing improved utility services; and

(3) the public safety implications of monitoring utility services outages during earthquakes, hurricanes, typhoons, tornadoes, volcanoes, and other natural disasters.

(c) PROJECT TO DEMONSTRATE ENERGY CONSERVATION POTENTIAL.—Upon submission of the demonstration proposal to the Congress, the Secretary of Energy shall consider requesting from the Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Communications and Information the authority to use radio frequencies, pursuant to section 305 of the Communications Act of 1934 (47 U.S.C. 305), to carry out demonstration projects consistent with the proposal that are designed to demonstrate the energy conservation potential of communications technologies and which are administered by the Secretary of Energy.

SEC. 402. TECHNICAL AMENDMENTS.

Section 227(b)(2) of the Communications Act of 1934 (47 U.S.C. 227(b)(2)) is amended—

(1) by striking "and" at the end of subparagraph (A);

(2) by striking the period at the end of subparagraph (B) and inserting "; and"; and

(3) by inserting after subparagraph (B) the following new subparagraph:

"(C) may, by rule or order, exempt from the requirements of paragraphs (1)(A)(iii) of this subsection calls to a telephone number assigned to a cellular telephone service that are not charged to the called party, subject to such conditions as the Commission may prescribe as necessary in the interest of the privacy rights this section is intended to protect.".

SEC. 403. INTERCEPTION OF CELLULAR TELECOMMUNICATIONS.

(a) AMENDMENT.—Section 302 of the Communications Act of 1934 (47 U.S.C. 302) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(d)(1) Within 180 days after the date of enactment of this subsection, the Commission shall prescribe and make effective regulations denying equipment authorization (under part 15 of title 47, Code of Federal Regulations, or any other part of that title) for any scanning receiver that is capable of—

"(A) receiving transmissions in the frequencies allocated to the domestic cellular radio telecommunications service,

"(B) readily being altered by the user to receive transmissions in such frequencies, or

"(C) being equipped with decoders that covert digital cellular transmissions to analog voice audio.

"(2) Beginning 1 year after the effective date of the regulations adopted pursuant to paragraph (1), no receiving having the capabilities described in subparagraph (A), (B), or (C) of paragraph (1), as such capabilities are defined in such regulations, shall be manufactured in the United States or imported for use in the United States.".

(b) REPORT TO CONGRESS.—The Commission shall report to Congress no later than June 1, 1993, on available security features for both analog and digital radio signals. This report shall include a study of security technologies currently available as well as those in development. The study shall assess the capabilities of such technologies, level of security afforded, and cost, with wide-spread deployment of such technologies.

(c) EFFECT ON OTHER LAWS.—This section shall not effect section 2512(2) of title 18, United States Code.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed and read a third time, was read the third time, and passed, and a motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

REQUEST TO CONSIDER BILL DESIGNATING THE RONALD REAGAN FEDERAL BUILDING AND COURTHOUSE IN ORANGE COUNTY, CA

Mr. COX of California. Mr. Speaker, earlier in the proceedings there were under unanimous consent several bills to be taken up. One of them was to designate the courthouse in Orange County, CA, the Ronald Reagan Federal Building and Courthouse.

Mr. Speaker, I move consideration of the bill under a unanimous-consent request.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. At this point, the gentleman must draft a bill and clear its consideration by unanimous consent.

First, before the unanimous-consent request can be made, we need to have the bill for introduction.

MOTION TO ADJOURN

Mr. KYL. Mr. Speaker, I offer a privileged motion.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Clerk will report the motion.

The Clerk read as follows:

Mr. KYL moves that the House do now adjourn.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion to adjourn.

The question was taken; and the Speaker pro tempore announced that the noes appeared to have it.

Mr. KYL. Mr. Speaker, I object to the vote on the ground that a quorum is not present and make the point of order that a quorum is not present.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Evidently a quorum is not present.

The Sergeant at Arms will notify absent Members.

The vote was taken by electronic device, and there were—yeas 97, nays 250, not voting 85, as follows:

The result of the vote was announced as above recorded.

AMENDING THE WILD AND SCENIC RIVERS ACT

Mr. KOSTMAYER. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 6179) to amend the Wild and Scenic Rivers Act.

The Clerk read as follows:

H.R. 6179

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. WILD AND SCENIC RIVER STUDY.

(a) STUDY.—Section 5(a) of the Wild and Scenic Rivers Act (16 U.S.C. 1276(a)) is amended by adding at the end thereof the following new paragraph:

"( ) DELAWARE RIVER, PENNSYLVANIA AND NEW JERSEY.—(A) The approximately 3.6-mile segment from the Erie Lackawanna Railroad Bridge to the southern tip of Dildine Island.

"(B) The approximately 2-mile segment from the southern tip of Mack Island to the northern border of the town of Belvidere, New Jersey.

"(C) The approximately 12.5-mile segment from the southern border of the town of Belvidere, New Jersey, to the northern border of the city of Easton, Pennsylvania, excluding river mile 196.0 to 193.8.

"(D) The approximately 9.5-mile segment from the southern border of the town of Phillipsburg, New Jersey, to a point just north of the Gilbert Generating Station.

"(E) The approximately 14.2-mile segment from a point just south of the Gilbert Generating Station to a point just north of the Point Pleasant Pumping Station.

"(F) The approximately 6.5-mile segment from a point just south of the Point Pleasant Pumping Station to the north side of the Route 202 bridge.

"(G) The approximately 6-mile segment from the southern boundary of the town of New Hope, Pennsylvania, to the town of Washington Crossing, Pennsylvania.

"(H) The Cook's Creek tributary.

"(I) The Tinicum Creek tributary.

"(J) The Tohickon Creek tributary.".

(b) ELIGIBILITY STUDY AND REPORT.—Section 5(b) of the Wild and Scenic Rivers Act, as amended, (16 U.S.C. 1276(b)) is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(11)(A) The study of the Delaware River segments and tributaries designated for potential addition to the National Wild and Scenic Rivers System pursuant to section 5(a)( ) of this Act shall be completed and the report submitted to Congress not later than one year after the date of enactment of this paragraph.

"(B) The Secretary shall—

"(i) prepare the study in cooperation and consultation with appropriate Federal, State, regional, and local agencies, including but not limited to, the Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Resources, the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection and Energy, the Delaware and Lehigh Navigation Canal National Heritage Corridor Commission, and the Delaware and Raritan Canal Commission; and

"(ii) consider previous plans for the protection of affected cultural, recreational, and natural resources (including water supply and water quality) and existing State and local regulations, so as to avoid unnecessary duplication.

"(C) Pursuant to section 11(b)(1) of this Act, the Secretary shall undertake a river conservation plan for the segment of the Delaware River from the northern city limits of Trenton, New Jersey, to the Southern boundary of Bucks County, Pennsylvania.".

(c) EXISTING FACILITIES AND POSSIBLE ADDITIONS THERETO.—The study of the river segments and tributaries designated for potential addition to the National Wild and Scenic Rivers System under subsection (a) shall not be used in any proceeding or otherwise to preclude, prevent, restrict, or interfere with the completion, continued or changed operation, maintenance, repair, construction, reconstruction, replacement, or modification of the Gilbert Generating Station and associated facilities, the Point Pleasant Pumping Station and associated facilities, the Portland Generating Station and associated facilities, the Martins Creek Steam Electric Station and associated facilities, or the Merrill Creek Reservoir Project and associated facilities, or with the licensing, permitting, relicensing, or repermitting of such projects, stations, and associated facilities. Such study designation shall not preclude or interfere with the licensing, permitting, construction, operation, maintenance, repair, relicensing, or repermitting of any additions to any such facilities, so long as such additions are outside the segments of the Delaware River designated for study by subsection (a) and impounded backwater from any such addition does not intrude on any such segment, and so long as the values present in such segments on the date of enactment of this Act are not unreasonably diminished thereby.

(d) TRANSMISSION AND DISTRIBUTION FACILITIES.—The study of the river segments and tributaries designated for potential addition to the National Wild and Scenic Rivers System under subsection (a) of this Act shall not be used in any proceeding or otherwise to preclude, prevent, restrict, or interfere with the present or future access to or operation, maintenance, repair, construction, reconstruction, replacement, or modification of electric or gas transmission or distribution lines across or adjacent to such segments, or with the licensing, permitting, relicensing, or repermitting of such lines across such segments: Provided, however, That during the study of such segments, each new electric or gas transmission or distribution line across any such segment shall be located no further than ½ mile from the center line of any transmission or distribution line across any such segment in existence on the date of enactment of this Act.

(e) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There are authorized to be appropriated such sums as are necessary to carry out this section.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. KOSTMAYER] will be recognized for 20 minutes and the gentleman from Arizona [Mr. RHODES] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, I have a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. ECKART). The gentleman may state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, it is my understanding that this particular bill does not appear on any list that was given to us, and under the martial law rule that we are operating under, that this Member voted for, I just want to know how this bill could be before us.

Second, since we do not know the bill, what is the procedure for having the bill read in its entirety?

I did not hear anyone ask unanimous consent to suspend the reading of the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under suspension of the rules, only the title is necessary to be read.

Pursuant to the discussion on the floor of the House yesterday, the Chair is advised that this bill was listed on the list provided to the membership.

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, a further parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman may state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, we are operating under an expedited procedure rule that was passed by this House, supported by the leadership on both sides of the aisle.

My parliamentary inquiry is that we were given a short list a little while ago that we would only take up the bills on that short list and there would be no votes after 12 o'clock.

☐ 1150

Many Members have gone home. We saw the count here. So my parliamentary inquiry is: How could this bill be made in order if it does not appear on that short list?

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. ECKART). The Chair will respond to the gentleman's parliamentary inquiry. Under House Resolution 591, the motion to suspend the rules is in order at this time.

Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. KOSTMAYER] will be recognized for 20 minutes and the gentleman from Arizona [Mr. RHODES] will be recognized for 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. KOSTMAYER].

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. KYL. Mr. Speaker, I have a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. KYL. Mr. Speaker, it is a parliamentary inquiry. I do not know the answer to this question.

I would like to have the bill read, and I wonder if the Chair would advise me how I could accomplish that fact.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under suspension of the rules in the House only the title of the bill is read. It is not an appropriate request at this time.

Mr. KYL. Mr. Speaker, I am sorry if I misunderstood. It is that entire text that needs to be read. What I am asking is whether we can require that it be read. That is my inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman may ask unanimous consent to have the bill read in its entirety.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. KOSTMAYER].

Mr. KOSTMAYER. Mr. Speaker, I will take 1 minute. This bill requires the National Park Service to conduct a 1-year study to determine if 55 miles of the Delaware River should be included in the National Wild and Scenic River Act. This 55 miles falls entirely and exclusively within my congressional district. Across the Delaware River in New Jersey is the district represented by my colleague, the gentleman from New Jersey [Mr. ZIMMER], a Republican. He is a cosponsor of the bill. This is the Zimmer-Kostmayer bill.

The ranking member of the subcommittee, the gentleman from Arizona [Mr. RHODES], will speak. He is not opposed to the bill. It passed the House and the Senate unanimously, and the administration testified that it is in favor.

Mr. Speaker, I ask for its adoption.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from New Jersey [Mr. ZIMMER].

Mr. ZIMMER. Mr. Speaker, I do represent the bulk of the New Jersey side of the Delaware River, a stretch that is addressed by this legislation. It provides for a study only by the National Park Service. The wild and scenic designation would follow only if the National Park Service found that it is appropriate designating it as such. There are, to my knowledge, no objections on the New Jersey side either from landowners, utility companies or the State.

Mr. BURTON of Indiana. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. RHODES. I yield to the gentleman from Indiana.

Mr. BURTON of Indiana. Mr. Speaker, I just want to know if anyone knows how much this study will cost. Are there any cost estimates on the study?

Mr. KOSTMAYER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. RHODES. I yield to the gentleman from Pennsylvania.

Mr. KOSTMAYER. Mr. Speaker, about $150,000, I would say to the gentleman from Indiana.

Mr. RHODES. I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, this bill had hearings in the subcommittee, a markup in the subcommittee, a markup in the full committee, was not opposed by any administration. The minority has previously indicated the majority that we have no opposition to the bill, we have no opposition to the bill.

I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. KOSTMAYER. Mr. Speaker, I, too, yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. KOSTMAYER] that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 6179.

The question was taken.

Mr. KYL. Mr. Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The vote was taken by electronic device, and there were—yeas 256, nays 84, not voting 92, as follows:

☐ 1214

Mr. KASICH changed his vote from "yea" to "nay."

Mr. SCHAEFER changed his vote from "nay" to "yea."

So (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof), the rules were suspended and the bill was passed.

The result of the vote was announced as above recorded.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

Mr. BALLENGER. Mr. Speaker, I missed rollcall votes 486, 487, and 488. Had I been present, I would have voted "aye" on rollcall vote 486, "nay" on rollcall vote 487, and "aye" on rollcall vote 488.

ORDER OF BUSINESS

(Mr. FOLEY asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. FOLEY. Mr. Speaker, it is my understanding that the gentleman from Texas [Mr. BROOKS] will pose a unanimous consent request which will be the last unanimous-consent request which will be offered on this side.

In the event that a motion to adjourn is offered as a privileged motion while the unanimous consent is pending, it will be my recommendation to Democratic Members to agree to it.

But special orders, which many Members would like to conclude this afternoon for departing Members and other purposes, of course, would be vitiated by such a motion. I would hope that without an ensuing motion to adjourn, the gentleman from Texas may offer his unanimous-consent agreement at that point.

Whether it is agreed to or not, we will have concluded the business for the day.

CONFERENCE REPORT ON H.R. 5334, HOUSING AND COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT ACT OF 1992

Mr. GONZALES submitted the following conference report and statement on the bill (H.R. 5334) to amend and extend certain laws relating to housing and community development, and for other purposes:

CONFERENCE REPORT (H. REPT. 102-1017)

The committee of conference on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the amendment of the Senate to the bill (H.R. 5334), to amend and extend certain laws relating to housing and community development, and for other purposes, having met, after full and free conference, have agreed to recommend and do recommend to their respective Houses as follows:

That the House recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate and agree to the same with an amendment as follows:

In lieu of the matter proposed to be inserted by the Senate amendment, insert the following:

(1) by striking the first sentence; and

(2) in the last sentence, by striking "for the 5-year period beginning on such date of enactment" and inserting "without time limitation".

SEC. 103. DEFINITIONS OF INCOME AND ADJUSTED INCOME AND APPLICABILITY TO INDIAN HOUSING PROGRAMS.

(a) In General.—

(1) Income.—Section 3(b)(4) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437a(b)(4)) is amended by inserting after "family" the following: "and any amounts which would be eligible for exclusion under section 1613(a)(7) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1382b(a)(7))".

(2) Adjusted income.—Section 3(b)(5) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437a(b)(5)) is amended—

(A) by striking subparagraph (D) and inserting the following new subparagraph:

"(D) child care expenses to the extent necessary to enable another member of the family to be employed or to further his or her education;";

(B) by striking "and" at the end of subparagraph (E);

(C) by striking the period at the end of subparagraph (F) and inserting "; and"; and

(D) by inserting after subparagraph (F) the following new subparagraph:

"(G) excessive travel expenses, not to exceed $25 per family per week, for employment- or education-related travel, except that this subparagraph shall apply only to families assisted by Indian housing authorities.".

(3) Budget compliance.—To the extent that the amendments made by paragraphs (1) and (2) result in additional costs under this title, such amendments shall be effective only to the extent that amounts to cover such additional costs are provided in advance in appropriation Acts.

(b) Applicability of Definitions to Indian Housing.—

(1) In general.—In accordance with section 201(b)(2) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437aa(b)(2)), the provisions of sections 572, 573, and 574 of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act shall apply to public housing developed or operated pursuant to a contract between the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development and an Indian Housing Authority.

(2) Effective date.—Paragraph (1) shall take effect as if such provision were enacted upon the date of the enactment of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act.

SEC. 104. PUBLIC AND SECTION 8 HOUSING TENANT PREFERENCE RULES.

Not later than the expiration of the 180-day period beginning on the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall issue regulations implementing the amendments made by sections 501 and 545 of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act. The regulations shall be issued after notice and opportunity for public comment pursuant to the provisions of section 553 of title 5, United States Code (notwithstanding subsections (a)(2), (b)(B), and (d)(3) of such section) and shall take effect upon issuance.

SEC. 105. INCOME ELIGIBILITY FOR ASSISTED HOUSING.

(a) Exemption from Waiting List Requirements.—Section 16(c) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437n(c)) is amended—

(1) in the first sentence, by striking the second comma and inserting "and";

(2) in the first sentence, by striking ", and shall" and inserting ". In developing such admission procedures, the Secretary shall"; and

(3) by inserting before the period at the end of the penultimate sentence the following: "; except that such prohibition shall not apply with respect to families selected for occupancy in public housing under the system of preferences established by the agency pursuant to section 6(c)(4)(A)(ii)".

(b) Exemption from Eligibility Restrictions.—Section 16(d)(2) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437n(d)(2)) is amended by inserting before the period ", to scattered site public housing dwelling units sold or intended to be sold to public housing tenants under section 5(h) of this title.".

SEC. 106. FAMILY SELF-SUFFICIENCY PROGRAM.

(a) Reservation of Operating Subsidies.—The last sentence of section 23(h)(2) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437u(h)(2)) is amended to read as follows: "Of any amounts appropriated under section 9(c) for fiscal year 1993, $25,000,000 is authorized to be used for costs under this paragraph, and of any amounts appropriated under such section for fiscal year 1994, $25,900,000 is authorized to be used for costs under this paragraph.".

(b) Exception to Required Establishment of Program.—Section 23(b)(2) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437u(b)(2)) is amended by striking subparagraphs (A) through (D) and inserting the following:

"(A) lack of supportive services accessible to eligible families, which shall include insufficient availability of resources for programs under the Job Training Partnerships Act or the Job Opportunities and Basic Skills Training Program under part F of title IV of the Social Security Act;

"(B) lack of funding for reasonable administrative costs;

"(C) lack of cooperation by other units of State or local government; or

"(D) any other circumstances that the Secretary may consider appropriate.

In allocating assistance available for reservation under this Act, the Secretary may not refuse to provide assistance or decrease the amount of assistance that would otherwise be provided to any public housing agency because the agency has provided a certification under this paragraph or because, pursuant to a certification, the agency has failed to carry out a self-sufficiency program.".

(c) Nonparticipation.—Section 23(b) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437u(b)) is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(4) Nonparticipation.—Assistance under the certificate or voucher programs under section 8 for a family that elects not to participate in a local program shall not be delayed by reason of such election.".

(d) Contract of Participation.—Section 23(c)(1) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437u(c)(1)) is amended—

(1) in the second sentence, by inserting after "program" the following: ", shall establish specific interim and final goals by which compliance with and performance of the contract may be measured,"; and

(2) by striking the last sentence and inserting the following new sentences: "The contract shall provide that the public housing agency may terminate or withhold assistance under section 8 and services under paragraph (2) of this subsection if the public housing agency determines, through an administrative grievance procedure in accordance with the requirements of section 6(k), that the family has failed to comply with the requirements of the contract without good cause (which may include a loss or reduction in access to supportive services, or a change in circumstances that makes the family or individual unsuitable for participation).".

(e) SUPPORTIVE SERVICES.—The first sentence of section 23(c)(2) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437u(c)(2)) is amended by striking "to each participating family" the second place it appears.

(f) ESCROW SAVINGS ACCOUNTS.—Section 23(d)(2) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437u(d)(2)) is amended in the last sentence by striking "only after" and all that follows through the end of the sentence and inserting the following: "after the family ceases to receive income assistance under Federal or State welfare programs, upon successful performance of the obligations of the family under the contract of participation entered into by the family under subsection (c), as determined according to the specific goals and terms included in the contract, and under other circumstances in which the Secretary determines an exception for good cause is warranted. A public housing agency establishing such escrow accounts may make certain amounts in the accounts available to the participating families before full performance of the contract obligations based on compliance with, and completion of, specific interim goals included in the contract; except that any such amounts shall be used by the participating families for purposes consistent with the contracts of participation, as determined by the public housing agency.".

(g) INCENTIVES FOR PARTICIPATION.—Section 23(d) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437u(d)) is amended—

(1) by striking the subsection designation and heading and inserting the following:

"(d) INCENTIVES FOR PARTICIPATION.—"; and

(2) by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(3) PLAN.—Each public housing agency carrying out a local program under this section shall establish a plan to offer incentives to families to encourage families to participate in the program. The plan shall require the establishment of escrow savings accounts under paragraph (2) and may include any other incentives designed by the public housing agency.".

(h) ACTION PLAN.—Section 23(g)(3) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437u(g)(3)) is amended—

(1) in subparagraph (F), by striking "and" at the end;

(2) in subparagraph (G), by striking the period at the end and inserting "; and";

(3) by redesignating subparagraphs (D) through (G) (as so amended) as subparagraphs (E) through (H), respectively;

(4) by inserting after subparagraph (C) the following new subparagraph:

"(D) a description of the incentives pursuant to subsection (d) offered by the public housing agency to families to encourage participation in the program;"; and

(5) by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(I) assurances satisfactory to the Secretary that nonparticipating families will retain their rights to public housing or section 8 assistance notwithstanding the provisions of this section.".

(1) by redesignating paragraphs (3) and (4) as paragraphs (4) and (5), respectively;

(2) by inserting after paragraph (2) the following new paragraph:

"(3) The term 'eligible family' means a family whose head of household is not elderly, disabled, pregnant, a primary caregiver for children under the age of 3, or for whom the family self-sufficiency program would otherwise be unsuitable. Notwithstanding the preceding sentence, a public housing agency may enroll such families if they choose to participate in the program."; and

(3) by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(6) The term 'vacant unit' means a dwelling unit that has been vacant for not less than 9 consecutive months.".

(j) INDIAN HOUSING.—Section 23(o)(2) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437u(o)(2)) is amended to read as follows:

"(2) APPLICABILITY TO INDIAN PUBLIC HOUSING AUTHORITIES.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the provisions of this section shall be optional for Indian housing authorities.".

Subtitle B—Public and Indian Housing

SEC. 111. MAJOR RECONSTRUCTION OF OBSOLETE PROJECTS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 5(j)(2) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437c(j)(2)) is amended to read as follows:

"(2)(A) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the Secretary may reserve not more than 20 percent of any amounts appropriated for development of public housing in each fiscal year for the substantial redesign, reconstruction, or redevelopment of existing obsolete public housing projects or buildings and for the costs of improving the management and operation of projects undergoing redesign, reconstruction, or redevelopment under this paragraph (to the extent that such improvement is necessary to maintain the physical improvements resulting from such redesign, reconstruction, or redevelopment).

"(B) For purposes of this paragraph, the term 'obsolete public housing project or building' means a public housing project or building (i) having design or marketability problems resulting in vacancy in more than 25 percent of the units, or (ii)(I) for which the costs for redesign, reconstruction, or redevelopment (including any costs for lead-based paint abatement activities) exceed 70 percent of the total development cost limits for new construction of similar units in the area, and (II) which has an occupancy density or a building height that is significantly in excess of that which prevails in the neighborhood in which the project is located, a bedroom configuration that could be altered to better serve the needs of families seeking occupancy to dwellings of the public housing agency, significant security problems in and around the project, or significant physical deterioration or inefficient energy and utility systems.

"(C) The Secretary shall allocate amounts reserved under this section to public housing agencies on the basis of a competition among public housing agencies applying for such amounts. The competition shall be based on—

"(i) the management capability of the public housing agency to carry out the redesign, reconstruction, or redevelopment;

"(ii) the expected term of the useful life of the project or building after redesign, reconstruction or redevelopment; and

"(iii) the likelihood of achieving full occupancy within the projects or buildings of the agency that are to be assisted under this paragraph.

"(D) The Secretary shall establish limitations on the total costs of any project or building receiving amounts under this paragraph for redesign, reconstruction, and redevelopment. The cost limitations shall not be related to the total development cost system for new development or to the cost limits for modernization and shall recognize the higher direct costs of such work.

"(E) Assistance may not be provided under this paragraph for any project or building assisted under section 14.

"(F)(i) For each fiscal year for which amounts are reserved or appropriated for the purposes of this paragraph, the Secretary shall establish performance goals to evaluate the effectiveness of the use of such amounts. The goals shall—

"(I) be designed to maximize the effectiveness of the expenditures in a quantifiable manner; and

"(II) describe the number of units to be redesigned, redeveloped, and reconstructed with such amounts and improvements in the management of projects so assisted to be accomplished with such amounts.

"(ii) Not later than 60 days after the end of each such fiscal year, the Secretary shall submit a report to the Congress, which shall describe the performance goals established for the fiscal year, the activities carried out with such amounts, and a statement of whether the performance goals were met. If the performance goals were not met, the report shall contain—

"(I) an explanation of why the goals were not met and a description of any managerial deficiencies or legal problems that contributed to not meeting such goals;

"(II) plans and a schedule for achieving the level of performance under such performance goals;

"(III) recommendations for legislative or regulatory changes necessary to achieve the performance goals or improve performance; and

"(IV) a statement of whether the performance goals established for the fiscal year were impractical or infeasible, and, if so, the factors that contributed and resulted in establishing such impractical or infeasible goals and recommendations of actions to meet such goals, which may include changing the goals or altering or eliminating the program under this paragraph for major reconstruction of projects.".

(b) MODERNIZATION AND DISPOSITION REQUIREMENTS.—

(1) MODERNIZATION.—Section 14(c) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437l(c)) is amended—

(B) in each of paragraphs (1), (2), (3), and (4), by inserting "which projects" after the paragraph designation;

(C) in paragraph (3), by striking "and" at the end;

(D) by redesignating paragraph (4) as paragraph (5); and

(E) by inserting after paragraph (3) the following new paragraph:

"(4) which buildings are not assisted under section 5(j)(2); and".

(2) DEMOLITION AND DISPOSITION.—Section 18(a) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437q(a)) is amended—

(A) in paragraph (1), by striking "or" at the end;

(B) in paragraph (2), by striking the period at the end and inserting "; or"; and

(C) by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(3) in the case of an application proposing demolition or disposition of any portion of a public housing project, assisted at any time under section 5(j)(2)—

"(A) such assistance has not been provided for the portion of the project to be demolished or disposed within the 10-year period ending upon submission of the application; or

"(B) the property's retention is not in the best interest of the tenants or the public housing agency because of extraordinary changes in the area surrounding the project or other extraordinary circumstances of the project.".

(c) REGULATIONS.—The Secretary shall issue regulations necessary to carry out the amendments made by this section as provided under section 191 of this Act.

SEC. 112. PUBLIC HOUSING TENANT PREFERENCES.

Section 6(c)(4)(A)(i) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437d(c)(4)(A)(i)) is amended by striking "70 percent" and inserting "50 percent".

SEC. 113. REFORM OF PUBLIC HOUSING MANAGEMENT.

(a) INDEPENDENT MANAGEMENT ASSESSMENT.—Section 6(j)(2) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437d(j)(2)) is amended—

(1) by redesignating subparagraph (B) as subparagraph (C);

(2) by inserting after subparagraph (A) the following new subparagraph:

"(B)(i) Upon designating a public housing agency as troubled pursuant to subparagraph (A) and determining that an assessment under this subparagraph will not duplicate any review conducted under section 14(p), the Secretary shall provide for an on-site, independent assessment of the management of the agency.

"(ii) To the extent the Secretary deems appropriate (taking into account an agency's performance under the indicators specified under paragraph (1)), the assessment team shall also consider issues relating to the agency's resident population and physical inventory, including the extent to which (I) the agency's comprehensive plan prepared pursuant to section 14 adequately and appropriately addresses the rehabilitation needs of the agency's inventory, (II) residents of the agency are involved in and informed of significant management decisions, and (III) any projects in the agency's inventory are severely distressed and eligible for assistance pursuant to section 24.

"(iii) An independent assessment under this subparagraph shall be carried out by a team of knowledgeable individuals selected by the Secretary (referred to in this section as the 'assessment team') with expertise in public housing and real estate management. In conducting an assessment, the assessment team shall consult with the residents and with public and private entities in the jurisdiction in which the public housing is located. The assessment team shall provide to the Secretary and the public housing agency a written report, which shall contain, at a minimum, recommendations for such management improvements as are necessary to eliminate or substantially remedy existing deficiencies."; and

(3) in subparagraph (C), as so redesignated by paragraph (1)—

(A) by striking "agency setting forth" and inserting the following: "agency, after reviewing the report submitted pursuant to subparagraph (B) and consulting with the agency's assessment team. Such agreement shall set forth"; and

(B) by inserting before the second sentence the following new flush sentence:

"To the extent the Secretary deems appropriate (taking into account an agency's performance under the indicators specified under paragraph (1)), such agreement shall also set forth a plan for enhancing resident involvement in the management of the public housing agency.".

"(H) planning for necessary management improvements; and

"(I) preparation of an application for an implementation grant under this section.

"(4) APPLICATIONS.—An application for a planning grant shall be submitted in such form and in accordance with such procedures as the Secretary shall establish. The Secretary shall require that an application contain at a minimum—

"(A) a request for a planning grant, specifying the activities proposed, the schedule for completing the activities, the personnel necessary to complete the activities and the amount of the grant requested;

"(B) a description of the applicant and a statement of its qualifications;

"(C) identification and description of the project involved, and a description of the composition of the tenants, including family size and income;

"(D) a certification by the public official responsible for submitting the comprehensive housing affordability strategy under section 105 of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act that the proposed activities are consistent with the approved housing strategy of the State or unit of general local government within which the project is located; and

"(E) a certification that the applicant will comply with the requirements of the Fair Housing Act, title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, and the Age Discrimination Act of 1975, and will affirmatively further fair housing.

"(5) SELECTION CRITERIA.—The Secretary shall, by regulation, establish selection criteria for a national competition for assistance under this subsection, which shall include—

"(A) the qualities or potential capabilities of the applicant;

"(B) the extent of resident interest and involvement in the development of a revitalization program for the project;

"(C) the extent of involvement of local public and private entities in the development of a revitalization program for the project and in the provision of supportive services to project residents;

"(D) the potential of the applicant for developing a successful and affordable revitalization program and the suitability of the project for such a program;

"(E) national geographic diversity among housing for which applicants are selected to receive assistance;

"(F) the extent of the need for and potential impact of the revitalization program; and

"(G) such other factors that the Secretary determines are appropriate for purposes of carrying out the program established by this section in an effective and efficient manner.

"(6) NOTIFICATION.—The Secretary shall notify each applicant, not later than 6 months after the date of the submission of the application, whether the application is approved or disapproved.

"(d) IMPLEMENTATION GRANTS.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary may make implementation grants under this subsection to applicants for the purpose of carrying out revitalization programs for severely distressed public housing under this section.

"(2) ELIGIBLE ACTIVITIES.—Implementation grants may be used for activities to carry out revitalization programs for severely distressed public housing, including—

"(A) architectural and engineering work;

"(B) the redesign, reconstruction, or redevelopment of the severely distressed public housing development, including the site on which the development is located;

"(C) covering the administrative costs of the applicant, which may not exceed such portion of the assistance provided under this subsection as the Secretary may prescribe;

"(D) any necessary temporary relocation of tenants during the activity specified under subparagraph (B);

"(E) payment of legal fees;

"(F) economic development activities that promote the economic self-sufficiency of residents under the revitalization program;

"(G) necessary management improvements;

"(H) transitional security activities; and

"(I) any necessary support services, except that not more than 15 percent of any grant under this subsection may be used for such purpose.

"(3) APPLICATION.—An application for a implementation grant shall be submitted by an applicant in such form and in accordance with such procedures as the Secretary shall establish. The Secretary shall require that an application contain at a minimum—

"(A) a request for an implementation grant, specifying the amount of the grant requested and its proposed uses;

"(B) a description of the applicant and a statement of its qualifications;

"(C) identification and description of the project involved, and a description of the composition of the tenants, including family size and income;

"(D) a certification by the public official responsible for submitting the comprehensive housing affordability strategy under section 105 of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act that the proposed activities are consistent with the approved housing strategy of the State or unit of general local government within which the project is located; and

"(E) a certification that the applicant will comply with the requirements of the Fair Housing Act, title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, and the Age Discrimination Act of 1975, and will affirmatively further fair housing.

"(4) SELECTION CRITERIA.—The Secretary shall, by regulation, establish selection criteria for a national competition for assistance under this subsection, which shall include—

"(A) the qualities or potential capabilities of the applicant;

"(B) the extent of resident involvement in the development of a revitalization program for the project;

"(C) the extent of involvement of local public and private entities in the development of a revitalization program for the project and in the provision of supportive services to project residents;

"(D) the potential of the applicant for developing a successful and affordable revitalization program and the suitability of the project for such a program;

"(E) national geographic diversity among housing for which applicants are selected to receive assistance;

"(F) the extent of the need for and potential impact of the revitalization program; and

"(G) such other factors that the Secretary determines are appropriate for purposes of carrying out the program established by this subtitle in an effective and efficient manner.

"(5) NOTIFICATION.—The Secretary shall notify each applicant, not later than 6 months after the date of the submission of the application, whether the application is approved or disapproved.

"(e) EXCEPTIONS TO GENERAL PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS.—

"(1) LONG-TERM VIABILITY.—The Secretary may waive or revise rules established under this title governing rents, income eligibility, and other areas of public housing management, to permit a public housing agency to undertake measures that enhance the long-term viability of a severely distressed public housing project revitalized under this section.

"(2) SELECTION OF TENANTS.—For projects revitalized under this section, a public housing agency may select tenants pursuant to a local system of preferences, in lieu of selecting tenants pursuant to the preferences specified under section 6(c)(4)(A)(i). Such local system shall be established in writing and shall respond to local housing needs and priorities as determined by the public housing agency. The public housing agency shall hold 1 or more public hearings to obtain the views of low-income tenants and other interested parties on the housing needs and priorities of the agency's jurisdiction.

"(f) OTHER PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS.—

"(1) COST LIMITATIONS.—Subject to the provisions of this section, the Secretary—

"(A) shall establish cost limitations on eligible activities under this section sufficient to provide for effective revitalization programs; and

"(B) may establish other cost limitations on eligible activities under this section.

"(2) ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT.—Not more than an aggregate of $250,000 from amounts made available under subsections (c) and (d) may be used for economic development activities under subsections (c) and (d) for any project, except that the Secretary may for good cause waive the applicability of this paragraph for a project.

"(g) ADMINISTRATION.—For the purpose of carrying out the revitalization of severely distressed public housing in accordance with this section, the Secretary shall establish within the Department of Housing and Urban Development an Office of Severely Distressed Public Housing Revitalization.

"(h) DEFINITIONS.—For the purposes of this section:

"(1) APPLICANT.—The term 'applicant' means—

"(A) any public housing agency that is not designated as troubled pursuant to section 6(j)(2);

"(B) any public housing agency or private housing management agent selected, or receiver appointed pursuant, to section 6(j)(3);

"(C) any public housing agency that is designated as troubled pursuant to section 6(j)(2), if such agency acts in concert with a private nonprofit organization, another public housing agency that is not designated as a troubled agency, resident management corporation or other entity approved by the Secretary; and

"(D) any public housing agency that is designated as troubled pursuant to section 6(j)(2) that—

"(i) is so designated principally for reasons that will not affect the capacity of the agency to carry out a revitalization program;

"(ii) is making substantial progress toward eliminating the deficiencies of the agency; or

"(iii) is otherwise determined by the Secretary to be capable of carrying out a revitalization program.

"(2) PRIVATE NONPROFIT CORPORATION.—The term 'private nonprofit organization' means any private nonprofit organization (including a State or locally chartered nonprofit organization) that—

"(A) is incorporated under State or local law;

"(B) has no part of its net earnings inuring to the benefit of any member, founder, contributor, or individual;

"(C) complies with standards of financial accountability acceptable to the Secretary; and

"(D) has among its purposes significant activities related to the provision of decent housing that is affordable to very low-income families.

"(3) PUBLIC HOUSING AGENCY.—The term 'public housing agency' has the meaning given the term in section 3(b), except that it does not include any Indian housing authority.

"(4) RESIDENT MANAGEMENT CORPORATION.—The term 'resident management corporation' means a resident management corporation established in accordance with the requirements of the Secretary under section 20.

"(5) SEVERELY DISTRESSED PUBLIC HOUSING.—The term 'severely distressed public housing' means a public housing project—

"(A) that—

"(i) requires major redesign, reconstruction or redevelopment, or partial or total demolition, to correct serious deficiencies in the original design (including appropriately high population density), deferred maintenance, physical deterioration or obsolescence of major systems and other deficiencies in the physical plant of the project;

"(ii) is occupied predominantly by families with children who are in a severe state of distress, characterized by such factors as high rates of unemployment, teenage pregnancy, single-parent households, long-term dependency on public assistance and minimal educational achievement;

"(iii) is in a location for recurrent vandalism and criminal activity (including drug-related criminal activity); and

"(iv) cannot remedy the elements of distress specified in clauses (i) through (iii) through assistance under other programs, such as the programs under section 9 or 14, or through other administrative means; or

"(B) that—

"(i) is owned by a public housing agency designated as troubled pursuant to section 6(j)(2);

"(ii) has a vacancy rate, as determined by the Secretary, of 50 percent or more, unless the project or building is vacant because it is awaiting rehabilitation under a modernization program under section 14 that—

"(I) has been approved and funded; and

"(II) as determined by the Secretary, is on schedule and is expected to result in full occupancy of the project or building upon completion of the program; and

"(iii) in the case of individual buildings, the building is, in the Secretary's determination, sufficiently separable from the remainder of the project to make use of the building feasible for purposes of this subtitle.

"(i) ANNUAL REPORT.—The Secretary shall submit to the Congress an annual report setting forth—

"(1) the number, type, and cost of public housing units revitalized pursuant to this section;

"(2) the status of projects identified as severely distressed public housing pursuant to subsection (b);

"(3) the amount and type of financial assistance provided under and in conjunction with this section; and

"(4) the recommendations of the Secretary for statutory and regulatory improvements to the program established by this section.".

SEC. 121. CHOICE IN PUBLIC HOUSING MANAGEMENT.

(a) PURPOSE.—The purpose of this section is to encourage choice in management of distressed public housing projects by residents and increased resident management of public housing projects, as a means of improving living conditions in public housing projects, by providing for resident councils and resident management corporations to transfer the management of distressed projects to alternative managers.

(b) AMENDMENT TO 1937 ACT.—Title I of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437 et seq.) is amended by adding after section 24 (as added by section 120 of this Act) the following new section:

"SEC. 25. CHOICE IN PUBLIC HOUSING MANAGEMENT.

"(a) SHORT TITLE.—This section may be cited as the 'Choice in Public Housing Management Act of 1992'.

"(b) FUNDING.—

"(1) REHABILITATION AND REDEVELOPMENT GRANTS.—From amounts reserved under section 14(k)(2) for each of fiscal years 1993 and 1994, the Secretary may reserve not more than $50,000,000 in each such fiscal year for activities under this section (which may include funding operating reserves for eligible housing transferred under this section). The Secretary may make grants to managers and ownership entities to rehabilitate eligible housing in accordance with this section, as appropriate.

"(2) TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE.—The Secretary may use up to 5 percent of the total amount reserved under paragraph (1) for any fiscal year to provide, by contract, technical assistance to residents of public housing and resident councils to help such residents and councils make informed choices about options for alternative management under this section.

"(c) PROGRAM AUTHORITY.—

"(1) TRANSFER OF MANAGEMENT.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary may approve not more than 25 applications submitted for fiscal years 1993 and 1994 by resident councils for the transfer of the management of distressed public housing projects, or one or more buildings within projects, that are owned or operated by troubled public housing agencies, from public housing agencies to alternative managers.

"(B) REQUIRED VOTES.—An application for such transfer may be submitted and approved only if a majority of the members of the board of the resident council has voted in favor of the proposed transfer of management responsibilities, and a majority of the residents has also voted in favor of the transfer in an election supervised by a disinterested third party.

"(C) ASSISTANCE OF MANAGEMENT SPECIALIST.—Any resident council seeking to transfer management of distressed public housing under this section shall, in cooperation with the public housing agency for such housing, select a qualified public housing management specialist to assist in identifying and acquiring a capable manager for the housing.

"(2) REHABILITATION AND CAPITAL IMPROVEMENTS.—The Secretary may make rehabilitation grants and provide capital improvement funding under subsection (e) in connection with the transfer of eligible housing to a manager under this section.

"(d) OPERATING SUBSIDIES.—

"(1) AUTHORITY TO PROVIDE.—The Secretary may make operating subsidies under section 9 available to managers under this section.

"(2) AMOUNT OF SUBSIDY.—The Secretary shall establish the amount of the operating subsidies made available to a manager based on the share for the housing under section 9 as determined by the Secretary.

"(3) EFFECT ON PHA GRANT.—Operating subsidies for any public housing agency transferring management under this section shall be reduced in accordance with the requirements of section 9.

"(e) REHABILITATION GRANTS AND CAPITAL IMPROVEMENT FUNDING.—

"(1) REHABILITATION GRANTS.—An application under subsection (f) may request approval of amounts set aside under subsection (b) for the rehabilitation of eligible housing. The manager and the Secretary shall enter into a contract governing the use of any such assistance provided.

"(2) ANNUAL CAPITAL IMPROVEMENT FUNDING.—

"(A) AUTHORITY TO PROVIDE.—The Secretary may make funding for capital improvements available annually from amounts under section 14 to managers of eligible housing. In accordance with the contract entered into pursuant to subsection (h), each manager receiving such funding shall establish a capital improvements reserve account and deposit in the account each year an amount not less than the annual amount of comprehensive grant funds it receives. Amounts in the reserve account may be used only for capital improvements and replacements.

"(B) AMOUNT OF SUBSIDY.—The Secretary shall establish the amount made available to a manager under paragraph (1) for capital improvements based on the share for the housing under the comprehensive grant formula and, to the extent practicable, the public housing agency's comprehensive grant plan, in accordance with section 14, as determined by the Secretary.

"(C) LIMITATION IN THE CASE OF RECENT REHABILITATION.—Where eligible housing has received rehabilitation funding under paragraph (1) or has otherwise been comprehensively modernized within 3 years before the effective date of the contract between the Secretary and the manager for management of the eligible housing, only the accrual portion of the comprehensive grant formula amount shall be available for payment to the manager.

"(D) EFFECT ON PHA GRANT.—The formula amount of a comprehensive grant for a public housing agency transferring the housing under this section shall be reduced in accordance with the requirements of section 14.

"(3) RELATIONSHIP TO SECTION 14.—The provisions of section 14 shall apply with respect to rehabilitation grants under paragraph (1) or capital improvement funding under paragraph (2); except that the Secretary may waive the applicability of any of the provisions of such section where such provisions are not appropriate to the assistance under this subsection.

"(f) APPLICATION.—

"(1) FORM AND PROCEDURES.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—To be eligible for approval for transfer of management from a public housing agency to a manager and for a grant under subsection (e), a resident council shall submit an application to the Secretary in such form and in accordance with such procedures as the Secretary shall establish.

"(B) PHA COMMENT ON APPLICATION.—A resident council submitting an application shall provide the public housing agency that owns or operates the housing involved a reasonable opportunity to comment on the application, as the Secretary shall prescribe.

"(C) PHA PROPOSAL.—The public housing agency may present to the resident council a proposal for the continued management of the housing by the agency, and the resident council shall give reasonable consideration to any such proposal.

"(2) MINIMUM REQUIREMENTS.—The Secretary shall require that an application contain—

"(A) a description of the resident council and documentation of its authority;

"(B) documentation of the votes required under subsection (c)(1)(B);

"(C) a description of the proposed manager selected by the applicant (in accordance with procedures established or approved by the Secretary) and documentation of its capacity to manage the eligible housing;

"(D) a plan for carrying out the manager's responsibilities for managing the eligible housing;

"(E) documentation that the project (or building or buildings) for which management transfer is proposed is eligible housing;

"(F) documentation that each of the requirements under paragraph (1)(B) have been fulfilled;

"(G)(i) if the application includes a request for a rehabilitation grant under subsection (e) (which shall be included in any application involving eligible housing that is 50 percent or more vacant), the basis for the estimate of the amount requested, including—

"(I) the estimate of the eligible housing's need under the public housing agency's comprehensive plan (under section 14(e)(1)); and

"(II) an explanation, where appropriate, if an amount higher than the amount planned by the agency is being requested; or

"(ii) if the application does not include a request for a rehabilitation grant under subsection (e), a demonstration that needs for capital improvements and replacement for the housing can reasonably be expected to be funded from funding for capital improvements under subsection (e);

"(H) if the manager proposes to administer a program to enable residents to achieve economic independence and self-sufficiency, a description of the program and evidence of commitment of resources to the program;

"(I) an analysis showing that the planned rehabilitation will result in the long-term viability of the housing at a reasonable cost;

"(J) a certification that the manager will comply with the requirements of the Fair Housing Act, title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, and the Age Discrimination Act of 1975, and will affirmatively further fair housing; and

"(K) such other information that the Secretary considers appropriate.

"(g) REVIEW AND APPROVAL BY THE SECRETARY.—

"(1) APPLICATIONS NOT REQUESTING REHABILITATION ASSISTANCE.—In the case of applications for the transfer of management of public housing that do not include a request for rehabilitation assistance under subsection (e), the Secretary may approve an application that meets the requirements of subsection (f)(2) and this section.

"(2) APPLICATIONS REQUESTING REHABILITATION GRANTS.—In the case of applications that include a request for rehabilitation assistance under subsection (e), the Secretary shall select applicants for approval based on a national competition. The Secretary shall, by regulation, establish selection criteria for the competition which provide for separate rating of applicants under this paragraph and of applicants under this section, and for selections from a single list of all applicants. The criteria shall include—

"(A) the quality of the plan for rehabilitating the eligible housing;

"(B) the extent of the capacity or potential capacity of the proposed manager to manage the housing and to carry out the rehabilitation program;

"(C) the extent to which a program is proposed to enable residents to achieve economic independence and self-sufficiency;

"(D) the extent to which the planned rehabilitation will result in the long-term viability of the housing at a reasonable cost; and

"(E) such other criteria as the Secretary may require.

"(h) CONTRACT BETWEEN SECRETARY AND MANAGER.—

"(1) TERMS.—After the Secretary approves an application, the Secretary shall enter into a contract with the manager for transfer of management of the eligible housing. In addition to other contract provisions required under this section, the contract shall—

"(A) give the manager the right to receive operating subsidies under subsection (d) and capital improvement funding under subsection (e);

"(B) require the manager to carry out all management responsibilities for the eligible housing, as provided in or required by the contract;

"(C) require the manager to carry out, for the eligible housing, all management responsibilities applicable to public housing agencies owning or operating public housing projects, including (I) maintaining the units in decent, safe, and sanitary condition in accordance with any standards for public housing established or adopted by the Secretary, (II) determining eligibility of applicants for occupancy of units subject to the requirements of this Act, (III) terminating tenancy in accordance with the procedures applicable to the section 8 new construction program, and (IV) determining the amount of rent paid for units in accordance with this Act; and

(D) permit, but not require, the manager to select applicants from the public housing waiting list maintained by the public housing agency.

"(2) EXTENSION, EXPIRATION, AND TERMINATION.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall provide for a resident council that has entered into a contract under this subsection to—

"(i) approve the renewal of the contract between the Secretary and the manager; or

"(ii) disapprove renewal and submit an application to the Secretary, in accordance with subsection (f), proposing another manager, which may be the public housing agency.

"(B) DEFAULT.—If the Secretary determines that a manager is in default of its responsibilities under the contract, the Secretary may require the resident council to submit another application proposing a different manager, which may be the public housing agency.

"(i) OTHER PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS.—

"(1) COST LIMITATIONS.—The Secretary may establish cost limitations on activities under this section. The amount of rehabilitation funds under subsection (e)(1) that may be approved may not exceed the per unit cost limit applicable to the comprehensive grant program under section 14.

"(2) DEMOLITION AND DISPOSITION NOT PERMITTED.—A manager may not demolish or dispose of eligible housing under this section.

"(3) CAPABILITY OF RESIDENT MANAGEMENT CORPORATIONS.—To be eligible to become a manager under this section, a resident management corporation—

"(A) shall demonstrate to the Secretary its ability to manage public housing effectively and efficiently, as determined by the Secretary, which shall include evidence of its most recent financial audit; or

"(B) shall arrange for operation of the housing by a qualified management entity.

"(4) LIMITATIONS ON PHA LIABILITY.—A public housing agency shall not be liable for any act or failure to act by the manager or resident council.

"(5) BONDING AND INSURANCE.—Before assuming any management responsibility for eligible housing, a manager shall obtain fidelity bonding and insurance, or equivalent protection, in accordance with regulations and requirements established by the Secretary. Such bonding and insurance, or its equivalent, shall be adequate to protect the Secretary and the public housing agency against loss, theft, embezzlement, or fraudulent acts on the part of the manager or its employees.

"(6) RESTRICTION ON DISPLACEMENT BEFORE TRANSFER.—A public housing agency may not involuntarily displace, as determined by the Secretary, any resident of eligible housing during the period beginning on the date that an application under subsection (f) is submitted by a resident council, and ending upon transfer of management of the housing or, if the application is disapproved, the date of the disapproval.

"(j) PERFORMANCE REVIEW AND COMPLIANCE.—

"(1) MONITORING.—The Secretary shall monitor the performance of managers under this section and shall assess their management performance using the performance indicators established under section 6(j)(1).

"(2) RECORDS, REPORTS, AND AUDITS OF MANAGERS.—

"(A) KEEPING OF RECORDS.—Each manager and resident council under this subtitle shall keep such records as may be reasonably necessary to disclose the amount and the disposition by the manager of the proceeds of assistance received under this section and to ensure compliance with the requirements of this section.

"(B) ACCESS TO DOCUMENTS.—

"(i) SECRETARY.—The Secretary shall have access for the purpose of audit and examination to any books, documents, papers, and records of a manager, resident council, and public housing agency that are pertinent to assistance received under, and to the requirements of, this section.

"(ii) GAO.—The Comptroller General of the United States, and any duly authorized representatives of the Comptroller General, shall have access for the purpose of audit and examination to any books, documents, papers, and records of a manager and resident council that are pertinent to assistance received under, and to the requirements of, this section.

"(C) REPORTING REQUIREMENTS.—Each manager shall submit to the Secretary such reports as the Secretary determines appropriate to carry out the Secretary's responsibilities under this section, including an annual financial audit.

"(D) ANNUAL REPORT.—The Secretary shall submit an annual report to the Congress evaluating management transfers under this section compared to other methods of dealing with severely distressed public housing.

"(k) NONDISCRIMINATION.—No person in the United States shall, on the grounds of race, color, national origin, religion, or sex, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under, any program or activity funded in whole or in part with funds made available under this section. Any prohibition against discrimination on the basis of age under the Age Discrimination Act of 1975 or with respect to an otherwise qualified handicapped individual as provided in section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 shall also apply to any such program or activity.

"(l) RELATIONSHIP TO OTHER PROGRAMS.—

"(1) HOMEOWNERSHIP.—After a transfer of management in accordance with this section, the eligible housing shall remain eligible for assistance under title III and for sale under section 5(h). Participation in a homeownership program shall be consistent with a contract between the Secretary and a manager.

"(2) SELF-SUFFICIENCY.—Where an application under subsection (f) proposes a program to enable residents to achieve economic independence and self-sufficiency, consistent with the objectives of the program under section 23, and demonstrates that the manager has the capacity to carry out a self-sufficiency program, the Secretary may approve such a program. Where such a program is approved, the Secretary shall authorize the manager to adopt policies consistent with section 23(d) (relating to maximum rents and escrow savings accounts) and section 23(e) (relating to effect of increases in family income).

"(m) DEFINITIONS.—For purposes of this section:

"(1) The term 'eligible housing' means a public housing project, or one or more buildings within a project, that—

"(A) is owned or operated by a troubled public housing agency; and

"(B) has been identified as severely distressed under section 24 of this Act.

In the case of an individual building, the building shall, in the determination of the Secretary, be sufficiently separable from the remainder of the project to make use of the building feasible for purposes of this section.

"(2) The term 'manager' means one of the following entities that has entered into a contract with the Secretary for the management of eligible housing under this section:

"(A) A public or private nonprofit organization (including, as determined by the Secretary, such an organization sponsored by the public housing agency).

"(B) A for-profit entity, if it has (i) demonstrated experience in providing low-income housing, and (ii) is participating in joint venture with an organization described in paragraph (3).

"(C) A State or local government, including an agency or instrumentality thereof.

"(D) A public housing agency (other than the public housing agency that owns the project).

The term does not include a resident council.

"(3) The term 'private nonprofit organization' means any private nonprofit organization (including a State or locally chartered nonprofit organization) that—

"(A) is incorporated under State or local law;

"(B) has no part of its net earnings inuring to the benefit of any member, founder, contributor, or individual;

"(C) complies with standards of financial accountability acceptable to the Secretary; and

"(D) has among its purposes significant activities related to the provision of decent housing that is affordable to low-income families.

The term includes resident management corporations.

"(4) The term 'public housing agency' has the meaning given such term in section 3(b), except that it does not include Indian housing authorities.

"(5) The term 'public nonprofit organization' means any public nonprofit entity, except the public housing agency that owns the eligible housing.

"(6) The term 'resident council' means any nonprofit organization or association that—

"(A) is representative of the residents of the eligible housing;

"(B) adopts written procedures providing for the election of officers on a regular basis; and

"(C) has a democratically elected governing board, elected by the residents of the eligible housing.

"(7) The term 'resident management corporation' means a resident management corporation established in accordance with the requirements of the Secretary under section 20.

"(8) The term 'troubled public housing agency' means a public housing agency with 250 or more units that—

"(A) has been designated as a troubled public housing agency for the current Federal fiscal year, and for the 2 preceding Federal fiscal years—

"(i) under section 6(j)(2)(A)(i); or

"(ii) before the implementation of such authority, under any other procedure for designating troubled public housing agencies that was used by the Secretary and is determined by the Secretary to be appropriate for purposes of this section; and

"(B) has not met targets for improved performance under section 6(j)(2)(C).".

SEC. 152. MOVING TO OPPORTUNITY FOR FAIR HOUSING.

(a) AUTHORITY.—Using any amounts available under subsection (e), the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall carry out a demonstration program to provide tenant-based assistance under section 8 of the United States Housing Act of 1937 to assist very low-income families with children who reside in public housing or housing receiving project-based assistance under section 8 of the United States Housing Act of 1937 to move out of areas with high concentrations of persons living in poverty to areas with low concentrations of such persons. The demonstration program carried out under this section shall compare and contrast the costs associated with implementing such a program (including the costs of counseling, supportive services, housing assistance payments and other relevant program elements) with the costs associated with the routine implementation of the section 8 tenant-based rental assistance programs. The Secretary shall enter into annual contributions contracts with public housing agencies to administer housing assistance payments contracts under the demonstration.

(b) ELIGIBLE CITIES.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall carry out the demonstration only in cities with populations exceeding 350,000 that are located in consolidated metropolitan statistical areas (as designated by the Director of the Office of Management and Budget) having populations exceeding 1,500,000.

(2) 1993.—Notwithstanding paragraph (1), in fiscal year 1993, only the 5 cities selected for the demonstration under the item relating to "HOUSING PROGRAMS—ANNUAL CONTRIBUTIONS FOR ASSISTED HOUSING (INCLUDING RESCISSION OF FUNDS)" of title II of the Departments of Veterans Affairs and Housing and Urban Development, and Independent Agencies Appropriations Act, 1992 (105 Stat. 745), and the City of Los Angeles, California, shall be eligible for the demonstration under this section.

(c) SERVICES.—The Secretary shall enter into contracts with nonprofit organizations to provide counseling and services in connection with the demonstration.

(d) REPORTS.—

(1) BIENNIAL.—Not later than the expiration of the 2-year period beginning on the date of the enactment of this Act (and biennially thereafter), the Secretary shall submit interim reports to the Congress evaluating the effectiveness of the demonstration program under this section. The interim reports shall include a statement of the number of persons served, the level of counseling and the types of services provided, the cost of providing such counseling and services, updates on the employment record of families assisted under the program, and any other information the Secretary considers appropriate in evaluating the demonstration.

(2) FINAL.—Not later than September 30, 2004, the Secretary shall submit a final report to the Congress describing the long-term housing, employment, and educational achievements of the families assisted under the demonstration program. Such report shall also contain an assessment of such achievements for a comparable population of section 8 recipients who have not received assistance under the demonstration program.

(e) FUNDING.—The budget authority available under section 5(c) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 for tenant-based assistance under section 8 of such Act is authorized to be increased by $50,000,000, on or after October 1, 1992, and by $52,100,000, on or after October 1, 1993, to carry out the demonstration under this section. Any amounts made available under this paragraph shall be used in connection with the demonstration under this section.

(f) IMPLEMENTATION.—The Secretary may, by notice published in the Federal Register, establish any requirements necessary to carry out the demonstration under this section and the amendment made by this section. The Secretary shall publish such notice not later than the expiration of the 90-day period beginning on the date of the enactment of this Act and shall submit a copy of such notice to the Congress not less than 15 days before publication.

SEC. 153. DIRECTIVE TO FURTHER FAIR HOUSING OBJECTIVES UNDER CERTIFICATE AND VOUCHER PROGRAMS.

Not later than 2 years after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, in consultation with individuals representing fair housing organizations, low-income tenants, public housing agencies, and other interested parties, shall—

(1) review and comment upon the study prepared by the Comptroller General of the United States pursuant to section 558(3) of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act;

(2) evaluate the implementation and effects of existing demonstration and judicially mandated programs that help minority families receiving section 8 certificates and vouchers move out of areas with high concentrations of minority persons living in poverty to areas with low concentrations, including how such programs differ from the routine implementation of the section 8 certificate and voucher programs;

(3) independently assess factors (including the adequacy of section 8 fair market rentals, the level of counseling provided by public housing agencies, the existence of racial and ethnic discrimination by landlords) that may impede the geographic dispersion of families receiving section 8 certificates and vouchers;

(4) identify and implement any administrative revisions that would enhance geographic dispersion and tenant choice and incorporate the positive elements of various demonstration and judicially mandated mobility programs; and

(5) submit to the Congress a report describing its findings under paragraphs (1), (2), and (3), the actions taken under paragraph (4), and any recommendations for additional demonstration, research, or legislative action.

"(3) ENCOURAGEMENT.—The Secretary shall encourage organizations engaged in providing homeownership and rental counseling that do not receive assistance under this section to employ individuals to provide such counseling who are certified under this subsection or meet the certification standards established under this subsection.

"(f) HOMEOWNERSHIP AND RENTAL COUNSELOR TRAINING AND CERTIFICATION PROGRAMS.—

"(1) ESTABLISHMENT.—To the extent amounts are provided in appropriations Acts under paragraph (7), the Secretary shall contract with an appropriate entity (which may be a nonprofit organization) to carry out a program under this subsection to train individuals to provide homeownership and rental counseling and to administer the examination under subsection (e)(2) and certify individuals under such subsection.

"(2) ELIGIBILITY AND SELECTION.—

"(A) ELIGIBILITY.—To be eligible to provide the training and certification program under this subsection, an entity shall have demonstrated experience in training homeownership and rental counselors.

"(B) SELECTION.—The Secretary shall provide for entities meeting the requirements of subparagraph (A) to submit applications to provide the training and certification program under this subsection. The Secretary shall select an application based on the ability of the entity to—

"(i) establish the program as soon as possible on a national basis, but not later than the date under paragraph (6);

"(ii) minimize the costs involved in establishing the program; and

"(iii) effectively and efficiently carry out the program.

"(3) TRAINING.—The Secretary shall require that training of counselors under the program under this subsection be designed and coordinated to prepare individuals for successful completion of the examination for certification under subsection (e)(2). The Secretary, in consultation with the entity selected under paragraph (2)(B), shall establish the curriculum and standards for training counselors under the program.

"(4) CERTIFICATION.—The entity selected under paragraph (2)(B) shall administer the examination under subsection (e)(2) and, on behalf of the Secretary, certify individuals successfully completing the examination. The Secretary, in consultation with such entity, shall establish the content and format of the examination.

"(5) FEES.—Subject to the approval of the Secretary, the entity selected under paragraph (2)(B) may establish and impose reasonable fees for participation in the training provided under the program and for examination and certification under subsection (e)(2), in an amount sufficient to cover any costs of such activities not covered with amounts provided under paragraph (7).

"(6) TIMING.—The entity selected under paragraph (2)(B) to carry out the training and certification program shall establish the program as soon as possible after such selection, and shall make training and certification available under the program on a national basis not later than the expiration of the 1-year period beginning upon such selection.

"(7) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There are authorized to be appropriated to carry out this subsection $2,000,000 for fiscal year 1993 and $2,084,000 for 1994.".

(e) REGULATIONS.—The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall issue any regulations necessary to carry out the amendments made by subsection (d), not later than the expiration of the 6-month period beginning on the date of the enactment of this Act.

SEC. 163. USE OF FUNDS RECAPTURED FROM REFINANCING STATE AND LOCAL FINANCE PROJECTS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 1012 of the Stewart B. McKinney Homeless Assistance Amendments Act of 1988 (42 U.S.C. 1437f note) is amended to read as follows:

"SEC. 1012. USE OF FUNDS RECAPTURED FROM REFINANCING STATE AND LOCAL FINANCE PROJECTS.

"(a) DEFINITION OF QUALIFIED PROJECT.—For purposes of this section, the term 'qualified project' means any State financed project or local government or local housing agency financed project, that—

"(1) was—

"(A) provided a financial adjustment factor under section 8 of the United States Housing Act of 1937; or

"(B) constructed or substantially rehabilitated pursuant to assistance provided under a contract under section 8(b)(2) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (as in effect on September 30, 1983) entered into during any of calendar years 1979 through 1984; and

"(2) is being refinanced.

"(b) AVAILABILITY OF FUNDS.—The Secretary shall make available to the State housing finance agency in the State in which a qualified project is located, or the local government or local housing agency initiating the refinancing of the qualified project, as applicable, an amount equal to 50 percent of the amounts recaptured from the project (as determined by the Secretary on a project-by-project basis). Notwithstanding any other provision of law, such amounts shall be used only for providing decent, safe, and sanitary housing affordable for very low-income families and persons.

"(c) APPLICABILITY AND BUDGET COMPLIANCE.—

"(1) RETROACTIVITY.—This section shall apply to refinancings of projects for which settlement occurred or occurs before, on, or after the date of the enactment of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1992, subject to the provisions of paragraph (2).

"(2) BUDGET COMPLIANCE.—This section shall apply only to the extent or in such amounts as are provided in appropriation Acts.".

SEC. 164. HOPE FOR YOUTH.

Title IV of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act (42 U.S.C. 1437aaa note et seq.) is amended by adding at the end the following new subtitle:

"Subtitle D—HOPE for Youth: Youthbuild

"SEC. 451. STATEMENT OF PURPOSE.

"It is the purpose of this subtitle—

"(1) to expand the supply of permanent affordable housing for homeless individuals and members of low- and very low-income families by utilizing the energies and talents of economically disadvantaged young adults;

"(2) to provide economically disadvantaged young adults with opportunities for meaningful work and service to their communities in helping to meet the housing needs of homeless individuals and members of low- and very low-income families;

"(3) to enable economically disadvantaged young adults to obtain the education and employment skills necessary to achieve economic self-sufficiency; and

"(4) to foster the development of leadership skills and commitment to community development among young adults in low-income communities.

"SEC. 452. PROGRAM AUTHORITY.

"The Secretary may make—

"(1) planning grants to enable applicants to develop Youthbuild programs; and

"(2) implementation grants to enable applicants to carry out Youthbuild programs.

"SEC. 453. PLANNING GRANTS.

"(a) GRANTS.—The Secretary is authorized to make planning grants to applicants for the purpose of developing Youthbuild programs under this subtitle. The amount of a planning grant under this section may not exceed $150,000, except that the Secretary may for good cause approve a grant in a higher amount.

"(b) ELIGIBLE ACTIVITIES.—Planning grants may be used for activities to develop Youthbuild programs including—

"(1) studies of the feasibility of a Youthbuild program;

"(2) establishment of consortia between youth training and education programs and housing owners or developers, including any organizations specified in section 457(2), which will participate in the Youthbuild program;

"(3) identification and selection of a site for the Youthbuild program;

"(4) preliminary architectural and engineering work for the Youthbuild program;

"(5) identification and training of staff for the Youthbuild program;

"(6) planning for education, job training, and other services that will be provided as part of the Youthbuild program;

"(7) other planning, training, or technical assistance necessary in advance of commencing the Youthbuild program; and

"(8) preparation of an application for an implementation grant under this subtitle.

"(c) APPLICATION.—

"(1) FORM AND PROCEDURES.—An application for a planning grant shall be submitted by an applicant in such form and in accordance with such procedures as the Secretary shall establish.

"(2) MINIMUM REQUIREMENTS.—The Secretary shall require that an application contain at a minimum—

"(A) a request for a planning grant, specifying the activities proposed to be carried out, the schedule for completing the activities, the personnel necessary to complete the activities, and the amount of the grant requested;

"(B) a description of the applicant and a statement of its qualifications, including a description of the applicant's past experience with housing rehabilitation or construction and with youth and youth education and employment training programs, and its relationship with local unions and apprenticeship programs, and other community groups;

"(C) identification and description of potential sites for the program and the construction or rehabilitation activities that would be undertaken at such sites; potential methods for identifying and recruiting youth participants; potential educational and job training activities, work opportunities and other services for participants; and potential coordination with other Federal, State, and local housing and youth education and employment training activities including activities conducted by Indian tribes;

"(D) a certification by the public official responsible for submitting the comprehensive housing affordability strategy under section 105 of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act that the proposed activities are consistent with the approved housing strategy of the State or unit of general local government within which the project is located; and

“(E) a certification that the applicant will comply with the requirements of the Fair Housing Act, title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, and the Age Discrimination Act of 1975, and will affirmatively further fair housing.

“(d) SELECTION CRITERIA.—The Secretary shall, by regulation, establish selection criteria for a national competition for assistance under this section, which shall include—

“(1) the qualifications or potential capabilities of the applicant;

“(2) the potential of the applicant for developing a successful and affordable Youthbuild program;

“(3) the need for the prospective program, as determined by the degree of economic distress—

“(A) of the community from which participants would be recruited (such as poverty, youth unemployment, and number of individuals who have dropped out of high school); and

“(B) of the community in which the housing proposed to be constructed or rehabilitated would be located (such as incidence of homelessness, shortage of affordable housing, and poverty); and

“(4) such other factors that the Secretary shall require that (in the determination of the Secretary) are appropriate for purposes of carrying out the program established by this subtitle in an effective and efficient manner.

“SEC. 454. IMPLEMENTATION GRANTS.

“(a) GRANTS.—The Secretary is authorized to make implementation grants to applicants for the purpose of carrying out Youthbuild programs approved under this subtitle.

“(b) ELIGIBLE ACTIVITIES.—Implementation grants may be used to carry out Youthbuild programs, including the following activities:

“(1) Architectural and engineering work.

“(2) Acquisition, rehabilitation, acquisition and rehabilitation, or construction of housing and related facilities to be used for the purposes of providing homeownership under subtitle B and subtitle C of this title, residential housing for homeless individuals, and low- and very low-income families, or transitional housing for persons who are homeless, have disabilities, are ill, are deinstitutionalized, or have other special needs.

“(3) Administrative costs of the applicant, which may not exceed 15 percent of the amount of assistance provided under this section, or such higher percentage as the Secretary determines is necessary to support capacity development by a private nonprofit organization.

“(4) Education and job training services and activities including—

“(A) work experience and skills training, coordinated, to the maximum extent feasible, with preapprenticeship and apprenticeship programs, in the construction and rehabilitation activities described in subsection (b)(2);

“(B) services and activities designed to meet the educational needs of participants, including—

“(i) basic skills instruction and remedial education;

“(ii) bilingual education for individuals with limited-English proficiency;

“(iii) secondary education services and activities designed to lead to the attainment of a high school diploma or its equivalent; and

“(iv) counseling and assistance in attaining post-secondary education and required financial aid;

“(C) counseling services and related activities;

“(D) activities designed to develop employment and leadership skills, including support for youth councils; and

“(E) support services and need-based stipends necessary to enable individuals to participate in the program and, for a period not to exceed 12 months after completion of training, to assist participants through support services in retaining employment.

“(5) Wage stipends and benefits provided to participants.

“(6) Funding of operating expenses and replacement reserves of the property covered by the Youthbuild program.

“(7) Legal fees.

“(8) Defraying costs for the ongoing training and technical assistance needs of the recipient that are related to developing and carrying out the Youthbuild program.

“(c) APPLICATION.—

“(1) FORM AND PROCEDURE.—An application for an implementation grant shall be submitted by an applicant in such form and in accordance with such procedures as the Secretary shall establish.

“(2) MINIMUM REQUIREMENTS.—The Secretary shall require that an application contain at a minimum—

“(A) a request for an implementation grant, specifying the amount of the grant requested and its proposed uses;

“(B) a description of the applicant and a statement of its qualifications, including a description of the applicant's past experience with housing rehabilitation or construction and with youth and youth education and employment training programs, and its relationship with local unions and apprenticeship programs, and other community groups;

“(C) a description of the proposed site for the program;

“(D) a description of the educational and job training activities, work opportunities, and other services that will be provided to participants;

“(E) a description of the proposed construction or rehabilitation activities to be undertaken and the anticipated schedule for carrying out such activities;

“(F) a description of the manner in which eligible youths will be recruited and selected, including a description of arrangements which will be made with community-based organizations, State and local educational agencies, including agencies of Indian tribes, public assistance agencies, the courts of jurisdiction for status and youth offenders, shelters for homeless individuals and other agencies that serve homeless youth, foster care agencies, and other appropriate public and private agencies;

“(G) a description of the special outreach efforts that will be undertaken to recruit eligible young women (including young women with dependent children);

“(H) a description of how the proposed program will be coordinated with other Federal, State, and local activities and activities conducted by Indian tribes, including vocational, adult and bilingual education programs, job training provided with funds available under the Job Training Partnership Act and the Family Support Act of 1988, and housing and community development programs, including programs that receive assistance under section 106 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974;

“(I) assurances that there will be a sufficient number of adequately trained supervisory personnel in the program who have attained the level of journeyman or its equivalent;

“(J) a description of the applicant's relationship with local building trade unions regarding their involvement in training, and the relationship of the Youthbuild program with established apprenticeship programs;

“(K) a description of activities that will be undertaken to develop the leadership skills of participants;

“(L) a detailed budget and a description of the system of fiscal controls and auditing and accountability procedures that will be used to ensure fiscal soundness;

“(M) a description of the commitments for any additional resources to be made available to the program from the applicant, from recipients of other Federal, State or local housing and community development assistance who will sponsor any part of the construction, rehabilitation, operation and maintenance, or other housing and community development activities undertaken as part of the program, or from other Federal, State or local activities and activities conducted by Indian tribes, including, but not limited to, vocational, adult and bilingual education programs, and job training provided with funds available under the Job Training Partnership Act and the Family Support Act of 1988;

“(N) identification and description of the financing proposed for any—

“(i) rehabilitation;

“(ii) acquisition of the property; or

“(iii) construction;

“(O) identification and description of the entity that will operate and manage the property;

“(P) a certification by the public official responsible for submitting the comprehensive housing affordability strategy under section 105 of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act that the proposed activities are consistent with the approved housing strategy of the State or unit of general local government within which the project is located; and “(Q) a certification that the applicant will comply with the requirements of the Fair Housing Act, title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, and the Age Discrimination Act of 1975, and will affirmatively further fair housing.

“(d) SELECTION CRITERIA.—The Secretary shall establish selection criteria for assistance under this section, which shall include—

“(1) the qualifications or potential capabilities of the applicant;

“(2) the feasibility of the Youthbuild program;

“(3) the potential for developing a successful Youthbuild program;

“(4) the need for the prospective project, as determined by the degree of economic distress of the community from which participants would be recruited (such as poverty, youth unemployment, number of individuals who have dropped out of high school) and of the community in which the housing proposed to be constructed or rehabilitated would be located (such as incidence of homelessness, shortage of affordable housing, poverty);

“(5) the apparent commitment of the applicant to leadership development, education, and training of participants;

“(6) the inclusion of previously homeless tenants in the housing provided;

“(7) the commitment of other resources to the program by the applicant and by recipients of other Federal, State or local housing and community development assistance who will sponsor any part of the construction, rehabilitation, operation and maintenance, or other housing and community development activities undertaken as part of the program, or by other Federal, State or local activities and activities conducted by Indian tribes, including, but not limited to, vocational, adult and bilingual education programs, and job training provided with funds available under the Job Training Partnership Act and the Family Support Act of 1988; and

“(8) such other factors as the Secretary determines to be appropriate for purposes of carrying out the program established by this subtitle in an effective and efficient manner.

“(e) PRIORITY FOR APPLICANTS WHO OBTAIN HOUSING MONEY FROM OTHER SOURCES.—The Secretary shall give priority in the award of grants under this section to applicants to the extent that they propose to finance activities described in paragraphs (1), (2), and (6) of subsection (b) from funds provided from Federal, State, local, or private sources other than assistance under this subtitle.

"(f) Approval.—The Secretary shall notify each applicant, not later than 4 months after the date of the submission of the application, whether the application is approved or not approved.

"(g) Combined Planning and Implementation Grant Application Procedure.—The Secretary shall develop a procedure under which an applicant may apply at the same time and in a single application for a planning grant and an implementation grant, with receipt of the implementation grant conditioned on successful completion of the activities funded by the planning grant.

"SEC. 455. YOUTHBUILD PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS.

"(a) Residential Rental Housing.—Each residential rental housing project receiving assistance under this subtitle shall meet the following requirements:

"(1) Occupancy by low- and very low-income families.—In the project—

"(A) at least 90 percent of the units shall be occupied, or available for occupancy, by individuals and families with incomes less than 60 percent of the area median income, adjusted for family size; and

"(B) the remaining units shall be occupied, or available for occupancy, by low-income families.

"(2) Tenant protections.—

"(A) Lease.—The lease between a tenant and an owner of residential rental housing assisted under this subtitle shall be for not less than 1 year, unless otherwise mutually agreed to by the tenant and the owner, and shall contain such terms and conditions as the Secretary shall determine to be appropriate.

"(B) Termination of tenancy.—An owner shall not terminate the tenancy or refuse to renew the lease of a tenant of residential rental housing assisted under this title except for serious or repeated violation of the terms and conditions of the lease, for violation of applicable Federal, State, or local law, or for other good cause. Any termination or refusal to renew must be preceded by not less than 30 days by the owner's service upon the tenant of a written notice specifying the grounds for the action.

"(C) Maintenance and replacement.—The owner of residential rental housing assisted under this subtitle shall maintain the premises in compliance with all applicable housing quality standards and local code requirements.

"(D) Tenant selection.—The owner of residential rental housing assisted under this subtitle shall adopt written tenant selection policies and criteria that—

"(i) are consistent with the purpose of providing housing for very low-income and low-income families and individuals;

"(ii) are reasonably related to program eligibility and the applicant's ability to perform the obligations of the lease;

"(iii) give reasonable consideration to the housing needs of families that would qualify for a preference under section 6(c)(4)(A) of the United States Housing Act of 1937; and

"(iv) provide for (I) the selection of tenants from a written waiting list in the chronological order of their application, to the extent practicable, and (II) for the prompt notification in writing of any rejected applicant of the grounds for any rejection.

"(3) Limitation on rental payments.—Tenants in each project shall not be required to pay rent in excess of the amount provided under section 3(a) of the United States Housing Act of 1937.

"(4) Tenant participation plan.—For each project owned by a nonprofit organization, the organization shall provide a plan for and follow a program of tenant participation in management decisions.

"(5) Prohibition against discrimination.—A unit in a project assisted under this subtitle may not be refused for leasing to a family holding tenant-based assistance under section 8 of the United States Housing Act of 1937 because of the status of the prospective tenant as a holder of such assistance.

"(b) Transitional Housing.—Each transitional housing project receiving assistance under this subtitle shall adhere to the requirements regarding service delivery, housing standards, and rent limitations applicable to comparable housing receiving assistance under title IV of the Stewart B. McKinney Homeless Assistance Act.

"(c) Limitations on Profits for Rental and Transitional Housing.—

"(1) Monthly rental limitation.—The aggregate monthly rental for each eligible project may not exceed the operating costs of the project (including debt service, management, adequate reserves, and other operating costs) plus a 6 percent return on any equity investment of the project owner.

"(2) Profit limitations on partners.—A nonprofit organization that receives assistance under this subtitle for a project shall agree to use any profit received from the operation, sale, or other disposition of the project for the purpose of providing housing for low- and moderate-income families. Profit-motivated partners in a nonprofit partnership may receive—

"(A) not more than a 6 percent return on their equity investment from project operations; and

"(B) upon disposition of the project, not more than an amount equal to their initial equity investment plus a return on that investment equal to the increase in the Consumer Price Index for the geographic location of the project since the time of the initial investment of such partner in the project.

"(d) Homeownership.—Each homeownership project that receives assistance under this subtitle shall comply with the requirements of subtitle B or subtitle C of this title.

"(e) Restrictions on Conveyance.—The ownership interest in a project that receives assistance under this subtitle may not be conveyed unless the instrument of conveyance requires a subsequent owner to comply with the same restrictions imposed upon the original owner.

"(f) Conversion of Transitional Housing.—The Secretary may waive the requirements of subsection (b) to permit the conversion of a transitional housing project to a permanent housing project only if such housing would meet the requirements for residential rental housing specified in this section.

"(g) Period of Restrictions.—A project that receives assistance under this subtitle shall comply with the requirements of this section for the remaining useful life of the property.

"SEC. 456. ADDITIONAL PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS.

"(a) Eligible Participants.—

"(1) In general.—Except as provided in paragraph (2), an individual may participate in a Youthbuild program receiving assistance under this subtitle only if such individual is—

"(A) 16 to 24 years of age, inclusive;

"(B) a very low-income individual or a member of a very low-income family; and

"(C) an individual who has dropped out of high school.

"(2) Exception for individuals not meeting income or educational need requirements.—Not more than 25 percent of the participants in such program may be individuals who do not meet the requirements of either paragraphs (1)(B) or (C), but who have educational needs despite attainment of a high school diploma or its equivalent.

"(3) Participation limitation.—Any eligible individual selected for full-time participation in a Youthbuild program may be offered full-time participation for a period of not less than 6 months and not more than 24 months.

"(b) Minimum Time Devoted to Educational Services and Activities.—A Youthbuild program receiving assistance under this subtitle shall be structured so that 50 percent of the time spent by participants in the program is devoted to educational services and activities, such as those specified in subparagraphs (B) through (F) of section 454(b)(4).

"(c) Authority Restriction.—No provision of this subtitle may be construed to authorize any agency, officer, or employee of the United States to exercise any direction, supervision, or control over the curriculum, program of instruction, administration, or personnel of any educational institution, school, or school system, or over the selection of library resources, textbooks, or other printed or published instructional materials by any educational institution or school system.

"(d) State and Local Standards.—All educational programs and activities supported with funds provided under this subtitle shall be consistent with applicable State and local educational standards. Standards and procedures with respect to the awarding of academic credit and certifying educational attainment in such programs shall be consistent with applicable State and local educational standards.

"(e) Wages, Labor Standards, and Nondiscrimination.—To the extent consistent with the provisions of this subtitle, sections 142, 143 and 167 of the Job Training Partnership Act, relating to wages and benefits, labor standards, and nondiscrimination, shall apply to the programs conducted under this subtitle as if such programs were conducted under the Job Training Partnership Act. This section may not be construed to prevent a recipient of a grant under this subtitle from using funds from non-Federal sources to increase wages and benefits under such programs, if appropriate.

"SEC. 457. DEFINITIONS.

"For purposes of this subtitle:

"(1) Adjusted income.—The term 'adjusted income' has the meaning given the term in section 3(b) of the United States Housing Act of 1937.

"There are authorized to be appropriated for assistance payments under this subtitle $520,665,600 for fiscal year 1993 and $542,533,555 for fiscal year 1994, of which such sums as may be necessary shall be available in each such fiscal year for use under section 303(e). Any amount appropriated under this section shall be deposited in the Fund and shall remain available until expended, subject to the provisions of section 311.".

(c) USE OF TRUST AMOUNTS IN CONNECTION WITH MORTGAGE REVENUE BONDS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Section 303 of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act (42 U.S.C. 12852) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(e) ASSISTANCE IN CONNECTION WITH HOUSING FINANCED WITH MORTGAGE REVENUE BONDS.—

"(1) AUTHORITY.—The Trust shall provide assistance for first-time homebuyers in the form of interest rate buydowns and downpayment assistance under this subsection. Such assistance shall be available only with respect to mortgages for the purchase of residences (A) financed with the proceeds of a qualified mortgage bond (as such term is defined in section 143 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986), or (B) for which a credit is allowable under section 25 of such Code.

"(2) ELIGIBILITY.—To be eligible for assistance under this subsection, homebuyers and mortgages shall also meet the requirements under subsection (b) of this section, except that—

"(A) the certification under subsection (b)(3) shall not be required for assistance under this subsection;

"(B) the provisions of subsection (b)(2) shall not apply to assistance under this section; and

"(C) the aggregate income of the homebuyer and the members of the family of the homebuyer residing with the homebuyer, for the 12-month period preceding the date of the application of the homebuyer for assistance under this subsection, shall not exceed 80 percent of the median income for a family of 4 persons (as adjusted for family size) in the applicable metropolitan statistical area.

"(3) LIMITATION OF ASSISTANCE.—Notwithstanding subsection (a), assistance payments for first-time homebuyers under this subsection shall be provided in the following manners:

"(A) INTEREST RATE BUYDOWNS.—Assistance payments to decrease the rate of interest payable on the mortgages by the homebuyers, in an amount not exceeding—

"(i) in the first year of the mortgage, 2.0 percent of the total principal obligation of the mortgage;

"(ii) in the second year of the mortgage, 1.5 percent of the total principal obligation of the mortgage;

"(iii) in the third year of the mortgage, 1.0 percent of the total principal obligation of the mortgage; and

"(iv) in the fourth year of the mortgage, 0.5 percent of the total principal obligation of the mortgage.

"(B) DOWNPAYMENT ASSISTANCE.—Assistance payments to provide amounts for downpayments on mortgages by the homebuyers, in an amount not exceeding 2.5 percent of the principal obligation of the mortgage.

"(3) AVAILABILITY.—The Trust may make assistance payments under subparagraphs (A) and (B) of paragraph (3) with respect to a single mortgage of a homebuyer.".

(2) CONFORMING AMENDMENT.—Section 303(a) of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act (42 U.S.C. 12852(a)) is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(3) ASSISTANCE IN CONNECTION WITH MORTGAGE REVENUE BONDS FINANCING.—Interest rate buydowns and downpayment assistance in the manner provided in subsection (e).".

(d) ELIGIBILITY OF MANUFACTURED HOME OWNERS.—Section 303(b)(1) of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act (42 U.S.C. 12852(b)(1)) is amended—

(1) in subparagraph (B), by striking "or" at the end;

(2) in subparagraph (C), by striking the period at the end and inserting "; or"; and

(3) by adding at the end the following new subparagraph:

"(D) meets the requirements of subparagraph (A), (B), or (C), except for owning, as a principal residence, a dwelling unit whose structure is—

"(i) not permanently affixed to a permanent foundation in accordance with local or other applicable regulations; or

"(ii) not in compliance with State, local, or model building codes, or other applicable codes, and can not be brought into compliance with such codes for less than the cost of constructing a permanent structure.".

(e) SECOND MORTGAGE ASSISTANCE.—Section 303(a) of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act (42 U.S.C. 12852(a)) is amended by adding after paragraph (3) (as added by subsection (c)(3) of this section) the following new paragraphs:

"(4) SECOND MORTGAGE ASSISTANCE.—Assistance payments to provide loans (secured by second mortgages) with deferred payment of interest and principal; and

"(5) CAPITALIZATION OF REVOLVING LOAN FUNDS.—Grants to public organizations or agencies to establish revolving loan funds to provide homeownership assistance to eligible first-time homebuyers consistent with the requirements of this subtitle. Such grants shall be matched by an equal amount of local investment in such revolving loan funds. Any proceeds or repayments from loans made under this paragraph shall be returned to the revolving loan fund established under this paragraph to be used for purposes related to this section.".

SEC. 183. NEHEMIAH HOUSING OPPORTUNITY GRANTS.

(a) HOMEOWNER INCENTIVE.—Section 604 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1987 (12 U.S.C. 1715l note) is amended—

(1) in subsection (b)(4), by inserting before the period the following: ", subject to the provisions of subsection (c)"; and

(2) by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(c) HOMEOWNER INCENTIVE.—The nonprofit organization may provide that, upon the sale or transfer of a property purchased with a loan made under this section, any proceeds remaining after repaying the first mortgage shall be distributed in the following order:

"(1) DOWNPAYMENT.—The amount of the downpayment made by the seller or transferor upon the purchase of the property shall be paid to the seller or transferor.

"(2) LOAN AND PROFIT.—Any amounts remaining after distribution under paragraph (1) shall be shared equally between the Secretary and the seller or transferor, but only to the extent that the Secretary recovers an amount equal to the amount of the loan made under this section. If such remaining amounts are insufficient for the Secretary to recover the full amount of the loan made under this section, the second mortgage held by the Secretary under subsection (b)(1) shall be cancelled.

"(3) PROFIT.—Any amounts remaining after distribution under paragraphs (1) and (2) shall be paid to the seller or transferor.".

(b) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—Section 606(e)(5) of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1987 (12 U.S.C. 1715l note) is amended—

(1) by inserting "subject to the provisions of section 604(c)," after the comma; and

(2) by striking "(in which case" and all that follows through "repaid)".

(c) APPLICABILITY.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to any loan made under section 604 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1987 after July 1, 1990.

SEC. 184. LOAN GUARANTEES FOR INDIAN HOUSING.

(a) AUTHORITY.—To provide access to sources of private financing to Indian families and Indian housing authorities who otherwise could not acquire housing financing because of the unique legal status of Indian trust land, the Secretary may guarantee not to exceed 100 percent of the unpaid principal and interest due on any loan eligible under subsection (b) made to an Indian family or Indian housing authority.

(b) ELIGIBLE LOANS.—Loans guaranteed pursuant to this section shall meet the following requirements:

(1) ELIGIBLE BORROWERS.—The loans shall be made only to borrowers who are Indian families or Indian housing authorities.

(2) ELIGIBLE HOUSING.—The loan shall be used to construct, acquire, or rehabilitate 1- to 4-family dwellings that are standard housing and are located on trust land or land located in an Indian or Alaska Native area.

(3) SECURITY.—The loan may be secured by any collateral authorized under existing Federal law or applicable State or tribal law.

(4) LENDERS.—The loan shall be made only by a lender approved by and meeting qualifications established by the Secretary, except that loans otherwise insured or guaranteed by an agency of the Federal Government or made by an organization of Indians from amounts borrowed from the United States shall not be eligible for guarantee under this section. The following lenders are deemed to be approved under this paragraph:

(A) Any mortgagee approved by the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development for participation in the single family mortgage insurance program under title II of the National Housing Act.

(B) Any lender whose housing loans under chapter 37 of title 38, United States Code are automatically guaranteed pursuant to section 1802(d) of such title.

(C) Any lender approved by the Secretary of Agriculture to make guaranteed loans for single family housing under the Housing Act of 1949.

(D) Any other lender that is supervised, approved, regulated, or insured by any agency of the Federal Government.

(5) TERMS.—The loan shall—

(A) be made for a term not exceeding 30 years;

(B) bear interest (exclusive of the guarantee fee under section 404 and service charges, if any) at a rate agreed upon by the borrower and the lender and determined by the Secretary to be reasonable, which may not exceed the rate generally charged in the area (as determined by the Secretary) for home mortgage loans not guaranteed or insured by any agency or instrumentality of the Federal Government;

(C) involve a principal obligation not exceeding—

(i) an amount equal to the sum of (I) 97 percent of $25,000 of the appraised value of the property, as of the date the loan is accepted for guarantee, and (II) 95 percent of such value in excess of $25,000; and

(ii) the amount approved by the Secretary under this section; and

(D) involve a payment on account of the property (i) in cash or its equivalent, or (ii) through the value of any improvements to the property made through the skilled or unskilled labor of the borrower, as the Secretary shall provide.

(c) CERTIFICATE OF GUARANTEE.—

(1) APPROVAL PROCESS.—Before the Secretary approves any loan for guarantee under this section, the lender shall submit the application for the loan to the Secretary for examination. If the Secretary approves the loan for guarantee, the Secretary shall issue a certificate under this paragraph as evidence of the guarantee.

(2) STANDARD FOR APPROVAL.—The Secretary may approve a loan for guarantee under this section and issue a certificate under this paragraph only if the Secretary determines there is a reasonable prospect of repayment of the loan.

(3) EFFECT.—A certificate of guarantee issued under this paragraph by the Secretary shall be conclusive evidence of the eligibility of the loan for guarantee under the provisions of this section and the amount of such guarantee. Such evidence shall be incontestable in the hands of the bearer and the full faith and credit of the United States is pledged to the payment of all amounts agreed to be paid by the Secretary as security for such obligations.

(4) FRAUD AND MISREPRESENTATION.—This subsection may not be construed to preclude the Secretary from establishing defenses against the original lender based on fraud or material misrepresentation or to bar the Secretary from establishing by regulations in effect on the date of issuance or disbursement, whichever is earlier, partial defenses to the amount payable on the guarantee.

(d) GUARANTEE FEE.—The Secretary shall fix and collect a guarantee fee for the guarantee of loans under this section, which may not exceed the amount equal to 1 percent of the principal obligation of the loan. The fee shall be paid by the lender at time of issuance of the guarantee and shall be adequate, in the determination of the Secretary, to cover expenses and probable losses. The Secretary shall deposit any fees collected under this subsection in the Indian Housing Loan Guarantee Fund established under subsection (i).

(e) LIABILITY UNDER GUARANTEE.—The liability under a guarantee provided under this section shall decrease or increase on a pro rata basis according to any decrease or increase in the amount of the unpaid obligation under the provisions of the loan agreement.

(f) TRANSFER AND ASSUMPTION.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, any loan guaranteed under this section, including the security given for the loan, may be sold or assigned by the lender to any financial institution subject to examination and supervision by an agency of the Federal Government or of any State or the District of Columbia.

(g) DISQUALIFICATION OF LENDERS AND CIVIL MONEY PENALTIES.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—If the Secretary determines that any lender or holder of a guarantee certificate under subsection (c) has failed to maintain adequate accounting records, to adequately service loans guaranteed under this section, to exercise proper credit or underwriting judgment, or has engaged in practices otherwise detrimental to the interest of a borrower or the United States, the Secretary may—

(A) refuse, either temporarily or permanently, to guarantee any further loans made by such lender or holder;

(B) bar such lender or holder from acquiring additional loans guaranteed under this section; and

(C) require that such lender or holder assume not less than 10 percent of any loss on further loans made or held by the lender or holder that are guaranteed under this section.

(2) CIVIL MONEY PENALTIES FOR INTENTIONAL VIOLATIONS.—If the Secretary determines that any lender or holder of a guarantee certificate under subsection (c) has intentionally failed to maintain adequate accounting records, to adequately service loans guaranteed under this section, or to exercise proper credit or underwriting judgment, the Secretary may impose a civil money penalty on such lender or holder in the manner and amount provided under section 536 of the National Housing Act with respect to mortgagees and lenders under such Act.

(3) PAYMENT ON LOANS MADE IN GOOD FAITH.—Notwithstanding paragraphs (1) and (2), the Secretary may not refuse to pay pursuant to a valid guarantee on loans of a lender or holder barred under this subsection if the loans were previously made in good faith.

(h) PAYMENT UNDER GUARANTEE.—

(1) LENDER OPTIONS.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—In the event of default by the borrower on a loan guaranteed under this section, the holder of the guarantee certificate shall provide written notice of the default to the Secretary. Upon providing such notice, the holder of the guarantee certificate shall be entitled to payment under the guarantee (subject to the provisions of this section) and may proceed to obtain payment in one of the following manners:

(i) FORECLOSURE.—The holder of the certificate may initiate foreclosure proceedings in a court of competent jurisdiction (after providing written notice of such action to the Secretary) and upon a final order by the court authorizing foreclosure and submission to the Secretary of a claim for payment under the guarantee, the Secretary shall pay to the holder of the certificate the pro rata portion of the amount guaranteed (as determined pursuant to subsection (e)) plus reasonable fees and expenses as approved by the Secretary. The Secretary shall be subrogated to the rights of the holder of the guarantee and the lender holder shall assign the obligation and security to the Secretary.

(ii) NO FORECLOSURE.—Without seeking a judicial foreclosure (or in any case in which a foreclosure proceeding initiated under clause (i) continues for a period in excess of 1 year), the holder of the guarantee may submit to the Secretary a claim for payment under the guarantee and the Secretary shall only pay to such holder for a loss on any single loan an amount equal to 90 percent of the pro rata portion of the amount guaranteed (as determined under subsection (e)). The Secretary shall be subrogated to the rights of the holder of the guarantee and the holder shall assign the obligation and security to the Secretary.

(B) REQUIREMENTS.—Before any payment under a guarantee is made under subparagraph (A), the holder of the guarantee shall exhaust all reasonable possibilities of collection. Upon payment, in whole or in part, to the holder, the note or judgment evidencing the debt shall be assigned to the United States and the holder shall have no further claim against the borrower or the United States. The Secretary shall then take such action to collect as the Secretary determines appropriate.

(2) ASSIGNMENT BY SECRETARY.—Notwithstanding paragraph (1), upon receiving notice of default on a loan guaranteed under this section from the holder of the guarantee, the Secretary may accept assignment of the loan if the Secretary determines that the assignment is in the best interests of the United States. Upon assignment the Secretary shall pay to the holder of the guarantee the pro rata portion of the amount guaranteed (as determined under subsection (e)). The Secretary shall be subrogated to the rights of the holder of the guarantee and the holder shall assign the obligation and security to the Secretary.

(3) LIMITATIONS ON LIQUIDATION.—In the event of a default by the borrower on a loan guaranteed under this section involving a security interest in tribal allotted or trust land, the Secretary shall only pursue liquidation after offering to transfer the account to an eligible tribal member, the tribe, or the Indian housing authority serving the tribe or tribes. If the Secretary subsequently proceeds to liquidate the account, the Secretary shall not sell, transfer, or otherwise dispose of or alienate the property except to one of the entities described in the preceding sentence.

(i) INDIAN HOUSING LOAN GUARANTEE FUND.—

(1) ESTABLISHMENT.—There is established in the Treasury of the United States the Indian Housing Loan Guarantee Fund for the purpose of providing loan guarantees under this section.

(2) CREDITS.—The Guarantee Fund shall be credited with—

(A) any amounts, claims, notes, mortgages, contracts, and property acquired by the Secretary under this section, and any collections and proceeds therefrom;

(B) any amounts appropriated under paragraph (7);

(C) any guarantee fees collected under subsection (d); and

(D) any interest or earnings on amounts invested under paragraph (4).

(3) USE.—Amounts in the Guarantee Fund shall be available, to the extent provided in appropriation Acts, for—

(A) fulfilling any obligations of the Secretary with respect to loans guaranteed under this section, including the costs (as such term is defined in section 502 of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974) of such loans;

(B) paying taxes, insurance, prior liens, expenses necessary to make fiscal adjustment in connection with the application and transmittal of collections, and other expenses and advances to protect the Secretary for loans which are guaranteed under this section or held by the Secretary;

(C) acquiring such security property at foreclosure sales or otherwise;

(D) paying administrative expenses in connection with this section; and

(E) reasonable and necessary costs of rehabilitation and repair to properties that the Secretary holds or owns pursuant to this section.

(4) INVESTMENT.—Any amounts in the Guarantee Fund determined by the Secretary to be in excess of amounts currently required to carry out this section may be invested in obligations of the United States.

(5) LIMITATION ON COMMITMENTS TO GUARANTEE LOANS AND MORTGAGES.—

(A) REQUIREMENT OF APPROPRIATIONS.—The authority of the Secretary to enter into commitments to guarantee loans under this section shall be effective for any fiscal year only to the extent or in such amounts as are or have been provided in appropriations Acts for such fiscal year.

(B) LIMITATIONS ON COSTS OF GUARANTEES.—The authority of the Secretary to enter into commitments to guarantee loans under this section shall be effective for any fiscal year only to the extent that amounts in the Guarantee Fund are or have been made available in appropriation Acts to cover the costs (as such term is defined in section 502 of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974) of such loan guarantees for such fiscal year.

(C) LIMITATION ON OUTSTANDING AGGREGATE PRINCIPAL AMOUNT.—Subject to the limitations in subparagraphs (A) and (B), the Secretary may enter into commitments to guarantee loans under this section in each of fiscal years 1993 and 1994 with an aggregate outstanding principal amount not exceeding such amount as may be provided in appropriation Acts for each such year.

(6) LIABILITIES.—All liabilities and obligations of the assets credited to the Guarantee Fund under paragraph (2)(A) shall be liabilities and obligations of the Guarantee Fund.

(7) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There are authorized to be appropriated to the Guarantee Fund to carry out this section such sums as may be necessary for fiscal year 1993 and $50,000,000 for fiscal year 1994.

(j) REQUIREMENTS FOR STANDARD HOUSING.—The Secretary shall, by regulation, establish housing safety and quality standards for use under this section. Such standards shall provide sufficient flexibility to permit the use of various designs and materials in housing acquired with loans guaranteed under this section. The standards shall require each dwelling unit in any housing so acquired to—

(1) be decent, safe, sanitary, and modest in size and design;

(2) conform with applicable general construction standards for the region;

(3) contain a heating system that—

(A) has the capacity to maintain a minimum temperature in the dwelling of 65 degrees Fahrenheit during the coldest weather in the area;

(B) is safe to operate and maintain;

(C) delivers a uniform distribution of heat; and

(D) conforms to any applicable tribal heating code or, if there is no applicable tribal code, an appropriate county, State, or National code;

(4) contain a plumbing system that—

(A) uses a properly installed system of piping;

(B) includes a kitchen sink and a partitional bathroom with lavatory, toilet, and bath or shower; and

(C) uses water supply, plumbing, and sewage disposal systems that conform to any applicable tribal code or, if there is no applicable tribal code, the minimum standards established by the applicable county or State;

(5) contain an electrical system using wiring and equipment properly installed to safely supply electrical energy for adequate lighting and for operation of appliances that conforms to any applicable tribal code or, if there is no applicable tribal code, an appropriate county, State, or National code;

(6) be not less than—

(A)(i) 570 square feet in size, if designed for a family of not more than 4 persons;

(ii) 850 square feet in size, if designed for a family of not less than 5 and not more than 7 persons; and

(iii) 1020 square feet in size, if designed for a family of not less than 8 persons, or

(B) the size provided under the applicable locally adopted standards for size of dwelling units;

except that the Secretary, upon the request of a tribe or Indian housing authority, may waive the size requirements under this paragraph; and

(7) conform with the energy performance requirements for new construction established by the Secretary under section 526(a) of the National Housing Act.

(k) DEFINITIONS.—For purposes of this section:

(1) The term "family" means 1 or more persons maintaining a household, as the Secretary shall by regulation provide.

(2) The term "Guarantee Fund" means the Indian Housing Loan Guarantee Fund established under subsection (i).

(3) The term "Indian" means person recognized as being Indian or Alaska Native by an Indian tribe, the Federal Government, or any State.

(4) The term "Indian area" means the area within which an Indian housing authority is authorized to provide housing.

(5) The term "Indian housing authority" means any entity that—

(A) is authorized to engage in or assist in the development or operation of low-income housing for Indians; and

(B) is established—

(i) by exercise of the power of self-government of an Indian tribe independent of State law; or

(ii) by operation of State law providing specifically for housing authorities for Indians, including regional housing authorities in the State of Alaska.

(6) The term "Secretary" means the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development.

(7) The term "standard housing" means a dwelling unit or housing that complies with the requirements established under subsection (j).

(8) The term "tribe" means any tribe, band, pueblo, group, community, or nation of Indians or Alaska Natives.

(9) The term "trust land" means land title to which is held by the United States for the benefit of an Indian or Indian tribe or title to which is held by an Indian tribe subject to a restriction against alienation imposed by the United States.

SEC. 185. ASSISTANCE UNDER SECTION 8 FOR HOMEOWNERSHIP.

(a) AUTHORITY.—Section 8 of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437f), is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(y) HOMEOWNERSHIP OPTION.—

"(1) USE OF ASSISTANCE FOR HOMEOWNERSHIP.—A family receiving tenant-based assistance under this section may receive assistance for occupancy of a dwelling owned by one or more members of the family if the family—

"(A) is a first-time homeowner;

"(B)(i) participates in the family self-sufficiency program under section 23 of the public housing agency providing the assistance; or

"(ii) demonstrates that the family has income from employment or other sources (other than public assistance), as determined in accordance with requirements of the Secretary, that is not less than twice the payment standard established by the public housing agency (or such other amount as may be established by the Secretary);

"(C) except as provided by the Secretary, demonstrates at the time the family initially receives tenant-based assistance under this subsection that one or more adult members of the family have achieved employment for the period as the Secretary shall require;

"(D) participates in a homeownership and housing counseling program provided by the agency; and

"(E) meets any other initial or continuing requirements established by the public housing agency in accordance with requirements established by the Secretary.

"(2) MONTHLY ASSISTANCE PAYMENT.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—Notwithstanding any other provisions of this section governing determination of the amount of assistance payments under this section on behalf of a family, the monthly assistance payment for any family assisted under this subsection shall be the amount by which the fair market rental for the area established under subsection (c)(1) exceeds 30 percent of the family's monthly adjusted income; except that the monthly assistance payment shall not exceed the amount by which the monthly homeownership expenses, as determined in accordance with requirements established by the Secretary, exceeds 10 percent of the family's monthly income.

"(B) EXCLUSION OF EQUITY FROM INCOME.—For purposes of determining the monthly assistance payment for a family, the Secretary shall not include in family income an amount imputed from the equity of the family in a dwelling occupied by the family with assistance under this subsection.

"(3) RECAPTURE OF CERTAIN AMOUNTS.—Upon sale of the dwelling by the family, the Secretary shall recapture from any net proceeds the amount of additional assistance (as determined in accordance with requirements established by the Secretary) paid to or on behalf of the eligible family as a result of paragraph (2)(B).

"(4) DOWNPAYMENT REQUIREMENT.—Each public housing agency providing assistance under this subsection shall ensure that each family assisted shall provide from its own resources not less than 80 percent of any downpayment in connection with a loan made for the purchase of a dwelling. Such resources may include amounts from any escrow account for the family established under section 23(d). Not more than 20 percent of the downpayment may be provided from other sources, such as from nonprofit entities and programs of States and units of general local government.

"(5) INELIGIBILITY UNDER OTHER PROGRAMS.—A family may not receive assistance under this subsection during any period when assistance is being provided for the family under other Federal homeownership assistance programs, as determined by the Secretary, including assistance under the HOME Investment Partnerships Act, the Homeownership and Opportunity Through HOPE Act, title II of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1987, and section 502 of the Housing Act of 1949.

"(6) INAPPLICABILITY OF CERTAIN PROVISIONS.—Assistance under this subsection shall not be subject to the requirements of the following provisions:

"(A) Subsection (c)(3)(B) of this section.

"(B) Subsection (d)(1)(B)(i) of this section.

"(C) Any other provisions of this section governing maximum amounts payable to owners and amounts payable by assisted families.

"(D) Any other provisions of this section concerning contracts between public housing agencies and owners.

"(E) Any other provisions of this Act that are inconsistent with the provisions of this subsection.

"(7) REVERSION TO RENTAL STATUS.—

"(A) FHA-INSURED MORTGAGES.—If a family receiving assistance under this subsection for occupancy of a dwelling defaults under a mortgage for the dwelling insured by the Secretary under the National Housing Act, the family may not continue to receive rental assistance under this section unless the family (i) transfers to the Secretary marketable title to the dwelling, (ii) moves from the dwelling within the period established or approved by the Secretary, and (iii) agrees that any amounts the family is required to pay to reimburse the escrow account under section 23(d)(3) may be deducted by the public housing agency from the assistance payment otherwise payable on behalf of the family.

"(B) OTHER MORTGAGES.—If a family receiving assistance under this subsection defaults under a mortgage not insured under the National Housing Act, the family may not continue to receive rental assistance under this section unless it complies with requirements established by the Secretary.

"(C) ALL MORTGAGES.—A family receiving assistance under this subsection that defaults under a mortgage may not receive assistance under this subsection for occupancy of another dwelling owned by one or more members of the family.

"(8) DEFINITION OF FIRST-TIME HOMEOWNER.—For purposes of this subsection, the term 'first-time homeowner' means—

"(A) a family, no member of which has had a present ownership interest in a principal residence during the 3 years preceding the date on which the family initially receives assistance for homeownership under this subsection; and

"(B) any other family, as the Secretary may prescribe.".

(b) FAMILY SELF-SUFFICIENCY PROGRAM.—Section 23(d) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437u) is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(3) USE OF ESCROW SAVINGS ACCOUNTS FOR SECTION 8 HOMEOWNERSHIP.—Notwithstanding paragraph (3), a family that uses assistance under section 8(y) to purchase a dwelling may use up to 50 percent of the amount in its escrow account established under paragraph (3) for a downpayment on the dwelling. In addition, after the family purchases the dwelling, the family may use any amounts remaining in the escrow account to cover the costs of major repair and replacement needs of the dwelling. If a family defaults in connection with the loan to purchase a dwelling and the mortgage is foreclosed, the remaining amounts in the escrow account shall be recaptured by the Secretary.".

(c) USE OF FHA INSURANCE WITH SECTION 8 HOMEOWNERSHIP.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Section 203 of the National Housing Act (12 U.S.C. 1709) is amended—

(A) in the matter preceding subparagraph (A) in subsection (c)(2), by inserting "or of the General Insurance Fund pursuant to subsection (v)" after "Fund"; and

(B) by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(v) Notwithstanding section 202 of this title, the insurance of a mortgage under this section in connection with the assistance provided under section 8(y) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 shall be the obligation of the General Insurance Fund created pursuant to section 519 of this title. The provisions of subsections (a) through (h), (j), and (k) of section 204 shall apply to such mortgages, except that (1) all references in section 204 to the Mutual Mortgage Insurance Fund or the Fund shall be construed to refer to the General Insurance Fund, and (2) any excess amounts described in section 204(f)(1) shall be retained by the Secretary and credited to the General Insurance Fund.".

(2) GENERAL INSURANCE FUND.—Section 519(e) of the National Housing Act (12 U.S.C. 1735c(e)) is amended by inserting after "203(b)" the following: "(except as provided in section 203(v))".

(3) MORTGAGE INSURANCE TRANSITION PREMIUMS.—The matter preceding paragraph (1) in section 2103(b) of the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1990 (12 U.S.C. 1709 note) is amended by inserting "or of the General Insurance Fund pursuant to section 203(v) of the National Housing Act" after "Fund".

(4) CONFORMING AMENDMENT.—The third sentence of section 3(a)(1) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437a(a)(1)) is amended by inserting "or (y) or paying rent under section 8(c)(3)(B)" after "section 8(o)".

SEC. 186. ENTERPRISE ZONE HOMEOWNERSHIP OPPORTUNITY GRANTS.

(a) STATEMENT OF PURPOSE.—It is the purpose of this section—

(1) to encourage homeownership by families in the United States who are not otherwise able to afford homeownership;

(2) to encourage the redevelopment of economically depressed areas; and

(3) to provide better housing opportunities in federally approved and equivalent State-approved enterprise zones.

(b) DEFINITIONS.—For purposes of this section the following definitions shall apply:

(1) HOME.—The term "home" means any 1- to 4-family dwelling. Such term includes any dwelling unit in a condominium project or cooperative project consisting of not more than 4 dwelling units, any town house, and any manufactured home.

(2) METROPOLITAN STATISTICAL AREA.—The term "metropolitan statistical area" means a metropolitan statistical area as established by the Office of Management and Budget.

(3) NONPROFIT ORGANIZATION.—The term "nonprofit organization" means a private nonprofit corporation, or other private nonprofit legal entity, that is approved by the Secretary as to financial responsibility.

(4) SECRETARY.—The term "Secretary" means the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development.

(5) STATE.—The term "State" means each of the several States, the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Guam, American Samoa, the Northern Mariana Islands, the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands, and any other territory or possession of the United States.

(6) UNIT OF GENERAL LOCAL GOVERNMENT.—The term "unit of general local government" means any borough, city, county, parish, town, township, village, or other general purpose political subdivision of a State.

(c) ASSISTANCE TO NONPROFIT ORGANIZATIONS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary may provide assistance to nonprofit organizations to carry out enterprise zone homeownership opportunity programs to promote homeownership in federally approved and equivalent State-approved enterprise zones in accordance with the provisions of this section. Such assistance shall be made in the form of grants.

(2) APPLICATIONS.—Applications for assistance under this section shall be made in such form, and in accordance with such procedures, as the Secretary may prescribe.

(d) ELIGIBLE USES OF ASSISTANCE.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Any nonprofit organization receiving assistance under this section shall use such assistance to provide loans to families purchasing homes constructed or rehabilitated in accordance with an enterprise zone homeownership opportunity program approved under this section.

(2) SPECIFIC REQUIREMENTS.—Each loan made to a family under this subsection shall—

(A) be secured by a second mortgage held by the Secretary on the property involved;

(B) be in an amount not exceeding $15,000;

(C) bear no interest; and

(D) be repayable to the Secretary upon the sales, lease, or other transfer of such property.

(e) PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Assistance provided under this section may be used only in connection with an enterprise zone homeownership opportunity program of construction or rehabilitation of homes.

(2) FAMILY NEED.—Each family purchasing a home under this section shall—

(A) have a family income on the date of such purchase that is not more than the median income for a family of 4 persons (adjusted for family size) in the metropolitan statistical area in which a federally approved or equivalent State-approved enterprise zone is located; and

(B) not have owned a home during the 3-year period preceding such purchase.

(3) DOWNPAYMENT.—Each family purchasing a home under this section shall make a downpayment of not less than 5 percent of the sale price of such home.

(4) LEASING PROHIBITION.—No family purchasing a home under this section may lease such home.

(f) TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF ASSISTANCE.—

(1) LOCAL CONSULTATION.—No proposed enterprise zone homeownership opportunity program may be approved by the Secretary under this section unless the applicant involved demonstrates to the satisfaction of the Secretary that—

(A) it has consulted with and received the support of residents of the neighborhood in which such program is to be located; and

(B) it has the approval of each unit of general local government in which such program is to be located.

(2) PROGRAM SCHEDULE.—Each applicant for assistance under this section shall submit to the Secretary an estimated schedule for completion of its proposed enterprise zone homeownership opportunity program, which schedule shall have been agreed to by each unit of general local government in which such program is to be located.

(3) LOCATION.—All homes constructed or rehabilitated under such program will be located in federally approved or equivalent State-approved enterprise zones.

(4) SALES CONTRACTS.—Sales contracts entered into under such program will contain provisions requiring repayment of any loan made under this section upon the sale or other transfer of the home involved, unless the Secretary approves a transfer of such home without repayment (in which case the second mortgage held by the Secretary on such home shall remain in force until such loan is fully repaid).

(g) Program Selection Criteria.—

(1) In general.—In selecting enterprise zone homeownership opportunity programs for assistance under this section from among eligible programs, the Secretary shall make such selection on the basis of the extent to which—

(A) non-Federal public or private entities will contribute land necessary to make each program feasible;

(B) non-Federal public and private financial or other contributions (including tax abatements, waivers of fees related to development, waivers of construction, development, or zoning requirements, and direct financial contributions) will reduce the cost of home constructed or rehabilitated under each program;

(C) each program will produce the greatest number of units for the least amount of assistance provided under this section, taking into consideration the cost differences among different market areas; and

(D) each program provides for the involvement of local residents in the planning, and construction or rehabilitation, of homes.

(2) Exception.—To the extent that non-Federal public entities are prohibited by the law of any State from making any form of contribution described in subparagraph (A) or (B) of paragraph (1), the Secretary shall not consider such form of contribution in evaluating such program.

(h) Regulations.—Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this section, the Secretary shall issue final regulations to carry out the provisions of this title. Any such regulations shall be issued in accordance with section 553 of title 5, United States Code, notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (a)(2) of such section.

(i) Funding.—There are authorized to be appropriated to carry out this section $30,000,000 in each of fiscal years 1993 and 1994.

Subtitle F—Implementation

SEC. 191. IMPLEMENTATION.

The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall issue any final regulations necessary to implement the provisions of this title and the amendments made by this title not later than the expiration of the 180-day period beginning on the date of the enactment of this Act, except as expressly provided otherwise in this title and the amendments made by this title. Such regulations shall be issued after notice and opportunity for public comment pursuant to the provisions of section 553 of title 5, United States Code (notwithstanding subsections (a)(2), (b)(B), and (d)(3) of such section).

TITLE II—HOME INVESTMENT PARTNERSHIPS

SEC. 201. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.

Section 205 of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act (42 U.S.C. 12724) is amended to read as follows:

''(d) Reduction of Requirement.—

''(1) In general.—The Secretary shall reduce the matching requirement under subsection (a) with respect to any funds drawn from a jurisdiction's HOME Investment Trust Fund Account during a fiscal year by—

''(A) 50 percent for a jurisdiction that certifies that it is in fiscal distress; and

''(B) 100 percent for a jurisdiction that certifies that it is in severe fiscal distress.

''(2) Definitions.—For purposes of this section—

''(A) 'fiscal distress' means a jurisdiction other than a State that satisfies 1 of the distress criteria set forth in paragraph (3); and

''(B) 'severe fiscal distress' means a jurisdiction other than a State that satisfies both of the distress criteria set forth in paragraph (3).

''(3) Distress criteria.—For purposes of a jurisdiction other than a State certifying that it is distressed, the following criteria shall apply:

''(A) Poverty rate.—The average poverty rate in the jurisdiction for the calendar year immediately preceding the year in which its fiscal year begins was equal to or greater than 125 percent of the average national poverty rate during such calendar year (as determined according to information of the Bureau of the Census).

''(B) Per capita income.—The average per capita income in the jurisdiction for the calendar year immediately preceding the year in which its fiscal year begins was less than 75 percent of the average national per capita income during such calendar year (as determined according to information of the Bureau of the Census).

''(4) States.—In determining the degree to which a jurisdiction that is a State is distressed, the Secretary shall take into consideration the State's fiscal capacity and expenditure needs as determined by a national organization which compiles the relevant data.

''(5) Waiver in disaster areas.—If a participating jurisdiction is located in an area in which a declaration of a disaster pursuant to the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act is in effect for any part of a fiscal year, the Secretary may reduce the matching requirement for that fiscal year under subsection (a) with respect to any funds drawn from a jurisdiction's HOME Investment Trust Fund Account during that fiscal year by up to 100 percent.''.

(d) Applicability.—The amendments made by this section shall apply with respect to fiscal year 1993 and each fiscal year thereafter.

SEC. 211. ASSISTANCE FOR INSULAR AREAS.

(a) Repeal of Amendments Made by Public Law 102–230.—

(1) Definitions.—Section 104 of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act (42 U.S.C. 12704) is amended to read as if the amendments made by section 2 of Public Law 102–230 (105 Stat. 1720) had not been enacted.

SEC. 312. TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE AND CAPACITY BUILDING.

Title II of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1987 (42 U.S.C. 4101 et seq.) is amended by adding at the end the following new subtitle:

"Subtitle C—Technical Assistance and Capacity Building

"SEC. 251. AUTHORITY.

"The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development may provide technical assistance and capacity building to further the preservation program established under this title.

"SEC. 252. PURPOSES.

"The purposes of this subtitle are—

"(1) to promote the ability of residents of eligible low-income housing to meaningfully participate in the preservation process established by this title and affect decisions about the future of their housing;

"(2) to promote the ability of community-based nonprofit housing developers and resident councils to acquire, rehabilitate, and competently own and manage eligible housing as rental or cooperative housing for low- and moderate-income people; and

"(3) to assist the Secretary in discharging the obligation under section 220 to notify potential qualified purchasers of the availability of properties for sale and to otherwise facilitate the coordination and oversight of the preservation program established under this title.

"SEC. 253. GRANTS FOR BUILDING RESIDENT CAPACITY AND FUNDING PREDEVELOPMENT COSTS.

"(a) IN GENERAL.—Assistance made available under this section shall be used for direct assistance grants to resident organizations and community-based nonprofit housing developers and resident councils to assist the acquisition of specific projects (including the payment of reasonable administrative expenses to participating intermediaries).

"(b) ALLOCATION.—30 percent of the assistance made available under this section shall be used for resident capacity grants in accordance with subsection (d). The remainder shall be used for predevelopment grants in connection with specific projects in accordance with subsection (e).

"(c) LIMITATION ON GRANT AMOUNTS.—A resident capacity grant under subsection (d) may not exceed $30,000 per project and a grant under subsection (e) for predevelopment costs may not exceed $200,000 per project, exclusive of any fees paid to a participating intermediary by the Secretary for administering the program.

"(d) RESIDENT CAPACITY GRANTS.—

"(1) USE.—Resident capacity grants under this subsection shall be available to eligible applicants to cover expenses for resident outreach, incorporation of a resident organization or council, conducting democratic elections, training, leadership development, legal and other technical assistance to the board of directors, staff and members of the resident organization or council.

"(2) ELIGIBLE HOUSING.—Grants under this subsection may be provided with respect to eligible low-income housing for which the owner has filed a notice of intent under subtitle B of this title or title II of the Emergency Low Income Housing Preservation Act of 1987 (pursuant to section 604 of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act).

"(e) PREDEVELOPMENT GRANTS.—

"(1) USE.—Predevelopment grants under this subsection shall be made available to community-based nonprofit housing developers and resident councils to cover the cost of organizing a purchasing entity and pursuing an acquisition, including third party costs for training, development consulting, legal, appraisal, accounting, environmental, architectural and engineering, application fees, and sponsor's staff and overhead costs.

"(2) ELIGIBLE HOUSING.—Such grants may only be made available with respect to any eligible low-income housing project for which the owner has filed an initial notice of intent to transfer the housing to a qualified purchaser in accordance with section 220 of this title, or has filed a notice of intent and entered into a binding agreement to sell the housing to a resident organization or nonprofit organization.

"(3) PHASE-IN OF GRANT PAYMENTS.—Grant payments under this subsection shall be made in phases, based on performance benchmarks established by the Secretary in consultation with intermediaries selected under section 255(b).

"(f) GRANT APPLICATIONS.—Grant applications for assistance under subsections (d) and (e) shall be received monthly on a rolling basis and approved or rejected on at least a quarterly basis by intermediaries selected under section 255(b).

"(g) APPEAL.—If an application for assistance under subsections (d) or (e) is denied, the applicant shall have the right to appeal the denial to the Secretary and receive a binding determination within 30 days of the appeal.

"SEC. 254. GRANTS FOR OTHER PURPOSES.

"The Secretary may provide grants under this subtitle—

"(1) to resident-controlled or community-based nonprofit organizations with experience in resident education and organizing for the purpose of conducting community, city or county wide outreach and training programs to identify and organize residents of eligible low-income housing; and

"(2) to State and local government agencies and nonprofit intermediaries for the purpose of carrying out such activities as the Secretary deems appropriate to further the preservation program established under this title.

"SEC. 255. DELIVERY OF ASSISTANCE THROUGH INTERMEDIARIES.

"(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall approve and disburse assistance under section 253 through eligible intermediaries selected by the Secretary under subsection (b). If the Secretary does not receive an acceptable proposal from an intermediary offering to administer assistance under this section in a given State, the Secretary shall administer the program in such State directly.

"(b) SELECTION OF ELIGIBLE INTERMEDIARIES.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall develop criteria to select eligible intermediaries, through a competitive process, to administer assistance under this subtitle. The process shall include provision for a reasonable administrative fee.

"(2) PRIORITY.—With respect to all forms of grants available under section 253, such criteria shall give priority to applications from eligible intermediaries with demonstrated expertise or experience with the program established under this title or under the Emergency Low Income Housing Preservation Act of 1987.

"(3) CRITERIA.—The criteria developed under this subsection shall—

"(A) not assign any preference or priority to applications from eligible intermediaries based on their previous participation in administering or receiving Federal grants or loans (but may exclude applicants who have failed to perform under prior contracts of a similar nature);

"(B) require an applicant to prepare a proposal that demonstrates adequate staffing, qualifications, prior experience, and a plan for participation; and

"(C) permit an applicant to serve as the administrator of assistance made available under section 253(d) or (e), based on the applicant's suitability and interest.

"(4) GEOGRAPHIC COVERAGE.—The Secretary may select more than 1 State or regional intermediary for a single State or region. The number of intermediaries chosen for each State or region may be based on the number of eligible low-income housing projects in the State or region, provided there is no duplication of geographic coverage by intermediaries in the administration of the direct assistance grant program.

"(5) NATIONAL NONPROFIT INTERMEDIARIES.—National nonprofit intermediaries shall be selected to administer the assistance made available under section 253 only with respect to States or regions for which no other eligible intermediary, acceptable to the Secretary, has submitted a proposal to participate.

"(6) PREFERENCE.—With respect to assistance made available under section 254, preference shall be given to eligible regional, State, and local intermediaries, over national nonprofit organizations.

"(c) CONFLICTS OF INTEREST.—Eligible intermediaries selected under subsection (b) to disburse assistance under section 253 shall certify that they will serve only as delegated program administrators, charged with the responsibility for reviewing and approving grant applications on behalf of the Secretary. Selected intermediaries shall—

"(1) establish appropriate procedures for grant administration and fiscal management, pursuant to standards established by the Secretary; and

"(2) receive a reasonable administrative fee, except that they may not provide other services to grant recipients with respect to projects that are the subject of the grant application and may not receive payment, directly or indirectly, from the proceeds of grants they have approved.

"(d) DEFINITION OF ELIGIBLE INTERMEDIARIES.—For purposes of this section, the term 'eligible intermediary' means a State, regional, or national organization (including a quasi-public organization) or a State or local housing agency that—

"(1) has as a central purpose the preservation of existing affordable housing and the prevention of displacement;

"(2) does not receive direct Federal appropriations for operating support;

"(3) in the case of a national nonprofit organization, has been in existence for at least 5 years prior to the date of application and has been classified by the Internal Revenue Service as an exempt organization under section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986;

"(4) in the case of a regional or State nonprofit organization, has been in existence for at least 3 years prior to the date of application and has been classified by the Internal Revenue Service as an exempt organization under section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 or is otherwise a tax-exempt entity;

"(5) has a record of service to low-income individuals or community-based nonprofit housing developers in multiple communities and, with respect to intermediaries administering assistance under section 253, has experience with the allocation or administration of grant or loan funds; and

"(6) meets standards of fiscal responsibility established by the Secretary.

"SEC. 256. DEFINITIONS.

"For purposes of this subtitle—

"(1) the term 'community-based nonprofit housing developer' means a nonprofit community development corporation that—

"(A) has been classified by the Internal Revenue Service as an exempt organization under section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986;

"(B) has been in existence for at least 2 years prior to the date of the grant application;

"(C) has a record of service to low- and moderate-income people in the community in which the project is located;

"(D) is organized at the neighborhood, city, county or multi-county level; and

"(E) in the case of a corporation acquiring eligible housing under subtitle B of this title, agrees to form a purchaser entity that conforms to the definition of a community-based nonprofit organization under such subtitle and agrees to use its best efforts to secure majority tenant consent to the acquisition of the project for which grant assistance is requested; and

"(2) the terms 'eligible low-income housing', 'nonprofit organization', 'owner', and 'resident council' have the meanings given such terms in section 229.

"SEC. 257. FUNDING.

"The Secretary shall use not more than $25,000,000 of the amounts made available under section 234(a) for fiscal year 1993, and not more than $25,000,000 of the amounts made available under section 234(a) for fiscal year 1994, to carry out this subtitle. Of any amounts made available to carry out this subtitle in any appropriation Act, 90 percent shall be set aside for use in accordance with section 253 and 10 percent shall be set aside for use in accordance with subsection 254.".

SEC. 313. TRANSITION PROVISIONS.

(a) EFFECT OF ELECTION.—Section 604(a) of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act (12 U.S.C. 4101 note) is amended by adding at the end the following sentence: "An owner that elects to be subject to the provisions of the Emergency Low Income Housing Preservation Act of 1987 shall comply with section 212(b), section 217(a)(2), and section 217(c) of the Low-Income Housing Preservation and Resident Homeownership Act of 1990.".

(b) CHANGES TO PROVISIONS OF 1987 ACT.—Section 604(c) of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act (12 U.S.C. 4101 note) is amended by adding at the end the following new sentence: "With respect to housing for which such an election is made—

"(1) in making incentives under section 224 of such Act available to such housing, the Secretary—

"(A) shall, for approvable plans of action, provide assistance sufficient to enable a nonprofit organization that has purchased or will purchase an eligible low income housing project to meet project oversight costs; and

"(B) may not refuse to offer incentives referred to in such section to any owner who filed a notice of intent under section 222 of such Act before October 15, 1991, based solely on the date of filing of the plan of action for the housing; and

"(2) the provisions of section 233(1)(A)(i) of such Act shall not apply, and the term 'eligible low income housing' shall, for purposes of such Act, shall include housing financed by a loan or mortgage that is insured or held by the Secretary or a State or State agency under section 221(d)(3) of the National Housing Act and receiving loan management assistance under section 8 of the United States Housing Act of 1937 due to a conversion from section 101 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1965.".

SEC. 314. CONDITIONS OF ASSISTANCE.

(a) ELIHPA OF 1987.—The Secretary may not require, as a condition of eligibility for or receipt of technical assistance made available under the Departments of Veterans Affairs and Housing and Urban Development, and Independent Agencies Appropriations Act, 1992 (Public Law 102–139) (including any phase of a grant), that an applicant participate in a training program sponsored or conducted by the Department of Housing and Urban Development for acquisition of eligible low income housing under the provisions of the Emergency Low Income Housing Preservation Act of 1987, and may not provide any preference or priority for such assistance for any applicant based on participation in such a program.

TITLE IV—MULTIFAMILY HOUSING PLANNING AND INVESTMENT STRATEGIES

SEC. 401. DEFINITIONS.

For purposes of this title:

(1) COVERED MULTIFAMILY HOUSING PROPERTY.—The term "covered multifamily housing property" means any housing—

(A) that is—

(i) reserved for occupancy by very low-income elderly persons pursuant to section 202(d)(1) of the Housing Act of 1959;

(ii) assisted under the provisions of section 202 of the Housing Act of 1959 (as such section existed before the effectiveness of the amendment made by section 801(a) of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act);

(iii) financed by a loan or mortgage insured, assisted, or held by the Secretary or a State or State agency under section 236 of the National Housing Act; or

(iv) financed by a loan or mortgage insured or held by the Secretary pursuant to section 221(d)(3) of the National Housing Act; and

(B) that is not eligible for assistance under—

(i) the Low-Income Housing Preservation and Resident Homeownership Act of 1990;

(ii) the provisions of the Emergency Low Income Housing Preservation Act of 1987 (as in effect immediately before the date of the enactment of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act); or

(iii) the HOME Investment Partnerships Act.

(2) COVERED MULTIFAMILY HOUSING PROPERTY FOR THE ELDERLY.—The term "covered multifamily housing property for the elderly" means any multifamily housing project that was designed or designated to serve, or is serving, elderly persons or families and is assisted under a program administered by the Secretary.

(3) SECRETARY.—The term "Secretary" means the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development.

SEC. 402. REQUIRED SUBMISSION.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The owner of each covered multifamily housing property, and the owner of each covered multifamily housing property for the elderly, shall submit to the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development a comprehensive needs assessment of the property under this title.

(b) TIMING.—The Secretary shall require the owners of approximately one-third of the aggregate number of covered multifamily housing properties, and the owners of approximately one-third of the aggregate number of covered multifamily housing properties for the elderly, to submit the comprehensive needs assessments under this section for the properties in each of fiscal years 1993, 1994, and 1995, in a manner designed to ensure that upon the conclusion of fiscal year 1995 the assessments for all such properties have been submitted.

SEC. 403. CONTENTS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Each comprehensive needs assessment submitted under this title for a covered multifamily housing property or a covered multifamily housing property for the elderly shall contain the following information with respect to the property:

(1) A description of any financial or other assistance currently needed for the property to ensure that the property is maintained in a livable condition and to ensure the financial viability of the project.

(2) A description of any financial or other assistance for the property that, at the time of the assessment, is reasonably foreseeable as necessary to ensure that the property is maintained in a livable condition and to ensure the financial viability of the project, during the remaining useful life of the property.

(3) A description of any resources available for meeting the current and future needs of the property described under paragraphs (1) and (2) and the likelihood of obtaining such resources.

(4) A description of any assistance needed for the property under programs administered by the Secretary.

(b) PROJECTS FOR THE ELDERLY.—Each comprehensive needs assessment for a covered multifamily housing property for the elderly shall include, in addition to the information required under subsection (a), the following information with respect to the property:

(1) A description of the supportive service needs of such residents and any supportive services provided to elderly residents of the property.

(2) A description of any modernization needs and activities for the property.

(3) A description of any personnel needs for the property.

SEC. 404. SUBMISSION AND REVIEW.

(a) FORM.—The Secretary shall establish the form and manner of submission of the comprehensive needs assessments under this title.

(b) RESIDENT REVIEW.—The Secretary shall require each owner of a covered multifamily housing property and each owner of a covered multifamily housing property for the elderly to make available to the residents of the property the comprehensive needs assessment that is to be submitted to the Secretary. The Secretary shall require each owner to provide for such residents to submit comments and opinions regarding the assessment to the owner before the submission of the assessment.

(c) STATE HOUSING FINANCE AGENCY REVIEW.—To the extent that a covered multifamily housing property or a covered multifamily housing property for the elderly is financed or assisted by a State housing finance agency (as such term is defined in section 802 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974), the Secretary shall require the owner of the property to submit the comprehensive needs assessment for the property to the State housing finance agency upon submitting the assessment to the Secretary.

(d) REVIEW.—The Secretary shall review each comprehensive needs assessment and shall approve the assessment before the expiration of the 90-day period beginning upon the receipt of the assessment, unless the Secretary determines that the assessment has not been provided in a substantially complete manner.

(e) COST OF PREPARATION OF STRATEGY.—The Secretary shall consider any costs relating to preparing a comprehensive needs assessment under this title for a covered multifamily housing property that do not exceed $5000 for the property as an eligible project expense for the property. The Secretary shall provide that an owner may not increase the rental charge for any unit in a covered multifamily housing property to provide for the cost of preparing a comprehensive needs assessment.

(f) NOTICE.—The Secretary shall immediately notify each owner submitting a comprehensive needs assessment (and any State housing finance agency to which the owner has submitted an assessment under subsection (d)) of the approval or disapproval of the assessment upon making such determination. Within 30 days after disapproving any assessment, the Secretary shall inform the owner in writing of the reasons for disapproval. The Secretary shall require any owner whose assessment is disapproved to resubmit an amended assessment not later than 30 days after the owner receives the notice of disapproval.

(g) ANNUAL REVIEW AND REPORT OF FUNDING AND TARGETING FOR COVERED MULTIFAMILY PROPERTIES FOR THE ELDERLY.—

(1) REVIEW.—The Secretary shall annually conduct a comprehensive review of—

(A) the funding levels required to fully address the needs of covered multifamily housing properties for the elderly identified in the comprehensive needs assessments under section 403(b), specifically identifying any expenses necessary to make substantial repairs and add features (such as congregate dining facilities and commercial kitchens) resulting from development of a property in compliance with cost-containment requirements established by the Secretary;

(B) the adequacy of the geographic targeting of resources provided under programs of the Department with respect to covered multifamily housing properties for the elderly, based on information acquired pursuant to section 403(b); and

(C) local housing markets throughout the United States, with respect to the need, availability, and cost of housing for elderly persons and families, which shall include review of any information and plans relating to housing for elderly persons and families included in comprehensive housing affordability strategies submitted by jurisdictions pursuant to section 105 of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act.

(2) REPORT.—The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall submit a report to the Congress annually describing the results of the annual comprehensive needs assessments under section 402 for covered multifamily housing properties for the elderly and the annual review conducted under paragraph (1) of this subsection, which shall contain a description of the methods used by project owners and by the Secretary to acquire the information described in section 402(b) and any findings and recommendations of the Secretary pursuant to the review.

SEC. 405. TROUBLED MULTIFAMILY HOUSING.

(a) MANDATORY ELEMENTS.—Section 201(d) of the Housing and Community Development Amendments of 1978 (12 U.S.C. 1715z–1a(d)) is amended—

(1) in paragraph (5), by striking "and";

(2) in paragraph (6), by striking the period and inserting a semicolon; and

(3) by adding at the end the following new paragraphs:

"(7) all reasonable attempts have been made to take all appropriate actions and provide suitable housing for project residents;

"(8) the project has a feasible plan to involve the residents in project decisions;

"(9) the affirmative fair housing marketing plan meets applicable requirements; and

"(10) the owner certifies that it will comply with various equal opportunity statutes.".

(b) SELECTION CRITERIA.—

(1) REPEAL OF SECTION 201(k)(4).—Section 201(k)(4) of the Housing and Community Development Amendments of 1978 (12 U.S.C. 1715z–1a(k)(4)) is repealed.

(2) NEW CRITERIA.—Section 201 of the Housing and Community Development Amendments of 1978 is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(n)(1) The Secretary shall award assistance under this section to eligible projects on the basis of the following selection criteria:

"(A) The extent to which the project presents an imminent threat to the life, health, and safety of project residents.

"(B) The extent to which the project is financially troubled.

"(C) The extent of physical improvements needed by the project as evidenced by the comprehensive needs assessment submitted in accordance with title IV of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1992.

"(D) The extent to which there is evidence that there will be significant opportunities for residents (including a resident council or resident management corporation, as appropriate) to be involved in management of the project (except that this paragraph shall have no application to projects that are owned as cooperatives).

"(E) The extent to which there is evidence that the project owner has provided competent management and complied with all regulatory and administrative instructions (including such instructions with respect to the comprehensive servicing of multifamily projects as the Secretary may issue).

"(F) Such other criteria as the Secretary may specify by regulation or in a Federal Register notice of fund availability.

"(2) Eligible projects that have federally insured mortgages in force are to be selected for award of assistance under this section before any other eligible project.".

(c) LOW-INCOME AFFORDABILITY RESTRICTIONS.—Section 201(l)(2)(D) of the Housing and Community Development Amendments of 1978 (12 U.S.C. 1715z–1a(l)(2)(D)) is amended by adding at the end the following: "The Secretary may require owners receiving assistance for capital improvements under this section to retain the housing as housing affordable for very low-income families or persons, low-income families or persons and moderate-income families or persons for the remaining useful life of the housing. For purposes of this section, the term 'remaining useful life' means, with respect to housing assisted under this section, the period during which the physical characteristics of the housing remain in a condition suitable for occupancy, assuming normal maintenance and repairs are made and major systems and capital components are replaced as becomes necessary.".

(d) EXCLUSIVITY OF ASSISTANCE.—Section 201 of the Housing and Community Development Amendments of 1978, as amended by this section, is further amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(o) Projects receiving assistance under this section are not eligible for prepayment incentives under the Emergency Low-Income Housing Preservation Act of 1987 or the Low-Income Housing Preservation and Resident Homeownership Act of 1990. Projects receiving financial assistance under such Acts are not eligible for assistance under this section.".

(e) OWNER CONTRIBUTIONS.—Section 201(k)(2) of the Housing and Community Development Amendments of 1978 is amended—

(1) in subparagraph (B), by striking "and";

(2) in subparagraph (C), by striking the period and inserting "; and"; and

(3) by adding at the end the following new subparagraph:

"(D) the Secretary shall give owners credit for advances made to the project during a 3-year period prior to the application for assistance.".

(f) COORDINATION OF ASSISTANCE.—Section 201 of the Housing and Community Development Amendments of 1978, as amended by this section, is further amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(p) The Secretary shall coordinate the allocation of assistance under this section with assistance made available under section 8(v) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 and section 203 of this Act to enhance the cost effectiveness of the Federal response to troubled multifamily housing.".

SEC. 406. FLEXIBLE SUBSIDY PROGRAM.

Section 201(d)(6) of the Housing and Community Development Amendments of 1978 (12 U.S.C. 1715z-1a(d)(6)) is amended by inserting before the period at the end the following: "; and except that the Secretary shall review and approve or disapprove each plan not later than the expiration of the 30-day period beginning upon the date of submission of the plan to the Secretary by the owner, but if the Secretary fails to inform the owner of approval or disapproval of the plan within such period the plan shall be considered to have been approved".

SEC. 407. CAPACITY STUDY.

Section 110(a) of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act (42 U.S.C. 12710(a)) is amended—

(1) by striking ", and"; and

(2) by striking the period at the end and inserting the following: ", and the ability to respond to areas identified as 'material weaknesses' by the Office of the Inspector General in financial audits or other reports.".

SEC. 408. FLEXIBLE SUBSIDY PROGRAM.

(a) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—Section 201(j)(5) of the Housing and Community Development Amendments of 1978 (12 U.S.C. 1715z-1a(j)(5)) is amended to read as follows:

"(5) There is authorized to be appropriated for assistance under the flexible subsidy fund not to exceed $52,200,000 for fiscal year 1993 and $54,392,400 for fiscal year 1994.".

(d) GAO STUDY ON FHA LOAN LIMITS AND GSE CONFORMING LOAN LIMITS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Comptroller General of the United States shall submit to the Congress, on or before September 1, 1993, a report which evaluates the methodology used to establish the annual conforming loan limits for the secondary market, pursuant to section 305(a)(2) of the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation Act, as well as the loan limits adjustments utilized under the single family mortgage insurance program under section 203 of the National Housing Act.

(2) CONTENTS.—The report shall—

(A) evaluate the methodology used to determine the annual adjustment to the conforming loan limit, including the accuracy of using the Mortgage Interest Rate Survey (MIRS) in determining the median home sales price each year;

(B) recommend any legislative or administrative changes to ensure that the conforming loan limits accurately reflect market dynamics;

(C) assess the long-term consequences of indexing the mortgage limits utilized under the FHA section 203(b) single family mortgage insurance program to the annual adjustments to the conforming loan limits for the secondary market;

(D) assess the impact of such annual adjustments on the ability of the FHA single family insurance program to serve low and moderate income borrowers; and

(E) recommend alternative measures that could be employed to ensure that FHA can meet the needs of low and moderate income families in low and high cost areas of the country.

SEC. 504. FHA ANNUAL REPORT.

Section 203 of the National Housing Act (12 U.S.C. 1709) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(v) ANNUAL REPORT.—The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall submit to the Congress an annual report on the single family mortgage insurance program under this section. Each report shall set forth—

"(1) an analysis of the income groups served by the single family insurance program, including—

"(A) the percentage of borrowers whose incomes do not exceed 100 percent of the median income for the area;

"(B) the percentage of borrowers whose incomes do not exceed 80 percent of the median income for the area; and

"(C) the percentage of borrowers whose incomes do not exceed 60 percent of the median income for the area;

"(2) an analysis of the percentage of minority borrowers annually assisted by the program; the percentage of central city borrowers assisted and the percentage of rural borrowers assisted by the program;

"(3) the extent to which the Secretary in carrying out the program has employed methods to ensure that needs of low and moderate income families, underserved areas, and historically disadvantaged groups are served by the program; and

"(4) the current impediments to having the program serve low and moderate income borrowers; borrowers from central city areas; borrowers from rural areas; and minority borrowers.

SEC. 505. MAXIMUM PRINCIPAL OBLIGATION OF MORTGAGES FOR VETERANS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The first sentence of the last undesignated paragraph of section 203(b)(2) of the National Housing Act (12 U.S.C. 1709(b)(2)) is amended by striking "Notwithstanding any other provision of this paragraph," and inserting "Except with respect to mortgages executed by mortgagors who are veterans,".

(b) TECHNICAL AMENDMENT.—Section 203(b)(9) of the National Housing Act (12 U.S.C. 1709(b)(9)) is amended by striking "(except in a case to which the next to the last sentence of paragraph (2) applies)" and inserting "(except with respect to a mortgage executed by a mortgagor who is a veteran)".

SEC. 506. PREPURCHASE COUNSELING REQUIREMENT.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 203(b)(2) of the National Housing Act (12 U.S.C. 1709(b)(2)) is amended by inserting at the end the following new undesignated paragraph:

"Notwithstanding any other provision of this paragraph, the Secretary may not insure, or enter into a commitment to insure, a mortgage under this section that is executed by a first-time homebuyer and that involves a principal obligation (including such initial service charges, appraisal, inspection, and other fees as the Secretary shall approve) in excess of 97 percent of the appraised value of the property unless the mortgagor has completed a program of counseling with respect to the responsibilities and financial management involved in homeownership that is approved by the Secretary; except that the Secretary may, in the discretion of the Secretary, waive the applicability of this requirement.".

(b) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendment made by subsection (a) shall apply to mortgages for which commitments for insurance are issued after the expiration of the 12-month period beginning on the date of the enactment of this Act.

SEC. 512. EXPEDITING INSURANCE FOR ACQUISITION OF RESOLUTION TRUST CORPORATION PROPERTY.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 534 of the National Housing Act (12 U.S.C. 1735f–12) is amended—

(1) by inserting "(a) STATE OFFICES.—" after "534."; and

(2) by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(b) EXPEDITED PROCEDURE FOR RTC PROPERTIES.—To assist the Resolution Trust Corporation in disposing of the property to which it acquires title and to ensure the timely processing of applications for insurance of loans and mortgages under this Act that will be used to purchase multifamily residential property from the Resolution Trust Corporation, the Secretary shall establish an expedited procedure for considering such applications.".

(b) IMPLEMENTATION.—The procedure referred to in the amendment made by subsection (a) shall be established through interim and final regulations issued by the Secretary. The Secretary shall issue interim regulations implementing the procedure not later than the expiration of the 90-day period beginning on the date of the enactment of this Act, which shall be effective upon issuance. The Secretary shall issue final regulations after notice and opportunity for public comment pursuant to the provisions of section 553 of title 5, United States Code (notwithstanding subsections (a)(2), (b)(B), and (d)(3) of such section).

SEC. 513. ENERGY EFFICIENT MORTGAGES PILOT PROGRAM.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT OF PILOT PROGRAM.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Not later than 6 months after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development (hereafter referred to as the "Secretary") shall establish an energy efficient mortgage pilot program in 5 States, to promote the purchase of existing energy efficient residential buildings and the installation of cost-effective improvements in existing residential buildings.

(2) PILOT PROGRAM.—The pilot program established under this subsection shall include the following criteria, where applicable:

(A) ORIGINATION.—The lender shall originate a housing loan that is insured under title II of the National Housing Act in accordance with the applicable requirements.

(B) APPROVAL.—The mortgagor's base loan application shall be approved if the mortgagor's income and credit record is found to be satisfactory.

(C) COST OF IMPROVEMENTS.—The cost of cost-effective energy efficiency improvements shall not exceed the greater of—

(i) 5 percent of the property value (not to exceed $8,000); or

(ii) $4,000.

(3) AUTHORITY FOR MORTGAGEES.—In granting mortgages under the pilot program established pursuant to this subsection, the Secretary shall grant mortgagees the authority—

(A) to permit the final loan amount to exceed the loan limits established under title II of the National Housing Act by an amount not to exceed 100 percent of the cost of the cost-effective energy efficiency improvements, if the mortgagor's request to add the cost of such improvements is received by the mortgagee prior to funding of the base loan;

(B) to hold in escrow all funds provided to the mortgagor to undertake the energy efficiency improvements until the efficiency improvements are actually installed; and

(C) to transfer or sell the energy efficient mortgage to the appropriate secondary market agency, after the mortgage is issued, but before the energy efficiency improvements are actually installed.

(4) PROMOTION OF PILOT PROGRAM.—The Secretary shall encourage participation in the energy efficient mortgage pilot program by—

(A) making available information to lending agencies and other appropriate authorities regarding the availability and benefits of energy efficient mortgages;

(B) requiring mortgagees and designated lending authorities to provide written notice of the availability and benefits of the pilot program to mortgagors applying for financing in those States designated by the Secretary as participating under the pilot program; and

(C) requiring each applicant for a mortgage insured under title II of the National Housing Act in those States participating under the pilot program to sign a statement that such applicant has been informed of the program requirements and understands the benefits of energy efficient mortgages.

(5) TRAINING PROGRAM.—Not later than 9 months after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary, in consultation with the Secretary of Energy, shall establish and implement a program for training personnel at relevant lending agencies, real estate companies, and other appropriate organizations regarding the benefits of energy efficient mortgages and the operation of the pilot program under this subsection.

(6) REPORT.—Not later than 18 months after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall prepare and submit a report to the Congress describing the effectiveness and implementation of the energy efficient mortgage pilot program as described under this subsection, and assessing the potential for expanding the pilot program nationwide.

(b) EXPANSION OF PROGRAM.—Not later than the expiration of the 2-year period beginning on the date of the implementation of the energy efficient mortgage pilot program under this section, the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall expand the pilot program on a nationwide basis and shall expand the program to include new residential housing, unless the Secretary determines that either such expansion would not be practicable in which case the Secretary shall submit to the Congress, before the expiration of such period, a report explaining why either expansion would not be practicable.

(c) DEFINITIONS.—For purposes of this section:

(1) The term "base loan" means any mortgage loan for a residential building eligible for insurance under title II of the National Housing Act or title 38, United States Code, that does not include the cost of cost-effective energy improvements.

(2) The term "cost-effective" means, with respect to energy efficiency improvements to a residential building, improvements that result in the total present value cost of the improvements (including any maintenance and repair expenses) being less than the total present value of the energy saved over the useful life of the improvement, when 100 percent of the cost of improvements is added to the base loan. For purposes of this paragraph, savings and cost-effectiveness shall be determined pursuant to a home energy rating report sufficient for purposes of the Federal National Mortgage Association and the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation, or by other technically accurate methods.

(3) The term "energy efficient mortgage" means a mortgage on a residential building that recognizes the energy savings of a home that has cost-effective energy saving construction or improvements (including solar water heaters, solar-assisted air conditioners and ventilators, super-insulation, and insulating glass and film) and that has the effect of not disqualifying a borrower who, but for the expenditures on energy saving construction or improvements, would otherwise have qualified for a base loan.

(4) The term "residential building" means any attached or unattached single family residence.

(d) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION.—This section may not be construed to affect any other programs of the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development for energy-efficient mortgages. The pilot program carried out under this section shall not replace or result in the termination of such other programs.

(e) REGULATIONS.—The Secretary shall issue any regulations necessary to carry out this section not later than the expiration of the 180-day period beginning on the date of the enactment of this Act. The regulations shall be issued after notice and opportunity for public comment pursuant to the provisions of section 553 of title 5, United States Code (notwithstanding subsections (a)(2), (b)(B), and (d)(3) of such section).

(f) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There are authorized to be appropriated such sums as may be necessary to carry out this section.

SEC. 514. STUDY REGARDING HOME WARRANTY PLANS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development (hereafter in this section referred to as the "Secretary") shall conduct a study of home and builder's warranties and protection plans regarding the construction of, and materials used in, 1- to 4-family dwellings subject to mortgages insured under title II of the National Housing Act.

(b) SCOPE OF STUDY.—The study shall analyze—

(1) the extent to which home sellers and builders use such warranties and plans,

(2) how such warranties and plans affect the single family mortgage insurance program under the National Housing Act and the solvency of the Mutual Mortgage Insurance Fund,

(3) any effects on homeowners of reliance upon such warranties and plans,

(4) the cost of inspections of mortgaged homes not covered by such warranties or plans,

(5) how quickly the issuers of such warranties and plans pay claims to homeowners under the warranties and plans,

(6) how well such warranties and plans provide for the prevention of structural damage before damage occurs,

(7) how responsive the issuers are to homeowner complaints,

(8) the extent to which homeowners are adequately informed of the extent of insurance coverage, the complaint procedures, and the arbitration procedures available to them under such warranties and plans,

(9) the extent to which the arbitration process used to settle claims under such warranties and plans provides fair and reasonable relief for homeowners,

(10) how well homeowners are informed of their right to appeal the decision of such arbitrators to the Secretary,

(11) whether the reporting and inspection requirements to which such warranties and plans are subject provide the Secretary with sufficient information to verify that such warranties and plans are acceptable,

(12) whether dwellings covered by such warranties and plans satisfy all requirements which would have been applicable if such dwellings had been approved for mortgage insurance by the Secretary before the beginning of construction, and

(13) any other issues relating to such warranties and plans that the Secretary considers appropriate.

(c) REPORT.—The Secretary shall submit a report to the Congress regarding the findings of the study and any recommendations of the Secretary resulting from the study, not later than the expiration of the 12-month period beginning on the date of the enactment of this Act.

SEC. 515. EXPENDITURES TO CORRECT DEFECTS.

Section 518(a) of the National Housing Act (12 U.S.C. 1735b(a)) is amended—

(1) by redesignating paragraphs (1) through (3) as subparagraphs (A) through (C), respectively; and

(2) by striking out "The Secretary" and all that follows through "make expenditures for" and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"(1) The Secretary is authorized to make expenditures under this subsection with respect to any property that—

"(A) is a condominium unit (including common areas) or is improved by a one-to-four family dwelling;

"(B) was approved, before the beginning of construction, for mortgage insurance under this Act or for guaranty, insurance, or direct loan under chapter 37 of title 38, United States Code, or was less than a year old at the time of insurance of the mortgage and was covered by a consumer protection or warranty plan acceptable to the Secretary; and

"(C) the Secretary finds to have structural defects.

"(2) Expenditures under this subsection may be made for".

Subtitle B—Secondary Mortgage Market Programs

SEC. 531. LIMITATION ON GNMA GUARANTEES OF MORTGAGE-BACKED SECURITIES.

Section 306(g)(2) of the Federal National Mortgage Association Charter Act (12 U.S.C. 1721(g)(2)) is amended to read as follows:

"(2) Notwithstanding any other provision of law and subject only to the absence of qualified requests for guarantees, to the authority provided in this subsection, and to the extent of or in such amounts as any funding limitation approved in appropriation Acts, the Association shall enter into commitments to issue guarantees under this subsection in an aggregate amount of $88,000,000,000 during fiscal year 1993 and $91,696,000,000 during fiscal year 1994. There is authorized to be appropriated such sums as may be necessary to cover the costs (as such term is defined in section 502 of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974) of guarantees issued under this Act by the Association.".

SEC. 532. AUTHORITY FOR GNMA TO MAKE HARDSHIP INTEREST PAYMENTS.

Section 306(g)(1) of the Federal National Mortgage Association Charter Act (12 U.S.C. 1721(g)(1)) is amended by inserting after the period at the end of the third sentence the following new sentence: "In any case in which (I) Federal law requires the reduction of the interest rate on any mortgage backing a security guaranteed under this subsection, (II) the mortgagor under the mortgage is a person in the military service, and (III) the issuer of such security fails to receive from the mortgagor the full amount of interest payment due, the Association may make payments of interest on the security in amounts not exceeding the difference between the amount payable under the interest rate on the mortgage and the amount of interest actually paid by the mortgagor.".

Subtitle C—Improvement of Financing for Multifamily Housing

SEC. 541. SHORT TITLE.

This subtitle may be cited as the "Multifamily Housing Finance Improvement Act".

SEC. 542. MULTIFAMILY MORTGAGE CREDIT DEMONSTRATIONS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development (hereinafter referred to as the "Secretary") shall carry out programs through the Federal Housing Administration to demonstrate the effectiveness of providing new forms of Federal credit enhancement for multifamily loans. In carrying out demonstration programs, the Secretary shall include an evaluation of the effectiveness of entering into partnerships or other contractual arrangements including reinsurance and risk-sharing agreements with State or local housing finance agencies, the Federal Housing Finance Board, the Federal National Mortgage Association, the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation, qualified financial institutions, and other State or local mortgage insurance companies or bank lending consortia.

(b) RISK-SHARING PILOT PROGRAM.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall carry out a pilot program through the Federal Housing Administration to provide for risk sharing related to mortgages on multifamily housing.

(2) AUTHORITY FOR REINSURANCE AGREEMENTS.—The Secretary may enter into reinsurance agreements (as such term is defined in section 544) with the Federal National Mortgage Association, the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation, qualified financial institutions, qualified housing finance agencies, and the Federal Housing Finance Board. The agreements may provide for risk-sharing and other forms of credit enhancement with respect to mortgage lending on multifamily housing, including reinsurance with respect to pools of loans on multifamily housing properties, that the Secretary determines to be appropriate to carry out the purposes of this subsection. The agreements shall be in a form and have such terms and conditions as the Secretary determines to be appropriate to carry out the purposes of this subsection.

(3) DEVELOPMENT OF ALTERNATIVES.—The Secretary shall develop and assess a variety of risk-sharing alternatives, including arrangements under which the Secretary assumes an appropriate share of the risk related to long-term mortgage loans on newly constructed or acquired multifamily rental housing, mortgage refinancings, bridge financing for construction, and other forms of multifamily housing mortgage lending that the Secretary deems appropriate to carry out the purposes of this subsection. Such alternatives shall be designed—

(A) to ensure that other parties bear a share of the risk, in percentage amount and in position of exposure, that is sufficient to create strong, market-oriented incentives for other participating parties to maintain sound underwriting and loan management practices;

(B) to develop credit mechanisms, including sound underwriting criteria, processing methods, and credit enhancements, through which resources of the Federal Housing Administration can assist in increasing multifamily housing lending as needed to meet the expected need in the United States;

(C) to provide a more adequate supply of mortgage credit for sound multifamily rental housing projects in underserved urban and rural markets;

(D) to encourage major financial institutions to expand their participation in mortgage lending for sound multifamily housing, through means such as mitigating uncertainties regarding actions of the Federal Government (including the possible failure to renew short-term subsidy contracts);

(E) to increase the efficiency, and lower the costs to the Federal Government, of processing and servicing multifamily housing mortgage loans insured by the Federal Housing Administration; and

(F) to improve the quality and expertise of Federal Housing Administration staff and other resources, as required for sound management of reinsurance and other market-oriented forms of credit enhancement.

(4) ELIGIBILITY STANDARDS.—The Secretary shall establish and enforce standards for financial institutions and entities to be eligible to enter into reinsurance agreements under this subsection, as the Secretary determines to be appropriate.

(5) FUNDING.—Using any authority provided in appropriation Acts to insure loans under the National Housing Act, the Secretary may enter into commitments under this subsection for risk sharing with respect to mortgages on not more than 15,000 units over fiscal years 1993 and 1994. The demonstration authorized under this subsection shall not be expanded until the reports required under subsection (d) are submitted to Congress.

(6) FEES.—The Secretary shall establish and collect premiums and fees under this subsection as the Secretary determines appropriate to (A) achieve the purpose of this subsection, and (B) compensate the Federal Housing Administration for the risks assumed and related administrative costs.

(7) NON-FEDERAL PARTICIPATION.—The Secretary shall carry out this subsection, to the maximum extent practicable, with the participation of well-established residential mortgage originators, financial institutions that invest in multifamily housing mortgages, multifamily housing sponsors, and such other private sector experts in multifamily housing finance as the Secretary determines to be appropriate.

(8) TIMING.—The Secretary shall take any administrative actions necessary to initiate the pilot program under this subsection not later than the expiration of the 8-month period beginning on the date of the enactment of this Act.

(c) HOUSING FINANCE AGENCY PILOT PROGRAM.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall carry out a specific pilot program in conjunction with qualified housing finance agencies to test the effectiveness of Federal credit enhancement for loans for affordable multifamily housing through a system of risk-sharing agreements with such agencies.

(2) PILOT PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—In carrying out the pilot program authorized under this subsection, the Secretary shall enter into risk-sharing agreements with qualified housing finance agencies.

(B) MORTGAGE INSURANCE.—Agreements under subparagraph (A) shall provide for full mortgage insurance through the Federal Housing Administration of the loans for affordable multifamily housing originated by or through qualified housing finance agencies and for reimbursement to the Secretary by such agencies for either all or a portion of the losses incurred on the loans insured.

(C) RISK APPORTIONMENT.—Agreements entered into under this subsection between the Secretary and a qualified housing finance agency shall specify the percentage of loss that each of the parties to the agreement will assume in the event of default of the insured multifamily mortgage. Such agreements shall specify that the qualified housing finance agency and the Secretary shall share equally the full amount of any loss on the insured mortgage.

(D) REIMBURSEMENT CAPACITY.—Agreements entered into under this subsection between the Secretary and a qualified housing finance agency shall provide evidence of the capacity of such agency to fulfill any reimbursement obligations made pursuant to this subsection. Evidence of such capacity may include—

(i) a pledge of the full faith and credit of a qualified State or local agency to fulfill any obligations entered into by the qualified housing finance agency;

(ii) reserves pledged or otherwise restricted by the qualified housing finance agency in an amount equal to an agreed upon percentage of the loss assumed by the housing finance agency under subparagraph (C);

(iii) funds pledged through a State or local guarantee fund; or

(iv) any other form of evidence mutually agreed upon by the Secretary and the qualified housing finance agency.

(E) UNDERWRITING STANDARDS.—The Secretary shall allow any qualified housing finance agency to use its own underwriting standards and loan terms and conditions for purposes of underwriting loans to be insured under this subsection without further review by the Secretary, except that the Secretary may impose additional underwriting criteria and loan terms and conditions for contractual agreements where the Secretary retains more than 50 percent of the risk of loss.

(3) MORTGAGE INSURANCE PREMIUMS.—The Secretary shall establish a schedule of insurance premium payments for mortgages insured under this subsection based on the percentage of loss the Secretary may assume. Such schedule shall reflect lower or nominal premiums for qualified housing finance agencies that assume a greater share of the risk apportioned according to paragraph (2)(C).

(4) LIMITATION ON INSURANCE AUTHORITY.—Using any authority provided by appropriations Acts to insure mortgages under the National Housing Act, the Secretary may enter into commitments under this subsection with respect to mortgages on not to exceed 30,000 units over fiscal years 1993, 1994, and 1995. The demonstration authorized under this subsection shall not be expanded until the reports required under subsection (d) are submitted to the Congress.

(5) IDENTITY OF INTEREST.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the Secretary shall not apply identity of interest provisions to agreements entered into with qualified State housing finance agencies under this subsection.

(6) PROHIBITION ON GINNIE MAE SECURITIZATION.—The Government National Mortgage Association shall not securitize any multifamily loans insured under this subsection.

(7) QUALIFICATION AS AFFORDABLE HOUSING.—Multifamily housing securing loans insured under this subsection shall qualify as affordable only if the housing is occupied by very low-income families and bears rents not greater than the gross rent for rent-restricted residential units as determined under section 42(g)(2) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986.

(8) REGULATIONS.—Not later than 90 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall issue such regulations as may be necessary to carry out this subsection.

(d) INDEPENDENT STUDIES AND REPORTS.—

(1) FEDERAL NATIONAL MORTGAGE ASSOCIATION.—The Federal National Mortgage Association, in consultation with representatives of its seller-servicers and State housing finance agencies, shall carry out an independent assessment of alternative methods for achieving the purposes of this section and shall submit a report containing any findings and recommendations, including any recommendations for legislative or administrative action, simultaneously to the Secretary and the Congress not later than 12 months after the date of the enactment of this Act.

(2) FEDERAL HOME LOAN MORTGAGE CORPORATION.—The Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation, in consultation with representatives of its seller-servicers and State housing finance agencies, shall carry out an independent assessment of alternative methods for achieving the purposes of this section and shall submit a report containing any findings and recommendations, including any recommendations for legislative or administrative action, simultaneously to the Secretary and the Congress not later than 12 months after the date of the enactment of this Act.

(3) SECRETARY.—The Secretary shall submit to the Congress, and publish, reports under this paragraph assessing the activities carried out under each of the pilot programs. The Secretary shall submit and publish a preliminary report under this paragraph not later than 9 months after the date of the implementation of each of the pilot programs, and a final report not later than 24 months after the date of implementation on which the pilot program is initiated, which shall include any recommendations by the Secretary for legislative changes to achieve the purposes of this section.

(4) COMPTROLLER GENERAL.—The Comptroller General of the United States shall carry out an evaluation of each of the pilot programs under this section and shall submit to the Congress, not later than 30 months after the date of implementation for each of the pilot programs, a report regarding the evaluation, together with any recommendations for legislative changes to achieve the purposes of this section. The Comptroller General shall also submit to the Congress a report containing a preliminary assessment of the pilot program not later than 18 months after the date of enactment of this Act.

(5) FEDERAL HOUSING FINANCE BOARD.—The Federal Housing Finance Board shall monitor and assess the activities carried out under the pilot programs under this section. The Federal Housing Finance Board shall submit a preliminary report containing any findings regarding such activities not later than 9 months after the date of the enactment of this Act, and a final report containing such findings not later than 24 months after the date on which the pilot program is initiated, which shall include any recommendations by the Board for legislative changes to achieve the purposes of this section.

SEC. 543. NATIONAL INTERAGENCY TASK FORCE ON MULTIFAMILY HOUSING.

(a) PURPOSE.—The purpose of this section is to establish a National Interagency Task Force on Multifamily Housing to develop recommendations for establishing a national database on multifamily housing loans.

(b) ESTABLISHMENT OF TASK FORCE.—There is established a Task Force known as the National Interagency Task Force on Multifamily Housing (hereafter in this section referred to as the "Task Force").

(c) MEMBERSHIP OF TASK FORCE.—

(1) FEDERAL OFFICIALS.—The Task Force shall be composed of—

(A) the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development;

(B) the Chairperson of the Federal Housing Finance Board;

(C) the Comptroller of the Currency;

(D) the Chairman of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System;

(E) the Director of the Office of Thrift Supervision;

(F) the Chairperson of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation;

(G) the Chairperson of the Federal National Mortgage Association; and

(H) the Chairperson of the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation, or their designees, and the persons appointed under paragraphs (2) and (3).

(2) APPOINTMENTS BY THE SECRETARY.—The Secretary shall appoint as members of the Task Force—

(A) 1 individual who is a representative of a State housing finance agency;

(B) 1 individual who is a representative of a local housing finance agency;

(C) 1 individual who is a representative of the building industry with experience in multifamily housing; and

(D) 1 individual who is a representative of the life insurance industry with experience in multifamily loan performance data.

(3) APPOINTMENTS BY THE CHAIRPERSON OF THE FHFB.—The Chairman of the Federal Housing Finance Board shall appoint as members of the Task Force—

(A) 1 individual who is a representative from the financial services industry with experience in multifamily housing underwriting;

(B) 1 individual who is a representative from the nonprofit housing development sector with experience in subsidized multifamily housing development; and

(C) 1 individual who is a representative from a nationally recognized rating agency.

(d) ADMINISTRATION.—

(1) CHAIRPERSONS.—The Task Force shall be chaired jointly by the Secretary and the Chairman of the Federal Housing Finance Board.

(2) MEETINGS.—The Task Force shall meet no less than 4 times, at the call of the Chairpersons of the Task Force.

(3) QUORUM.—A majority of the members of the Task Force shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

(4) VOTING.—Each member of the Task Force shall be entitled to 1 vote, which shall be equal to the vote of every other member of the Task Force.

(5) VACANCIES.—Any vacancy on the Task Force shall not affect its powers, but shall be filled in the manner in which the original appointment was made.

(6) PROHIBITION ON ADDITIONAL PAY.—Members of the Task Force shall serve without compensation, but shall be reimbursed for travel, subsistence, and other necessary expenses incurred in the performance of their duties as members of the Task Force.

(e) FUNCTIONS OF THE TASK FORCE.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Task Force shall conduct a multifamily housing financial data project in order to improve the availability and efficiency of financing for multifamily rental housing. The project shall—

(A) analyze available data regarding the performance of multifamily housing mortgage loans in all regions of the country;

(B) prepare a comprehensive national database on the operation and financing of multifamily housing that will provide reliable information appropriate to meet the projected needs of lenders, investors, sponsors, property managers, and public officials;

(C) identify important factors that affect the long-term financial and operational soundness of multifamily housing properties, including factors relating to project credit risk, project underwriting, interest rate risk, real estate market conditions, public subsidies, tax policies, borrower characteristics, program management standards, and government policies;

(D) develop common definitions, standards, and procedures that will improve multifamily housing underwriting and accelerate the development of a strong, competitive, and efficient secondary market for multifamily housing loans; and

(E) make available appropriate information to various organizations in forms that will assist in improving multifamily housing loan underwriting and servicing.

(2) FINAL REPORT.—Not later than 1 year following the enactment of this Act, the Task Force shall submit to the Congress a final report which shall contain the information, evaluations, and recommendations specified in paragraph (1).

(f) AUTHORITY OF TASK FORCE.—

(1) RULES AND REGULATIONS.—The Task Force may adopt such rules and regulations as may be necessary to establish its procedures and to govern the manner of its operations, organization and personnel.

(2) ACCESS TO DATA.—The members of the Task Force representing the Comptroller of the Currency, the Office of Thrift Supervision, the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, the Federal Housing Finance Board, the Federal National Mortgage Association, and the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation shall make available to the Task Force a representative sample of multifamily housing mortgage loans in order for the Task Force to make its findings and recommendations, except that—

(A) all information obtained shall be used only for the purposes authorized in this section;

(B) the Task Force shall maintain the confidentiality of all such information obtained in the manner established for the material by the submitting entity, and such data shall not be subject to release under section 552 of title 5, United States Code;

(C) only aggregate data shall be publicly released by the Task Force unless it receives the explicit permission of the mortgage originator or government-sponsored enterprise from which the information is obtained; and

(D) any officer or employee of the Secretary, the Office of Thrift Supervision, the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve, the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, or the Federal Housing Finance Board shall be subject to the penalties under section 1906 of title 18, United States Code, if—

(i) by virtue of employment or official position, the officer or employee has possession of or access to any book, record, or information made available under this subsection and established as confidential under subparagraph (C); and

(ii) the officer or employee discloses the material in any manner other than to an officer or employee of the same Federal agency employing the officer or employee, or other than pursuant to the exemptions under section 1906.

(3) SAMPLE DATA.—In order to ensure a representative sample of multifamily housing data, the Department of Housing and Urban Development, the Office of Thrift Supervision, the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency, and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation are authorized to request loan data from a representative sample of mortgage originators or the government-sponsored enterprises regulated by these agencies, and mortgages originated by housing finance agencies and life insurance companies, except that—

(A) all information obtained shall be used only for the purposes authorized in this section;

(B) the Task Force shall maintain the confidentiality of all such information obtained in the manner established for the material by the submitting entity, and such data shall not be subject to release under section 552 of title 5, United States Code;

(C) only aggregate data shall be publicly released by the Task Force unless it receives the explicit permission of the mortgage originator or government-sponsored enterprise from which the information is obtained; and

(D) any officer or employee of the Secretary, the Office of Thrift Supervision, the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve, the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, or the Federal Housing Finance Board shall be subject to the penalties under section 1906 of title 18, United States Code, if—

(i) by virtue of employment or official position, the officer or employee has possession of or access to any book, record, or information made available under this subsection and established as confidential under subparagraph (C); and

(ii) the officer or employee discloses the material in any manner other than to an officer or employee of the same Federal agency employing the officer or employee, or other than pursuant to the exemptions under section 1906.

(4) AGENCY RESOURCES.—The Task Force may, with the consent of any Federal agency or department represented on the Task Force, utilize the information, services, staff and facilities of such agency or department on a reimbursable basis, to assist the Task Force in carrying out its duties under this section.

(5) MAILS.—The Task Force may use the United States mails in the same manner and under the same conditions as other Federal agencies.

(6) CONTRACTING.—The Task Force may, to such extent and in such amounts as are provided in appropriations Acts, enter into contracts with private firms, institutions, and individuals for the purpose of discharging its duties under this section.

(7) STAFF.—The Task Force may appoint and fix the compensation of such personnel as it deems advisable, in accordance with the provisions of title 5, United States Code, governing appointments to the competitive service, and the provisions of chapter 51 and subchapter III of chapter 53 of such title, relating to classification of General Schedule pay rates.

(g) INDEPENDENT EVALUATION.—The Comptroller General of the United States shall be authorized to conduct an independent analysis of the findings and recommendations submitted by the Task Force to the Congress under this section.

(h) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There are authorized to be appropriated to carry out this section not to exceed $6,000,000 for fiscal year 1993 and $6,252,000 for fiscal year 1994. Funds appropriated under this subsection shall remain available until expended.

(d) ELDER COTTAGE HOUSING.—

(1) IMPLEMENTATION.—Section 806(b) of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act (12 U.S.C. 1701q note) is amended to read as follows:

"(b) DEMONSTRATION PROGRAM.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall carry out a program to determine the feasibility of including, as an eligible development cost under section 202 of the Housing Act of 1959, the cost of purchasing and installing elder cottage housing opportunity units that are small, freestanding, barrier-free, energy efficient, removable, and designed to be installed adjacent to existing 1- to 4-family dwellings. In conducting the demonstration, the Secretary shall determine whether the durability of such units is appropriate for making such units generally eligible for assistance under the programs under such sections.

"(2) ALLOCATION.—Notwithstanding any other law, the Secretary shall reserve from any amounts available for capital advances and project rental assistance under section 202 of the Housing Act of 1959, amounts sufficient in each of fiscal years 1993 and 1994 to provide not less than 100 units under the demonstration under this subsection in connection with each such section. Any amounts reserved under this paragraph shall be available only for carrying out the demonstration under this subsection and, for purposes of the demonstration, the cost of purchasing and installing an elder cottage housing opportunity unit shall be considered an eligible development cost under sections 202 of the Housing Act of 1959.

"(3) REPORT.—Not later than January 1, 1994, the Secretary shall submit a report to the Congress on the results of the demonstration under this subsection, which shall be based on actual experience in implementing this subsection.

"(4) IMPLEMENTATION.—The Secretary shall issue regulations to carry out the demonstration under this subsection not later than the expiration of the 6-month period beginning on the date of the enactment of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1992.".

(e) ACCESS TO RESIDUAL RECEIPTS.—Section 202(j) of the Housing Act of 1959 (12 U.S.C. 1701q(j)) is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(6) ACCESS TO RESIDUAL RECEIPTS.—The Secretary shall authorize the owner of a project assisted under this section to use any residual receipts held for the project in excess of $500 per unit (or in excess of such other amount prescribed by the Secretary based on the needs of the project) for activities to retrofit and renovate the project described under section 802(d)(3) of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act, to provide a service coordinator for the project as described in section 802(d)(4) of such Act, or to provide supportive services (as such term is defined in section 802(k) of such Act) to residents of the project. Any owner that uses residual receipts under this paragraph shall submit to the Secretary a report, not less than annually, describing the uses of the residual receipts. In determining the amount of project rental assistance to be provided to a project under subsection (c)(2) of this section, the Secretary may take into consideration the residual receipts held for the project only if, and to the extent that, excess residual receipts are not used under this paragraph.".

Subtitle B—Authority for Public Housing Agencies to Provide Designated Public Housing and Assistance for Disabled Families

SEC. 621. DEFINITIONS.

Paragraph 3 of section 3(b) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437a(b)(3)) is amended to read as follows:

"(3) PERSONS AND FAMILIES.—

"(A) SINGLE PERSONS.—The term 'families' includes families consisting of a single person in the case of (i) an elderly person, (ii) a disabled person, (iii) a displaced person, (iv) the remaining member of a tenant family, and (v) any other single persons. In no event may any single person under clause (v) of the first sentence be provided a housing unit assisted under this Act of 2 or more bedrooms. In determining priority for admission to housing under this Act, the Secretary shall give preference to single persons who are elderly, disabled, or displaced persons before single persons who are eligible under clause (v) of the first sentence.

"(B) FAMILIES.—The term 'families' means families with children, in the cases of elderly families, near-elderly families, and disabled families, means families whose heads (or their spouses), or whose sole members, are elderly, near-elderly, or persons with disabilities, respectively. The term includes, in the cases of elderly families, near-elderly families, and disabled families, 2 or more elderly persons, near-elderly persons, or persons with disabilities living together, and 1 or more such persons living with 1 or more persons determined under the regulations of the Secretary to be essential to their care or well-being.

"(C) ABSENCE OF CHILDREN.—The temporary absence of a child from the home due to placement in foster care shall not be considered in determining family composition and family size.

"(D) ELDERLY PERSON.—The term 'elderly person' means a person who is at least 62 years of age.

"(E) PERSON WITH DISABILITIES.—The term 'person with disabilities' means a person who—

"(i) has a disability as defined in section 223 of the Social Security Act,

"(ii) is determined, pursuant to regulations issued by the Secretary, to have a physical, mental, or emotional impairment which (I) is expected to be of long-continued and indefinite duration, (II) substantially impedes his or her ability to live independently, and (III) is of such a nature that such ability could be improved by more suitable housing conditions, or

"(iii) has a developmental disability as defined in section 102 of the Developmental Disabilities Assistance and Bill of Rights Act.

Such term shall not exclude persons who have the disease of acquired immunodeficiency syndrome or any conditions arising from the etiologic agent for acquired immunodeficiency syndrome.

"(F) DISPLACED PERSON.—The term 'displaced person' means a person displaced by governmental action, or a person whose dwelling has been extensively damaged or destroyed as a result of a disaster declared or otherwise formally recognized pursuant to Federal disaster relief laws.

"(G) NEAR-ELDERLY PERSON.—The term 'near-elderly person' means a person who is at least 50 years of age but below the age of 62.".

SEC. 622. AUTHORITY.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 7 of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437e) is amended to read as follows:

"DESIGNATED HOUSING

"SEC. 7. (a) AUTHORITY TO PROVIDE DESIGNATED HOUSING.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, a public housing agency whose allocation plan under subsection (f) (and any biannual update) has been approved by the Secretary may, to the extent provided in the allocation plan, provide public housing projects (or portions of projects) designated for occupancy by (A) only elderly families, (B) only disabled families (subject to the provisions of subsection (e)), or (C) elderly and disabled families.

"(2) PRIORITY FOR OCCUPANCY.—In determining priority for admission to public housing projects (or portions of projects) that are designated for occupancy as provided in paragraph (1), the public housing agency may make units in such projects (or portions) available only to the types of families for whom the project is designated. Among such types of families, preference for occupancy in such projects (or portions) shall be given according to the preferences for occupancy under section 6(c)(4)(A).

"(3) ELIGIBILITY OF NEAR-ELDERLY FAMILIES.—If a public housing agency determines (in accordance with regulations established by the Secretary) that there are insufficient numbers of elderly families to fill all the units in a project (or portion of a project) designated under paragraph (1) for occupancy by only elderly families, the agency may (pursuant to the approved allocation plan under subsection (f) for the agency) provide that near-elderly families who qualify for preferences for occupancy under section 6(c)(4)(A) may occupy dwelling units in the project (or portion).

"(4) VACANCY.—Notwithstanding the authority under paragraphs (1) and (2) to designate public housing projects (or portions of projects) for occupancy by only certain types of families, a public housing agency shall make any dwelling unit that is ready for occupancy in such a project (or portion of a project) that has been vacant for more than 60 consecutive days generally available for occupancy (subject to the requirements of this title) without regard to such designation.

"(b) AVAILABILITY OF HOUSING.—

"(1) TENANT CHOICE.—The decision of any disabled family not to occupy or accept occupancy in an appropriate type of project or assistance made available to the family under this title shall not adversely affect the family with respect to a public housing agency making available occupancy in other appropriate projects in public housing or assistance under this title.

"(2) DISCRIMINATORY SELECTION.—Paragraph (1) shall not apply to any family who decides not to occupy or accept an appropriate dwelling unit in public housing or to accept assistance under this Act on the basis of the race, color, religion, sex, disability, familial status, or national origin of occupants of housing or the surrounding area.

"(3) APPROPRIATENESS OF DWELLING UNITS.—This section may not be construed to require a public housing agency to offer occupancy in any dwelling unit assisted under this Act to any family who is not of appropriate family size for the dwelling unit.

"(c) PROHIBITION OF EVICTIONS.—Any tenant who is lawfully residing in a dwelling unit in the project may not be evicted or otherwise required to vacate such unit because of the designation of the project (or portion of a project) or because of any action taken by the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development or any public housing agency pursuant to this section.

"(d) ACCOMMODATION OF HOUSING AND SERVICE NEEDS.—In designing, developing, otherwise acquiring and operating, designating, and providing housing and assistance under this title, each public housing agency shall meet, to the extent practicable, the housing and service needs of eligible families applying for assistance under this title, as provided in any allocation plan of the agency approved under subsection (f). To meet such needs, public housing agencies may, wherever practicable and in accordance with any allocation plan of the agency—

"(1) provide housing in which supportive services are provided, facilitated, or coordinated, mixed housing, shared housing, family housing, group homes, congregate housing, and other housing as the public housing agency considers appropriate;

"(2) carry out major reconstruction of obsolete public housing projects and reconfiguration of public housing dwelling units; and

"(3) provide tenant-based assistance under section 811(b)(1).

"(e) APPLICATION FOR DESIGNATED HOUSING FOR DISABLED FAMILIES.—

"(1) REQUIREMENT.—A project (or portion of a project) may be designated under subsection (a)(1) for occupancy by only disabled families only if the public housing agency administering the project complies with the other requirements of this section and the Secretary approves an application under this subsection for such designation. The Secretary shall establish the form and procedures for submission and approval of applications under this subsection.

"(2) CONTENTS.—An application under this subsection shall contain—

"(i) a description of the projects (or portions of projects) to be designated (which may include group homes, independent living facilities, units in multifamily housing developments, condominium housing, cooperative housing, and scattered site housing);

"(ii) a supportive service plan—

"(I) describing the needs of persons with disabilities that the housing is expected to serve;

"(II) providing for delivery of supportive services appropriate to meet the individual needs of persons with disabilities occupying the housing;

"(III) describing the experience of the applicant (or service providers) in providing such services;

"(IV) describing the manner in which such services will be provided to such persons; and

"(V) identifying any State, local, other Federal, or other funds available for providing such services;

"(iii) any other information or certification that the Secretary considers appropriate.

"(3) APPROVAL.—The Secretary may approve an application under this subsection only if the Secretary determines that—

"(i) the persons with disabilities occupying the housing will receive supportive services based on their individual needs;

"(ii) the applicant (or service providers) have sufficient experience in providing supportive services;

"(iii) residential supervision will be provided in the housing sufficient to facilitate the provision of supportive services;

"(iv) the supportive services are adequately designed to meet the special needs of the tenants.

"(4) SUPPORTIVE SERVICES.—For purposes of this subsection, the term 'supportive services' means services designed to meet the special needs of tenants, and may include meal services, health-related services, mental health services, services for nonmedical counseling, meals, transportation, personal care, bathing, toileting, housekeeping, chore assistance, safety, group and socialization activities, assistance with medications (in accordance with any applicable State laws), case management, personal emergency response, and other appropriate services.

"(f) ALLOCATION PLANS.—

"(1) REQUIREMENT.—A public housing agency may not designate a project (or portion of a project) for occupancy under subsection (a)(1) unless the agency submits an allocation plan under this subsection and the plan is approved under paragraph (4) of this subsection.

"(2) CONTENTS.—An allocation plan submitted under this subsection by a public housing agency shall include—

"(A) a description of the projects (or portions of projects) to be designated and the types of tenants occupying such projects (or portions);

"(B) a description of the estimated pool of applicants for such housing, based on the waiting lists for such housing, and any information collected in the comprehensive housing affordability strategy under section 105 of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act for the jurisdiction within which the area served by the public housing agency is located;

"(C) a statement identifying the projects or portions of projects (including the buildings or floors) to be designated for occupancy under subsection (a)(1) for only certain types of families, the types of families who will be eligible for occupancy in such projects (or portions), and the reasons for the designation;

"(D) documentation of the number of units in the projects (or portions) identified under subparagraph (C) which became vacant and available for occupancy during the preceding year;

"(E) an estimate of the number of units in the projects (or portions) identified under subparagraph (C) that will become vacant and available for occupancy during the ensuing 2-year period;

"(F) a description of the occupancy policies and procedures, including procedures for maintaining waiting lists for eligible applicants who are elderly families or disabled families for occupancy in units in projects administered by the agency sufficient to document the number and duration of instances in which housing assistance for eligible applicants will be denied or delayed by the agency because of a lack of appropriately designated units;

"(G) a plan for securing sufficient additional resources that the agency owns, controls, or has received preliminary notification that it will obtain, or for which the agency plans to apply, that will be sufficient to provide assistance to not less than the number of nonelderly disabled families that would have been housed if occupancy in such units were not restricted pursuant to this section; and

"(H) any comments of agencies, organizations, or persons with whom the public housing agency consults under paragraph (3).

"(3) DEVELOPMENT.—In preparing the initial allocation plan, or updates of a plan under paragraph (5), for submission under this subsection, a public housing agency shall consult with the State or unit of general local government in whose jurisdiction the area served by the public housing agency is located, public and private service providers, advocates for the interest of eligible elderly families, disabled families, and families with children, and other interested parties.

"(4) APPROVAL.—

"(A) CRITERIA.—The Secretary shall approve an allocation plan, or an updated plan, submitted under this subsection if the Secretary determines that, based on the plan and comments submitted pursuant to paragraph (2)(H)—

"(i) the information contained in the plan is complete and accurate and the projections are reasonable;

"(ii) implementation of the plan will not result in excessive vacancy rates in projects (or portions of projects) identified in paragraph (2)(C); and

"(iii) the plan under paragraph (2)(G) can reasonably be achieved.

"(B) NOTIFICATION.—

"(i) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall notify each public housing agency submitting an allocation plan under this subsection in writing of approval or disapproval of the plan.

"(ii) TIMING.—A plan shall be considered to be approved if the Secretary does not notify the public housing agency of approval or disapproval of the initial or revised plan within (I) 90 days after the submission of any plan that contains comments pursuant to paragraph (2)(H), or (II) 45 days for any other plan.

"(iii) RESUBMISSION.—If the Secretary disapproves the plan, the Secretary shall, for a period of not less than 45 days following the date of disapproval, permit amendments to, or resubmission of, the plan.

"(C) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION.—The approval of an allocation plan or updated plan under this subsection may not be construed to constitute approval of any request for assistance for major reconstruction of obsolete projects, assistance for development or acquisition of public housing, or assistance under section 811(b)(1) of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act, that are contained in the plan pursuant to subparagraph (H).

"(5) BIANNUAL UPDATE.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—Each public housing agency that owns or operates a project (or portion of a project) that is designated for occupancy under subsection (a)(1) shall update the plan of the agency under this subsection not less than once every 2 years, as the Secretary shall provide. The Secretary shall notify each public housing agency submitting an updated plan under this paragraph of approval or disapproval of the updated plan as required under paragraph (4)(B), and the provisions of such paragraph shall apply to updated plans under this paragraph.

"(B) CONTENTS.—The updated plan shall include—

"(i) a review of the data and projections contained in the allocation plan and the most recent update submitted under this subsection;

"(ii) an assessment of the accuracy of the projections contained in such plan and update;

"(iii) a statement of the number of times a vacancy was filled pursuant to subsection (a)(4);

"(iv) a statement of the number of times an application for housing assistance by an eligible applicants was denied or delayed because of a lack of appropriately designated units; and

"(v) a plan for adjusting the allocation, if necessary, in accordance with the needs identified pursuant to this subparagraph.

"(C) STANDARDS FOR APPROVAL.—The Secretary shall establish standards for preparation, submission, and approval of updated plans.

"(g) PROHIBITION OF COERCION.—No elderly or disabled family residing in any public housing project may be required to accept services.".

(b) OCCUPANCY PREFERENCES.—The matter preceding clause (i) in section 6(c)(4)(A) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437d(c)(4)(A)) is amended by striking "specifically designated for elderly families" and inserting "designated for occupancy pursuant to section 7(a)".

(c) DEFINITIONS.—Section 3(c) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437a(c)) is amended by inserting after "project." the following new paragraphs:

"(4) The term 'congregate housing' means low-rent housing with which there is connected a central dining facility where wholesome and economical meals can be served to occupants. Expenditures incurred by a public housing agency in the operation of a central dining facility in connection with congregate housing (other than the cost of providing food and service) shall be considered a cost of operation of the project.

"(5) The terms 'group home' and 'independent living facility' have the meanings given such terms in section 811(k) of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act.

SEC. 623. TENANT-BASED ASSISTANCE FOR PERSONS WITH DISABILITIES.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 811 of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act (42 U.S.C. 8013) is amended—

(1) by amending the section heading to read as follows:

"SEC. 811. SUPPORTIVE HOUSING FOR PERSONS WITH DISABILITIES.";

"(b) AUTHORITY TO PROVIDE ASSISTANCE.—The Secretary is authorized—

"(1) to provide tenant-based rental assistance to eligible persons with disabilities, in accordance with subsection (d)(4); and

"(2) to provide assistance to private, nonprofit organizations to expand the supply of supportive housing for persons with disabilities, which shall be provided as—

"(A) capital advances in accordance with subsection (d)(1), and

"(B) contracts for project rental assistance in accordance with subsection (d)(2);";

(3) in subsection (d)—

(A) in paragraphs (1) and (3), by striking "this section" and inserting "subsection (b)(2)"; and

(B) by adding at the end the following new paragraph—

"(4) TENANT-BASED RENTAL ASSISTANCE.—Tenant-based rental assistance provided under subsection (b)(1) may be provided only through a public housing agency that has submitted, and had approved, an allocation plan under section 7(f) of the United States Housing Act of 1937, and a public housing agency shall be eligible to apply under this section only for the purposes of providing such assistance. Such assistance shall be made available to eligible persons with disabilities and administered under the same rules that govern rental assistance made available under section 8 of the United States Housing Act of 1937. In determining the amount of assistance provided under subsection (b)(1) for a public housing agency, the Secretary shall consider the needs of the agency as described in the allocation plan.";

(4) in subsection (e)(1), by striking "this section" and inserting "subsection (b)(2)";

(5) in subsection (f), in the first and second sentences, by striking "this section" and inserting "subsection (b)(2)"; and

(6) in subsection (g), by striking "this section" and inserting "subsection (b)(2)".

(b) SECTION 8 ASSISTANCE.—Section 8 of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437f), is amended by inserting after subsection (h) the following new subsection:

"(i) The Secretary may not consider the receipt by a public housing agency of assistance under section 811(b)(1) of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act, or the amount received, in approving assistance for the agency under this section or determining the amount of such assistance to be provided.".

SEC. 624. DEVELOPMENT AND RECONSTRUCTION OF HOUSING FOR DISABLED FAMILIES.

(a) SET-ASIDE OF MAJOR RECONSTRUCTION FUNDS FOR RECONFIGURATION OF PROJECTS.—Section 5(j)(2) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437c(j)(2)), as amended by the preceding provisions of this Act, is further amended by adding at the end the following new subparagraph:

"(G)(i) In fiscal years 1993 and 1994, the Secretary shall commit for use under clause (ii) not less than 5 percent of any amounts reserved under subparagraph (A) for each such fiscal year.

"(ii) The amounts referred to in clause (i) shall be available to public housing agencies only for use for projects (or portions of projects) designated for occupancy under section 7(a)(1) and (e) by disabled families.

"(iii) In allocating amounts reserved under this subparagraph among public housing agencies, the Secretary shall consider the need for any such amounts as identified in the allocation plans submitted by agencies under section 7(f).".

(b) SET-ASIDE OF NEW CONSTRUCTION FUNDS FOR HOUSING DESIGNED FOR DISABLED FAMILIES AND SINGLE PERSONS.—Section 5(j) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437c(j)) is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(3)(A) In fiscal years 1993 and 1994, the Secretary shall reserve for use under subparagraph (B) not less than 5 percent of any amounts approved in appropriation Acts for each such fiscal year for public housing grants under subsection (a)(2) that are not designated under such Acts for use under paragraph (2) of this subsection for the substantial redesign, reconstruction, or redevelopment of existing public housing projects, buildings, or units.

"(B) Any amount reserved under subparagraph (A) shall be available only to public housing agencies that have designated projects (or portions of projects) for occupancy under section 7(a)(1) for use only for the costs of development or acquisition of public housing projects or buildings designated for occupancy under section 7(a)(1) and (e) by disabled families. A building so assisted may not contain more than 25 dwelling units, except that the Secretary may (in the discretion of the Secretary) waive such limitation for a building.

"(C) The Secretary shall carry out a competition for budget authority reserved under subparagraph (A) among eligible public housing agencies and shall allocate such budget authority to public housing agencies pursuant to the competition, based on (i) the need of the agency for such assistance (taking into consideration the allocation plans submitted under section 7(f) by agencies), and (ii) the extent to which the public housing projects and buildings to be developed or assisted meet the requirements of section 7(e).".

(c) REQUIREMENT FOR USE OF NEW CONSTRUCTION FUNDS FOR PROJECTS DESIGNATED FOR ELDERLY FAMILIES.—Section 5(j)(1) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437c(j)(1)) is amended—

(1) in subparagraph (D), by striking "and" at the end;

(2) by redesignating subparagraph (E) as subparagraph (F); and

(3) by adding at the end the following new subparagraph:

"(E) in the case of an application for development of projects (or portions of projects) designated under section 7(a)(1) for occupancy for elderly families, only if the agency certifies to the Secretary that the use of such assistance will assist in expanding the housing available for eligible persons with disabilities identified in the allocation plan for the agency submitted under section 7(f); and".

SEC. 625. CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.

(a) UNITED STATES HOUSING ACT OF 1937.—The United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437 et seq.) is amended—

(1) in section 3(b)(5)(B), by inserting "or disabled" after "elderly";

(2) in the last sentence of section 6(a), by striking "the elderly" and inserting "elderly or disabled families";

(3) in section 14(i)(1)(D)(ii), by striking "elderly families and handicapped families" and inserting "elderly and disabled families"; and

(4) in section 17(c)(2)(G)(i), by striking "the elderly" and inserting "elderly families".

(b) HOUSING AND COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT ACT OF 1974.—The first sentence of section 209 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 (42 U.S.C. 1438) is amended by striking "the elderly or the handicapped" and inserting "elderly or disabled families".

SEC. 626. INAPPLICABILITY TO INDIAN PUBLIC HOUSING.

The amendments made by this subtitle shall not apply with respect to lower income housing developed or operated pursuant to a contract between the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development and an Indian housing authority.

Subtitle C—Standards and Obligations of Residency in Federally Assisted Housing

SEC. 641. COMPLIANCE BY OWNERS AS CONDITION OF FEDERAL ASSISTANCE.

The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall require owners of federally assisted housing (as such term is defined in section 683(2)), as a condition of receiving housing assistance for such housing, to comply with the procedures and requirements established under this subtitle.

SEC. 642. COMPLIANCE WITH CRITERIA FOR OCCUPANCY AS REQUIREMENT FOR TENANCY.

In selecting tenants for occupancy of units in federally assisted housing, an owner of such housing shall utilize the criteria for occupancy in federally assisted housing established by the Secretary, by regulation, under section 643. If an owner determines that an applicant for occupancy in the housing does not meet such criteria, the owner may deny such applicant occupancy.

SEC. 643. ESTABLISHMENT OF CRITERIA FOR OCCUPANCY.

(a) TASK FORCE.—

(1) ESTABLISHMENT.—To assist the Secretary in establishing reasonable criteria for occupancy in federally assisted housing, the Secretary shall establish a task force to review all rules, policy statements, handbooks, technical assistance memoranda, and other relevant documents issued by the Department of Housing and Urban Development on the standards and obligations governing residency in federally assisted housing and make recommendations to the Secretary for the establishment of such criteria for occupancy.

(2) MEMBERS.—The Secretary shall appoint members to the task force, which shall include individuals representing the interests of owners, managers, and tenants of federally assisted housing, public housing agencies, owner and tenant advocacy organizations, persons with disabilities and disabled families, organizations assisting homeless individuals, and social service, mental health, and other nonprofit servicer providers who serve federally assisted housing.

(3) COMPENSATION.—Members of the task force shall not receive compensation for serving on the task force.

(4) DUTIES.—The task force shall—

(A) review all existing standards, regulations, and guidelines governing occupancy and tenant selection policies in federally assisted housing;

(B) review all existing standards, regulations, and guidelines governing lease provisions and other rules of occupancy for federally assisted housing;

(C) determine whether the standards, regulations, and guidelines reviewed under subparagraphs (A) and (B) provide sufficient guidance to owners and managers of federally assisted housing to—

(i) develop procedures for preselection inquiries sufficient to determine the capacity of applicants to comply with reasonable lease terms and conditions of occupancy;

(ii) utilize leases that prohibit behavior which endangers the health or safety of other tenants or violates the rights of other tenants to peaceful enjoyment of the premises;

(iii) assess the need to provide, and appropriate measures for providing, reasonable accommodations required under the Fair Housing Act and section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 for persons with various types of disabilities; and

(iv) comply with civil rights laws and regulations; and

(D) propose criteria for occupancy in federally assisted housing, standards for the reasonable performance and behavior of tenants of federally assisted housing, compliance standards consistent with the reasonable accommodation of the requirements of the Fair Housing Act and section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, standards for compliance with other civil rights laws, and procedures for the eviction of tenants not complying with such standards consistent with sections 6 and 8 of the United States Housing Act of 1937; and

(E) report to the Congress and the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development pursuant to paragraph (7).

(5) PROCEDURE.—In carrying out its duties, the task force shall hold public hearings and receive written comments for a period of not less than 60 days.

(6) SUPPORT.—The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall cooperate fully with the task force and shall provide support staff and office space to assist the task force in carrying out its duties.

(7) REPORTS.—Not later than 3 months after the date of enactment of this Act, the task force shall submit to the Secretary and the Congress a preliminary report describing its initial actions. Not later than 6 months after the date of enactment of this Act, the task force shall submit a report to the Secretary and the Congress, which shall include—

(A) a description of its findings; and

(B) recommendations to revise such standards, regulations, and guidelines to provide accurate and complete guidance to owners and managers of federally assisted housing as determined necessary under paragraph (4).

(b) RULEMAKING.—

(1) AUTHORITY.—The Secretary shall, by regulation, establish criteria for selection of tenants for occupancy in federally assisted housing and lease provisions for such housing.

(2) STANDARDS.—The criteria shall provide sufficient guidance to owners and managers of federally assisted housing to enable them to (A) select tenants capable of complying with reasonable lease terms, (B) utilize leases prohibiting behavior which endangers the health or safety of others or violates the right of other tenants to peaceful enjoyment of the premises, (C) comply with legal requirements to make reasonable accommodations for persons with disabilities, and (D) comply with civil rights laws. The criteria shall be consistent with the requirements under subsections (k) and (l) of section 6 and section 8(d)(1) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 and any similar contract and lease requirements for federally assisted housing. In establishing the criteria, the Secretary shall take into consideration the report of the task force under subsection (a)(7).

(3) PROCEDURE.—Not later than 90 days after the submission of the final report under subsection (a)(7), the Secretary shall issue a notice of proposed rulemaking of the regulations under this subsection providing for notice and opportunity for public comment regarding the regulations, pursuant to the provisions of section 553 of title 5, United States Code (notwithstanding subsections (a)(2), (b)(B), and (d)(3) of such section). The duration of the period for public comment under such section 553 shall not be less than 60 days. The Secretary shall issue final regulations under this subsection not later than the expiration of the 60-day period beginning upon the conclusion of the comment period, which shall take effect upon issuance.

SEC. 644. ASSISTED APPLICATIONS.

(a) AUTHORITY.—The Secretary shall provide that any individual or family applying for occupancy in federally assisted housing may include in the application for the housing the name, address, phone number, and other relevant information of a family member, friend, or social, health, advocacy, or other organization, and that the owner shall treat such information as confidential.

(b) MAINTENANCE OF INFORMATION.—The Secretary shall require the owner of any federally assisted housing receiving an application including such information to maintain such information for any applicants who become tenants of the housing, for the purposes of facilitating contact by the owner with such person or organization to assist in providing any services or special care for the tenant and assist in resolving any relevant tenancy issues arising during the tenancy of such tenant.

(c) LIMITATIONS.—An owner of federally assisted housing may not require any individual or family applying for occupancy in the housing to provide the information described in subsection (a).

Subtitle D—Authority to Provide Preferences for Elderly Residents and Units for Disabled Residents in Certain Section 8 Assisted Housing

SEC. 651. AUTHORITY.

Notwithstanding any other provision of law, an owner of a covered section 8 housing project (as such term is defined in section 659) designed primarily for occupancy by elderly families may, in selecting tenants for units in the project that become available for occupancy, give preference to elderly families who have applied for occupancy in the housing, subject to the requirements of this subtitle.

SEC. 652. RESERVATION OF UNITS FOR DISABLED FAMILIES.

(a) REQUIREMENT.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, for any project for which an owner gives preference in occupancy to elderly families pursuant to section 651, such owner shall (subject to sections 653, 654, and 655) reserve units in the project for occupancy only by disabled families who are not elderly or near-elderly families (and who have applied for occupancy in the housing) in the number determined under subsection (b).

(b) NUMBER OF UNITS.—Each owner required to reserve units in a project for occupancy under subsection (a) shall reserve a number of units in the project that is not less than the lesser of—

(1) the number of units equivalent to the higher of—

(A) the percentage of units in the project that were occupied by such disabled families upon the date of the enactment of this Act; or

(B) the percentage of units in the project that were occupied by such families upon January 1, 1992; or

(2) 10 percent of the number of units in the project.

SEC. 653. SECONDARY PREFERENCES.

(a) INSUFFICIENT ELDERLY FAMILIES.—If an owner of a covered section 8 housing project in which elderly families are given a preference for occupancy pursuant to section 651 determines (in accordance with regulations established by the Secretary) that there are insufficient numbers of elderly families who have applied for occupancy in the housing to fill all the units in the project not reserved under section 652, the owner may give preference for occupancy of such units to disabled families who are near-elderly families and have applied for occupancy in the housing.

(b) INSUFFICIENT NON-ELDERLY DISABLED FAMILIES.—If an owner of a covered section 8 housing project in which elderly families are given a preference for occupancy pursuant to section 651 determines (in accordance with regulations established by the Secretary) that there are insufficient numbers of disabled families who are not elderly or near-elderly families and have applied for occupancy in the housing to fill all the units in the project reserved under section 652, the owner may give preference for occupancy of units so reserved to disabled families who are near-elderly families and have applied for occupancy in the housing.

SEC. 654. GENERAL AVAILABILITY OF UNITS.

If an owner of a covered section 8 housing project in which disabled families who are near-elderly families are given a preference for occupancy pursuant to subsection (a) or (b) of section 653 determines (in accordance with regulations established by the Secretary) that there are an insufficient number of such families to fill all the units in the project for which the preference is applicable, the owner shall make such units generally available for occupancy by families who have applied, and are eligible, for occupancy in the housing, without regard to the preferences established pursuant to this subtitle.

SEC. 655. PREFERENCE WITHIN GROUPS.

Among disabled families qualifying for occupancy in units reserved under section 652, and among elderly families and near-elderly families qualifying for preference for occupancy pursuant to section 651 or 653, preference for occupancy in units that are assisted under section 8 of the United States Housing Act of 1937 shall be given to disabled families according to the preferences for occupancy referred to in section 8(d)(1)(A)(i) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 and the first sentence of 8(o)(3)(B) of such Act, to elderly families according to such preferences, and to near-elderly families according to such preferences, respectively.

SEC. 656. PROHIBITION OF EVICTIONS.

Any tenant who, except for reservation of a percentage of the units of a project pursuant to section 652 or any preference for occupancy established pursuant to this subtitle, is lawfully residing in a dwelling unit in a covered section 8 housing project, may not be evicted or otherwise required to vacate such unit because of the reservation or preferences or because of any action taken by the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development or the owner of the project pursuant to this subtitle.

SEC. 657. TREATMENT OF COVERED SECTION 8 HOUSING NOT SUBJECT TO ELDERLY PREFERENCE.

If an owner of any covered section 8 housing project designed primarily for occupancy by elderly families does not give preference in occupancy to elderly families as authorized in this subtitle, then elderly families (as such term was defined in section 3 of the United States Housing Act of 1937 before the date of the enactment of this Act) shall be eligible for occupancy in such housing to the same extent that such families were eligible before the date of the enactment of this Act.

SEC. 658. TREATMENT OF OTHER FEDERALLY ASSISTED HOUSING.

(a) RESTRICTED OCCUPANCY.—An owner of any federally assisted project (or portion of a project) as described in subparagraphs (D), (E), and (F) of section 683(2) that was designed for occupancy by elderly families may continue to restrict occupancy in such project (or portion) to elderly families in accordance with the rules, standards, and agreements governing occupancy in such housing in effect at the time of the development of the housing.

(b) PROHIBITION OF EVICTIONS.—Any tenant who is lawfully residing in a dwelling unit in a housing project described in subsection (a) may not be evicted or otherwise required to vacate such unit because of any reservation or preferences under this subtitle or because of any action taken by the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development or the owner of the project pursuant to this subtitle.

SEC. 659. COVERED SECTION 8 HOUSING.

For purposes of this subtitle, the term "covered section 8 housing" means housing described in section 683(2)(G) that was originally designed for occupancy by elderly families.

SEC. 660. SECTION 8 PREFERENCE.

Section 8(d) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437f(d)) is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(4) A public housing agency that serves more than one unit of general local government may, at the discretion of the agency, in allocating assistance under this section, give priority to disabled families that are not elderly families.".

SEC. 661. STUDY.

The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall conduct a study to determine the extent to which Federal housing programs serve elderly families, disabled families, and families with children, in relation to the need of such families who are eligible for assistance under such programs. The Secretary shall submit a report to the Congress describing the study and the findings of the study not later than the expiration of the 1-year period beginning on the date of the enactment of this Act.

Subtitle E—Service Coordinators for Elderly and Disabled Residents of Federally Assisted Housing

SEC. 661. REQUIREMENT TO PROVIDE SERVICE COORDINATORS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—To the extent that amounts are made available to carry out this subtitle pursuant to the amendments made by this subtitle, the Secretary shall require owners of covered federally assisted housing projects (as such term is defined in subsection (d)) receiving such amounts to provide for employing or otherwise retaining the services of one or more individuals to coordinate the provision of supportive services for elderly and disabled families residing in the projects (in this section referred to as a "service coordinator"). No such elderly or disabled family may be required to accept services.

(b) RESPONSIBILITIES.—Each service coordinator of a covered federally assisted housing project provided pursuant to this subtitle or the amendments made by this subtitle—

(1) shall consult with the owner of the housing, tenants, any tenant organizations, any resident management organizations, service providers, and any other appropriate persons, to identify the particular needs and characteristics of elderly and disabled families who reside in the project and any supportive services related to such needs and characteristics;

(2) shall manage and coordinate the provision of such services for residents of the project;

(3) may provide training to tenants of the project in the obligations of tenancy or coordinate such training;

(4) shall meet the minimum qualifications and standards required under section 802(d)(4) of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act; and

(5) may carry out other appropriate activities for residents of the project.

(c) INCLUDED SERVICES.—Supportive services referred to under subsection (b)(1) may include health-related services, mental health services, services for nonmedical counseling, meals, transportation, personal care, bathing, toileting, housekeeping, chore assistance, safety, group and socialization activities, assistance with medications (in accordance with any applicable State laws), case management, personal emergency response, and other appropriate services. The services may be provided through any agency of the Federal Government or any other public or private department, agency, or organization.

(d) COVERED FEDERALLY ASSISTED HOUSING.—For purposes of this subtitle, the term "covered federally assisted housing" means housing that is federally assisted housing (as such term is defined in section 683(2), except that such term does not include housing described in subparagraphs (C) and (D) of such section.

SEC. 662. REQUIRED TRAINING OF SERVICE COORDINATORS.

Section 802(d)(4) of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act (42 U.S.C. 8011(d)(4)) is amended by inserting after the period at the end of the first sentence beginning after subparagraph (E) the following new sentence: "Such qualifications and standards shall include requiring each service coordinator to be trained in the aging process, elder services, disability services, eligibility for and procedures of Federal and applicable State entitlement programs, legal liability issues relating to providing service coordination, drug and alcohol use and abuse by the elderly, and mental health issues.".

SEC. 663. COSTS OF PROVIDING SERVICE COORDINATORS IN PUBLIC HOUSING.

Section 9(a)(1)(B) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437g(a)(1)(B)) is amended—

(1) in the first sentence, by redesignating clauses (i) and (ii) as subclauses (I) and (II), respectively;

(2) in the second sentence—

(A) by striking "subparagraph" and inserting "clause";

(B) by inserting "or section 802 of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act" after "Congregate Housing Services Act of 1978"; and

(C) by inserting a period after "section 811 of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act";

(3) by inserting "(i)" after the subparagraph designation; and

(4) by adding at the end the following new clause:

"(ii) Annual contributions under this section to any public housing agency for any project may be used, with respect to such project, for (I) the cost of employing or otherwise retaining the services of one or more service coordinators under section 661 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1992 to coordinate the provision of any supportive services within the project for residents of the project who are elderly families and disabled families, and (II) expenses for the provision of such services for such residents of the project. Not more than 15 percent of the cost of the provision of such services may be provided under this section. Services may not be provided under this clause for any person receiving assistance under the Congregate Housing Services Act of 1978 or section 802 of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act. The budget authority available under section 5(c) for assistance under this section is authorized to be increased by $30,000,000 on or after October 1, 1992, and by $30,000,000 on or after October 1, 1993. Amounts made available under this clause shall be used to provide additional annual contributions to public housing agencies only for the purpose of providing service coordinators and services under this clause for public housing projects.".

SEC. 664. COSTS OF PROVIDING SERVICE COORDINATORS IN PROJECT-BASED SECTION 8 HOUSING.

Section 8(d)(2) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437f(d)(2)) is amended by adding at the end the following new subparagraph:

"(F)(i) In determining the amount of assistance provided under an assistance contract for project-based assistance under this paragraph or a contract for assistance for housing constructed or substantially rehabilitated pursuant to assistance provided under section 8(b)(2) of this Act (as such section existed immediately before October 1, 1983), the Secretary may consider and annually adjust, with respect to such project, for the cost of employing or otherwise retaining the services of one or more service coordinators under section 661 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1992 to coordinate the provision of any services within the project for residents of the project who are elderly or disabled families.

"(ii) The budget authority available under section 5(c) for assistance under this section is authorized to be increased by $15,000,000 on or after October 1, 1992, and by $15,000,000 on or after October 1, 1993. Amounts made available under this subparagraph shall be used to provide additional amounts under annual contributions contracts for assistance under this section which shall be made available through assistance contracts only for the purpose of providing service coordinators under clause (i) for projects receiving project-based assistance under this paragraph and to provide additional amounts under contracts for assistance for projects constructed or substantially rehabilitated pursuant to assistance provided under section 8(b)(2) of this Act (as such section existed immediately before October 1, 1983) only for such purpose.".

SEC. 665. COSTS OF PROVIDING SERVICE COORDINATORS FOR FAMILIES RECEIVING FEDERAL TENANT-BASED ASSISTANCE.

Section 8(q) of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437f(q)) is amended—

(1) by redesignating paragraph (3) as paragraph (4); and

(2) by inserting after paragraph (2) the following new paragraph:

"(3)(A) Fees under this subsection may be used for the costs of employing or otherwise retaining the services of one or more service coordinators under section 661 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1992 to coordinate the provision of supportive services for elderly families and disabled families on whose behalf tenant-based assistance is provided under this section or section 811(b)(1). Such service coordinators shall have the same responsibilities with respect to such families as service coordinators of covered federally assisted housing projects have under section 661 of such Act with respect to residents of such projects.

"(B) To the extent amounts are provided in appropriation Acts under subparagraph (C), the Secretary shall increase fees under this subsection to provide for the costs of such service coordinators for public housing agencies.

"(C) The budget authority available under section 5(c) for assistance under this section is authorized to be increased by $5,000,000 on or after October 1, 1992, and by $5,000,000 on or after October 1, 1993. Amounts made available under this subparagraph shall be used to provide additional amounts under annual contributions contracts for increased fees under this subsection, which shall be used only for the purpose of providing service coordinators for public housing agencies described in subparagraph (A).".

SEC. 666. GRANTS FOR COSTS OF PROVIDING SERVICE COORDINATORS IN MULTIFAMILY HOUSING ASSISTED UNDER NATIONAL HOUSING ACT.

(a) AUTHORITY.—The Secretary may make grants under this section to owners of federally assisted housing projects described in subparagraphs (E) and (F) of section 683(2). Any grant amounts shall be used for the costs of employing or otherwise retaining the services of one or more service coordinators under section 661 to coordinate the provision of any services within the project for residents of the project who are elderly families and disabled families (as such terms are defined in section 683 of this Act).

(b) APPLICATION AND SELECTION.—The Secretary shall provide for the form and manner of applications for grants under this section and for selection of applicants to receive such grants.

(c) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There are authorized to be appropriated for fiscal years 1993 and 1994 such sums as may be necessary for grants under this section.

(d) ELIGIBLE PROJECT EXPENSE.—For any federally assisted housing project described in subparagraph (E) or (F) of section 683(2) that does not receive a grant under this section, the cost of employing or otherwise retaining the services of one or more service coordinators under section 661 and not more than 15 percent of the cost of providing services to the residents of the project shall be considered an eligible project expense, but only to the extent that amounts are available from project rent and other income for such costs.

SEC. 667. EXPANDED RESPONSIBILITIES OF SERVICE COORDINATORS IN SECTION 202 HOUSING.

(a) SUPPORTIVE HOUSING FOR THE ELDERLY.—Section 202(g) of the Housing Act of 1959 (12 U.S.C. 1701q(g)), as amended by section 801 of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act, is amended—

(A) in paragraph (2), by striking the last sentence; and

(B) by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(3) SERVICE COORDINATORS.—Any cost associated with employing or otherwise retaining a service coordinator in housing assisted under this section shall be considered an eligible cost under subsection (c)(2). If a project is receiving congregate housing services assistance under section 802 of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act, the amount of costs provided under subsection (c)(2) for the project service coordinator may not exceed the additional amount necessary to cover the costs of providing for the coordination of services for residents of the project who are not eligible residents under such section 802. To the extent that amounts are available pursuant to subsection (c)(2) for the costs of carrying out this paragraph within a project, an owner of housing assisted under this section shall provide a service coordinator for the housing to coordinate the provision of services under this subsection within the housing.".

(b) OLD SECTION 202 PROJECTS.—

(1) AVAILABILITY OF SECTION 8 ASSISTANCE.—Subject to the availability of appropriations for contract amendments for the purpose of this paragraph, in determining the amount of assistance under section 8 of the United States Housing Act of 1937 to be provided for a project assisted under section 202 of the Housing Act of 1959, as in effect before the effectiveness of the amendments made by section 801 of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act, the Secretary shall consider (and annually adjust for) the costs of—

(A) employing or otherwise retaining the services of one or more service coordinators under section 661 of this Act to coordinate the provision of any services within the project for residents of the project who are elderly families and disabled families; and

(B) expenses for the provision of such services. Not more than 15 percent of the cost of the provision of services under subparagraph (B) may be considered under this paragraph for purposes of determining the amount of assistance provided.

(2) INAPPLICABILITY OF HUD REFORM ACT PROVISIONS.—Notwithstanding section 102 of the Department of Housing and Urban Development Reform Act of 1989, the provisions of paragraphs (1), (2), and (3) of subsection (a) of such section shall not apply to amendments to contracts under section 8 of the United States Housing Act of 1937 made to carry out the purposes of paragraph (1) of this subsection.

(3) LIMITATION.—If a project is receiving congregate housing services assistance under the Congregate Housing Services Act of 1978 or section 802 of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act, the amount of costs provided pursuant to paragraph (1) for the project may not exceed the additional amount necessary to cover the costs of providing for the coordination of services for residents of the project who are not eligible residents under such section 802 or eligible project residents under the Congregate Housing Services Act of 1978, as applicable.

SEC. 706. RURAL HOUSING VOUCHER PROGRAM.

Title V of the Housing Act of 1949 (42 U.S.C. 501 et seq.) is amended—

(1) in the last sentence of section 533(a) (42 U.S.C. 1490m(a)), by inserting after "1937" the following: "or section 542 of this title"; and

(2) by adding at the end the following new section:

"SEC. 542. RURAL HOUSING VOUCHER PROGRAM.

"(a) In General.—To such extent or in such amounts as are approved in appropriation Acts, the Secretary shall carry out a rural housing voucher program to assist very low-income families and persons to reside in rental housing in rural areas. For such purposes, the Secretary may provide assistance using a payment standard based on the fair market rental rate established by the Secretary for the area. The monthly assistance payment for any family shall be the amount by which the payment standard for the area exceeds 30 per centum of the family's monthly adjusted income, except that such monthly assistance payment shall not exceed the amount which the rent for the dwelling unit (including the amount allowed for utilities in the case of a unit with separate utility metering) exceeds 10 per centum of the family's monthly gross income.

"(b) Coordination and Limitation.—In carrying out the rural housing voucher program under this section, the Secretary shall—

"(1) coordinate activities under this section with activities assisted under sections 515 and 533 of this title; and

"(2) enter into contracts for assistance for not more than 5000 units in any fiscal year.".

SEC. 707. RENTAL HOUSING LOANS.

(a) Development Costs.—Section 515(e)(4) of the Housing Act of 1949 (42 U.S.C. 1485(e)(4)) is amended—

(1) by striking "and" before "initial";

(2) by inserting before the first period the following: ", impact fees, local charges for installation, provision, or use of infrastructure, and local assessments for public improvements and services imposed by State and local governments"; and

(3) by inserting after the period at the end the following new sentence: "Notwithstanding the first sentence of this paragraph, the term 'development cost' shall not include any initial operating expenses in the case of any nonprofit corporation or consumer cooperative that is financing housing under this section and has been allocated a low-income housing tax credit by a housing credit agency pursuant to section 42 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986.".

(b) Coordination of Loans and Rental Assistance Payments.—Section 515 of the Housing Act of 1949 (42 U.S.C. 1485) is amended—

(1) in subsection (l), by striking paragraph (1) and inserting the following new paragraph:

"(1) in the case of any applicant who applies for rental assistance payments under section 521 in connection with such project, the Secretary shall consider the availability of such rental assistance payments with respect to the project and shall require such applicant to demonstrate that a market exists for persons and families eligible for such rental assistance payments; and"; and

(2) in subsection (p)—

(A) in paragraph (4), by striking ", except" in the first sentence and all that follows through the end of the paragraph and inserting a period; and

(3) by inserting at the end the following new paragraph:

"(5) The Secretary shall coordinate the processing of any application for a loan under this section for a project and the processing of any application for assistance under section 521(a)(2) with respect to housing units in the same project in an economical and efficient manner. At the time the Secretary enters into a commitment to make or insure a loan under this section the Secretary shall obligate amounts for assistance payments under section 521(a)(2) for the project, to the extent that such amounts are available and the Secretary determines such assistance is necessary for the market feasibility of the project.".

(c) Equity Contribution.—Section 515(r)(2) of the Housing Act of 1949 (42 U.S.C. 1485(r)(2)) is amended by inserting before the period at the end the following: ", except that the Secretary shall require a 5 percent contribution in the case of a project that is allocated a low-income housing tax credit pursuant to section 42 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986".

(d) Uniform Project Costs and Coordination of Housing Resources and Tax Benefits.—Section 515 of the Housing Act of 1949 (42 U.S.C. 1485) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(x) Uniform Project Costs; Coordination of Housing Resources and Tax Benefits.—The Secretary shall—

"(1) establish standard guidelines for State offices that describe allowable development costs which are required for development of all projects under this section, without regard to whether the project was allocated a low-income housing tax credit;

"(2) require each State to establish a process for coordinating the selection of projects under this section with the housing needs and priorities as established in a State comprehensive housing affordability strategy under section 105 of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act and a low-income housing tax credit allocation plan under section 42 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986; and

"(3) develop, in consultation with housing credit agencies (as that term is defined under section 42 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986), uniform procedures for identifying and sharing information on project costs, builder profit, identity of interests relationships, and other factors, as appropriate, with the relevant housing credit agency for projects that are allocated a low-income housing tax credit pursuant to section 42(h) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 for the purpose of achieving compliance with section 102(d) of the Department of Housing and Urban Development Reform Act of 1989 (42 U.S.C. 3545(d)).".

(e) Grants for Costs of Providing Service Coordinators.—Section 515 of the Housing Act of 1949 (42 U.S.C. 1485), as amended by this section, is further amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(y) Service Coordinators.—

"(1) Grants.—The Secretary may make grants under this subsection, with respect to any project that the Secretary determines has a sufficient number of frail elderly residents, for the cost of employing or otherwise retaining the services of one or more individuals to coordinate services provided to frail elderly residents of the project (in this subsection referred to as a 'service coordinator'), who shall be responsible for—

"(A) assessing the supportive service needs of frail elderly residents of the project, based on objective criteria and interviews with such residents;

"(B) working with service providers to design the provision of services to meet the needs of frail elderly residents of the project, taking into consideration the needs and desires of such residents and their ability and willingness to pay for such services, as expressed by the residents;

"(C) mobilizing public and private resources to obtain funding for such services for such residents;

"(D) monitoring and evaluating the impact and effectiveness of any supportive services provided for such residents;

"(E) consulting and coordinating with any appropriate public and private agencies regarding the provision of supportive services; and

"(F) performing such other duties that the Secretary deems appropriate to enable frail elderly persons residing in federally assisted housing to live with dignity and independence.

"(2) Qualifications.—Individuals employed as service coordinators pursuant to this subsection shall meet the minimum qualifications and standards established under section 802(d)(4) of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act for service coordinators under a congregate housing services program.

"(3) Application and selection.—The Secretary shall provide for the form and manner of applications for grants under this subsection and for the selection of applicants to receive the grants.

"(4) Definition of frail elderly.—For purposes of this subsection, the term 'frail elderly' has the meaning given the term in section 802(k) of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act.".

(f) Prohibitions Regarding Considerations in Making Loans.—

(1) In general.—Section 515 of the Housing Act of 1949 (42 U.S.C. 1485), as amended by this section, is further amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(z) Prohibitions.—

"(1) Remote rural areas.—The Secretary may not refuse to make a loan that otherwise complies with the requirements under this section solely because the housing and related facilities involved are located in an area that is excessively rural in character or excessively remote.

"(2) Essential services.—In making loans under this section, the Secretary may not provide any preference for any project based on the availability of any particular essential service. For purposes of this paragraph, an essential service shall include post offices (and postal services), grocery stores, pharmacies, schools, and health service facilities (and health services).

"(3) Geographic location.—In making loans under this section, the Secretary may not grant or deny approval based on the geographic location of the proposed project if the project is located in a rural area, as such term is defined in section 520, except that the Secretary shall give preference to any application for a project that will serve the needs of a rural community located 20 or more miles from an urban area.".

(2) Regulations.—The Secretary of Agriculture shall issue any regulations necessary to carry out the amendment made by paragraph (1) not later than the expiration of the 45-day period beginning on the date of the enactment of this Act. Not later than the expiration of the 30-day period beginning on the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall submit a copy of any regulations to be issued under this subsection to the Congress. The requirements of section 534(d) of the Housing Act of 1949 and subsections (b) and (c) of section 553 of title 5, United States Code, shall apply to any such regulations.

(g) Independent Cost Certifications.—Section 517(j)(3) of the Housing Act of 1949 (42 U.S.C. 1487(j)(3)) is amended by inserting after "industry," the following: "independent audits of project expenses,".

SEC. 708. NONPROFIT SET-ASIDE.

(a) In General.—Section 515(w) of the Housing Act of 1949 (42 U.S.C. 1485(w)) is amended—

(1) in paragraph (1), by striking "not less than 7 percent of the amounts available in fiscal year 1991 and not less than 9 percent of the amounts available in fiscal year 1992" and inserting "not less than 9 percent of the amounts available in fiscal years 1993 and 1994";

(2) in paragraph (1), in the second sentence by striking "or under whole or partial control with a for-profit entity";

(3) in paragraph (1), by adding at the end the following new sentence: "A partnership, that has as its general partner a nonprofit entity or the nonprofit entity's for-profit subsidiary, is eligible to receive funds set aside under this subsection to sponsor a project which is receiving low-income housing tax credits authorized under section 42 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986. For the purposes of this subsection, a nonprofit entity is an organization that—

"(A) will own an interest in a project to be financed under this section and will materially participate in the development and the operation of the project;

"(B) is a private organization that has nonprofit, tax exempt status under section 501(c)(3) or section 501(c)(4) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986;

"(C) has among its purposes the planning, development, or management of low-income housing or community development projects; and

"(D) is not affiliated with or controlled by a for-profit organization.";

(4) in paragraph (2), by adding at the end the following: "The Secretary may provide amounts available for reallocation under this subsection in excess of $750,000 in a given State, if such amounts are necessary to finance a project under this section."; and

(5) by striking paragraph (3) and inserting the following:

"(3) Unused amounts.—

"(A) Equitable distribution.—Any amounts set aside under this subsection from the allocation for any State that are not obligated by 9 months after the allocation, shall first be pooled and made available to any other eligible nonprofit entity in any State as defined in this subsection. The Secretary shall make reasonable efforts to ensure that pooled funds are distributed under this subparagraph in an equitable manner.

Subtitle C—Miscellaneous Programs

SEC. 851. COMMUNITY OUTREACH ACT.

(a) SHORT TITLE.—This section may be cited as the "Community Outreach Partnership Act of 1992".

(b) PURPOSE.—The Secretary shall carry out, in accordance with this section, a 5-year demonstration program to determine the feasibility of facilitating partnerships between institutions of higher education and communities to solve urban problems through research, outreach, and the exchange of information.

(c) GRANT PROGRAM.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary is authorized to make grants to public and private nonprofit institutions of higher education to assist in establishing or carrying out research and outreach activities addressing the problems of urban areas.

(2) USE OF GRANTS.—Grants under this Act shall be used to establish and operate Community Outreach Partnership Centers (hereafter in this section referred to as "Centers") which shall—

(A) conduct competent and qualified research and investigations on theoretical or practical problems in large and small cities; and

(B) facilitate partnerships and outreach activities between institutions of higher education, local communities, and local governments to address urban problems.

(3) SPECIFIC PROBLEMS.—Research and outreach activities assisted under this Act shall focus on problems associated with housing, economic development, neighborhood revitalization, infrastructure, health care, job training, education, crime prevention, planning, community organizing, and other areas deemed appropriate by the Secretary.

(d) APPLICATION.—Any public or private nonprofit institution of higher education may submit an application for a grant under this section in such form and containing such information as the Secretary may require by regulation.

(e) SELECTION CRITERIA.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall select recipients of grants under this section on the basis of the following criteria:

(A) The demonstrated research and outreach resources available to the applicant for carrying out the purposes of this section.

(B) The capability of the applicant to provide leadership in solving community problems and in making national contributions to solving long-term and immediate urban problems.

(C) The demonstrated commitment of the applicant to supporting urban research and outreach programs by providing matching contributions for any Federal assistance received.

(D) The demonstrated ability of the applicant to disseminate results of research and successful strategies developed through outreach activities to other Centers and communities served through the demonstration program.

(E) The projects and activities that the applicant proposes to carry out under the grant.

(F) The effectiveness of the applicant's strategy to provide outreach activities to communities.

(G) The extent of need in the communities to be served by the Centers.

(H) Other criteria deemed appropriate by the Secretary.

(2) PREFERENCE.—The Secretary shall give preference to institutions of higher education that undertake research and outreach activities by bringing together knowledge and expertise in the various social science and technical disciplines that relate to urban problems.

(f) FEDERAL SHARES.—The Federal share of a grant under this section shall not be more than—

(1) 50 percent of the cost of establishing and operating a Center's research activities; and

(2) 75 percent of the cost of establishing and operating a Center's outreach activities.

(g) NON-FEDERAL SHARES.—The non-Federal share of a grant may include cash, or the value of non-cash contributions, equipment, or other in-kind contributions deemed appropriate by the Secretary.

(h) RESPONSIBILITIES.—A Center established under this section shall—

(1) employ the research and outreach resources of its sponsoring institution of higher education to solve specific urban problems identified by communities served by the Center;

(2) establish outreach activities in areas identified in the grant application as the communities to be served;

(3) establish a community advisory committee comprised of representatives of local institutions and residents of the communities to be served to assist in identifying local needs and advise on the development and implementation of strategies to address those issues;

(4) coordinate outreach activities in communities to be served by the Center;

(5) facilitate public service projects in the communities served by the Center;

(6) act as a clearinghouse for the dissemination of information;

(7) develop instructional programs, convene conferences, and provide training for local community leaders, when appropriate; and

(8) exchange information with other Centers.

(i) NATIONAL ADVISORY COUNCIL.—

(1) ESTABLISHMENT.—The Secretary shall establish a national advisory council (hereafter in this section referred to as the "council") to—

(A) disseminate the results of research and outreach activities carried out under this section;

(B) act as a clearinghouse between grant recipients and other institutions of higher education; and

(C) review and evaluate programs carried out by grant recipients.

(2) MEMBERS.—The council shall be composed of 12 members to be appointed by the Secretary as follows—

(A) 3 representatives of State and local governments;

(B) 3 representatives of institutions of higher education that receive grants under this section;

(C) 3 individuals or representatives of organizations that possess significant expertise in urban issues; and

(D) 3 representatives from community advisory committees created pursuant to this section.

(3) VACANCIES.—A vacancy in the membership of the council shall be filled in the manner in which the original appointment was made.

(4) COMPENSATION.—Members of the council shall serve without pay.

(5) CHAIRMAN.—The council shall elect a member to serve as chairperson of the council.

(6) MEETINGS.—The council shall meet at least biannually and at such other times as the chairman may designate.

(j) NATIONAL CLEARINGHOUSE.—The Secretary shall establish a national clearinghouse to disseminate information resulting from the research and successful outreach activities developed through the Centers to grant recipients and other interested institutions of higher education.

(k) AUTHORIZATIONS.—The sums set aside by section 107 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 for the purpose of this section shall be available—

(1) to enable Centers to carry out research and outreach activities;

(2) to establish and operate the national clearinghouse to be established under subsection (j).

(l) REPORTING.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall submit an annual report to the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs of the Senate and the Committee on Banking, Finance and Urban Affairs of the House of Representatives.

(2) CONTENTS.—The report under paragraph (1) shall contain a summary of the activities carried out under this section during the preceding fiscal year, and findings and conclusions drawn from such activities.

SEC. 852. COMPUTERIZED DATABASE OF COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT NEEDS.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT OF DEMONSTRATION PROGRAM.—Not later than the expiration of the 1-year period beginning on the date appropriations for the purposes of this section are made available, the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development (hereafter in this section referred to as the "Secretary") shall establish and implement a demonstration program to determine the feasibility of assisting States and units of general local government to develop methods, utilizing contemporary computer technology, to—

(1) monitor, inventory, and maintain current listings of the community development needs of the States and units of general local government; and

(2) coordinate strategies within States (especially among various units of general local government) for meeting such needs.

(b) INTEGRATED DATABASE SYSTEM AND COMPUTER MAPPING TOOL.—

(1) DEVELOPMENT AND PURPOSES.—In carrying out the program under this section, the Secretary shall provide for the development of an integrated database system and computer mapping tool designed to efficiently (A) collect, store, process, and retrieve information relating to priority nonhousing community development needs within States, and (B) coordinate strategies for meeting such needs. The integrated database system and computer mapping tool shall be designed in a manner to coordinate and facilitate the preparation of community development plans under section 104(m)(1) of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 and to process any information necessary for such plans.

(2) AVAILABILITY TO STATES.—The Secretary shall make the integrated database system and computer mapping tool developed pursuant to this subsection available to States without charge.

(3) COORDINATION WITH EXISTING TECHNOLOGY.—The Secretary shall, to the extent practicable, utilize existing technologies and coordinate such activities with existing data systems to prevent duplication.

(c) TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE.—Under the program under this section, the Secretary shall provide consultation and advice to States and units of general local government regarding the capabilities and advantages of the integrated database system and computer mapping tool developed pursuant to subsection (b) and assistance in installing and using the database system and mapping tool.

(d) GRANTS.—

(1) AUTHORITY AND PURPOSE.—The Secretary shall, to the extent amounts are made available under appropriation Acts pursuant to subsection (g), make grants to States for capital costs relating to installation and use of the integrated database system and computer mapping tool developed pursuant to subsection (b).

(2) LIMITATIONS.—The Secretary may not make more than one grant under this subsection to any single State. The Secretary may not make a grant under this subsection to any single State in an amount exceeding $1,000,000.

(3) APPLICATION AND SELECTION.—The Secretary shall provide for the form and manner of applications for grants under this subsection. The Secretary shall establish criteria for the selection of States which have submitted applications to receive grants under this section and shall select recipients according to such criteria, which shall give priority to States having, on a long-term basis (as determined by the Secretary), levels of unemployment above the national average level.

(e) State Coordination of Local Needs.—Each State that receives a grant under subsection (d) shall annually submit to the Secretary a report containing a summary of the priority nonhousing community development needs within the State.

(f) Reports by Secretary.—The Secretary shall annually submit to the Committees on Banking, Finance and Urban Affairs of the House of Representatives and Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs of the Senate, a report containing a summary of the information submitted for the year by States pursuant to subsection (e), which shall describe the priority nonhousing community development needs within such States.

(g) Authorization of Appropriations.—There are authorized to be appropriated for each of the fiscal years 1993 and 1994, $10,000,000 to carry out the program established under this section.

SEC. 853. COMMUNITY INVESTMENT CORPORATION DEMONSTRATION.

(a) Short Title.—This section may be cited as the "Community Investment Corporation Demonstration Act".

(b) Community Investment Corporation Demonstration.—

(1) Findings.—The Congress finds that—

(A) the Nation's urban and rural communities face critical social and economic problems arising from lack of growth; growing numbers of low-income persons and persons living in poverty; lack of employment and other opportunities to improve the quality of life of these residents; and lack of capital for business located in, or seeking to locate in these communities;

(B) the future well-being of the United States and its residents depends on the restoration and maintenance of viable local economies, and will require increased public and private investment in low-income housing, business development, and economic and community development activities, and technical assistance to local organizations carrying out revitalization strategies;

(C) lack of expertise and technical capacity can significantly limit the ability of residents and local institutions to effectively carry out revitalization strategies;

(D) the Federal Government needs to develop new models for facilitating local revitalization activities;

(E) indigenous community-based financial institutions play a significant role in identifying and responding to community needs; and

(F) institutions, such as South Shore Bank (Chicago, Illinois), Southern Development Bancorporation (Arkadelphia, Arkansas), Center for Community Self Help (Durham, North Carolina), and Community Capital Bank (Brooklyn, New York), with a primary mission of promoting community development have proven their ability to promote revitalization and are appropriate models for restoring economic stability and growth in distressed communities and neighborhoods.

(2) Purposes.—The demonstration program carried out under this section shall—

(A) improve access to capital for initiatives which benefit residents and businesses in targeted geographic areas; and

(B) test new models for bringing credit and investment capital to targeted geographic areas and low-income persons in such areas through the provision of assistance for capital, development services, and technical assistance.

(3) Definitions.—As used in this section—

(A) the term "Federal financial supervisory agency" means—

(i) the Comptroller of the Currency with respect to national banks;

(ii) the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System with respect to State-chartered banks which are members of the Federal Reserve System and bank holding companies;

(iii) the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation with respect to State-chartered banks and savings banks which are not members of the Federal Reserve System and the deposits of which are insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation;

(iv) the National Credit Union Administration Board with respect to insured credit union associations; and

(v) the Office of Thrift Supervision with respect to insured savings associations and savings and loan holding companies that are not bank holding companies;

(B) the term "community investment corporation" means an eligible organization selected by the Secretary to receive assistance pursuant to this section;

(C) the term "development services" means activities that are consistent with the purposes of this section and which support and strengthen the lending and investment activities undertaken by eligible organizations including—

(i) the development of real estate;

(ii) administrative activities associated with the extension of credit or necessary to make an investment;

(iii) marketing and management assistance;

(iv) business planning and counseling services; and

(v) other capacity building activities which enable borrowers, prospective borrowers, or entities in which eligible organizations have invested, or expect to invest, to improve the likelihood of success of their activities;

(D) the term "eligible organization" means an entity—

(i) that is organized as—

(I) a depository institution holding company as defined in section 3 of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act (12 U.S.C. 1813); or

(II) a nonprofit organization—

(aa) that is organized under State law;

(bb) has no part of its net earnings inuring to the benefit of any member, founder, contributor, or other person;

(cc) complies with standards of financial accountability acceptable to the Secretary; and

(dd) is affiliated with a nondepository lending institution; or is affiliated with a regulated financial institution but is not a subsidiary thereof;

(ii) that has as its primary mission the revitalization of a targeted geographic area;

(iii) that maintains, through significant representation on its governing board and otherwise, accountability to community residents;

(iv) that has principals active in the implementation of its programs who possess significant experience in lending and the development of affordable housing, small business development, or community revitalization;

(v) that directly or through a subsidiary or affiliate carries out development services; and

(vi) that will match any assistance received dollar-for-dollar with non-Federal sources of funds;

(E) the term "equity investment" means a capital contribution through the purchase of nonvoting common stock or through equity grants or contributions to capital reserves or surplus, subject to terms and conditions satisfactory to the Secretary;

(F) the term "low-income person" means a person in a family whose income does not exceed 80 percent of the median income for the area, as determined by the Secretary with adjustments for smaller and larger families;

(G) the term "regulated financial institution" means an insured depository institution (as defined in section 3 of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act (12 U.S.C. 1813)), or an insured credit union as defined in section 101 of the Federal Credit Union Act (12 U.S.C. 1752));

(H) the term "Secretary" means the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development;

(I) the term "targeted geographic area" means a geographically contiguous area of chronic economic distress, as measured by unemployment, growth lag, poverty, lag in growth of per capita income, extent of blight and disinvestment, fiscal distress, or other indicators deemed appropriate by the Secretary, that has been identified by an eligible organization as the area to be served by it; and

(J) an entity is an "affiliate" of another entity if the first entity controls, is controlled by, or is under common control with the other entity.

(4) Selection criteria.—The Secretary shall select eligible organizations from among applications submitted to participate in the demonstration program, using selection criteria based on—

(A) the capacity of the eligible organizations to carry out the purposes of this section;

(B) the range and comprehensiveness of lending, investment strategies, and development services to be offered by the organizations directly or through subsidiaries and affiliates thereof;

(C) the types of activities to be pursued, including lending and development of small business, agriculture, industrial, commercial, or residential projects;

(D) the extent of need in the targeted geographic area to be served;

(E) the experience and background of the principals at each eligible organization responsible for carrying out the purposes of this section;

(F) the extent to which the eligible organizations directly or through subsidiaries and affiliates has successfully implemented other revitalization activities;

(G) an appropriate distribution of eligible organizations among regions of the United States; and

(H) other criteria determined to be appropriate by the Secretary and consistent with the purposes of this section.

(5) Program assistance.—The Secretary shall—

(A) carry out, in accordance with this section, a program to improve access to capital and demonstrate the feasibility of facilitating the revitalization of targeted geographic areas by providing assistance to eligible organizations;

(B) accept applications from eligible organizations; and

(C) select eligible organizations to receive assistance pursuant to this section.

(6) Activities required.—All eligible organizations receiving assistance pursuant to this section are required to engage in activities that provide access to capital for initiatives which benefit residents and businesses in targeted geographic areas.

(7) Capital assistance.—

(A) In general.—

(i) In general.—The Secretary shall make grants and loans to eligible organizations.

(ii) Loans.—Assistance provided to a depository institution holding company that is an eligible organization as defined in paragraph (3)(D)(i)(I) shall be in the form of a loan to be repaid to the Secretary. The terms and conditions of each loan shall be determined by the Secretary based on the ability of such entity to repay, except that interest shall accrue at the current Treasury rate for obligations of comparable maturity.

(iii) Grants or loans.—Assistance provided to an eligible organization that is a nonprofit organization, as defined in paragraph

(3)(D)(i)(II), may be in the form of a grant or a loan. If an eligible organization that is a nonprofit organization uses assistance that it received under this section to provide assistance to a for-profit entity, the assistance provided by the nonprofit organization must be in the form of a loan with interest to be repaid to the nonprofit organization and the nonprofit organization must use the proceeds of the loan for activities consistent with this section.

(B) ELIGIBLE ACTIVITIES.—Capital assistance may only be used to support the following activities that facilitate revitalization of targeted geographic areas or that provide economic opportunities for low-income persons—

(i) increasing the capital available for the purpose of making loans;

(ii) providing funds for equity investments in projects;

(iii) providing a portion of loan loss reserves of regulated financial institutions; and

(iv) providing credit enhancement.

(C) CAPITAL REQUIREMENTS.—Any investment derived from assistance provided by the Secretary and made by an eligible organization to a regulated financial institution shall not be included as an asset in calculating compliance with applicable capital standards. Such standards shall be satisfied from sources other than assistance provided under this section.

(D) AUTHORIZATION.—There are authorized to be appropriated to carry out this paragraph $25,000,000 for fiscal year 1993 and $26,000,000 for fiscal year 1994 to be used to provide capital assistance to eligible organizations. Funds appropriated pursuant to this subparagraph shall remain available until expended.

(8) DEVELOPMENT SERVICES AND TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE GRANTS.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall—

(i) provide grants or loans to eligible organizations for the provision of development services that support and contribute to the success of the mission of such organizations; and

(ii) provide, or contract to provide, technical assistance to eligible organizations to assist in establishing program activities that are consistent with the purposes of this section.

(B) AUTHORIZATION.—There are authorized to be appropriated to carry out this paragraph, $15,000,000 for fiscal year 1993 and $15,600,000 for fiscal year 1994. Funds appropriated pursuant to this subparagraph shall remain available until expended.

(B) CHAIRPERSON.—The Board shall elect from among its members a chairperson who shall serve for a term of 2 years.

(C) TERMS.—The members shall serve for terms of 3 years which shall expire on a staggered basis.

(D) REIMBURSEMENT.—The members shall serve without additional compensation but shall be reimbursed for travel, per diem, and other necessary expenses incurred in the performance of their duties as members of the advisory board, in accordance with sections 5702 and 5703 of title 5, United States Code.

(E) DESIGNATED REPRESENTATIVES.—A member who is necessarily absent from a meeting of the board, or of a committee of the board, may participate in such meeting through a duly designated representative who is serving in the same agency or organization as the absent member.

(F) QUORUM.—The presence of a majority of members, or their representatives, shall constitute a quorum.

(12) EVALUATION AND REPORT.—The Secretary shall submit to the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs of the Senate and the Committee on Banking, Finance and Urban Affairs of the House of Representatives an annual report containing a summary of the activities carried out under this section during the fiscal year and any preliminary findings or conclusions drawn from the demonstration program.

(13) NO BENEFIT RULE.—To the extent that assistance is provided to an eligible organization that is a depository institution holding company, the Secretary shall ensure, to the extent practicable, that such assistance does not inure to the benefit of directors, officers, employees and stockholders.

(14) REGULATIONS.—(A) The Secretary shall issue such regulations as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this subsection.

(B) The appropriate Federal financial supervisory agency, by regulation or order—

(i) may restrict any regulated financial institution's receipt of an extension of credit from, or investment by, an eligible organization;

(ii) may restrict the making, by a regulated financial institution or holding company, of an extension of credit to, or investment in, an eligible organization; and

(iii) shall prohibit any transaction that poses an undue risk to the affected deposit insurance fund.

(C) To the extent practicable, the Secretary and the Federal financial supervisory agencies shall coordinate the development of regulations and other program guidelines.

(15) SAFETY AND SOUNDNESS OF INSURED DEPOSITORIES.—Nothing in this section shall limit the applicability of other law relating to the safe and sound operation and management of a regulated financial institution (or a holding company) affiliated with an eligible organization or receiving assistance provided under this section.

(16) EFFECTIVE DATE.—This section shall become effective 6 months from the date of enactment of this Act.

SEC. 854. EMERGENCY ASSISTANCE FOR LOS ANGELES.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Of the funds made available under 107(b) of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 for purposes of this section, $3,000,000 shall be made available to each of the following:

(1) A nonprofit community-based public benefit corporation which was created in response to the civil disturbances of April 29, 1992, through May 6, 1992, in Los Angeles, California, with the support of the Speaker of the California State Assembly and community elected officials representing the affected areas.

(2) A nonprofit public benefit corporation established by the Mayor of Los Angeles and the Governor of California.

(b) USE OF FUNDS.—Such funds shall be used to carry out a community revitalization strategy in areas for which the President, pursuant to title IV or V of the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act, declared that a major disaster or emergency existed for the purposes of such Act, as a result of the civil disturbances involving acts of violence occurring on or after April 29, 1992, and before May 6, 1992.

(c) STRATEGY.—Such strategy shall—

(1) include efforts to create jobs in distressed neighborhoods, spur community-based economic development, improve housing accessibility and affordability, and address other community development needs; and

(2) be developed in consultation with low-income residents and community leaders in the distressed areas.

(d) ELIGIBLE ACTIVITIES.—Funds made available under this subsection may be used for eligible activities pursuant to section 105 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 or to provide seed capital to nonprofit community development corporations to carry out the strategy developed in subsection (c)(2).

(e) MATCH REQUIRED.—Funds provided under this section shall be matched with private or public non-Federal funds in an amount not less than 50 percent of the funds provided under this section.

TITLE IX—REGULATORY AND MISCELLANEOUS PROGRAMS

Subtitle A—Miscellaneous

(a) SPECIAL ASSISTANT FOR INDIAN AND ALASKA NATIVE PROGRAMS.—

(1) RESPONSIBILITIES.—Section 4(e)(1) of the Department of Housing and Urban Development Act (42 U.S.C. 3533(e)(1)) is amended—

(A) by inserting "(A)" after "(1)";

(B) in the first sentence, by striking "responsible" and all that follows through "development" and inserting "located in the Office of the Assistant Secretary for Public and Indian Housing"; and

(C) by adding at the end the following new subparagraphs:

"(B) The Special Assistant for Indian and Alaska Native Programs shall be appointed based solely on merit and shall be covered under the provisions of title 5, United States Code, governing appointments in the competitive service.

"(C) The Special Assistant for Indian and Alaska Native Programs shall be responsible for—

"(i) administering, in coordination with the relevant office in the Department, the provision of housing assistance to Indian tribes or Indian housing authorities under each program of the Department that provides for such assistance;

"(ii) administering the community development block grant program for Indian tribes under title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 and the provision of assistance to Indian tribes under such Act;

"(iii) directing, coordinating, and assisting in managing any regional offices of the Department that administer Indian programs to the extent of such programs; and

"(iv) coordinating all programs of the Department relating to Indian and Alaska Native housing and community development.

"(D) The Secretary shall include in the annual report under section 8 a description of the extent of the housing needs for Indian families and community development needs of Indian tribes in the United States and the activities of the Department, and extent of such activities, in meeting such needs.".

(2) TRANSFER OF FUNCTIONS.—Not later than the expiration of the 180-day period beginning on the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall transfer to the Special Assistant for Indian and Alaska Native Programs any functions and duties described in section 4(e)(1)(B) of the Department of Housing and Urban Development Act (as added by paragraph (1) of this subsection).

(3) STAFF.—Not later than the expiration of the 1-year period beginning on the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall transfer from offices within the Department of Housing and Urban Development to the office of the Special Assistant for Indian and Alaska Native Programs such staff, having experience and capacity to administer Indian housing and community development programs, as may be necessary and appropriate to assist the Special Assistant in carrying out the responsibilities under section 4(e)(1)(B) of the Department of Housing and Urban Development Act (as added by paragraph (1) of this subsection).

(b) AVOIDANCE OF FORECLOSURE ON MORTGAGES HELD BY SECRETARY.—Section 7(i) of the Department of Housing and Urban Development Act (42 U.S.C. 3535(i)) is amended—

(1) in paragraph (5), by inserting before the semicolon the following: "; except that with respect to any mortgage held by the Secretary, the Secretary shall, subject to the availability of amounts provided in appropriation Acts, implement the authority under this paragraph to reduce the interest rate on the mortgage to a rate not less than the rate for recently issued marketable obligations of the Treasury having a comparable maturity if (and to the extent that) such a reduction, when taken together with other actions authorized under the National Housing Act, is necessary to avoid foreclosure on the mortgage; and except that for any mortgage for which the interest rate is reduced pursuant to an appropriation under the preceding clause, if the Secretary determines that the income or ability of the mortgagor to make interest payments has increased, the Secretary may (not more than once for each such mortgage) increase such interest rate to a rate not exceeding the prevailing market rate, as determined by the Secretary"; and

(2) in paragraph (6), by inserting before the period the following: ", including any provisions relating to the authority or requirements under paragraph (5)".

(c) PROGRAM MONITORING AND EVALUATION.—The first sentence of section 7(r)(6) of the Department of Housing and Urban Development Act (42 U.S.C. 3535(r)(6)) is amended to read as follows: "There are authorized to be appropriated to carry out this subsection such sums as may be necessary for fiscal year 1993 and fiscal year 1994.".

SEC. 903. PARTICIPANT'S CONSENT TO RELEASE OF INFORMATION.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 904 of the Stewart B. McKinney Homeless Assistance Amendments Act of 1988 (42 U.S.C. 3544) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(e) CONDITIONS OF RELEASE OF INFORMATION BY THIRD PARTIES.—An applicant or participant under any program of the Department of Housing and Urban Development may not be required or requested to consent to the release of information by third parties as a condition of initial or continuing eligibility for participation in the program unless—

"(1) the request for consent is made, and the information secured is maintained, in accordance with this section, section 552a of title 5, United States Code; and

"(2) the consent that is requested is appropriately limited, with respect to time and information relevant and necessary to meet the requirements of this section.".

(b) FORMS.—

(1) NEW FORM.—Not later than the expiration of the 180-day period beginning on the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall develop a release form that meets the requirements of section 904 of the Stewart B. McKinney Homeless Assistance Amendments Act of 1988, as amended by this section. In developing the form, the Secretary shall consult with interested parties, which shall include not less than 2 representatives of public housing agencies, 1 representative of a national tenant organization, 1 representative of a State tenant organization, and 1 representative of a legal group representing tenants.

(2) EFFECT OF OLD FORM.—During the period beginning upon the date of the enactment of this Act and ending upon implementation of the use of the form developed under paragraph (1), the benefits provided to an applicant or participant under any program of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, or eligibility for such benefits, may not be terminated, denied, suspended, or reduced because of any failure to sign any form authorizing the release of information from any third party (including Form HUD–9886), if the applicant or participant otherwise discloses all financial information relating to the application or recertification.

SEC. 904. NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF BUILDING SCIENCES.

(a) TECHNICAL CORRECTION TO HOUSING AND COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT ACT OF 1974.—Section 809 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 (12 U.S.C. 1701j–2) is amended—

(1) by redesignating subsections (h) and (i) as subsections (i) and (j), respectively; and

(2) by inserting after subsection (g) the material inserted by the amendment made by section 952(b)(2) of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act (Public Law 101–625; 104 Stat. 4418).

(b) TECHNICAL CORRECTION TO NATIONAL HOUSING ACT.—Section 809 of the National Housing Act is amended by striking subsection (h) (as added by section 952(b) of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act).

SEC. 905. FAIR HOUSING INITIATIVES PROGRAM.

(a) FINDINGS.—The Congress finds that—

(1) in the past half decade, there have been major legislative and administrative changes in Federal fair housing and fair lending laws and substantial improvements in the Nation's understanding of discrimination in the housing markets;

(2) in response to evidence of continuing housing discrimination, the Congress passed the Fair Housing Act Amendments of 1988, to provide for more effective enforcement of fair housing rights through judicial and administrative avenues and to expand the number of protected classes covered under Federal fair housing laws;

(3) in the Financial Institutions Reform, Recovery and Enforcement Act of 1989, the Congress expanded the disclosure provisions under the Home Mortgage Disclosure Act to provide increased information on the mortgage lending patterns of financial institutions;

(4) in the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, the Congress provided a clear and comprehensive national mandate for the elimination of discrimination against individuals with disabilities;

(5) in 1991, data collected under the Home Mortgage Disclosure Act disclosed evidence of pervasive discrimination in the Nation's mortgage lending markets;

(6) the Housing Discrimination Survey, released by the Department of Housing and Urban Development in 1991, found that Hispanic and African-American homeseekers experience some form of discrimination in at least half of their encounters with sales and rental agents;

(7) the Fair Housing Initiatives Program should be revised and expanded to reflect the significant changes in the fair housing and fair lending area that have taken place since the Program's initial authorization in the Housing and Community Development Act of 1987;

(8) continuing educational efforts by the real estate industry are a useful way to increase understanding by the public of their fair housing rights and responsibilities; and

(9) the proven efficacy of private nonprofit fair housing enforcement organizations and community-based efforts makes support for these organizations a necessary component of the fair housing enforcement system.

(b) IN GENERAL.—Section 561 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1987 (42 U.S.C. 3616 note) is amended—

(1) by redesignating subsections (b) through (e) as subsections (e) through (h), respectively;

(2) by inserting after subsection (a) the following new subsections:

"(b) PRIVATE ENFORCEMENT INITIATIVES.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall use funds made available under this subsection to conduct, through contracts with private nonprofit fair housing enforcement organizations, investigations of violations of the rights granted under title VIII of the Civil Rights Act of 1968, and such enforcement activities as appropriate to remedy such violations. The Secretary may enter into multiyear contracts and take such other action as is appropriate to enhance the effectiveness of such investigations and enforcement activities.

"(2) ACTIVITIES.—The Secretary shall use funds made available under this subsection to conduct, through contracts with private nonprofit fair housing enforcement organizations, a range of investigative and enforcement activities designed to—

"(A) carry out testing and other investigative activities in accordance with subsection (b)(1), including building the capacity for housing investigative activities in unserved or underserved areas;

"(B) discover and remedy discrimination in the public and private real estate markets and real estate-related transactions, including, but not limited to, the making or purchasing of loans or the provision of other financial assistance sales and rentals of housing and housing advertising;

"(C) carry out special projects, including the development of prototypes to respond to new or sophisticated forms of discrimination against persons protected under title VIII of the Civil Rights Act of 1968;

"(D) provide technical assistance to local fair housing organizations, and assist in the formation and development of new fair housing organizations; and

"(E) provide funds for the costs and expenses of litigation, including expert witness fees.

"(c) FUNDING OF FAIR HOUSING ORGANIZATIONS.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall use funds made available under this section to enter into contracts or cooperative agreements with qualified fair housing enforcement organizations, other private nonprofit fair housing enforcement organizations, and nonprofit groups organizing to build their capacity to provide fair housing enforcement, for the purpose of supporting the continued development or implementation of initiatives which enforce the rights granted under title VIII of the Civil Rights Act of 1968, as amended. Contracts or cooperative agreements may not provide more than 50 percent of the operating budget of the recipient organization for any one year.

"(2) CAPACITY ENHANCEMENT.—The Secretary shall use funds made available under this section to help establish, organize, and build the capacity of fair housing enforcement organizations, particularly in those areas of the country which are currently underserved by fair housing enforcement organizations as well as those areas where large concentrations of protected classes exist. For purposes of meeting the objectives of this paragraph, the Secretary may enter into contracts or cooperative agreements with qualified fair housing enforcement organizations. The Secretary shall establish annual goals which reflect the national need for private fair housing enforcement organizations.

"(d) EDUCATION AND OUTREACH.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary, through contracts with one or more qualified fair housing enforcement organizations, other fair housing enforcement organizations, and other nonprofit organizations representing groups of persons protected under title VIII of the Civil Rights Act of 1968, shall establish a national education and outreach program. The national program shall be designed to provide a centralized, coordinated effort for the development and dissemination of fair housing media products, including—

"(A) public service announcements, both audio and video;

"(B) television, radio and print advertisements;

"(C) posters; and

"(D) pamphlets and brochures.

The Secretary shall designate a portion of the amounts provided in subsection (g)(4) for a national program specifically for activities related to the annual national fair housing month. The Secretary shall encourage cooperation with real estate industry organizations in the national education and outreach program. The Secretary shall also encourage the dissemination of educational information and technical assistance to support compliance with the housing adaptability and accessibility guidelines contained in the Fair Housing Act Amendments of 1988.

"(2) REGIONAL AND LOCAL PROGRAMS.—The Secretary, through contracts with fair housing enforcement organizations, other nonprofit organizations representing groups of persons protected under title VIII of the Civil Rights Act of 1968, State and local agencies certified by the Secretary under section 810(f) of the Fair Housing Act, or other public or private entities that are formulating or carrying out programs to prevent or eliminate discriminatory housing practices, shall establish or support education and outreach programs at the regional and local levels.

"(3) COMMUNITY-BASED PROGRAMS.—The Secretary shall provide funding to fair housing organizations and other nonprofit organizations representing groups of persons protected under title VIII of the Civil Rights Act of 1968, or other public or private entities that are formulating or carrying out programs to prevent or eliminate discriminatory housing practices, to support community-based education and outreach activities, including school, church, and community presentations, conferences, and other educational activities.";

(3) in subsection (g), as redesignated by paragraph (1) by striking all in the first sentence after "section," and inserting the following: "$21,000,000 for fiscal year 1993 and $26,000,000 for fiscal year 1994, of which—

"(1) not less than $3,820,000 for fiscal year 1993 and $8,500,000 for fiscal year 1994 shall be for private enforcement initiatives authorized under subsection (b), divided equally between activities specified under subsection (b)(1) and those specified under subsection (b)(2);

"(2) not less than $2,230,000 for fiscal year 1993 and $8,500,000 for fiscal year 1994 shall be for qualified fair housing enforcement organizations authorized under subsection (c)(1);

"(3) not less than $2,010,000 for fiscal year 1993 and $4,000,000 for fiscal year 1994 shall be for the creation of new fair housing enforcement organizations authorized under subsection (c)(2); and

"(4) not less than $2,540,000 for fiscal year 1993 and $5,000,000 for fiscal year 1994 shall be for education and outreach programs authorized under subsection (d), to be divided equally between activities specified under subsection (d)(1) and those specified under subsections (d)(2) and (d)(3)."; and

(4) by striking subsection (h), as redesignated by paragraph (1), and inserting the following:

"(h) QUALIFIED FAIR HOUSING ENFORCEMENT ORGANIZATION.—(1) The term 'qualified fair housing enforcement organization' means any organization that—

"(A) is organized as a private, tax-exempt, nonprofit, charitable organization;

"(B) has at least 2 years experience in complaint intake, complaint investigation, testing for fair housing violations and enforcement of meritorious claims; and

"(C) is engaged in all the activities listed in paragraph (1)(B) at the time of application for assistance under this section.

An organization which is not solely engaged in fair housing enforcement activities may qualify as a qualified fair housing enforcement organization, provided that the organization is actively engaged in each of the activities listed in subparagraph (B).

"(2) The term 'fair housing enforcement organization' means any organization that—

"(A) meets the requirements specified in paragraph (1)(A);

"(B) is currently engaged in the activities specified in paragraph (1)(B);

"(C) upon the receipt of funds under this section will become engaged in all of the activities specified in paragraph (1)(B); and

"(D) for purposes of funding under subsection (b), has at least 1 year of experience in the activities specified in paragraph (1)(B).

"(i) PROHIBITION ON USE OF FUNDS.—None of the funds authorized under this section may be used by the Secretary for purposes of settling claims, satisfying judgments or fulfilling court orders in any litigation action involving either the Department or housing providers funded by the Department. None of the funds authorized under this section may be used by the Department for administrative costs.

"(j) REPORTING REQUIREMENTS.—Not later than 180 days after the close of each fiscal year in which assistance under this section is furnished, the Secretary shall prepare and submit to the Congress a comprehensive report which shall contain—

"(1) a description of the progress made in accomplishing the objectives of this section;

"(2) a summary of all the private enforcement activities carried out under this section and the use of such funds during the preceding fiscal year;

"(3) a list of all fair housing enforcement organizations funded under this section during the preceding fiscal year, identified on a State-by-State basis;

"(4) a summary of all education and outreach activities funded under this section and the use of such funds during the preceding fiscal year; and

"(5) any findings, conclusions, or recommendations of the Secretary as a result of the funded activities.".

SEC. 906. NATIONAL COMMISSION ON MANUFACTURED HOUSING.

(a) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—Section 943(f) of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act is amended to read as follows:

"(f) AUTHORIZATION.—Of the amount appropriated pursuant to section 501 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1970 (12 U.S.C. 1701z–1), there shall be set aside to carry out this section $1,000,000 for fiscal year 1993. "(H) evaluate the extent to which manufacturers in compliance with Federal standards do and should comply with State implied or expressed warranty requirements;

"(I) examine the feasibility of expanding and establishing standards governing manufactured home sales including transportation and on-site set up; and"; and

(3) by redesignating subparagraph (H) as subparagraph (J).

(c) EXTENSION OF TERMINATION DATE.—Section 943(g) of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act is amended by striking "upon the expiration of the 9 months following the appointment of all the members under subsection (c)" and inserting "on October 1, 1993".

(d) STAFF.—Section 943(e) of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act (Public Law 101–625; 104 Stat. 44134) is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(7) STAFF.—

"(A) EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR.—The Commission shall appoint an executive director of the Commission who shall be compensated at a rate fixed by the Commission, but which may not exceed the rate established for level V of the Executive Schedule under title 5, United States Code.

"(B) PERSONNEL.—In addition to the executive director, the Commission may appoint and fix the compensation of such personnel as the Commission deems advisable, in accordance with the provisions of title 5, United States Code, governing appointments to the competitive service, and the provisions of chapter 51 and subchapter III of chapter 53 of such title, relating to classification and General Schedule pay rates.

"(C) LIMITATION.—This paragraph shall be effective only to the extent amounts are made available in appropriation Acts.".

SEC. 907. MANUFACTURED HOUSING.

Section 604 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 (42 U.S.C. 5403) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(j) The Secretary shall develop a new standard for hardboard panel siding on manufactured housing taking into account durability, longevity, consumer's costs for maintenance and any other relevant information pursuant to subsection (f). The Secretary shall consult with the National Manufactured Home Advisory Council and the National Commission on Manufactured Housing in establishing the new standard. The new performance standard developed shall ensure the durability of hardboard sidings for at least a normal life of a mortgage with minimum maintenance required. Not later than 180 days from the date of enactment of this subsection, the Secretary shall update the standards for hardboard siding.".

SEC. 908. REAL ESTATE SETTLEMENT PROCEDURES ACT OF 1974.

(a) APPLICABILITY TO MORTGAGE ORIGINATION.—Section 3(3) of the Real Estate Settlement Procedures Act of 1974 (12 U.S.C. 2602(3)) is amended by inserting after "broker," the following: "the origination of a federally related mortgage loan (including, but not limited to, the taking of loan applications, loan processing, and the underwriting and funding of loans),".

(b) APPLICABILITY TO SECOND MORTGAGES AND REFINANCINGS.—Section 3(1)(A) of the Real Estate Settlement Procedures Act of 1974 (12 U.S.C. 2602(1)(A)) is amended—

(1) by inserting "or subordinate" after "first"; and

(2) by inserting before the semicolon the following: ", including any such secured loan, the proceeds of which are used to prepay or pay off an existing loan secured by the same property".

(c) REGULATIONS.—The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall issue regulations to implement the amendments made by this section not later than the expiration of the 180-day period beginning on the date of the enactment of this Act. The regulations shall be issued after notice and opportunity for public comment pursuant to the provisions of section 553 of title 5, United States Code (notwithstanding subsections (a)(2), (b)(B), and (d)(3) of such section).

(d) EFFECTIVE DATE.—This section shall take effect on the date of enactment of this Act and shall not apply retroactively.

(B) by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(b) MAJORITY-OWNED INSTITUTIONS.—In assessing and taking into account, under subsection (a), the record of a nonminority-owned and nonwomen-owned financial institution, the appropriate Federal financial supervisory agency may consider as a factor capital investment, loan participation, and other ventures undertaken by the institution in cooperation with minority- and women-owned financial institutions and low-income credit unions provided that these activities help meet the credit needs of local communities in which such institutions and credit unions are chartered."; and

(2) in section 808(a), by striking "shall be treated as" and inserting "may be a factor in determining whether the depository institution is".

SEC. 910. REPORT ON COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT LENDING.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Not later than 12 months after the date of enactment of this section, the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, in consultation with the Comptroller of the Currency, the Chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, the Director of the Office of Thrift Supervision, and the Chairman of the National Credit Union Administration, shall submit a report to the Congress comparing residential, small business, and commercial lending by insured depository institutions in low-income, minority, and distressed neighborhoods to such lending in other neighborhoods.

(b) CONTENTS OF REPORT.—The report required by subsection (a) shall—

(1) compare the risks and returns of lending in low-income, minority, and distressed neighborhoods with the risks and returns of lending in other neighborhoods;

(2) analyze the reasons for any differences in risk and return between low-income, minority, and distressed neighborhoods and other neighborhoods; and

(3) if the risks of lending in low-income, minority, and distressed neighborhoods exceed the risks of lending in other neighborhoods, recommend ways of mitigating those risks.

SEC. 911. SUBSIDY LAYERING REVIEW.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall establish guidelines for housing credit agencies, as defined under section 42 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, to implement the requirements of section 102(d) of the Department of Housing and Urban Development Reform Act of 1989 (42 U.S.C. 3545(d)) for projects receiving assistance within the jurisdiction of the Department of Housing and Urban Development and under section 42 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986.

(b) IN PARTICULAR.—The guidelines established pursuant to subsection (a) shall—

(1) require that the amount of equity capital contributed by investors to a project partnership is not less than the amount generally contributed by investors in current market conditions, as determined by the housing credit agency; and

(2) require that project costs, including developer fees, are within a reasonable range, taking into account project size, project characteristics, project location and project risk factors, as determined by the housing credit agency.

(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—As of January 1, 1993, a housing credit agency shall carry out the responsibilities of section 102(d) of the Housing and Urban Development Reform Act for projects allocated a low income housing tax credit pursuant to section 42 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 if such agency certifies to the Secretary that it is properly implementing the guidelines established under subsection (a). The Secretary may revoke the responsibility delegated in the preceding sentence if the Secretary determines that a housing credit agency has failed to properly implement such guidelines.

(d) APPLICABILITY.—Section 102(d) of the Department of Housing and Urban Development Reform Act of 1989 (42 U.S.C. 3545(d)) shall apply only to projects for which an application for assistance or insurance was filed after the date of enactment of the Housing and Urban Development Reform Act.

SEC. 912. SOLAR ASSISTANCE FINANCING ENTITY.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT.—The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall establish within the Department of Housing and Urban Development the Solar Assistance Financing Entity (in this section referred to as the "Entity").

(b) PURPOSE.—The purpose of the Entity shall be to assist in financing solar and renewable energy capital investments and projects for eligible buildings under subsection (c).

(c) ELIGIBLE BUILDINGS.—The Entity may provide assistance under this section only for the following buildings:

(1) SINGLE FAMILY HOUSING.—Any building consisting of 1 to 4 dwelling units that has a system for heating or cooling, or both.

(2) MULTIFAMILY HOUSING.—Any building consisting of more than 4 dwelling units that has a system for heating or cooling, or both.

(3) COMMERCIAL BUILDINGS.—Any building used primarily to carry on a business (including any nonprofit business) that is not used primarily for the manufacture or production of raw materials, products, or agricultural commodities.

(4) SCHOOLS, HOSPITALS, AND AGRICULTURAL BUILDINGS.—Any school, any hospital, and any building used exclusively in connection with the harvesting, storage, or drying of agricultural commodities.

(5) OTHER BUILDINGS.—Any other building of a type that the Entity considers appropriate.

(d) FINANCING OPTIONS.—Assistance provided under this section by the Entity may be provided only for programs for financing solar and renewable energy capital investments and projects, which may include programs for making loans, making grants, reducing the principal obligations of loans, prepayment of interest on loans, purchase and sale of loans and advances of credit, providing loan guarantees, providing loan downpayment assistance, and providing rebates and other incentives for the purchase and installation of solar and renewable energy measures.

(e) AUTHORITY TO LEVERAGE OTHER FUNDS.—The Entity may encourage or require programs receiving assistance under this section to supplement the assistance received under this section with amounts from other public and private sources, and, in making assistance under this section available, may give preference to programs that leverage amounts from such other sources.

(f) PROVISION OF ASSISTANCE.—The Entity shall provide assistance under this section through State agencies responsible for developing State energy conservation plans pursuant to section 362 of the Energy Policy and Conservation Act, or any other entity or agency authorized to specifically carry out the purposes of this section.

(g) REGULATIONS.—Not later than the expiration of the 12-month period beginning on the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, in consultation with the Secretary of Energy, shall issue any regulations necessary to carry out this section, which shall ensure maximum flexibility in utilizing amounts made available under this section.

(h) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There are authorized to be appropriated to carry out this section $10,000,000 for fiscal year 1993 and $10,420,000 for fiscal year 1994. Such sums are to be available until expended.

(i) REPEALS.—

(1) SOLAR ENERGY AND ENERGY CONSERVATION BANK ACT.—Subtitle A of title V of the Energy Security Act (12 U.S.C. 3601 et seq.) is repealed.

SEC. 914. ENERGY EFFICIENT MORTGAGES.

(a) DEFINITION OF ENERGY EFFICIENT MORTGAGE.—Section 104 of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act (42 U.S.C. 12704), as amended by section 210(a)(1) of this Act, is further amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(25) The term 'energy efficient mortgage' means a mortgage that provides financing incentives for the purchase of energy efficient homes, or that provides financing incentives to make energy efficiency improvements in existing homes by incorporating the cost of such improvements in the mortgage.".

(b) UNIFORM MORTGAGE FINANCING PLAN FOR ENERGY EFFICIENCY.—Section 946 of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act (42 U.S.C. 12712 note) is amended—

(1) in subsection (a), by striking "mortgage financing incentives for energy efficiency" and inserting "energy efficient mortgages (as such term is defined in section 104 of this Act)"; and

(2) in subsection (b)—

(A) in the second sentence, by inserting ", but not be limited to," after "include"; and

(B) by inserting after the period at the end of the following new sentence: "The Task Force shall determine whether notifying potential home purchasers of the availability of energy efficient mortgages would promote energy efficiency in residential buildings, and if so, the Task Force shall recommend appropriate notification guidelines, and agencies and organizations referred to in the preceding sentence are authorized to implement such guidelines.".

SEC. 915. ECONOMIC OPPORTUNITIES FOR LOW- AND VERY LOW-INCOME PERSONS.

Section 3 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968 (12 U.S.C. 1701u) is amended to read as follows:

"SEC. 3. ECONOMIC OPPORTUNITIES FOR LOW- AND VERY LOW-INCOME PERSONS.

"(a) FINDINGS.—The Congress finds that—

"(1) Federal housing and community development programs provide State and local governments and other recipients of Federal financial assistance with substantial funds for projects and activities that produce significant employment and other economic opportunities;

"(2) low- and very low-income persons, especially recipients of government assistance for housing, often have restricted access to employment and other economic opportunities;

"(3) the employment and other economic opportunities generated by projects and activities that receive Federal housing and community development assistance offer an effective means of empowering low- and very low-income persons, particularly persons who are recipients of government assistance for housing; and

"(4) prior Federal efforts to direct employment and other economic opportunities generated by Federal housing and community development programs to low- and very low-income persons have not been fully effective and should be intensified.

"(b) POLICY.—It is the policy of the Congress and the purpose of this section to ensure that the employment and other economic opportunities generated by Federal financial assistance for housing and community development programs shall, to the greatest extent feasible, be directed toward low- and very low-income persons, particularly those who are recipients of government assistance for housing.

"(c) EMPLOYMENT.—

"(1) PUBLIC AND INDIAN HOUSING PROGRAM.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall require that public and Indian housing agencies, and their contractors and subcontractors, make their best efforts, consistent with existing Federal, State, and local laws and regulations, to give to low- and very low-income persons the training and employment opportunities generated by development assistance provided pursuant to section 5 of the United States Housing Act of 1937, operating assistance provided pursuant to section 9 of that Act, and modernization grants provided pursuant to section 14 of that Act.

"(B) PRIORITY.—The efforts required under subparagraph (A) shall be directed in the following order of priority:

"(i) To residents of the housing developments for which the assistance is expended.

"(ii) To residents of other developments managed by the public or Indian housing agency that is expending the assistance.

"(iii) To participants in Youthbuild programs receiving assistance under subtitle D of title IV of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act.

"(iv) To other low- and very low-income persons residing within the metropolitan area (or nonmetropolitan county) in which the assistance is expended.

"(2) OTHER PROGRAMS.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—In other programs that provide housing and community development assistance, the Secretary shall ensure that, to the greatest extent feasible, and consistent with existing Federal, State, and local laws and regulations, opportunities for training and employment arising in connection with a housing rehabilitation (including reduction and abatement of lead-based paint hazards), housing construction, or other public construction project are given to low- and very low-income persons residing within the metropolitan area (or nonmetropolitan county) in which the project is located.

"(B) PRIORITY.—Where feasible, priority should be given to low- and very low-income persons residing within the service area of the project or the neighborhood in which the project is located and to participants in Youthbuild programs receiving assistance under subtitle D of title IV of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act.

"(d) CONTRACTING.—

"(1) PUBLIC AND INDIAN HOUSING PROGRAM.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall require that public and Indian housing agencies, and their contractors and subcontractors, make their best efforts, consistent with existing Federal, State, and local laws and regulations, to award contracts for work to be performed in connection with development assistance provided pursuant to section 5 of the United States Housing Act of 1937, operating assistance provided pursuant to section 9 of that Act, and modernization grants provided pursuant to section 14 of that Act, to business concerns that provide economic opportunities for low- and very low-income persons.

"(B) PRIORITY.—The efforts required under subparagraph (A) shall be directed in the following order of priority:

"(i) To business concerns that provide economic opportunities for residents of the housing development for which the assistance is provided.

"(ii) To business concerns that provide economic opportunities for residents of other housing developments operated by the public and Indian housing agency that is providing the assistance.

"(iii) To Youthbuild programs receiving assistance under subtitle D of title IV of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act.

"(iv) To business concerns that provide economic opportunities for low- and very low-income persons residing within the metropolitan area (or nonmetropolitan county) in which the assistance is provided.

"(2) OTHER PROGRAMS.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—In providing housing and community development assistance pursuant to other programs, the Secretary shall ensure that, to the greatest extent feasible, and consistent with existing Federal, State, and local laws and regulations, contracts awarded for work to be performed in connection with a housing rehabilitation (including reduction and abatement of lead-based paint hazards), housing construction, or other public construction project are given to business concerns that provide economic opportunities for low- and very low-income persons residing within the metropolitan area (or nonmetropolitan county) in which the assistance is expended.

"(B) PRIORITY.—Where feasible, priority should be given to business concerns which provide economic opportunities for low- and very low-income persons residing within the service area of the project or the neighborhood in which the project is located and to Youthbuild programs receiving assistance under subtitle D of title IV of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act.

"(e) DEFINITIONS.—For the purposes of this section the following definitions shall apply:

"(1) LOW- AND VERY LOW-INCOME PERSONS.—The terms 'low-income persons' and 'very low-income persons' have the same meanings given the terms 'low-income families' and 'very low-income families', respectively, in section 3(b)(2) of the United States Housing Act of 1937.

"(2) BUSINESS CONCERN THAT PROVIDES ECONOMIC OPPORTUNITIES.—The term 'a business concern that provides economic opportunities' means a business concern that—

"(A) provides economic opportunities for a class of persons that has a majority controlling interest in the business;

"(B) employs a substantial number of such persons; or

"(C) meets such other criteria as the Secretary may establish.

"(f) COORDINATION WITH OTHER FEDERAL AGENCIES.—The Secretary shall consult with the Secretary of Labor, the Secretary of Health and Human Services, the Secretary of Commerce, the Administrator of the Small Business Administration, and such other Federal agencies as the Secretary determines are necessary to carry out this section.

"(g) REGULATIONS.—Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of the National Affordable Housing Act Amendments of 1992, the Secretary shall promulgate regulations to implement this section.''.

SEC. 916. STUDY OF THE EFFECTIVENESS OF SECTION 3 OF THE HOUSING AND URBAN DEVELOPMENT ACT OF 1968.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall submit to the Congress, not later than 1 year after the date of the enactment of this Act, a report describing—

(1) the Secretary's efforts to enforce section 3 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968;

(2) the barriers to full implementation of section 3 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968;

(3) the anticipated costs and benefits of full implementation of section 3 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968; and

(4) recommendations for legislative changes to enhance the effectiveness of section 3 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968.

(b) CONTENTS.—

(1) ENFORCEMENT.—The description under subsection (a)(1) of the Secretary's enforcement efforts shall include, at a minimum—

(A) a discussion of how responsibility for implementing section 3 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968 is allocated within the Department of Housing and Urban Development;

(B) a discussion of the status of existing regulations implementing such section 3;

(C) a discussion of ongoing efforts to enforce current regulations;

(D) a list of the programs under the responsibility of the Secretary with respect to which the Secretary is enforcing section 3; and

(E) a separate description of the activities carried out under section 3 with respect to each of these programs.

(2) IMPEDIMENTS.—The discussion under subsection (a)(2) of the external impediments to effective enforcement of section 3 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968 shall include, at a minimum, a discussion of—

(A) any lack of necessary training for targeted employees and technical assistance to targeted businesses;

(B) any barriers created by Federal, State, or local procurement regulations or other laws;

(C) any difficulties in coordination with labor unions;

(D) any difficulties in coordination with other implicated Federal agencies; and

(E) any lack of resources on the part of recipients of assistance who are responsible for carrying out section 3 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968.

(c) CONSULTATION.—In preparing the report under this subsection, the Secretary shall consult with the Secretary of Labor, the Secretary of Commerce, the Secretary of Health and Human Services, the Administrator of the Small Business Administration, other appropriate Federal officials, and recipients of Federal housing and community development assistance who are responsible for executing section 3 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968.

SEC. 917. INDIAN HOUSING AUTHORITIES.

There is authorized to be appropriated $500,000 for fiscal year 1993 and $521,000 for fiscal year 1994 to a nonprofit organization under section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 that has been in existence since 1975 and that provides training, technical assistance, and information to Indian housing authorities, Indian tribal governments, and other groups. These sums shall be used by such nonprofit organization to—

(1) provide technical assistance and training to Indian housing authorities;

(2) improve the administrative capacities of Indian housing authorities; and

(3) provide for other activities designed to improve Indian housing conditions.

SEC. 918. STUDY REGARDING FORECLOSURE ALTERNATIVES.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall conduct a study to review and analyze alternatives to foreclosure for homeowners whose principal residences are subject to federally-related mortgages (in connection with federally related mortgage loans, as such term is defined in section 3 of the Real Estate Settlement Procedures Act of 1974) under which the homeowner is in default. In conducting the study, the Secretary—

(1) may consult with any appropriate Federal agencies that make, insure, or guarantee mortgage loans relating to 1- to 4-family dwellings and with the Federal National Mortgage Association, the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation, the Government National Mortgage Association, and the Federal Agricultural Mortgage Corporation; and

(2) shall review and assess the adequacy, with respect to providing alternatives to foreclosure, of—

(A) the temporary mortgage assistance payments program authorized under section 230 of the National Housing Act;

(B) the authority of the Secretary to modify interest rates and other terms of mortgages transferred to the Secretary under section 7(i) of the Department of Housing and Urban Development Act; and

(C) any authority pursuant to Debt Collection Act of 1982 to reduce interest rates on outstanding debt to the borrowing rate for the Treasury of the United States.

The Secretary shall evaluate alternatives to foreclosure based on fairness of the procedures to the homeowner and reducing adverse effects on the mortgage lending system.

(b) REPORT.—Not later than March 1, 1993, the Secretary shall submit a report to the Congress regarding the results of the study conducted under subsection (a). The report shall contain a detailed description and assessment of each alternative to foreclosure analyzed under the study and a statement by the Secretary regarding the intent of the Secretary to use any authority available under the provisions referred to in subsection (a)(2) to avoid foreclosure under mortgages (and any reasons for not using such authority). The report may also contain any recommendations of the Secretary for administrative or legislative action to assist homeowners to avoid foreclosure and any loss of equity in their mortgaged homes that may result from foreclosure.

SEC. 919. REGULATIONS CLARIFYING THE TERM "HOUSING FOR OLDER PERSONS".

The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall, not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, make rules defining what are "significant facilities and services especially designed to meet the physical or social needs of older persons" required under section 807(b)(2) of the Fair Housing Act to meet the definition of the term "housing for older persons" in such section.

SEC. 920. USE OF DOMESTIC PRODUCTS.

(a) PROHIBITION AGAINST FRAUDULENT USE OF "MADE IN AMERICA" LABELS.—A person shall not intentionally affix a label bearing the inscription of "Made in America", or any inscription with that meaning, to any product sold in or shipped to the United States, if that product is not a domestic product.

(b) REPORT.—The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development and the Secretary of Agriculture shall each submit, before January 1, 1994, a report to the Congress on procurements of products that are not domestic products.

(c) DEFINITIONS.—For the purposes of this section, the term "domestic product" means a product—

(1) that is manufactured or produced in the United States; and

(2) at least 50 percent of the cost of the articles, materials, or supplies of which are mined, produced, or manufactured in the United States.

SEC. 921. IMPROVED COORDINATION OF URBAN POLICY.

Title VII of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1970 (42 U.S.C. 4501 et seq.) is amended—

(1) in section 702(d), by striking paragraph (8) and inserting the following:

"(8) increase coordination among Federal programs that seek to promote job opportunities and skills, decent and affordable housing, public safety, access to health care, educational opportunities, and fiscal soundness for urban communities and their residents.";

(2) in section 703(a)—

(A) by striking "during February 1978, and during February of every even-numbered year thereafter," and inserting ", not later than June 1, 1993, and not later than the first day of June of every odd-numbered year thereafter,"; and

(B) in paragraph (8), by striking "such" and all that follows through the end of the sentence and inserting "legislative or administrative proposals—

"(A) to promote coordination among Federal programs to assist urban areas;

"(B) to enhance the fiscal capacity of fiscally distressed urban areas;

"(C) to promote job opportunities in economically distressed urban areas and to enhance the job skills of residents of such areas;

"(D) to generate decent and affordable housing;

"(E) to reduce racial tensions and to combat racial and ethnic violence in urban areas;

"(F) to combat urban drug abuse and drug-related crime and violence;

"(G) to promote the delivery of health care to low-income communities in urban areas;

"(H) to expand educational opportunities in urban areas; and

"(I) to achieve the goals of the national urban policy."; and

(3) by adding at the end of section 703 the following new subsection:

"(d) REFERRAL.—The National Urban Policy Report shall, when transmitted to Congress, be referred in the Senate to the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs, and in the House of Representatives to the Committee on Banking, Finance and Urban Affairs.".

SEC. 922. PROHIBITION OF LUMP-SUM PAYMENTS.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development Act (42 U.S.C. 3531 et seq.) is amended by adding at the end the following new section:

"PROHIBITION OF LUMP-SUM PAYMENTS

"SEC. 14. In providing relocation assistance in connection with any program administered by the Department of Housing and Urban Development, the Secretary may not make lump-sum payments to any displaced residential tenant, except where necessary to cover—

"(1) moving expenses;

"(2) a downpayment on the purchase of a replacement residence, including a condominium unit or membership in a cooperative housing association; or

"(3) any incidental expenses related to paragraph (1) or (2)."

SEC. 923. ECONOMIC INDEPENDENCE.

The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development should immediately implement section 957 of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act (42 U.S.C. 12714). Other Federal agencies authorized to assist low-income families should take similar steps to encourage economic independence and the accumulation of assets.

SEC. 924. ADMINISTRATIVE PROVISION.

Subject to the availability of appropriations for this purpose, the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall cancel the indebtedness of the town of McLain, Mississippi, relating to the public facilities loan (Project No. MS 94–PFL39456). The town of McLain, Mississippi, is relieved of all liability to the Government for the outstanding principal balance on such loan, for the amount of accrued interest on such loan, and for any other fees and charges payable in connection with such loan.

SEC. 925. PERFORMANCE GOALS.

(a) PERFORMANCE GOALS FOR THE DEPARTMENT OF HOUSING AND URBAN DEVELOPMENT.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development (hereafter in this Act referred to as the "Secretary") may establish performance goals for the major programs of the Department of Housing and Urban Development in order to measure progress towards meeting the objectives of national housing policy.

(2) FORM OF GOALS.—The performance goals referred to in paragraph (1) shall be expressed in terms sufficient to measure progress.

(3) REPORT.—The Secretary shall include in the Secretary's annual report to the Congress a description of the progress made in attaining the performance goals for each program, citing the results achieved in each program for the previous year.

(4) FAILURE TO MEET GOALS.—If a performance standard or goal has not been met, the description under paragraph (3) shall include an explanation of why the goal was not met, propose plans for achieving the performance goal, and recommend any legislative or regulatory changes necessary for achievement of the goal.

(b) PERFORMANCE GOALS FOR THE FARMERS HOME ADMINISTRATION.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of Agriculture may establish performance goals for the major housing programs of the Farmers Home Administration in order to measure progress towards meeting the objectives of national housing policy.

(2) FORM OF GOALS.—The performance goals referred to in paragraph (1) shall be expressed in terms sufficient to measure progress.

(3) REPORT.—The Secretary of Agriculture shall prepare a report to the Congress on the progress made in attaining the performance goals for each program, citing the actual results achieved in such program for the previous year.

(4) FAILURE TO MEET GOALS.—If a performance standard or goal has not been met, the report under paragraph (3) shall include an explanation of why the goal was not met, propose plans for achieving the performance goal, and recommend any legislative or regulatory changes necessary for achievement of the goal.

SEC. 926. REGULATION OF CONSULTANTS.

Section 13(f)(1) of the Department of Housing and Urban Development Act (42 U.S.C. 3537b(f)(1)) is amended by striking "authority", "State", and "local government", and by adding immediately before the period at the end the following: ", but does not include a State or local government, or the officer or employee of a State or local government or housing finance agency thereof who is engaged in the official business of the State or local government".

SEC. 927. CLARIFICATION ON UTILITY ALLOWANCES.

(a) ELIGIBILITY.—Tenants who—

(1) are responsible for making out-of-pocket payments for utility bills; and

(2) receive energy assistance through utility allowances that include energy costs under programs identified in subsection (c);

shall not have their eligibility or benefits under other programs designed to assist low-income people with increases in energy costs since 1978 (including but not limited to the Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program) reduced or eliminated.

(b) EQUAL TREATMENT IN BENEFIT PROGRAMS.—Tenants described in subsection (a) shall be treated identically with other households eligible for such assistance, including in the determination of the home energy costs for which they are individually responsible and in the determination of their incomes.

(c) APPLICABILITY.—This section applies to programs under the United States Housing Act of 1937, the National Housing Act, section 101 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1965, section 202 of the Housing Act of 1959, and title V of the Housing Act of 1949.

SEC. 928. FLOOD CONTROL RESTORATION ZONE.

Section 1307 of the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968 is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(f) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, this subsection shall only apply in a community which has been determined by the Director of the Federal Emergency Management Agency to be in the process of restoring flood protection afforded by a flood protection system that had been previously accredited on a Flood Insurance Rate Map as providing 100-year frequency flood protection but no longer does so. Except as provided in this subsection, in such a community, flood insurance shall be made available to those properties impacted by the disaccreditation of the flood protection system at premium rates that do not exceed those which would be applicable to any property located in an area of special flood hazard, the construction of which was started prior to the effective date of the initial Flood Insurance Rate Map published by the Director for the community in which such property is located. A revised Flood Insurance Rate Map shall be prepared for the community to delineate as Zone AR the areas of special flood hazard that result from the disaccreditation of the flood protection system. A community will be considered to be in the process of restoration if—

"(1) the flood protection system has been deemed restorable by a Federal agency in consultation with the local project sponsor;

"(2) a minimum level of flood protection is still provided to the community by the disaccredited system; and

"(3) restoration of the flood protection system is scheduled to occur within a designated time period and in accordance with a progress plan negotiated between the community and the Federal Emergency Management Agency.

Communities that the Director of the Federal Emergency Management Agency determines to meet the criteria set forth in paragraphs (1) and (2) as of January 1, 1992, shall not be subject to revised Flood Insurance Rate Maps that contravene the intent of this subsection. Such communities shall remain eligible for C zone rates for properties located in zone AR for any policy written prior to promulgation of final regulations for this section. Floodplain management criteria for such communities shall not require the elevation of improvements to existing structures and shall not exceed 3 feet above existing grade for new construction, provided the base flood elevation based on the disaccredited flood control system does not exceed five feet above existing grade, or the remaining new construction in such communities is limited to infill sites, rehabilitation of existing structures, or redevelopment of previously developed areas.

The Director of the Federal Emergency Management Agency shall develop and promulgate regulations to implement this subsection, including minimum floodplain management criteria, within 24 months after the date of enactment of this subsection.".

SEC. 929. SALARIES AND EXPENSES.

Section 7 of the Department of Housing and Urban Development Act (42 U.S.C. 3535) is amended by inserting at the end the following new subsection:

"(s)(1) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, there is authorized to be appropriated for salaries and expenses to carry out the purposes of this section $988,000,000 for fiscal year 1993 and $1,029,496,000 for fiscal year 1994.

"(2) Of the amounts authorized to be appropriated by this section, $96,000,000 shall be available for each of the fiscal years 1993 and 1994, which amounts shall be used to provide staff in regional, field, or zone offices of the Department of Housing and Urban Development to review, process, approve, and service applications for mortgage insurance under title II of the National Housing Act for housing consisting of 5 or more dwelling units.

"(3) Of the amounts authorized to be appropriated to carry out this section, not less than $5,000,000 of such amount shall be available for each fiscal year exclusively for the purposes of providing ongoing training and capacity building for Department personnel.".

SEC. 930. THE NATIONAL CITIES IN SCHOOLS COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM.

(a) PURPOSE.—The purposes of this section are—

(1) to empower the local community by investing in its human capital through a private-public partnership to rebuild urban and rural communities through schools and other community organizations, including public housing communities; and

(2) to ensure that by December 1997, the Cities in Schools Program, through the National Center for Partnership Development, will have developed the capacity to reach 500,000 at-risk youth and their families through communitywide programs that channel existing community resources to provide personal, coordinated and accountable support.

(b) GRANTS TO STRENGTHEN THE NATIONAL CITIES IN SCHOOLS PROGRAM.—The Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall make grants to expand the National Cities in Schools Program and operations of the National Center for Partnership Development to—

(1) develop, establish, and support projects to strengthen local community dropout prevention programs in elementary and secondary schools;

(2) train community leaders responsible for the implementation of local community Cities in Schools dropout prevention programs; and

(3) disseminate to, and support replication by, States and communities of effective dropout prevention strategies.

(c) AUTHORIZATION.—There are authorized to be appropriated to carry out this section $10,000,000 for fiscal year 1993 and $10,420,000 for fiscal year 1994.

SEC. 931. BANK ENTERPRISE ACT OF 1991 AND RELATED PROVISIONS.

(a) ASSESSMENT RATE FOR LIFELINE ACCOUNT DEPOSITS.—Section 7(b)(10) of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act (12 U.S.C. 1817(b)(10)) (as added by section 232(b)(2) of the Bank Enterprise Act of 1991) is amended by striking "at the assessment rate of ½ the maximum rate." and inserting "at an assessment rate to be determined by the Corporation by regulation. Such assessment rate may not be less than ½ the maximum assessment rate."

(b) ASSESSMENT PROCEDURE.—Section 7(b)(2)(A)(iii)(I) of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act (12 U.S.C. 1917(b)(2)(A)(iii)(I)) (as added by section 232(b)(3)(C) of the Bank Enterprise Act of 1991) is amended to read as follows:

"(I) the assessment rate determined by the Corporation pursuant to paragraph (10) with respect to such semiannual period; and".

(c) QUALIFYING ACTIVITIES FOR ASSESSMENT CREDITS.—Section 233(a)(2) of the Bank Enterprise Act of 1991 (12 U.S.C. 1934a(a)(2)) is amended to read as follows:

"(2) QUALIFYING ACTIVITIES.—An insured depository institution shall be eligible for any community enterprise assessment credit for any semiannual period for—

"(A) the amount, during such period, of new originations of qualified loans and other financial assistance provided for low- and moderate-income persons in distressed communities, or enterprises integrally involved with such neighborhoods, which the Board determines are qualified to be taken into account for purposes of this subsection; and

"(B) the amount, during such period, of deposits accepted from persons domiciled in the distressed community, at any office of the institution (including any branch) located in any qualified distressed community, and new originations of any loans and other financial assistance made within that community, except that in no case shall the credit for deposits at any institution or branch exceed the credit for loans and other financial assistance by the bank or branch in the distressed community.".

(d) AMOUNT OF ASSESSMENT CREDIT.—Section 233(a)(3) of the Bank Enterprise Act of 1991 (12 U.S.C. 1934a(a)(3)) is amended to read as follows:

"(3) AMOUNT OF ASSESSMENT CREDIT.—The amount of any community enterprise assessment credit available under section 7(d)(4) of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act for any insured depository institution, or a qualified portion thereof, shall be the amount which is equal to 5 percent, in the case of an institution which does not meet the community development organization requirements under section 234, and 15 percent, in the case of an institution, or a qualified portion thereof, which meets such requirements (or any percentage designated under paragraph (5)) of—

"(A) for the first full semiannual period in which community enterprise assessment credits are available, the sum of—

"(i) the amounts of assets described in paragraph (2)(A); and

"(ii) the amounts of deposits, loans, and other financial assistance described in paragraph (2)(B); and

"(B) for any subsequent semiannual period, the sum of—

"(i) any increase during such period in the amount of assets described in paragraph (2)(A) that has been deemed eligible for credit by the Board; and

"(ii) any increase during such period in the amounts of deposits, loans, and other financial assistance described in paragraph (2)(B) that has been deemed eligible for credit by the Board.".

(e) ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS FOR QUALIFIED DISTRESSED COMMUNITIES.—Section 233(b)(4) of the Bank Enterprise Act of 1991 (12 U.S.C. 1934a(b)(4)) is amended to read as follows:

"(4) ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS.—For purposes of this subsection, an area meets the requirements of this paragraph if the following criteria are met:

"(A) At least 30 percent of the residents residing in the area have incomes which are less than the national poverty level.

"(B) The unemployment rate for the area is 1½ times greater than the national average (as determined by the Bureau of Labor Statistics' most recent figures).

"(C) Such additional eligibility requirements as the Board may, in its discretion, deem necessary to carry out the provisions of this subtitle.".

SEC. 932. DISCLOSURES UNDER THE HOME MORTGAGE DISCLOSURE ACT OF 1975.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 304 of the Home Mortgage Disclosure Act of 1975 (12 U.S.C. 2803) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsections:

"(j) LOAN APPLICATION REGISTER INFORMATION.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—In addition to the information required to be disclosed under subsections (a) and (b), any depository institution which is required to make disclosures under this section shall make available to the public, upon request, loan application register information (as defined by the Board by regulation) in the form required under regulations prescribed by the Board.

"(2) FORMAT OF DISCLOSURE.—

"(A) UNEDITED FORMAT.—Subject to subparagraph (B), the loan application register information described in paragraph (1) may be disclosed by a depository institution without editing or compilation and in the format in which such information is maintained by the institution.

"(B) PROTECTION OF APPLICANT'S PRIVACY INTEREST.—The Board shall require, by regulation, such deletions as the Board may determine to be appropriate to protect—

"(i) any privacy interest of any applicant, including the deletion of the applicant's name and identification number, the date of the application, and the date of any determination by the institution with respect to such application; and

"(ii) a depository institution from liability under any Federal or State privacy law.

"(C) CENSUS TRACT FORMAT ENCOURAGED.—It is the sense of the Congress that a depository institution should provide loan register information under this section in a format based on the census tract in which the property is located.

"(3) CHANGE OF FORM NOT REQUIRED.—A depository institution meets the disclosure requirement of paragraph (1) if the institution provides the information required under such paragraph in the form in which the institution maintains such information.

"(4) REASONABLE CHARGE FOR INFORMATION.—Any depository institution which provides information under this subsection may impose a reasonable fee for any cost incurred in reproducing such information.

"(5) TIME OF DISCLOSURE.—The disclosure of the loan application register information described in paragraph (1) for any year pursuant to a request under paragraph (1) shall be made—

"(A) in the case of a request made on or before March 1 of the succeeding year, before April 1 of the succeeding year; and

"(B) in the case of a request made after March 1 of the succeeding year, before the end of the 30-day period beginning on the date the request is made.

"(6) RETENTION OF INFORMATION.—Notwithstanding subsection (c), the loan application register information described in paragraph (1) for any year shall be maintained and made available, upon request, for 3 years after the close of the 1st year during which such information is required to be maintained and made available.

"(7) MINIMIZING COMPLIANCE COSTS.—In prescribing regulations under this subsection, the Board shall make every effort to minimize the costs incurred by a depository institution in complying with this subsection and such regulations.

"(k) DISCLOSURE OF STATEMENTS BY DEPOSITORY INSTITUTIONS.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—In accordance with procedures established by the Board pursuant to this section, any depository institution required to make disclosures under this section—

"(A) shall make a disclosure statement available, upon request, to the public no later than 3 business days after the institution receives the statement from the Federal Financial Institutions Examination Council; and

"(B) may make such statement available on a floppy disc which may be used with a personal computer or in any other media which is not prohibited under regulations prescribed by the Board.

"(2) NOTICE THAT DATA IS SUBJECT TO CORRECTION AFTER FINAL REVIEW.—Any disclosure statement provided pursuant to paragraph (1) shall be accompanied by a clear and conspicuous notice that the statement is subject to final review and revision, if necessary.

"(3) REASONABLE CHARGE FOR INFORMATION.—Any depository institution which provides a disclosure statement pursuant to paragraph (1) may impose a reasonable fee for any cost incurred in providing or reproducing such statement.

"(l) PROMPT DISCLOSURES.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—Any disclosure of information pursuant to this section or section 310 shall be made as promptly as possible.

"(2) MAXIMUM DISCLOSURE PERIOD.—

"(A) 6- AND 9-MONTH MAXIMUM PERIODS.—Except as provided in subsections (j)(5) and (k)(1) and regulations prescribed by the Board and subject to subparagraph (B), any information required to be disclosed for any year beginning after December 31, 1992, under—

"(i) this section shall be made available to the public before September 1 of the succeeding year; and

"(ii) section 310 shall be made available to the public before December 1 of the succeeding year.

"(B) SHORTER PERIODS ENCOURAGED AFTER 1994.—With respect to disclosures of information under this section or section 310 for any year beginning after December 31, 1993, every effort shall be made—

"(i) to make information disclosed under this section available to the public before July 1 of the succeeding year; and

"(ii) to make information required to be disclosed under section 310 available to the public before September 1 of the succeeding year.

"(3) IMPROVED PROCEDURE.—The Federal Financial Institutions Examination Council shall make such changes in the system established pursuant to subsection (f) as may be necessary to carry out the requirements of this subsection.".

(b) TECHNICAL AND CONFORMING AMENDMENT.—Section 304(c) of the Home Mortgage Disclosure Act of 1975 (12 U.S.C. 2803(c)) is amended by inserting ", other than loan application register information under subsection (j)," after "under this section".

(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The amendments made by subsections (a) and (b) shall apply with respect to information disclosed under section 304 of the Home Mortgage Disclosure Act of 1975 for any year which ends after the date of the enactment of this Act.

SEC. 933. PROHIBITION ON USE OF "RULE OF 78's" IN CONNECTION WITH MORTGAGE REFINANCINGS AND OTHER CONSUMER LOANS.

(a) PROMPT REFUND OF UNEARNED INTEREST REQUIRED.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—If a consumer prepays in full the financed amount under any consumer credit transaction, the creditor shall promptly refund any unearned portion of the interest charge to the consumer.

(2) EXCEPTION FOR REFUND OF DE MINIMUS AMOUNT.—No refund shall be required under paragraph (1) with respect to the prepayment of any consumer credit transaction if the total amount of the refund would be less than $1.

(3) APPLICABILITY TO REFINANCED TRANSACTIONS AND ACCELERATION BY THE CREDITOR.—This subsection shall apply with respect to any prepayment of a consumer credit transaction described in paragraph (1) without regard to the manner or the reason for the prepayment, including—

(A) any prepayment made in connection with the refinancing, consolidation, or restructuring of the transaction; and

(B) any prepayment made as a result of the acceleration of the obligation to repay the amount due with respect to the transaction.

(b) Use of "Rule of 78's" Prohibited.—For the purpose of calculating any refund of interest required under subsection (a) for any precomputed consumer credit transaction of a term exceeding 61 months which is consummated after September 30, 1993, the creditor shall compute the refund based on a method which is at least as favorable to the consumer as the actuarial method.

(c) Statement of Prepayment Amount.—

(1) In general.—Before the end of the 5-day period beginning on the date an oral or written request is received by a creditor from a consumer for the disclosure of the amount due on any precomputed consumer credit account, the creditor or assignee shall provide the consumer with a statement of—

(A) the amount necessary to prepay the account in full; and

(B) if the amount disclosed pursuant to subparagraph (A) includes an amount which is required to be refunded under this section with respect to such prepayment, the amount of such refund.

(2) Written statement required if request is in writing.—If the customer's request is in writing, the statement under paragraph (1) shall be in writing.

(3) 1 free annual statement.—A consumer shall be entitled to obtain 1 statement under paragraph (1) each year without charge.

(4) Additional statements subject to reasonable fees.—Any creditor may impose a reasonable fee to cover the cost of providing any statement under paragraph (1) to any consumer in addition to the 1 free annual statement required under paragraph (3) if the amount of the charge for such additional statement is disclosed to the consumer before furnishing such statement.

(d) Definitions.—For the purpose of this section—

(1) Actuarial method.—The term "actuarial method" means the method of allocating payments made on a debt between the amount financed and the finance charge pursuant to which a payment is applied first to the accumulated finance charge and any remainder is subtracted from, or any deficiency is added to, the unpaid balance of the amount financed.

(2) Consumer, credit.—The terms "consumer" and "creditor" have the meanings given to such terms in section 103 of the Consumer Credit Protection Act.

(3) Creditor.—The term "creditor"—

(A) has the meaning given to such term in section 103 of the Consumer Credit Protection Act; and

(B) includes any assignee of any creditor with respect to credit extended in connection with any consumer credit transaction and any subsequent assignee with respect to such credit.

Subtitle B—Bank Regulatory Clarification Provisions

SEC. 951. AMENDMENT RELATING TO ESTIMATES OF REAL ESTATE SETTLEMENT COSTS.

Section 5(d) of the Real Estate Settlement Procedures Act of 1974 (12 U.S.C. 2604(d)) is amended by striking the last sentence and inserting "Such booklet shall be provided by delivering it or placing it in the mail not later than 3 business days after the lender receives the application, but no booklet need be provided if the lender denies the application for credit before the end of the 3-day period.".

SEC. 952. ADJUSTABLE RATE MORTGAGE CAPS.

Section 1204(d)(2) of the Competitive Equality Banking Act of 1987 (12 U.S.C. 3806(d)(2)) is amended by striking "any loan" and inserting "any consumer loan".

SEC. 953. MODIFYING SEPARATE CAPITALIZATION RULE FOR SAVINGS ASSOCIATIONS' SUBSIDIARIES ENGAGED IN ACTIVITIES NOT PERMISSIBLE FOR NATIONAL BANKS.

(a) In General.—Section 5(t)(5)(D) of the Home Owners' Loan Act (12 U.S.C. 1464(t)(5)(D)) is amended by redesignating clause (iii) as clause (ix) and by inserting after clause (ii) the following new clauses:

"(iii) Agency discretion to prescribe greater percentage.—Subject to clauses (iv), (v), and (vi), the Director may prescribe by order, with respect to a particular qualified savings association, an applicable percentage greater than that provided in clause (ii) if the Director determines, in the Director's sole discretion, that the use of the greater percentage, under the circumstances—

"(I) would not constitute an unsafe or unsound practice;

"(II) would not increase the risk to the affected deposit insurance fund; and

"(III) would not be likely to result in the association's being in an unsafe or unsound condition.

"(iv) Substantial compliance with approved capital plan.—In the case of a savings association which is subject to a plan submitted under paragraph (7)(D) of this subsection or an order issued under this subsection, a directive issued or plan approved under subsection (s), or a capital restoration plan approved or order issued under section 38 or 39 of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act, an order issued under clause (iii) with respect to the association shall be effective only so long as the association is in substantial compliance with such plan, directive, or order.

"(v) Limitation on investments taken into account.—In prescribing the amount by which an applicable percentage under clause (iii) may exceed the applicable percentage under clause (ii) with respect to a particular qualified savings association, the Director may take into account only the sum of—

"(I) the association's investments in, and extensions of credit to, the subsidiary that were made on or before April 12, 1989; and

"(II) the association's investments in, and extensions of credit to, the subsidiary that were made after April 12, 1989, and were necessary to complete projects initiated before April 12, 1989.

"(vi) Limit.—The applicable percentage limit allowed by the Director in an order under clause (iii) shall not exceed the following limits:

"For the following period:	The limit is:
Prior to July 1, 1994	75 percent
July 1, 1994 through June 30, 1995	60 percent
July 1, 1995 through June 30, 1996	40 percent
After June 30, 1996	0 percent

"(vii) Critically undercapitalized institution.—In the case of a savings association that becomes critically undercapitalized (as defined in section 38 of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act) as determined under this subparagraph without applying clause (iii), clauses (iii) through (v) shall be applied by substituting 'Corporation' for 'Director' each place such term appears.

"(viii) Qualified savings association defined.—For purposes of clause (iii), the term 'qualified savings association' means an eligible savings association (as defined in paragraph (3)(B)) which is subject to this paragraph solely because of the real estate investments or other real estate activities of the association's subsidiary, and—

"(I) is adequately capitalized (as defined in section 38 of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act); or

"(II) is in compliance with an approved capital restoration plan meeting the requirements of section 38 of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act, and is not critically undercapitalized (as defined in such section).".

(b) Technical and Conforming Amendment.—Clause (ix) of section 5(t)(5)(D) of the Home Owners' Loan Act (12 U.S.C. 1464(t)(5)(D)) (as so redesignated by subsection (a) of this section) is amended by inserting "or prescribed under clause (iii)" after "clause (ii)".

Section 1112 of the Financial Institution Reform, Recovery, and Enforcement Act of 1989 (12 U.S.C. 3341) is amended—

(1) by striking "Each Federal financial institutions" and inserting "(a) In General.—Each Federal financial institutions"; and

(2) by adding at the end the following new subsections:

"(b) Threshold Level.—Each Federal financial institutions regulatory agency and the Resolution Trust Corporation may establish a threshold level at or below which a certified or licensed appraiser is not required to perform appraisals in connection with federally related transactions, if such agency determines in writing that such threshold level does not represent a threat to the safety and soundness of financial institutions.

"(c) GAO Study of Appraisals in Connection With Real Estate Related Financial Transactions Below the Threshold Level.—

"(1) Study required.—At the end of the 18-month period, and the end of the 36-month period, beginning on the date of the enactment of this subsection, the Comptroller General of the United States shall conduct a study on the adequacy and quality of appraisals or evaluations conducted in connection with real estate related financial transactions below the threshold level established under subsection (b), taking into account—

"(A) the cost to any financial institution involved in any such transaction;

"(B) the possibility of losses to the Bank Insurance Fund, the Savings Association Insurance Fund, or the National Credit Union Share Insurance Fund;

"(C) the cost to any customer involved in any such transaction; and

"(D) the effect on low-income housing.

"(2) Reports to Congress and the appropriate Federal financial institutions regulatory agencies.—Upon completing each of the studies required under paragraph (1), the Comptroller General shall submit a report on the Comptroller General's findings and conclusions with respect to such study to the Federal financial institutions regulatory agencies, the Committee on Banking, Finance and Urban Affairs of the House of Representatives, and the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs of the Senate, together with such recommendations for legislative or administrative action as the Comptroller General determines to be appropriate.".

SEC. 955. INSIDER LENDING.

(a) Authority to Make Exceptions to Definition of Extension of Credit.—Section 22(h)(9)(D) of the Federal Reserve Act (12 U.S.C. 375b(h)(9)(D)) is amended—

(1) by striking "(D) Extension of credit.—A member bank" and inserting the following:

"(D) Extension of credit.—

"(i) In general.—A member bank"; and

(2) by adding at the end the following new clause:

"(ii) Exceptions.—The Board may, by regulation, make exceptions to clause (i) for transactions that the Board determines pose minimal risk.".

(b) Principal Shareholder Defined.—Section 22(h)(9)(F) of the Federal Reserve Act (12 U.S.C. 375b(h)(9)(F)) is amended—

(1) by striking "shareholder' means any person" and inserting "shareholder'—

"(i) means any person";

(2) by striking the period at the end of clause (i) (as so redesignated by paragraph (1) of this subsection) and inserting "; and"; and

(3) by adding at the end the following new clause:

"(ii) does not include a company of which a member bank is a subsidiary.".

SEC. 956. CLARIFICATION OF COMPENSATION STANDARDS.

Section 39 of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act (as added by section 132(a) of Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation Improvement Act of 1991) (12 U.S.C. 1831s) is amended—

(1) by striking subsection (d) and inserting the following new subsection:

"(d) STANDARDS TO BE PRESCRIBED BY REGULATION.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—Standards under subsections (a), (b), and (c) shall be prescribed by regulation. Such regulations may not prescribe standards that set a specific level or range of compensation for directors, officers, or employees of insured depository institutions.

"(2) APPLICABILITY OF OTHER LAWS.—Paragraph (1) shall not affect the authority of any appropriate Federal banking agency to restrict the level of compensation, including golden parachute payments (as defined in section 18(k)(4)), paid to any director, officer, or employee of an insured depository institution under any other provision of law.

"(3) SENIOR EXECUTIVE OFFICERS AT UNDERCAPITALIZED INSTITUTIONS.—Paragraph (1) shall not affect the authority of any appropriate Federal banking agency to restrict compensation paid to any senior executive officer of an undercapitalized insured depository institution pursuant to section 38.

"(4) SAFETY AND SOUNDNESS OR ENFORCEMENT ACTIONS.—Paragraph (1) shall not be construed as affecting the authority of any appropriate Federal banking agency under any provision of this Act other than this section, or under any other provision of law, to prescribe a specific level or range of compensation for any director, officer, or employee of an insured depository institution—

"(A) to preserve the safety and soundness of the institution; or

"(B) in connection with any action under section 8 or any order issued by the agency, any agreement between the agency and the institution, or any condition imposed by the agency in connection with the agency's approval of an application or other request by the institution, which is enforceable under section 8."; and

(2) in subsection (e)(1)(A), by striking "(a), (b), or (c)" and inserting "(a) or (b)".

SEC. 957. TRUTH IN SAVINGS ACT AMENDMENTS.
